

Of Having a manual safety on a carry gun is dumb. \n/nThere's a tip. Don't pick up a gun by the God damn trigger. 1 I'd not a travel ban. California employees just cannot go to prohibited states on a work-related basis on behalf of the state of California, but they're still free to travel on their own personal time. 2 He's getting roasted pretty bad in the comments, and what he did was dumb and negligent but I'm sure he's going to have a hell of a time moving past this. 3 I wondered, and the cost of the war on drugs yearly, is about TWICE THE TOTAL COST OF THE APOLLO PROGRAM^1. \n/nSo we've literally fought a 'war' that's spent enough to get us to the moon, many many times. \n/n/n/n1 Granted with inflation, that may only be half of it a year, but still. 4 You've been hit by, you've been struck by a poorly trained agent. 5 [deleted] 6 [removed] 7 Not that scene, obviously, but that episode or season, \n/n/definitely \n/n/n. 8 True, and that's a valid reason, unlike \n/n/afcdonafTM get paid enough to careaf 9 That's the author from Forbes. Not the author of the CDC conducted study. \n/n/Wanna tell me more about how it wasn't a CDC study? Or do you want to make up something about the FBI now? \n/n/Or maybe read the follow up linked article that quotes from over a dozen DOG studies? 10 [removed] 11 [deleted] 12 It's murder on the dance floor \n/n/You'd better not kill the groove 13 Given his training, position, and unique legal protections, there's LESS room for mistakes. As far as training and responsibility, I didn't see any present in the video 14 I think it was a joke. Because most people would consider FBI top tier, but he flipped it, causing you to be caught off guard and laugh at the surprise. 15 I know someone (I'll call them Z) that works in a building where the FBI is located on one of the floors. Well one day two FBI agents came to the floor where Z works because they were looking for an employee. They walked in and began talking to the front desk person (who happens to love gossip) and told them the specific woman they were looking for because her husband may have murdered someone. Then finally Z arrived at work and half the co-workers were already talking about it. Z then gave the agents the employees information and location and they left the floor, but Z was seriously furious that they just walked in and we're discussing an employee sensitive information with everyone. So their legal advisor ended up calling the FBI and asked them why the fuck they did that and how unprofessional it was. \n/n/n/It's so ridiculous how unprofessional the FBI has gotten. - - like I could not believe they just shared someone's information like that and that they just didn't seem to care that they're talking about a murder suspect. Blows my mind. 16 [removed] 17 She's from Guatemala. She's obviously not from any of the tribes north of the border. 18 Anyone else wouldn't be allowed to bring a gun into a bar. 19 Gotcha. Well I can see this is going nowhere. YouafTM're clearly the alpha male here compensating for something. I apologize for whoever bullied you in high school. Shout out to all the poor souls that fall under your jurisdiction. 20 Not in Colorado you can't. Don't spread false information. It's 100% NOT illegal to carry in a bar or establishment that makes its money of alcohol in the state of Colorado. 21 You're right, it's not just any contact between a person and a car, but if you strike a person or vehicle intentionally, that is considered deadly force. And you're correct that a bat or other athletic gear (I'm sure a baton falls into that category) also constitutes deadly force. \n/n/The laws are slightly different however, with L.E.O.'s in their case their batons are not deadly force. 22 [removed] 23 [removed] 24 Some of these kites had swastikas on them. \n/n/Will the Bash the Fash brigade bash these fashs? 25 Lol, it's clearly what you are saying in every one of your comments in this thread, albeit in a very diluted way. You're just here trying to justify the police officer's actions. 26 He didn't lose it. He was showing off new skills learned at the Jack Bauer training camp. He Fuckin nailed it. 27 I read a really long article on SpaceX a few years ago, and it's stayed in my head since. 28 [removed] 29 - Most government agencies use Glock. which donafTM have traditional button safeties. \n/n/You have a firearm that doesn't have a traditional button safety, then make a series of choices which include: \n/n/1. Keeping it in an insecure holster. \n/n/2. Keeping it chambered and ready to fire. \n/n/3. Keeping it on you when you're in a nightclub. \n/n/4. Doing backflips while carrying. \n/n/5. Picking a gun up recklessly with your finger on the trigger. \n/n/nThen you're an idiot. This is not a firearms subreddit, if you want to flex and claim to be a firearm expert you should know that YOU are responsible for firearm safety regardless of the existence of a manual safety. \n/n/nAn unloaded gun is not worthless, it can be loaded. A person who carries their gun loaded to maximise their own safety but lacks the responsibility to not shoot that gun at innocent people is worthless. 30 Relax, take a deep breath. There's an investigation going on, let them investigate. Knowing something, and being able to prove it in court (which is largely dependent on the evidence that is admissible) are two separate things. Let the da and police do their thing. 31 If lazy and slob comes about in year two, their partner is responsible for sucking the joy of life out of them. 32 [removed] 33 Your innocence is enduring 34 [removed] 35 [removed] 36 The greatest country on earth, ladies and gentleman. 37 No, it's bad police work. \n/n/nI can tell from 5 seconds of video homeboy was drinking. But they are gonna wait till he sobers up to take a bloodtest. \n/n/Its weird that I can be breathalized in 5 seconds on the roadside, but this guy needs to go in and have his blood checked, hours and hours later, to determine if he was drinking? \n/n/Of course he was drinking \n/n/You dont do backups at the bar without drinking. 38 I've got a PhD, years industry and government experience, and can run a 20 minute 5k and squat twice my weight. I also never once accidentally discharged a firearm. But nope, did mushrooms in college so I'm effectively disqualified from ever joining. Great job keeping out the trash, FBI. 39 Sounds like his holster is shit and he needs to learn proper trigger discipline. 40 Nah. The worst part is that he just walked it off like nothing happened. He didn't even check up if anyone is safe. 41 Guns don't kill people, white people dancing kills people. 42 AKA the highest trained, most competent law enforcement agency on the planet. 43 [removed] 44 He was in shock D: 45 Begrudgingly? The gun lobby is by far the biggest lobby in terms of political contributions in this country 46 But we should absolutely limit civilian access to firearms, and concentrate them in the hands of government. 47 Verbatim from the article you linked: \n/n/'1) We still donafTM really know how many defensive gun uses (DGUs) there are each year. \n/n/Don't feed me bullshit and tell me it's flint mignon. 48 Lots of guns don't even have classic safeties. 49 Of only there had been a good guy with a gun around to stop this tragedy. 50 > I don't know what you're talking about. \n/n/well the person you responded to said "It is not the federal government's fault that Puerto Rico has extremely poor record keeping," and the point was that a lot of the missing people in question are just due to poor record keeping. maybe they died 10 years ago, maybe they moved to a different country, changed their name, or legit died during the storm and aftermath but no one knows for certain because Puerto Rico did a poor job of record keeping. yeah the US government's response to the disaster has been shitty and there is absolutely more that can be done but a lot of the damage was just waiting to happen before the weather wrecked the Island and it's not exactly the US's fault. 51 I would not take that person's word for it. I think they got that from some tv show. It would not work in the real world and I have never heard of an agency training that way. 52 And now I'm fucking pissed watching that shit. I knew i shouldn't have watched and I did. 53 Always, buy a WASR 54 [deleted] 55 The only thing that can stop a bad dancer with a gun is a good dancer with a gun. It's a shame there wasn't one present. 56 [deleted] 57 I'm morbidly curious about what kind of impact that show had on people's perception of what is "necessary" for cops to do. Like, presenting a lot of that shit as a normal "day in the life" had to be damaging. \n/n/n/It's just shameful to me that violence and particularly the use of a firearm is so ingrained in culture's idea of what cops are "supposed to do." Like even if you see little kids playing "cops and robbers" you already see the finger guns come out. 58 [removed] 59 I'm not calling for genocide lol. I'm saying they need to crush the threat, not the people. As in to kick them out of the land. Jfc. 60 Sadly, it's likely that she already is taking them. Not only are these medications not 100% efficient by any stretch, they also don't treat cataplexy (the part of the disease that makes you lose muscle tone and fall; not all narcoleptics have it). 61 I don't own a Glock either, but my carry gun doesn't have a safety either (Ruger LCP). You just need to make sure you have a quality holster for your firearm 62 ...and this is why you don't go clubbing with your sidearms on your person. 63 I had an offer for a special agent position revoked because the FBI didnafTM like my alcohol use. IafTM'm no alcoholic. Just loved it up in college like most normal college students. But I was too honest about that and they thought it was too much of a wildcard or something. Had already passed all the tests, interviews, poly, but when it came down to it they didnafTM like my past behavior. \n/n/nThe FBI takes that shit very seriously. Probably to weed out people like this guy. 64 YouafTM've never seen somebody put an article that they havenafTM read in order to push an agenda thatafTM's only superficially related to the article? ThatafTM's not an uncommon occurrence in r/politics. 65 Sure, but the two aren't mutually exclusive. Negligence is a legal term, where accident just means that the person didn't intend to do a thing. 66 Please tell me he said he got shot in the knee 67 Well, I've presented evidence that clearly demonstrates a huge amount of defensive gun uses every year, and you have presented nothing except for outright lies. \n/n/nLooks like my evidence stands. 68 Yeah thatafTM's the weird thing. Why did he rush to pick it up? I mean I get that itafTM's embarrassing and you want to take control of it ASAP but...safety first, bruh. 69 [removed] 70 If you can't handle the responsibility that comes with gun ownership, you shouldn't have a gun. Take his gun, and either put him in front of a desk at an FBI office, or fire him. He can't be trusted with a gun. 71 The lack of responsibility he takes after having just shot someone is insane. 72 When has that ever worked for you in the real world? I've seen that move tried and the fleeing suspect is across yards and jumping fences before the officer who tried it gets out of the car, much less doubles back on the suspect. \n/n/n-I wouldn't be gassed like the suspect or other officer since I just got there. \n/n/nYou would still be carrying 30 or more pounds of gear the suspect isn't. 73 [deleted] 74 >While I agree with your point, legally, a car is considered deadly force \n/n/nBy whom? I can find no case law stating that any contact between a person on foot and a vehicle is always considered deadly force. \n/n/n-Edit: for example, hitting someone with your car is not only assault, its assault with a deadly weapon \n/n/nSo is hitting someone with a stick. 75 Pretty sure the guy made a report to the news, as in was alive, so probably not a trebuchet. \n/n/nEDIT: Trebuchet? 76 I usually pick my guns up trigger first as well 77 [removed] 78 Party at the C-I-A? 79 Shouldn't the person who got shot be able to press charges? 80 Why the fuck wasn't the safety on? 81 Vehicles are also instruments of death \n/n/nKill more Americans than guns ever will and are completely preventable. \n/n/Justwalk 82 [removed] 83 If there's a scenario where you need it, you're probably fucked. \n/n/nThat being said, you're not supposed to have that thing at all when you're drinking. 84 > You can get evidence in a split second, as in when you see a gun. \n/n/nPolice usually shoot while someone is reaching for it. (judging from the videos that are online). They are trained to neutralize the suspect with taking the least amount of risks. \n/n/n-There was no gun there to see, no object that could be mistaken for a gun, and no prior reason to believe this particular guy was carrying. \n/n/nI heard about this incident the first time right here, but from googling the video it was reported that he was being seen with his pellet gun before. So if this is correct there certainly were reason to believe that he was carrying a gun. \n/n/n>They also neglected to take actions to specifically rule out accessible weapons, like a visual search. \n/n/nYeah, I think that it has been established that they didn't operate optimally. \n/n/nMy point was that it is not out of question and not necessarily something like corruption or unequal treatment in front of the law, that they didn't get sentenced to anything. From the video angle it looked like he was reaching for something and from that angle it wouldn't have been visible until he was able to get a shot off. \n/n/nAgain I didn't say they acted 100% correctly. But in situations like this, such things can happen and that doesn't mean that the cops were going out trying to find an excuse to murder someone. 85 [removed] 86 Especially while doing a backflip. Holsters were not meant for such tomfoolery! 87 [removed] 88 Glock does not have the safety feature you mentioned. Not sure where you got that from. \n/n/nThe safety is on the trigger. The internal workings keep it from firing when dropped but this guy just showed poor trigger discipline 89 [removed] 90 Because he wasnafTM the ones shooting the orders in the video. He fucked up by shooting the guy, but the sergeant behind him didnafTM help him by escalating the situation the way he did. \n/n/nIf someone needs to be reprimanded, it should have been him. 91 > but he is a pretty highly trained idiot \n/n/n/nThe FBI academy is 6 months. Traditional police academies in the US are 4-6 months. \n/n/nBecoming a police officers in Germany is a 3 year bachelors degree program (for Gehobener dienst) followed later by another 2 year masters degree program (for HÄherer Dienst) if you are a career career. \n/n/n/nThink a little about that when you see American LEOs fuck up situations in which they have absolute superiority in terms of number and equipment. One job training exists in both countries and that isn't an excuse. 92 Are you sure? There's a lot more terrorists on TV than accidental discharges. 93 [deleted] 94 WHO THE FUCK ATTEMPTS A BACKFLIP, IN A CLUB FULL OF PEOPLE, WITH A GUN JOCKED??? All of his judgements in this vid alone should be enough to keep him from ever being in any type of lever again- and he shouldnt even be able to carry a gun imo- total dumbass \n/n/nPs- if he was "sober" and making decisions like this, its even WORSE 95 If this was true he wouldnafTM have been fired. Cops always protect their own. The fact he was fired speaks volume. Cops canafTM just run people over 96 192.168.69.3 \n/n/nBtw, I do not understand the difference between a public and private IP address. Is that a problem? 97 New Boot Goofin FBI style 98 First a Nobel Prize, now she wins the award for UK's biggest lad. 99 What law enforcement agency is top tier? 100 Ya but at least it is not every week. What do you say to that? 101 All soldiers should have their guns taken away. Reeceeeee 102 I didnafTM reply to a lot of comments because it is the same stuff. Lol. \n/n/nI didnafTM downvote anyone. I will look at that comment, but they all seem the same to me. \n/n/nPeople want Trump gone because they do not like him. Just say that. Why lie and say you want Trump gone because he allegedly committed a crime?

corporations.ⁿ⁵ Plenty of Americans support the investigation of the Bidens, including most Republicans. Having bipartisan support doesn't justify the same crime for whatever the outcome may be.ⁿ⁶ I definitely don't support the democrats, they have thoroughly proven they have no regard for the Constitution, or our rights outlined in the Bill of Rights. Most support infringement of the Second Amendment, which I cannot and will not accept.ⁿ⁷ It speaks to his public approval following this very public trial. His approval rating did rise following the impeachment trial, and his average approval rating is only 6 points lower than Barrack Obama, and his lowest was still 10 points above George W. Bush's lowest (who also has the highest ever at 90), and only 3 points lower than Barrack Obama's lowest. 141 Or... you know, these devices are getting so engineered that it's become harder for consumers to replace batteries on their own. Try replacing a battery in a GS10. Don't see many people complaining about Samsung. Just people getting angry at Apple cuz they want to hate Apple. 142 People who want to know the name of the shooter will still find out. Easily. Copy cats will still copy cat. 143 3 HKS and 2 m60s? How the fuck was he carrying all these guns? 144 [removed] 145 [removed] 146 Donâ€™t be half-assed, throw all of congress in there 147 Sounds typical of the Dolphin majority. 148 "begins shooting middle class citizens" 149 [removed] 150 Good job connecting dots, but I think you're missing some steps. 151 How are people still going there enough to keep then open?! 152 I just arrived Bangkok yesterday. My first time here. Such a nice place and the people are lovely. I am a bit shocked and will be paranoid going out. My heart goes out to all those affected 153 Business class seats are quite a bit fancier than economy seats. I am confused. 154 The ones that don't fit the narrative this is true. 155 I don't think that fits the questions. ⁿ¹⁰How will facebook detect what the new live streamer is doing? 156 If I actually do research it isn't funny anymore. ⁿ¹¹https://www.theregister.co.uk/2019/11/21/apple_repair_costs/ newmvidm isn't still funny ⁿ¹²Apple doesn't need to coerce, ⁿ¹³You're right. That's actually part of the problem haha. 157 They just wanna hang at Mar-a-Lago. 158 [removed] 159 Oh lâ€™m sure thousands did. Itâ€™ll be up soon for better or worse 160 An entire movie worth watching. mind you. 161 Well technically in our system youâ€™re innocent until proven guilty. So by firing him theyâ€™re saying yes he is 100% guilty (which he is, they know it). But to avoid jumping the gun and dealing with people that would question it such as yourself. Suspended without pay. Once the trial starts lâ€™m sure itâ€™ll change to fired REAL fast. Also I donâ€™t have any excuses. This guy is guilty. He is going to either rot in jail or be shanked by an inmate. 162 /unexpectedpawnee 163 You're not taking into account chaotic neutral guys with guns. 164 Trump and many Americans saw this for what it was. A partisan coop attempt against his presidency. Trump can lawfully remove any appointees he wants. Vindmans boss even questioned vindmans motive and didnâ€™t trust him. If youâ€™re cool with bad actors being in the office by all means. Iâ€™m not surprised 165 Problem is that a dolphin is massively more intelligent than a dog, and that these kinds of things don't really fool them the way it does dogs, and they're not going to forget that they're still kept prisoner. 166 [removed] 167 [removed] 168 Their business class seatbelts apparently have built in airbags, so they canâ€™t be extended 169 Show me where they claimed the woman charged was the mother of the child? He even pointed out the kid as "his" kid. Not their kid. ⁿ¹⁹You're the only one whose got it wrong here little guy. 170 The fact that this comment is being upvoted shows what Reddit's "progressive" moralizers really are. 171 I'd imagine there is power sharing software that decides what instruments get power at a given time. 172 ... so you want Facebook to shutdown in an entire region because of 1 guy. What if they don't have cellular data and it's their only way of getting in touch with people, they could be using it to ask for help? 173 [removed] 174 Because everything you described is straight out of a spy movie and laughable, it's like if the UN sent troops to find a Nigerian spammer, it's ridiculous. Also Bones is a TV show, not a movie, which is a thing you watch too much of, like I said. 175 [deleted] 176 If you buy the facebook watch it will auto switch your safe to dead for you! 177 It's "much" better to actually send some police presence instead of just waiting, doing nothing. Cops are just fucking cowards, they don't face any real danger and are scared when there actually is some. 178 That comment was soon after this was posted. Maybe they happened to be one of the early ones when it had far fewer upvotes and assumed it should already be much bigger. 179 Thailand has had a relatively large number of terror attacks for quite a while now. It doesnâ€™t really get that much media attention. There have been quite a number of (i think) politically motivated bombings over the last two decades. 180 And where is the recourse. The judge and childrenâ€™s services should be held accountable. Itâ€™s the only way to make the system better and prevent this kind of shit in the future 181 How interesting in a post about another poster lying here you are. You know knowing about me, or my politics or personal beliefs, yet you confidently make claims about me with nothing to back them up. That makes you as liar as well. ⁿ¹⁹What does the Vegas massacre have to do with using gang violence to inflate the instances on random public shootings? And why is his race important. The fact that you brought that into the discussion for no reason makes you a racist as well. ⁿ¹⁹What does Trump have to do with another comment using gang violence to inflate random public shooting numbers? It let's the rest of us know you aren't a stable or rational individual. ⁿ¹⁹So in conclusion, you are a delusional lying racist. 182 Maybe she was fucking the vice principal like my ex was. Seems to be a decent insurance policy.... 183 Its sooo easy to not call anyone the N word. I've done it my whole life! As easy as breathing! Also this CEO will just get a new job somewhere else 184 I donâ€™t think Jesus is a fan of having anyone crucified, it was pretty much just a Roman thing. 185 Or sold for drug money 186 > Do you know how many people though Kansas city was in Kansas ⁿ¹⁹The fact that you hold the president to the same standard as the average American explains perfectly why you and yours thought Trump was qualified. 187 And? Far more gun violence in the US than literally any other first-world country. Gee, I wonder if that's because we're the only one with such easy access to guns? 188 Because the US military is imperialistic and spreads its doctrine around the world like no other country since the British empire.... Seems like a completely appropriate question.... Unless you are American it seems. I'm genuinely curious if the training tactics are in part what leads to this type of action. 189 Gunna have to start doing more than just voting soon.... 190 Pro tip? 191 I mean... I guess there needs to be better background checks and stricter gun laws? 192 Neither is a vast majority of the media. We're on our own 193 Thank you. These people give journalism a bad name, and it all comes back to bite us in the ass when the quality of reporting goes down. 194 Man, I couldnâ€™t agree more. Itâ€™s such bullshit how the outlets try and justify a certain â€œgroupâ€™s death apart from others 195 Thatâ€™s kinda funny 196 They use the wrong phrase, but this is normal. Happened to me a couple days ago. ⁿ¹⁹They are supposed to say "do you want to request a private screening?" ⁿ¹⁹If they aren't in a hurry they will also say they will "search inside your waistband" and "touch your groin area with the back of my hands". They're probably supposed to say that every time, but there's no way around it, they simply don't. 197 Nah I think the worst part is that he murdered his son 198 Mixed feelings on that. In Thai culture there is still a lot of peer pressure to not shame your family and publishing a nefarious face is typically done for that exact reason. Normally though yeah. These shooters should just cease to have ever existed and never be spoken of again. 199 [removed] 200 There's no such thing as 100% reliability. Most of the time there is ample redundancy in the event of a failure that allows for the flight to land without further incident. 201 These people rented a party bus, modified SUVs fall under the umbrella of what countless companies rent as â€œparty busesâ€™. google â€œparty busâ€™ and give it up. 202 I don't know why people seem to think that same-day registration is some massive loophole that the state didn't think to secure. ⁿ¹⁹[Saferguards in Minnesota's Election System] (https://ceimn.org/sites/default/files/Saferguards%20in%20Minnesota%20Election%20System.pdf): ⁿ¹⁹> Election Day Registrants are subject to the same verification procedures. ⁿ¹⁹> After election day, election day registrants are entered into the Statewide Voter Registration System and are subject to the same verification procedures. If the non-forwardable Postal Verification Card is returned, auditor must verify the voterâ€™s eligibility. If the auditor cannot do so or if the voter is otherwise identified as ineligible to vote, their case must be forwarded to the county attorney for further investigation and potential prosecution. Any violation of election law is a felony. ⁿ¹⁹> Database matches run again. ⁿ¹⁹> Data on non-citizens from the Department of Public Safety and data on felons from the Department of Corrections is again compared to data in the Statewide Voter Registration System to identify non-citizens or felons who may have voted. If an individual registered or voted when they were not eligible, their record is flagged and their case is turned over to the county attorney. 203 I had no idea shit could be considered concealed. ⁿ¹⁹You learn something new every day. 204 The elephant was just tenderising the meat for the lions 205 The investigation in Sweden was dropped in 2018. 206 [removed] 207 Nothing electronic is 100% reliable. That's basically impossible. 208 â€œJoezy, have you ever been in a Turkish prison?â€™ 209 [removed] 210 [removed] 211 it does seem a bit shaky, journalism wise... a man got ran over by an elephant and his corpse eaten in south africa... the article gives no extra detail. ⁿ¹⁹​ ⁿ¹⁹Assuming it happened: Fuck yeah! ⁿ¹⁹Assuming it's clickbait (more likely): Fuck no. ⁿ¹⁹​ ⁿ¹⁹A review of the top 6 news stories are copies of the previous.... I'm all for poachers meeting doom at the animals they kill... But this isnt real journalism / It's a tale that offends with a story that could or couldnt have happened because there is only a story and no information. ⁿ¹⁹​ ⁿ¹⁹Unfortunately this article has about as much integrity as "Ted's African Blog"... (doesnt exist)(but I hope it does) ⁿ¹⁹​ ⁿ¹⁹I hope some asshole elephant killing tusk thirst dude did get trampled...He may be out there. I hope so because these other editorials could be true or shit... ⁿ¹⁹​ ⁿ¹⁹Barh, I've been throwing myself to reddit lately... Why? ⁿ¹⁹​ ⁿ¹⁹​ ⁿ¹⁹How do we know the poacher wasn't a skull and is now posing as a lion or a rhino? 213 Ya when I talk about the American left its pretty much anything a number of degrees left of American center and ending before radicals. But either way there really isn't, again as far as I know, any developed country where the left leaning party is considered pro-gun. 214 [deleted] 215 > No scientist worth his salt would agree with you. ⁿ¹⁹There are plenty of scientists who agree. From Charles Murray to Linda Gottfredson, dozens of others, who conclude that brain power is primarily genetic, and that different races have different average IQ scores (this doesn't mean individuals don't vary because of course they do). ⁿ¹⁹> Racial supremacy is not an "unfortunate fact" because it's not a scientific fact at all. ⁿ¹⁹I'm not claiming racial supremacy as a whole, but as far as IQ goes, it is an incontrovertible fact that different groups (and genders) have varying IQ scores. To claim that a tribe in the Congo will not have a far lower average IQ (even if you gave them the same living conditions as those in a first world country) is truly insane, and basically is stating that genetics have almost no effect on brain development. 216 Well, then they realize the risks and just go in with vibranium armor. Now all of the sudden they are using the kinetic force of the megafuuna against the megafuuna. 217 To late for that. We are literally at the stage where species are about to be wiped out for ever, so fuck all this local guy feeding his family bollocks. Even giraffes have become endangered. ⁿ¹⁹There are to many human beings. There are to many of us. The landscape can't cope with the numbers of us. 218 its been a couple months so i just clicked the first one that came up; but this jives with the numerous stories of accusers who have now admitted they lied that i have seen https://www.washingtontimes.com/news/2018/nov/3/another-kavanaugh-accuser-admits-fabricating-rape-/ 219 About 47 million teens in the US currently. If you're good enough (or entertaining enough) to be in the top 100 at anything that 10% of that peer group are interested in, six figures isnt surprising. ⁿ¹⁹Just stop of the "virtual twitch killer" food chain. ⁿ¹⁹ 220 [removed] 221 The exact same is true in third-world theocracies... 222 Pulaski County is named after them, hell I think most States have one named after him/her. 223 From the Wikipedia article: ⁿ¹⁹>According to the CDC, almost 50% of patients who contract C. auris die within 90 days. ⁿ¹⁹holy shit, dude. I can understand a nurse's reluctance to come in contact with somebody infected like that, but ... aren't they medical professionals that know contamination protocols? 224 [removed] 225 I was so happy to hear this... Rhino's are just about extinct and these guys kill for profit scheme is worth more than keeping them around.... How fucked up is that?! That'd be a perfect fitting execution for those that get caught 226 And I fully support that if they're coming legally. 227 Rubber was a weirdly enjoyable movie 228 I agree with your statement and it's pretty true, but that doesn't make it OK to vilify white society or bash it. It isn't OK to do to black or Asian people and it shouldn't be OK to vilify white society or any other group either. Otherwise it makes it harder for the public to take these real issues seriously. 229 Trump's rhetoric...making people do this 230 Just become the damage isn't intentional (always) doesn't mean it doesn't exist 231 I canâ€™t believe I wasted my time actually looking that up. 232 [removed] 233 Shouldn't the systems in aircraft be 100% reliable? This shouldn't happen, ever. 234 [removed] 235 Must've entered Simba's kingdom... 236 Doctor's aren't infallible, and our understanding of the brain is still in it's infancy. If you want to be rational about this, perhaps an investigation in the who process of institutionalization, care, and release of mentally ill people should be examined, rather than trying to "blame the doctor." 237 So the woman just pushed someone, and now they gonna kill her in the subway? 238 Why are cops such trash. 239 Lmao. I honestly think we can go full-on Roman and throw poachers in the ring with tigers and lions, and the only complaints would be for the sake of the animals used to fight. Not that I'm for poachers or anything, of course. 240 [removed] 241 [removed] 242 Did you even read the article? She is schizophrenic. ⁿ¹⁹I read the articles! 243 [removed] 244 You know you can look up the total amount of votes cast for each nominee, right? ⁿ¹⁹Trump didnt have massively more votes than Romney, Clinton simply had way less votes that Obama since a lot of Democrats did not want to vote for her. 245 I remember that thread, saw it when i first blew up, but a lot of people have continued it anyway, about 4 or 5 links a day 246 To whom this may concern. ⁿ¹⁹Day 47, somewhere in the Andromeda system. (Shouldn't have hit that last link to /universe) ⁿ¹⁹ went as far in as possible without going mad, I think... ⁿ¹⁹I've made so many jumps I don't even care to guess anymore. I have no idea where I ended up, during the day it's so hot here I have to hide in these giant caves. It's cold at night, and pitch dark, except for a short time when the largest moon of this planet passes the heavens in half an earth hour or so, and sheds some blue-greenish light so I can write this. ⁿ¹⁹I can't find a link to get out of here, i still have some food left, but I'm running out of water now and getting dehydrated, not sure if I can make it much longer, also the shadow creatures are slowly moving in. ⁿ¹⁹I can outrun them, but I have no place to go really. ⁿ¹⁹247 /beetlejuicing 248 Nothing strikes me as fishy. She was diagnosed with schizophrenia. I suppose this might have something to do with her behavior. 249 holy fik 250 [removed] 251 It's not a matter of "trying again." Christ. It's a matter of placing her in a controlled environment where she will 1) not be able to hurt anyone else easily, and 2) be taken care of properly. 252 He was no human, he was a cunt that deserved to go the way he did. 253 You're confusing a method with the philosophy that directs its use. You my poor sucker are destined to fuck up pretty good if you don't change your ways. Good luck. 254 https://www.sos.state.mn.us/elections-voting/register-to-vote/register-on-election-day/ 255 Mr Lopez is very selective in his statistics. Men are much more likely to shoot at police officers than women. Does this make police sexist? Police shoot people who threaten them, not those who happen to be black. If you make your life about race, you're going to live a very painful and hateful life. It's not about race, it's about socio-economic standing. Cops don't shoot at black stockbrokers, but they sure as shit shoot at white rednecks who pull shots on them. It just so happens that blacks and hispanics make up a larger than normal percentage of poor people. That's a problem for them to solve. Maybe start by dobbing in drug dealers instead of blaming the cops for violence. 256 Please bear the burden of her. None of us want her on this earth. ⁿ¹⁹Throw the fucking law book at her and lock her up for eternity, she has multiple personalities to entertain her 257 Right, mice have less value because they can't tell you what value is. What about rhinos though, they can't speak but I feel like they have a couple things to say regardless. 258 Are they though because I just don't see them going yup going to cut my wage in half third because. They will still have same jobs connections and face getting replaced or undercut by next wave of illegal immigrants. And as much as just make everyone a citizen fun on paper infrastructure economy can handle x growth per year and takes time to acclimate. There is a number and there will be a cutoff point. And if they don't have a cutoff that would be equally or more damaging than having a underground labor market. 259 Woohoo! ⁿ¹⁹Death to poachers from the east 260 The mercenaries are probably just psychos that get off on killing people 261 Since when did anything belong to anyone? Everything was taken from something. Is what Israel is done right? No, neither is what Palestine and surrounding Arabic countries are either. ⁿ¹⁹Where are Egypts Jews? Where are Saudi Arabias jews? Israel has Arabic and Jews within without harming the peaceful ones. What about peaceful jews in surrounding countries? They are killed. Do you not think that Israel is trying to compromise? They are not saints, so we should let Israel dissolve and have a holocaust 2.0 262 [removed] 263 No current pushes for gun control just call for the destruction of all guns sure, just vast majority of guns. Just like how deportation doesn't require all either, just enough to dissuade more from entering, and laws like these really don't do anything to stop further illegal immigration. I'd also hazard a guess that doing a gun buyback or anything that of that like would cost a lot more than you'd guess. ⁿ¹⁹In the end both points are things that can't be boiled down to a single sentence and trying to do so for a pointless jab at a group you don't like is needlessly reductive. I made my post to point that out, cost never came into it only the basic statements. 264 [removed] 265 Love it when dumbfucks pretend that they know anything at all. No scientist worth his salt would agree with you. 266 [removed] 267 ... clever girl 268 On british roads you often find yourself with less than two metres gap between you and the opposing lane. Whilst you are travelling at 50-60mph in a metal box and the other car is doing the same directly towards you. ⁿ¹⁹That isn't even so bad. Country lanes you often find yourself with an on-coming car passing you with less than a metre gap at 30mph. ⁿ 269 It doesn't really have a strict definition, so I guess I could have been clearer in my original comment. That said, I find it unlikely that NAMBLA doesn't have those things going on, it's just not something they openly state. 270 > a compound called nicotinamide riboside (NR). This compound is a precursor to NAD, a coenzyme that activates the sirtuin SIRT1. They found that after six weeks of drinking water spiked with NR, the older mice had normal levels of intestinal stem cells, and these cells were able to generate organoids as well as stem cells from younger mice could. ⁿ¹⁹ Let me explain in simple terms. ⁿ¹⁹Certain type of Assholes deserve to die & when we hear certain assholes getting what they deserve, it feels like justice has been served. ⁿ¹⁹I see some examples of few assholes that deserve to die. Rapists, Child Molesters/pedophiles, terrorists, animal abusers, school shooters (guess you could pool em in the terrorist gang though) ⁿ¹⁹Now why do these assholes deserve to die? You may ask, well simple these type of cunts are beyond saving or rehabilitating. These cunts are so fucked in the head, they cannot be reasoned with & anything that can't be reasoned with can't live in this world hence need to be put down. Hope that answers your question. 272 > I'm sorry I'm disgusted by the amount of people jerking off over the death of a poor desperate father. ⁿ¹⁹Where did you learn that information? 273 Hear hear! 274 My feeling is... thank you for taking the time to explain things to me. ⁿ¹⁹ I donâ€™t trust mass production. I donâ€™t trust the government. I donâ€™t trust data that is selected to fit the agenda. ⁿ¹⁹The are too many examples of â€œfcoo sorry we had the best intentions â€œ ⁿ¹⁹Some vaccines are good, and necessary. ⁿ¹⁹My stand is they are â€œ ⁿ¹⁹all good or necessary, and the process of determining that is flawed. ⁿ¹⁹Just as it seems ignorant to be an anti vaxer, itâ€™s ignorant to say â€œ science â€œ no need to question it. 275 Wow. I honestly can't remember a time when a plane had to make an emergency landing because the pilot's minds went blank mid-air. 276 You live a very sheltered Reddit life. 277 The punishment for getting caught stealing a candy bar from the grocery store is absolutely nothing. I could go down to my local Schnucks, stuff $5 in Snickers in my pants in front of the cashier, and walk out without issue, then be back in there shopping the next day. Just sayin'. 278 [removed] 279 [removed] 280 well said, the key to what you are saying is that really, nobody can judge anyone until they fully understand their situation, and not many in developed countries really can relate to it anyway 281 Oh no. I am heartbroken. That poor lion had to eat literal shit. 282 Or that Zoo scifi where the other animals become intelligent and start attacking the human... 283 Most of these drawbacks are alleviated by simply allowing these immigrants legal status. 284 Since when is it Israel's yard? 285 One less now. 286 >keep saying we don't need vaccinations because no one dies from measles anymore,\n\nWhere the fuck did I say that????\n\nMy entire argument is that everyone should get vaccinated, but everyone should have the CHOICE whether to get vaccinated. That's how it is now and we're doing fine. \n\nYeah there is a death every couple of years and that's tragic and stupid and horrible that it could likely have been prevented. But the massive overreaction to the media fearmongering is ridiculous. \n\nStating the dog attack and other death statistics was to illustrate how ridiculous the anti-vaxx fear is. More people die every year because of people that own dogs than die due to people that don't vaccinate. \n\nWhere are the cries to eradicate dogs? Why aren't you screaming for Pro-Maulers to be "put on a reservation where they can all die from their dangerous dogs and then we get the land back". \n\nDo you see how ridiculous that is? The reaction to anti-vaxers is ridiculous. Politicians are basing their entire campaigns on stopping the looming deadly plague of anti-vaxers! It's the "reefer madness" is coming for your CHILD fearmongering bullshit that whips people into a frenzy over an absolutely insignificant, albeit tragic, number of deaths. \n\nOh and all those complications are extremely rare. Those complications happen when there is a vitamin A deficiency and two doses of vitamin A effectively treats it. And that's only done in developing countries when malnourished people get the measles. The vitamin A supplements aren't even typically necessary in developed countries. \n\nChildren drown every day and contract norovirus from pools. Thousands of people die every year to pools. Where are the politicians basing their platform on banning pools! Why are you decrying the horrible Pro-drowners! It's fucking ridiculous. \n\nPeople in this thread are screaming for the government to take the bodily autonomy of 325 million people because 300 people got the measles. Donald Trump is the head of the executive branch, his appointees are the people that would dictate what medicines to force on the entire US population. And you people are begging them to do it because 1 person died in two years to the measles. That's fucking insane. That is fucking terrifying. \n\n/n/n 287 You want to know that he was trampled by elephants and then eaten by lions? It's not enough to know that he died from animal attack after entering whatever that area was? Why? 288 part of population control is having some good meals tossed into the mix. You want a riot serve only bad food and watch the morale devolve into madness 289 Or the SWAT pig who couldn't hit an unarmed, seated autistic man with a rifle from 150 feet. That's not a range you should miss stationary targets from with a rifle. 290 if they take these accusations seriously they aren't smart enough to be lawyers 291 Illegal immigration is a victimless crime as well. 292 [removed] 293 Even if that were true, it is completely irrelevant. 294 The us is the most advanced and third most populous country in the world because we told immigrants they were welcome to come here and raise their children. 295 Our current president ran on obama not being a citizen and became a rockstar amongst white americans in the process. 296 Username checks out. 297 good people do bad things, bad people do good things, society is still trying to teach us that there is good and bad, but its bullshit, you have to judge each situation on its own. \n\nhere's a different headline "desperate father to starving children gets caught up in crime as the only way to feed his family".....that would have a different reaction.....plus it would be interesting to know how many people finding joy in this mans death also eat meat 298 You confusing 2 groups of people. Medical companies making a profit on medicine, and scientists who dedicate their lives to wiping out disease for the greater good and are giving expert advice to vaccinate are entirely different. 299 Good comment :) 300 I'm so tired of this war for oil narrative. Was going in Iraq a huge mistake? Fuck yeah it was and we royally screwed up the post Saddam government. I would like for one shred of evidence that the war was in fact for oil. Everyone repeats it like it's a fact but have yet to see any convincing evidence of this. 301 Actually a lot of anti vax believe they don't work at all. I have seen claims that small pox and such went away because of improving sanitation, not because of vaccines. 302 To be honest, given the crappy job "God" seems to do elsewhere, I wouldn't put it past him. 303 > The difference is we're not really fighting for the survival and sovereignty of America and its European allies against the middle east, and you're kidding yourself if you think we are. \n\nUgh. We weren't fighting for American survival or Sovereignty during World War II either, just that of our European allies in a situation that was almost entirely created by them. \n> You could make the argument that we should care just as much about the massacre of innocent minority groups in the middle east, but I think that America has made it clear that unless we need a convenient casus belli we really don't. \n\nYou do understand that has...always been true? Including from 1930 to 1946? That we turned away Jewish refugees and sent them back to Germany? That we literally did not care about the rumors we heard about the holocaust until US soldiers actually found camps, in Nineteen Forty Fucking Four? We didn't need a convenient Casus Belli against the Nazis. Japan had provided that with an narrow and deadly but ultimately strategically insignificant attack. \n\nSo there's another reality that WWII and Afghanistan share. \n> to your second point, I cant tell if you're just taking the piss or not, but if you aren't then by the same argument everything after 1776 America has been involved in was a direct result of the American Revolution and as such is the same war and should be treated the same. \n\nLook, I cant tell if you're ignorant of reality (The multiple British wars in Afghanistan, the division of the former ottoman empire by the French and British post WWI, the fact that America has a nearly two hundred year history of dealing with mistakes made by either the British or the French, but it's not actually the same as your blame-passing "Everything is America's fault because they exist!") \n\nhttps://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sykes-Picot_Agreement \n\nhttps://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Third_Anglo-Afghan_War \n\nhttps://www.encyclopedia.com/humanities/encyclopedias-almanacs-transcripts-and-maps/britain-and-middle-east-1914-present \n\nif you think pointing out the reality that Britain and France have a much longer history in the area than us, with much worse mistakes that the people of those countries as well as our military are now paying the price for, then I cant help you. The Middle East is Europe's Central America, and we can look at the US Role in Central America and see exactly the kind of fucking Chaos that can be caused by poorly managed interventionism. 304 Iâ€™m assuming this is looking at a middle class salary for these numbers. Yes they are high and probably not terribly accurate but the point is the same. 500K for a family used to a large income from the father wonâ€™t last long with 7 children. \n\nThis study accounted for food, housing, transportation, healthcare, clothing, childcare/education, and â€¦ Misc. costsâ€¦ \n\nProviding you live in the lower 48 contiguous states then with a household of 3 (not counting the child living with his mother) then you are in poverty and obviously will not be spending as much as a middle class household. \n\nUSDA Source [https://www.usda.gov/media/blog/2017/01/13/cost-raising-child] 305 What did he die defending? The opium or the oil? 306 [removed] 307 [deleted] 308 You list only one actual study so that's the only part I'll comment on. \n\nThat study (full article here for anyone who wants to read [https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC5244035/]) is a case controlled study that, by it's inherent design on the authors own admissions, cannot provide a causal link. Using to say this shows any kind of causality is flawed. \n\nThe bigger problem with this study is that they appear to have used p-hacking to generate their significance. Even just look at their data on table 2. According to them, vaccines significantly increase the risk of broken bones (as much as anxiety disorder or ADHD). You also see that their data suggests that any vaccine decreases the risk of bipolar disorder and major depressive disorder, not increasing it. I also don't think they corrected for multiple comparisons meaning, as one critique put it "[the results] are almost certainly statistical noise". \n\nFurther, studies like this have one major bias. Basically, because they are taking health insurance data, meaning health-seeking behavior will impact the results. Someone more likely to get their children vaccinated will also be at this doctors office more often and the doctor is more likely to notice behaviors that are indicative of neurological disorders. \n\nFinally, while funding sources doesn't impact the quality of a study, I always like to point it out. This study was funded by a lawyer and investment banker who have previously funded studies linking autism to vaccines, which has been thoroughly debunked. \n\n/n/n 309 https://www.ogdcency.com/DocumentCenter/View/3974/06-20-17-CC-FY2108-Budget---Pub-Hearing---Salary-Schedules?bld=1 \n\n/n/n So the city mayor makes $123k (page 6 of the pdf) \n\n/n/n if heâ€™s a Cpt heâ€™s making about $104k and if heâ€™s a major heâ€™s making about $110k. Assuming heâ€™s married filing jointly. \n\n/n/n With the tax benies heâ€™s probably making a bit more deployed. \n\n/n/n Overall â€¦â€™s comparable. And still a significant sacrifice of his time with family. 310 Not just weapons companies. They need food, water, medical supplies, building supplies, etc. A whole lot of industries are making money off of these wars. 311 Iâ€™m not an anti-vaxxer but this is a ridiculous statement . No one says that vaccines donâ€™t prevent the illnesses they are developed for. The issue is the potential side effects and ailments caused by the vaccines. 312 Actually it looks like it is a 6-9 month suspension on first offense. \n\nhttps://wiscosindot.org/Documents/safety/education/drunk-driv/owi-penclrt.pdf \n\n/n/n Still, the fines are a lot lower than many states. 313 This is the typical southern christian worldview, one can do no wrong once you're "saved" (i.e. literally just a member of their religion). 314 While the anti-vac movement is a blight, the mere suggestion a doctor/scientist or anyone who (misguidedly) believes their information should be charged with murder, manslaughter or any extrapolated charge would have a Ice Age chilling effect on the research community. \n\n/n/n Charge Wakefield with the appropriate crimes (fraud, etc) and implement better public policy that teaches people critical thinking and how to do independent research. 315 Plants cant provide everything an omnivore needs. 316 What did you think should have happened? 317 From my perspective I see him and other addicts as very sick people from a place of compassion. It's not like the guy grew up and decided I want to be an incel and kill the people I have idolized and put on a pedestal. 318 What does Afghanistan have to do with oil? Lol 319 The world is currently, and very sadly, full of people who think vaccinations are a lie invented by pharmaceutical companies to make money, that climate change is an invention by the Chinese to wreck the American economy, and that evolution is a lie invented by Satan to lead people away from Yahweh. \n\n/n/n/n And, sadly, a lot of them are in high positions of government in the United States right now. \n\n/n/n 320 Or eat plants.... and not go into debt. 321 The first car is slower than a horse, the first plane can only fly for 59 seconds, the first firearms are arguably less useful than longbows. \n\n/n/n Still, technology improves. Lab grown food may not be economical now, but one day they will be. 322 Just legally permit an underage child to consent to receiving a vaccine at public expense. Kid wants to hang with his friends, he just goes and gets the jab. Mom'n dad can be angry with him all they want. 323 Swamps aren't really the issue, if they were there would be a high incidence of malaria in Florida, the Carolinas and Virginia because of the Everglades and the great dismal swamp. I'm from Virginia and you can't go outside for five minutes during the summer without being bitten like ten times by mosquitoes. 324 It's probably hard to see that, especially right now, when the country has a president that wanted to waste 90 million on a military parade to stroke his ego & thinks the military is there to serve his own interests. 325 You would rather your kids be taught by morons than homeschooling them? Is it because of the implication? 326 And, even ignoring all of that, it still doesn't matter: would you rather your child has autism, or dies of polio? 327 Most people just stab themselves a couple dozen times these days. 328 But Trump doesn't even represent a small small portion of society? And the US as a whole agreed to those standards. \n\n/n/n mean hell, how do you even know these people are illegal other than judging their behavior and language? You have Hasidic Jews who have been here for multiple generations who don't speak English, we have people in Chinatown who learned English enough to become citizens and never used it again so they don't speak it now. We have people from Puerto Rico where the whole US government operates not using English and they move here and still don't learn English - but they were born citizens. The US has no language or assimilation requirements because we are supposed to be the land of the free to live your life exactly how you want, follow that logic. 329 Sex isn't the issue, despite what they say. It's that no one is attracted to them. I know because I was on that path for a while. \n\n/n/n Escorts aren't actually attracted to their clients; it's an entirely contractual exchange. Not what incels want at all. \n\n/n/n They need to realize that in order to be attractive, they need to change. The problem is that this is a hard idea to accept. 330 Youâ€™re asking for more saint Elliot Rodgers 331 All this Utah State students must be mourning. 332 It's almost impossible to get the police to do something until something happens. It really sucks 333 That's common for all sorts of crime. I say it a lot but unless there's money in it or boosts stats for the department, crimes will continue to be bottom priority. 334 So you're saying there is a connection 335 You'd never strange your mother to death over an argument, what a saint. 336 Maybe if God had blessed Afghanistan also, he wouldn't have to had been killed over there defending no ones freedom. What a waste of life. Vote against the 700 trillion military budget so people like Brent won't have to leave behind a widow and 6 children without a father. God Bless Peace. 337 [removed] 338 It didn't really need showing again, but I guess repeating confirmations is never a bad thing. 339 You have no concept of the scientific method or scientific procedure.... \n\n/n/n Just because there is correlation doesn't mean thereâ€™s causation. \n\n/n/n This generation in general has higher instances of ADHD, anxiety, and depression. It has nothing to do with vaccines. It has everything to do with the fact that their parents canâ€™t make enough money, how they have issues finding the money to get to college, how they probably wonâ€™t even have a future thanks to global climate change, and how fucked the current political climate is. \n\n/n/n Itâ€™s Occamâ€™s razor, if you have to do all this mental gymnastics and draw these lines and hook ideas from all over the place to make your position make sense, youâ€™re almost certainly wrong... the simplest explanation is the answer. \n\n/n/n if you even took one research methods or ethics class youâ€™d understand this. 340 10 Nimitz Class Carriers 341 [removed] 342 Wow, what a scumbag! Makes it all the harder for women to come forward and be believed. Sheâ€™s admitted it? Prosecute her! 343 Why does it have to be an either...or type of discussion one doesn't preclude the other right? 344 [removed] 345 Title IX is indeed a double edged sword. 346 Worse, they'll claim any evidence to the contrary is propaganda funded by 'Big Oxygen' or some other dumb shite. 347 I know this will probably never happen but I keep feeling like with all of the recent Mega crimes going on such as the shootings of all the Jews the black shootings and now the yoga ones with the sex offender and the guy with the mug of them that this somehow life preparing to when Trump gets out of office and he has to go into trial for something and it's like all of these different mirrors are going to go against them. 348 They aren't connected at all. It's like connecting babies to missiles because babies and missiles both cost money. 349 It's a story based on the U.S.' Special Inspector General for Afghan Reconstruction's A quarterly report A for Congress. There are plenty of outlets doing stories on the same report. I can't corroborate that it's "literally all failed" but the CNN headline and article are accurate. 350 It seems you don't know what a nazi is. Get an education. 351 No side in this argument but I have known people to kill themselves when engaged and right before going to college. It doesn't always make sense. \n\n/n/n I think thorough analysis by forensic professionals is the only way to proceed. 352 There's no point saying any of this. Any sane person already knows vaccines work, the earth is a sphere and the climate is fucked - the people that need to be convinced, won't be, because they already have a narrative about why everyone else thinks differently. \n\n/n/n And honestly, a lot of them just dig their heels in because they like feeling like they're in possession of some special knowledge, they belong to an exclusive "club". They can't be convinced they are wrong because they don't want to be convinced they're wrong. 353 [removed] 354 [removed] 355 CNN isn't the source. The article is quoting a report for congress by the Special Inspector General for Afghan Reconstruction. 356 It's a bold assumption thinking it'll be that much cheaper in 2 years, even before assuming that projection holds for 4. 357 Yeah I get the who, â€¦â€™s just the why I am having trouble with. If infanticide isnâ€™t doing it, you aren't going to convince them with logic 358 What about other criminals? Thieves, murderers, etc? Should they also be locked up forever? \n\n/n/n Anybody can be rehabilitated with enough effort, and I'm not willing to say that anyone is too much work. 359 Two separate ideas. I guess i didn't clarify that and that's my fault. 360 I wasn't talking about what I do or do not think or want, I was talking about the reality of flu vaccinations in The Netherlands. We have an annual vaccination campaign, and it only targets the more vulnerable (the elderly, people with a medical history, etc.), not the entire population. Flu vaccination where I live is not about herd immunity (if it was, the whole population would be vaccinated it), it's about protecting the weaker portion of the population. \n\n/n/n As an aside: would vaccinating really help when dealing with a virus that mutates as quickly as influenza? Each outbreak is a different type, so would it even be possible to device a vaccine that protects against every mutation? 361 You mean like this? 362 USS Gerald R. Fix Or Repair Daily. 363 Probably to force tax incentives too. Make other cities put up competitive offers as to make their top choices to do the same. 364 The US Supreme Court ruled in 2005 that the police have no duty to protect. \n\n/n/n https://www.nytimes.com/2005/06/28/politics/justices-rule-police-do-not-have-a-constitutional-duty-to-protect.html \n\n/n/n other words, a police officer can stand there and watch you get beaten slowly to death in the street and they will have done nothing wrong. Literally not their job to save you. 365 [removed] 366 [removed] 367 He's living the high life in Texas and dating Elle MacPherson, presumably still making money out of schmucks. 368 Thatâ€™s some contrived, manipulative bullshit told to soldiers and their families to make them feel good about loss and sacrifice instead of getting angry and asking questions. \n\n/n/n Itâ€™s nicer to hear your family member was killed with dignity and honor fighting for freedom, versus being killed in a pointless war without reason or need. If you want to believe the former so you can sleep better at night, well enjoy your brief life of convenience and comfort, because youâ€™re hit the apex. 369 Well put. May his wife and children find the peace they deserve. 370 Careful dude don't cut yourself with all that edge 371 I must have missed the wall to wall coverage of this and the apologies from the dems and msm (redundant) to Judge Kavanaugh. \n\n/n/n How anybody could cast one vote for a party that would do this to a person is beyond me. They are an evil lot. All over being scared they will lose the right to kill the unborn with little restrictions. 372 Sorry but seeing the amount of desperate women from some of the most fucked up environments I've ever seen, sell their bodies because otherwise they would starve and have no place to live doesn't seem "emPowerinG" to me. Are there some prostitutes that like selling their bodies? Maybe. But I'm sure if you gave those women an option to get the hell out of there, the vast majority would take it. \n\n/n/n It's honestly very disgusting how people like you just doesn't register those women as human beings. \n\n/n/n Oh no one wants to have sex with the mentally deranged man over there? Just let him pay for a woman desperate enough to sell her body so he doesn't shoot or rape other women! Like seriously, what the fuck is wrong with people. 373 [removed] 374 [removed] 375 I agree not all soldiers are good people. There are probably a small amount that want to kill, or at least when they join are indoctrinated to do so. But your last sentence i disagree with mainly because only a small portion of the armed forces are actual fighting forces. The majority is a support network to field those forces. I doubt a guy who wants to be a fighter pilot is more interested in killing someone than he is at being the best at something or becoming the 'pilot persona' same with soldiers, they want to be professionals and treated with respect, but a lot dont even want to deploy. 376 Spaces, bruh. 377 Thank you for providing that insight, and thanks for taking care of the guys over there. \n\n/n/n Itâ€™m not sure if democracy will ever work in AFG due to the tribal nature and lack of modernization. Just doesnâ€™t seem like a fit. Itâ€™s been 17 years, ISAF force strength continues to ebb and flow. \n\n/n/n In order for the Afghans to be free, they need to take the lead. They have all but proven they wonâ€™t. If they donâ€™t care enough, then we shouldâ€™t continue to force the issue. At most, we should be relying on a bombing campaign against HVTs/training camps and SOF advisers working with their best units. Standing up brigade size elements just doesnâ€™t make sense anymore. \n\n/n/n At what point do you cut your losses? 378 Why are they doing this? This sounds like some fucked up shit. 379 -What got us to this situation now is, whatever, it's done, focusing on the now, we're assholes if we stay, we're assholes if we just leave them in their current state. \n\n/n/n I'm pointing out that the Taliban is not done, despite you saying the reason we entered is done. Now you say it's still happening... You are both saying this is not a current problem, and it is a current problem. I'm not misinterpreting what you say, you're arguing against yourself (it seems). \n\n/n/n 380 Fuck any scam working for the American military. Good he's gone. 381 So if we can grow meat from any cells is lab grown human meat unethical to eat?

382 Black people are disproportionately targeted by the real police, and white people would be disproportionately targeted by the fashion police. 383 What's the US doing in Afghanistan again? 384 Or how about plants since they donâ€¢ scream and bleed when theyâ€¢ cut? 385 I always say the best way to support the troops is to stop making more veterans from shit wars. 386 [removed] 387 My girlfriend got her vote in ballot, and it had a different middle name than her actual one. Just a completely wrong name. Voter fraud? 388 Anti vaxers. 389 What if that isn't the real idea? \n\nThis man was connected to the men who use that war to redirect your tax dollars to a military industrial complex. He was a friend to the rich and powerful interests and had ambitions of higher office, which his military service was a key to obtaining. \n\nHe was a controversial figure in his city. Vanity projects and destruction of open space in the service of the monied elite was his legacy. \n\nWe give concessions and back down from far worse people than the Taliban of Afghanistan. This is 2018. Are we going to still be at war when his baby reaches adulthood so that the youngest of his children can make the same sacrifice as his father? \n\nAt what point can we admit to ourselves that whatever you think we are doing there, isn't working, and isn't going to work? \n\nAnd some of us, after long contemplation and study have come to the conclusion that your idea of what we are doing in Afghanistan is not what the real idea is. The real idea is to spend treasure and money fighting a conflict that cannot be won in the service of other agenda's. \n\nAnd because this was a man who was wise and old enough to know what he was doing, and to have seen the evil of the monied elite and chosen to play ball with them in order for his own glory and power, that his death is not like the young boys. He was a leader who was targeted because of his rank. \n\nHow we choose to remember him is important. Many people will feel that I am disrespecting a man who has given the ultimate sacrifice. But we can't force people to be our allies. We have to be better people, and I would hope that his death causes more people to question why it was necessary for him to be there. \n\n390 What the fuck does consumer culture have to do with armed conflicts in the middle east? Are you confusing it with China? I've never seen someone reach so hard in my life. 391 Anti vaxers. 392 That's with economy of scale and 100 years of the farming industry optimizing the entire process for lowest cost and/or maximum profit. If what they're saying is true and they can get the price down to just $4.50/lb in 2 years then given time and scale it could get lower than real chicken. 393 It looks like 'youths' are free to wreak havoc when in large groups because the media protects them and convinces the masses that they are the victim. Wouldn't it be a shame if these youths trashed the headquarters of a media organisation 394 This is madness. 395 True, I guess itâ€¢ like giving blood. 396 It's not fallacious logic. \n\nIt's not an argument for or against childhood vaccinations. \n\nIt isn't a distraction from that argument. \n\nIt's a separate but related point on the inconsistencies of those who aggressively advocate vaccinations against some deadly diseases, but not others. 397 How would that have a higher carbon footprint than the insane amount of land and resources currently used? 398 You can say both, they arenâ€¢ mutually exclusive statements. 399 [removed] 400 Most re-employment services recommend you not put the year of graduation if it's over 5 years ago for this exact reason 401 [deleted] 402 [removed] 403 Yay another misleading headline that doesn't properly display all the facts and tries to incite emotion in people 404 If it's an actual paper resume and you want it to get attention, it's better to go to a printing place and spring for better paper than copier grade. No one has time for a life story. 405 [removed] 406 These feel like two separate stories 407 Iâ€¢ sure this has nothing to do with the global economic uncertainty at the beginning of the pandemic (when she got the first two appraisals), and the unprecedented growth in home prices over the last 4 months (when she got her last one). This kind of variance in appraisals is happening all over, because the market has changed. But of course, it has to be race. Everything must be race because that is what weâ€¢ told it has to be. 408 Someone said something that made me think. Has there been any unusual trading of oil futures in the weeks leading up to this? Like those guys who wanted a ransom could had not even asked for one. Just hook up the pipeline for a few days, oil futures rise, you bought before, I say it might not be a bad idea to see if anything unusual on those trades took place. 409 As a first-time homeowner who just bought a place in this hot-as-fuck market, this is what I keep telling myself. I donâ€¢ care if the price drops because Iâ€¢ not selling and I like my house. Itâ€¢ in a good, up-and-coming neighborhood so I think the fundamental investment is still sound. 410 In my market any offers without that clause aren't even looked at. 411 You're done because you realized that her house has seen 80% more growth than her neighbors, and you tried to compare that to your entire neighborhood going up 100k. \n\nWhy didn't you just say, 'Oh I missed that detail, that isn't actually common' \n\ninstead you just quadrupled down 412 RemindMe! 8 days 413 Also, having know many appraisers, incompetence is also a possible factor to consider on the most recent appraisal. To a degree they are arbitrary as well, just look at the difference between the first two done. \n\nI doubt race played any role with any of the three appraisals done. 414 Totally the point I was trying to make, why use a hundred words trying to communicate it when with nuance? \n\nI'm talking about a particular time, and place, and that the fact that your skin color doesn't always get the cops to just let you go, much less suck you off roadside. If you on about? 415 One of my coworkers got elected to an African American heritage council in my community. He submitted his application but added he could not make the meeting for the election due to work obligation. Fucker got elected and was the only white dude on the council. He said they were bad with money and he actually went to the meetings and voiced himself regularly. A few quit the council but I'll be damned if he didn't actually fix their budget and spending lol 416 > Real cool that the programs are being rolled out on us before it's been "trained" \n\nI agree with you there. I simply stated the facts are they are now, not how they should be. 417 Howâ€¢ you come up with your name? 418 Zillow has my house at about 120k over what we paid for it 5 years ago. It's gone up 100k in the last year. So I can see that being a thing. \n\nEveryone is fleeing the major cities with work from home. If they can move quick before the pandemic is 'over', then they can possibly work from home permanently. 419 I mean...just hire a sober white guy to be your DD. Might be hard to find a sober one in Ohio, but stranger things have happened. 420 [deleted] 421 The Price is White 422 So they should have been white and this would solve the problem? Glad I don't live in your home. 423 [deleted] 424 So. I have a binder of Pokemon cards, wonder if I could make a lot off them now lmao. 425 I have never seen an appraisal where they saw me in person, and I have sold a lot of houses in Cincinnati. Like never have seen one. But they do come in person and anyone needs a white face to get more money, Iâ€¢ to help! 426 No one needs to be discriminated against for hiring, though. You can certainly hire whomever you wish and assign them to other business roles in the company. \n\nI don't necessarily preclude the idea of a contracting service, either; presumably, though, non-white-dudes would not be getting a lot of business for the 'rent a white dude' service. 427 This. When we were having places appraised, our broker had people who he sent out with the hopeful price already in mind. It's all cooked and any notion of integrity or honesty is just a facade. 428 You donâ€¢ get to change the topic of this article because you think the market is more likely to blame than race. To try to find something else to blame is racism at work. Youâ€¢ the problem. 429 [deleted] 430 Man, that has potential! You could even monetize both sides. \n\nTry the latest service from Uber! \n\nUBER MENSCH \n\nWhen you're in need of a white helping hand, think Uber Mensch! \n\nNo way that fails. I'll kill. 431 And now you understand why HOAs exist. As much as people love to hate on them they are around for a reason. Even if the roots of that reason were decidedly racist. 432 Sounds like they should get another one considering how its changed since just November and sell the house... if the problem is like taxes. They would need to have housing set up for after selling but they could clear the 1st mortgage and buy another house with the profit. Cutting down any mortgage if they still need one to a lower rate. Its potentially a gamble, but could put the family in a great spot. \n\nOn the other side of this, I don't doubt that its arbitrary to some small or large degree and black homeowners will get lower appraisals for their home if they're trying to sell and potentially the reverse when trying to buy. Its in our history books. That didn't just go away. 433 Hope one day we get to replace inspectors for AL... that way we wonâ€¢ have to deal with them 434 Bingo. I was good at college, I loved college, I loved learning. I learned fast and recalled information easily. \n\nThen my body stopped working normally. Then, from constant sleep deprivation due to chronic pain and a sleep disorder, my brain stopped working normally. \n\nI used to read, I have over 800 non-fiction books in my collection, but now I canâ€¢ follow a paragraph most days. Iâ€¢ certified in bookkeeping, but now I check my bank account, look at something else for a second, and forget my balance. I wouldn't dare handle someone else's taxes or money anymore. \n\nI fill a lot. I run into things. When the fatigue hits hard at night when I get home from work, I stumble like Iâ€¢ drunk. Often my body looks like I got a beating. \n\nShit happens. I work almost full time now, in retail. Iâ€¢ an adult, with bills and a mortgage. I worked myself up to a supervisory position. Iâ€¢ missed 2 days in the past 5 years because I couldn't not walk. No PTO, no sick days, no benefits. Sometimes I manage to sit for like 5 minutes during my shift and thatâ€¢ my break. \n\nLife can fuck you right up and change your perspective on those who work lower wage jobs. 435 Been hearing this since the 90's. We get it, thanks. 436 How long before we see the perp walk on the world news? 437 Some context, they got some money from a car accident. They usually play the slots and bingo. They're in their late 70's and retired already so they're not eager to save. 438 If you watch the video of this, a few seconds after the bombs hit, a massive ammunition depot explodes on the other side of the building. Itâ€¢ just not a war crime if itâ€¢ a legitimate military target 439 I believe you are thinking of an inspector. An appraiser probably would say something if they noticed it, but they aren't specifically looking for issues. 440 Iâ€¢ in an area where itâ€¢ high demand and a lot of cash offers, the local bank and realtor specifically said we need an appraiser that worked in the area so they were familiar w local pricing. Pulte builds the same houses all over the area. Itâ€¢ up to 50k more in the high demand area for the same house design. When I did a refi the first appraisal from their computer without a site visit was 20k lower than when they ran it through the local appraiser still without a site visit just comparable sales. 441 It real money if you consider that scarcity is not being answered. The predatory housing loans was a main cause of the housing crisis in the mid 2000s and that is not nearly as big a factor now. \n\nSpeculative buyers are gambling against a market pop, but if you buy a home now itâ€¢ almost certain to grow in value over the next 10 to 20 years and a 2-3% 20 year mortgage payment is criminally close to what it costs to rent. 442 'Sir! SIR! You are on 3rd street.' 443 Saying youâ€¢ sorry doesnâ€¢ change what happened, nor do the good works done by religion. Taking responsibility and providing restitution and justice is necessary to heal and move on. \n\nI have seen little if any of those things happen from religious institutions. Iâ€¢ waiting with baited breath. 444 This should be the top comment. 445 But racism = clicks 446 Unless you're a table. - also Mitch 447 So r u saying the whole economy is unsustainable based on the need for continued growth at an exponential rate (ie continuous 2% per year, or similar)? \n\nWhat is more important, our spaceship we call earth functioning to keep us alive or economic growth for hedonistic consumption? These tech workers and their spouses r not living anywhere close to poverty here or in their home countries. 448 Yeah but that doesn't fit the race baiting headlines reddit loves to form an echo chamber over 449 I'm happy to rent you a piece of shit vehicle to park out front on Appraisal day. 450 In my experience usually the opposite way around. I canâ€¢ speak for America as Iâ€¢ Aussie but take an area for example Redfern in inner city Sydney that was a large Aboriginal community that was pretty much a Ghetto and the government came in because Sydney got the olympics and didnâ€¢ want the world to see it so they come in and got rid of the blackfellas and tidied the place up a bit and gentrified the joint and now itâ€¢ probably expensive as to buy there. 451 Worth the click 452 [removed] 453 you are doing too much. Any black person will do. Heck you can get a Harvard and Yale educated black people with degrees on the wall, and it will still work. 454 This is the big reason. The sale value of the house doesnâ€¢ matter at all when it comes to insuring a house, itâ€¢ the rebuild value. If you have a house that would cost $250k to rebuild and it sells for 750k because of the land and location, insurance would still only payout $250k for a total loss. \n\nBecause building materials have gone up so much, the cost to rebuild the exact same house is going up so you need to insure your house for more. Higher insurance payouts means higher premiums. 455 Neat. We need a way to tell anti vaxers apart. 456 You're assuming the high appraisal is the suspect, it isn't. The low appraisals could be under market value. 457 It is bullshit, but it's happening everywhere. My neighbor sold their house 1 year ago afor $135. The buyer did some cosmetic upgrades and sold it last month for $300. If they put $20k in it, I would be surprised 458 I live in an up and coming area. About 5-6 years ago houses that usually go for 150k have been sold for 300k+ with tons of offers. Several houses were flipped and sold for 450k. Lots of brand new construction, etc. I'd love to be able to cash in on this, but the other issue is that every area we would consider moving to is also insanely competitive and I have friends that have been trying to buy a house for nearly a year. 459 Welp... you're a dumbfuck 460 Weird way to spell 'don't cripple infrastructure putting livelihoods in danger', but okay. 461 There's an empty plot beside me that hasn't been able to sell for over a decade. Someone just bought it for 100k and put it back on the market for 200k. \n\nIt's also a swamp. Like wtf. 462 Wtf \n\nThe federal safety investigation comes just after the CHP arrested another man who authorities have said was in the back seat of a Tesla that was driving this week on Interstate 80 near Oakland with no one behind the wheel \n\nI thought you had to be in the driver seat and touch the steering every few minutes to keep the auto pilot engaged. 463 > Also, Iâ€¢ a woman. Decently cute, too. \n> So yeah... Iâ€¢ also available. Price is negotiable. \n\nAhh, context is a wonderful thing. 464 Where does it say anything about her forgetting to mention a floor, also an appraiser doing a walk-through doesn't miss a floor. Values are going up sure but 110k houses aren't doubling in a year in Cincinnati. Stop making stuff up to fit your narrative. 465 During this last election all I kept thinking is that we are gonna have to see this guy literally running the party for the next forty years and have him at the forefront of the political machine for generations and now a faint glimmer of light is showing through. This monster might just not affect the entire country for decades to come and that's something to be celebrated. 466 > Appraisers absolutely can pull numbers out of their ass. They look for "like properties" to evaluate. This could mean that they could use the recent appraisal for the house next door that just sold or they can use the appraisal for the slum house at the end of the block. \n\nThey use comparables in size and in quality of construction. They can't use the slum house on the end of the block. They have to go based of sales within the past 6 months, and within a certain radius. Additionally, the appraisals get scored by something called an SSR after the fact, and they will take a look at what comps were used. \n> Them 'showing their work' amounts to saying 'Yup, this house was comparable because of x,y,z' and that's all they have to say. Many people would use third party appraisers just to "check" the banks appraisers. \n\nHave you ever seen an appraisal report? They are long, with explanations of the comps used, pictures, addendums, notes, etc. What else do you need? They give value for upgrades, will deduct for a house being on a major street, etc etc. Also, 'bank appraisers' don't exist, which makes me really wonder if you know what you are talking about, since it is against the law to use anything but a third party appraisal company. No bank in the past 12 years is going to use anything but a third party appraiser. \n> Not to mention, if it's a "fill" appraisal vs a drive by. A drive by appraisal are often used if there's no real need to see the house (like for a loan or something like that). So having two appraisers wouldn't raise any flags. \n\nDrive by appraisals for loans? What?? That was a thing for maybe a few months during early days of Covid, but besides HELOCs, no bank that I know of is doing drive by appraisals for loans. No bank that I know of would take on an asset as collateral for a loan of $100k+ but just driving by, unless its an agency loan that gets a PIW. 467 Itâ€¢ publishing whatever somebody put into the network, whether itâ€¢ real or not. It is therefore an easily manipulated source of data. 468 > I'm a hypocrite, how? Making accusations doesn't make them true. \n\nliterally... \n> This whole thing started when you accused someone of 'not telling the whole story' while you yourself didn't tell the whole story either. \n0 self awareness 469 Fighting your oppressors is not war, it is liberation, therefore no war crimes. There is also a significant difference between a poorly funded oppressed people fighting back with the weapons available to them, and a well-funded colonial state with precision weapons that it uses to kill children 470 [removed] 471 [removed] 472 If you don't like it maybe you should move? There's a lot of successful black, Asians, Latinos who would disagree with you. 473 They are allowed to decide if an insured is still an acceptable risk for the pool of people they insure. Insurance is possible and youâ€¢ charged based upon a â€¢poolâ€¢ of other people that are around the same risk level, and then charging that pool the average cost of claims for that pool. If the least risky insureds were â€¢pooledâ€¢ with the most risky insureds, the risky population wouldn't pay their fair share and the less risky would pay more than their share. By risk I donâ€¢ mean frat bros, itâ€¢ referring to all factors: location, theft, weather events. These factors are regulated (in the US) by the states. \n\nTake for example, a 23 year old whoâ€¢ totaled 3 cars and has 4 DULs. No insurance company will willingly insure this person, they are much too risky. A home may have been built 20 years ago and it now lies in a flood plain - no company wants to insure a house that is very likely to flood in the next 10 years. \n\nIf a company dropped someone they can still go get insurance somewhere else, it means you have, for one reason or another, fallen out of their risk pool. For people that nobody truly wants to insure, each state will take this pool of uninsurable people and force companies to insure them. If GEICO has 8% of the personal auto market, they have to insure 8% of the â€¢uninsurableâ€¢ pool. For homeowners insurance I believe itâ€¢ different and many states run their own insurance for flood planes and such. \n\nI may cost a lot more than average or what you paid before, but you should be able to get the insurance somewhere. 474 Home prices, material prices, supply chains are all fucked. 475 Nope. Not illegal. You can buy a home without insurance. What lenders don't allow is unsecured collateral. Free market. Every state will be different. There are some rules that may prevent a carrier from non-renewing. In California, homes in zip codes affected by a wildfire, or in a zip code adjacent to a fire, must be renewed. They don't need to offer the same price, so for many people paying 2x-3x as much as last year is still better than their only option. Legislators are aware that the lending industry depends on the insurance industry to protect their investments. Most states have their own programs who can only cancel coverage for illegal activities. Carriers are required to provide a 30 day minimum notice, but most are issuing cancellations 60-90 days prior to allow people time to find coverage. 476 The bank doesn't care what one person would pay for it. They really want to know what it could sell for if that one person can't pay their mortgage anymore. 477 You're scrolling past the cries of racism, because you're a part of the system that perpetuates it. You clearly didn't read the article. A market analysis assessed the house at $189,000 which was done closer to the original appraisals. \n\nIt's really quite disgusting that every time there's an example of the system working against black people, there's an army of white people trying to derail the subject. So, not only do they get abused by the system, but they're not even allowed to talk about it. 478 Iâ€¢ got the VIP pass. More than once Iâ€¢ been given a â€¢warningâ€¢ when going 20 over the speed limit. \n\nOnce was a couple months ago. I was going 88 in a 65. Nothing but a warning. \n\nOnce was in california in a construction zone, by a motor. No Reg in the car, 25 over. Fix it ticket only ($201 I think). 479 Usually the buyer would offer that, not the seller requesting it. And it's not standard around here. Often times the buyer can't afford to come up with the extra ~10k in cash to cover. However, you can always negotiate after the appraisal with the buyer. 480 That's their very region specific. Places that experience a certain rate of growth experience quickly rising demand. My parents moved into a neighborhood that was not quite full when they moved in, but soon after did become full. The value of their home doubled almost immediately. \n\nThis is simple supply and demand, and isn't indicative of imminent economic collapse. 481 Me neither. In multiple properties I have sold/refinanced, the appraiser took outside photos and used comps. They never set foot in the house or know what race I am (except I have an obvious chinese last name). 482 Holy shit that's a lot! Our house is relatively inexpensive and we're in a really low risk area for crime and weather, I'll keep counting my lucky stars haha 483 â€¢s ToT a BuBbLe! \n\n-Everyone on r/realestate 484 [removed] 485 Appraisal 2 was the lowest and it was in July and the third appraisal was done in November. I just checked the median home sales price change during that time period in the city and the increase was only 5%. The appraisals were clearly all race biased as has been shown many time in various cities. 486 Just tell em you didn't know you couldn't do that. 487 [removed] 488 "Real state agents hate them for this one simple trick" 489 So you're saying we should wait until SkyNet becomes self-aware before we outlaw Tesla Autopilot? Seems risky to me. 490 I wear blue to my interviews, either navy or sky blue. Because for some reason blue = technology, and is associated with intelligence. WnIt's stupid, but if people are going to have subconscious prejudices, you might as well leverage them. 491 We'd be basically ants to them. WnHope they don't have the same attitude as that governor that ok'd the culling of 90% of the wolf population. 492 By 130%, though? 493 I'm buying a house currently. The market is so crazy now, it sold for over $100k less in April 2020. So to your point, yes, it can double in this market easily. I got a great deal for the city as well. 494 So you'd be suggesting race isn't to blame. Got it. You'd be one of them æccracism got curedæ folks. 495 You don't understand the housing market right now. That's all I've got for ya. 496 Too bad it's not a felony to attempt to open my luggage.... but it is this laptop! 497 It was pretty fun, we ended æccescapingæ without no extra clues and we celebrated it out of it. WnAngie master told us they never been so entertained by a group. I wish we could've filmed that vlogger story or something. 498 Last I checked, I don't strap bombs to friends and family to get what I want. 499 It's nuts, houses have almost doubled here in the last 18 months and really nice desirable places have bidding wars going for more than that. a fucking condo in a nice location, ocean front went for a million over asking not long ago. umm yeah it's nice but Damn. 10 years ago everyone would have laughed at paying 300k for it. 500 Here is your reminder. WnAlito and Thomas would've taken the case, and still wouldn't have done more. All 3 of Trump's appointees looked at this and called it a pile of shit! 501 I never said it was legal! 502 [removed] 503 Shhh... God Forbid you remind anyone of what you learn on the first day of Driver's Ed. They've had long day with their SCOTUS loss, let them have their ignorant circle jerk. 504 You mean all those russian bots? 505 That was my first thought when all of this Sinophobia came into fashion with the right in the last few years. How many of these assholes are actually putting their money where their mouth is? WnOutside of a few tech items it's really not that hard to avoid Chinese products. If I had the knowledge resources and ambition I would love to create a study into the purchase habits of registered Republicans and Democrats vs. Å-vis Chinese goods. I would bet you dollars to doughnuts that the Republicans spend more. 506 I hate it when the police have to confront violent mobs looting stores. WnWhy don't they just let people do whatever they want? 507 I do essential work in an high-exposure field and already have a handful of coworkers dramatically declaring they won't get vaccinated and trying to convince others they shouldn't either. I'm hopeful but very concerned about the upcoming battle where anti-maskers become anti-vaxers. 508 I agree. I think 12 to 14 years would be good. Then they could spend their term under at least two presidents. 509 They get so much that they practically are nationalized. The taxpayers pay for all the corn in the country. Why do you think there's corn syrup in EVERYTHING. 510 That's because she wasted all that time refusing to answer the door so she could set up the camera and get her acting skills ready lol 511 [removed] 512 -The justices have political leanings, but I've said all along that there's no way they're going to steal the election. I'll all along" means "since we knew the shape of the election results", then I agree. But if by "all along" you mean you were saying this before the election, then I don't. WnTrump had won PA and GA and it all came down to AZ. I could see them putting their finger on the scale for him. They won't overturn multiple states though, no, especially not given the size of the margin in PA. WnThat being said, the SCOTUS also functions on a much longer time horizon than trump. They're acting in the interests of conservatism 50 years from now, and I wouldn't be surprised if their prevailing view in private was that he was a danger to their movement and that it would be better if he lost. 513 It doesn't matter what was argued in the lawsuit. Filing a lawsuit, by definition, cannot be sedition. This is because access to the courts is protected under the right to petition the government for redress, which makes it protected speech under the First Amendment, and protected speech (again, by definition, that's what æccprotectedæ means) cannot be sedition. So unless you want to advocate for limits to the First Amendment relating to political speech that is critical of the government, you should be really, really careful about calling any such lawsuit seditious. WnWhile you're at it, you might want to actually look up the definition of æccseditionæ, at least as it is defined in the U.S. Code. 18 USC 115 lists various activities that are considered æcctreason, sedition, [or] subversive activitiesæ. Of these, pretty much the only one (other than conspiracy) which doesn't have to do with actual warfare or paramilitary organizations would be 18 USC Å§ 2385, æccAdvocating overthrow of Governmentæ. However, if you read that section, you will see an important qualifier is that you have to advocate overthrowing the government æccby force or violenceæ. Filing a lawsuit doesn't even come close to sedition. 514 It is sedition, to ask scotus to throw out millions of votes and overturn a federal election when you have no legal standing. Every state attorneys general that tried to bring this case should be thrown in federal prison. 515 [deleted] 516 Not really. 517 Arkansas hears you 518 - I think the odds are long that that particular scenario will ever reoccur. WnThe way the map is shaping up to look in the future I wouldn't count your chickens just yet. It's very possible that the next few elections come down to one state. That one state could easily be very close, <10,000 votes. 519 Alito and Thomas always dissent when the Court rejects a case between states. It has nothing to do with this case in particular. 520 It's legal to run over pedestrians in the "us"? Please elaborate. 521 Brought to you by Carl's Jr. 522 The talking point now is that Pennsylvania should so itself and then surely SCOTUS will hear it. I'm not kidding. 523 "Links 7 Facebook articles" 524 mRNA 525 - beyond any human comprehension how the tens of millions of people who voted for him couldn't even begin to understand how fucking terrible he has been at EVERYTHING and how he doesn't care about any of his voters. WnBecause they're also failures as human beings, and they don't care about anyone who isn't of use to themselves. 526 They are now in Department Employee Evaluation Program Special Hazard Intervention Team 527 [removed] 528 Love the cope ðŸ-ðŸ-ðŸ, 529 [removed] 530 I actually can't recall ever studying it. From my brief Google search, it does seem interesting, but I am not sure I have the time considering my other obligations. WnThough, again, when that many of our leaders say we should look into something, then we should look into it. If those leaders are acting in bad faith then they should face punishment. 531 [removed] 532 [removed] 533 I see it as a kind of taxidermy. Except a weird type that people live in. 534 Going to a soon to be new country. Bold move. 535 [removed] 536 A global pandemic and the worst year of the four years of Trump we've ever gotten. Holy hell. 2020, take a bow. You've certainly earned your place in the history books. It's finally over, and I'm happy I could cry, but this year needs to be remembered for a very long time. 537 Of course. It's no different than if California tried to tell Texas what gun laws it can pass. 538 I saw someone post that in comments section of an NFL game. That it was time secede from the union. 539 Yeah this is why I think the USA is ultimately fucked in the long run. Republicans are too corrupt and evil. WnDemocrats, maybe a little less corrupt and evil, but lack the balls to actually accomplish anything helpful. Both parties ultimately probably need to be disbanded or at the very least heavily reformed. 540 It was unsigned, we don't know how they voted at all. For all we know, they abstained. 541 They also hold the belief that if you file repeated trash lawsuits directly to the supreme court you'll get disbarred from the supreme court bar. 542 Not creeping. Raping. Harassing. Assaulting. 543 æccDonaldæ attribute to malice that which can be explained by stupidity. æcc... someone I didn't bother to remember or google but right all the same. 544 And anecdotally the posts which are the loudest and most unhinged seem like bots. It's hard to see the bots or the shills when everyone is all æccrah rah GOPæ but when a division like this happens and the sane conservatives on the sub say æccwell it's over, good luck President Bidenæ it becomes more clear who is trying to sow dissent and who is trying to have a discussion. 545 They were never dealing in good faith. They say whatever the opposing party doesn't want to hear. They're farming liberal tears to stay in power, so they have to disagree with anything a liberal might want. 546 [removed] 547 [deleted] 548 [removed] 549 It's acceptable to have a healthy dose of skepticism for anything, however I trust the doctors, researchers, and everyone who has hands on developing this more than a random tin-foil hat wearing youtuber saying it'll turn me into a gay frog. 550 Ahh the old property damage = death sentence argument. If I see a driver intentionally running over pedestrians I will happily open fire on them. 551 "tips fidora" 552 Or the beginning of something much, much worse. I Am Legend anybody? 553 Ken Paxton: so, about that pardon... 554 Related Scott Manley video. Moving matter from the Earth to the Sun is harder than one might think. 555 [removed] 556 Ssshh... Let them go ahead and do that. 557 I'm convinced in some parts of Wyoming, they draw a 20 mile circle around a house a call it a county 558 I'll definitely be glad when they are back on the shelves. I've only been able to buy 2 containers of brand name wipes since March. 559 Can't be anything but. 560 No... Wnbut the fact he gave the FDA an "or else" ultimatum proves that anything coming out of the FDA is bias. WnI mean they approved HCQ.... 561 I'm biased but I honestly don't know if we will ever see another republican president. 562 Thank you. 563 [removed] 564 Is time to file this under r/aww? 565 They were spewing the same BS when Obama was elected... Its just a cry for attention. 566 "fun", so much fun 567 - I don't recall saying anything about the elections, or anything Trump did. WnYou didn't. I did. WnYou said you wouldn't use the label fascism unless you saw reports of things they have done and things they have said. WnAnd I'm asking you, is denying election results against overwhelming evidence that the election was legitimate, not an example of fascism? 568 What's a germ? 569 I think it was more of a let's-take-the-opportunity-to-once-again-emphasize-that-a-dick-Larry-Ellison-is-a-threat. 570 what are the reasons she would? If you can't 101 it for me id appreciate it. So much weird shit happened with this presidency along with Kellyanne Conway (I think) being unwelcome in a Mexican restaurant... Remember that stupidity? 571 Let him be like an Alzheimer's patient mumbly about losing the election. I have no sympathy for would-be fascists. 572 Good. Let's see what paid for them. We should carefully watch their rulings, in the coming years. On all matters. Let pay attention, and be involved. 573 Life isn't a movie buddy. 574 I wish Microsoft NBC had never pushed the fake news that he was a suspect. He isn't old enough, and sad that some idiots still believe their lie. 575 [removed] 576 correct... Wnbut if they hadn't I wouldn't trust the FDA 577 So do you actually have any sources for that? 578 They're all posting like æccobviously, anyone with half a brain knew this was going nowhereæ when literally in the run up to today they were hailing this lawsuit as æccthe big oneæ. They make no fucking sense. 579 Why does Texas, the largest continental state, simply not eat all the other states? 580 Trumpkins are unable to self-reflect. It requires awareness. 581 Someone make this an image for twitter. 582 Let them go, I say. They used to belong to Mexico. Let them go back. 583 [deleted] 584 You guys ready for when suddenly every republican never supported Trump despite his majority support within the party? 585 [removed] 586 I agree that he doesn't give a shit about justice. WnBut he probably does give a shit about black men being executed, and justice has nothing to do with his motivation. 587 Taking some sort of action to remedy their complaint. In this case, throwing out the votes that Texas was asking to throw out 588 It seems your point is more to be contrary and call people disparaging names in poorly-proofread and obviously copy-pasted rants, but I suppose it is understandable how we all could be misled by your conduct. 589 These are the same people that bitch about affirmative action completely unaware it was initially created for their own benefit. They're entitled and believe themselves to be the victims. 590 This whole thing has been a farce, thankfully it should now be over. If you gave Republicans in DC truth serum, 90% of them would agree this is a farce and Trump is a fool. They're terrified of his new role as a kingmaker. If he puts you on blast you may not be coming back for another term without the backing of his army of morons. 591 I'm not saying it's a bad thing but the people we were taking about tend to scream welfare state while simultaneously receiving welfare. 592 I did a bit of reading, said they had saliva dna in 2002 they tested. WnThey should be able to do the genetic genealogy thing now and find him if he had any living relatives and they still have the dna 593 [removed] 594 Well Trump did tell the head of the FDA approve it today, or he would be fired... WnThankfully all other countries have established its efficacy and safety... but if it was just the FDA saying it was safe... WnI wouldn't trust it. Wnthe FDA and CDC aren't trustworthy anymore 595 Except the part where she goes through an intersection and instead of turning, proceeds to hit more pedestrians lol... 596 That really doesn't seem like it's connected to the budget and more like the insanity of 2020. 597 So we agree. The electors vote on Monday, and those votes get counted in January. Your comment that I responded to initially says (emphasis added): WnElectoral votes counted on Monday. Wnwhich is incorrect. Your own linked post says: Wn- After the electors vote, the tally is recorded in a certificate the state government files with the Archivist of the United States. Those certificates are reviewed at a joint session of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives on Jan. 6 to count the electoral votes and declare the results. 598 May not be blue skies and rainbows, but as long as it's not 300k deaths and sedition, it's a vast improvement WnAIT TIL I reChEs the SuPrEmE coUrT, thAt wAs the eLoAn oRiGInally, 4D cHeSs! 600 [removed] 601 Spoiler, he's not dead. He faked his death and is living it up in.... one sec someone is knocking at my door..... WnEdit: sorry it wasn't anyone. Anyway he's totally dead, no need to ask questions. 602 - "Honestly given how tired black people always claim to be, maybe the real crisis mean every stapler and pencil in an office building is capital. It's just a tool that you're using. Now if you had a fleet of bicycles that you rented out, that would make them capital. If someone wanted to buy your bicycle rental business, that fleet would be a major part of the sale. Because it's capital that's being used to generate a profit. 644 Yeah hard to say... i couldnt find the news anywhere else 645 If the government was spending more money both publically plowing some roads while also fixing public roads damaged by private companies, it would be in your best interest they don't waste expenses doing both. I have no idea what your situation is though, or what reasoning they had. I know my conservative as hell county banned solar farms over a certain size. Not if they weren't meeting certain standards, or a certain distance from roadways, just outright banned them. Reason: The, as of yet, unsourced claim that they drop the value of homes in the area. But we also have some people making Islamophobic claims about the dangers of water poisoning from a natural Islamic cemetery that had been planned in the area, so fuck my county conservatives. 646 I think covid- 647 Landlords need to make money. You need a solution that's fair to landlords and tenants. The law needs to treat them equally. 648 Penalties are legally protected. Other than divorce and federal taxes owed, they can, can't be touched. 649 No let's destroy a statue of U.S. Grant. 650 That's not how this works. Majority of landlords are people like you and I who get by on the rents made on those properties. If you don't pay the land lord, the land lord can't pay the bank to keep the property. The bank can then take the property and do whatever they want with it. You first were dealing with a person who you can reason with. Now you're dealing with a bank who wants to off load you to the highest bidder who is going to be another corporation. 651 Initially, I read that as, fuck it and was like: Aww. That sucks you feel that way. But now that I read it correctly, it's fine. Lol 652 Yeah should don't matter. 653 I'm in NE trust me half the reason I posted this was because I laughed at it. But not in a "ha ha" funny kind of way. In like a "so that's how we're playing this game" kind if way. 654 If you find me a source for this that isn't from a right wing extremist propaganda website, I will stop reading the Times. 655 Agreed! It is mind blowing that a system of checks and balances fails and the only resort for a recourse is to vote out the guilty and hope for a candidate who will overturn the many criminal acts. 656 He's executing a white supremacist who slaughtered a family and threw white bodies in a river. If it was any other administration doing this reddit would be cheering and awarding gold etc. cognitive dissonance at its finest 657 The guy you were arguing with changes his comments long after you respond to them. I wouldn't take him seriously. He's probably like Spez, but even less important. 658 [removed] 659 [removed] >I can guarantee he's never heard about what Leopold did in the Congo. Apparently your guarantee means fuck all because of I am familiar with the Dutch activity in the Congo. Monarchy is not capitalism. 660 [removed] 661 [deleted] 662 Your mother is the most landlords though. For example: my partner and I are trying to work a deal out with our landlord to keep us from becoming homeless involving reduced rent, but she has made it clear that if a balance of pay owed despite the reduction gets too high, she will kick us out. The problem is that my partner and I both actually HAD covid, and I lost my job several months ago due to the pandemic. We literally cannot pay our rent right now because of our position. I am not the only one like this. Multiply my situation across the board. I see tenants trying to take advantage of whatever the hell. People's lack of sympathy for landlords comes from the fact that traditionally landlords themselves lack sympathy. It also comes from the fact that landlords tend to be people who buy up buildings and then charge people to live from them. They view their holdings as things they are owed a return on, when instead in truth the homes are just investments. Sometimes investments sputter. I have sympathy for your mother. On the other hand, your mother is the minority of landlords. 663 I hope the cops find these two assholes soon. Just as an aside... Siobhan McGill is hawt. 664 Why aren't there many housing coops right now? 665 Freudian slip. 666 They would/should then owe the same amount to the officer as taxable income. It isn't a benefit like health insurance, it is part of their compensation like their paycheck. Once it is issued it belongs to the employee. Nobody would be in favor of letting employers (government or otherwise) claw back their paycheck in situations like this. Same thing, except that since the government has seen the need to protect retirement funds, pensions get special legal protection. An aside, the protection pensions get is why OJ Simpson has a guaranteed income that the judgement against him can't touch, and why he would make no extra money from any paying work he does outside of that until the judgement is paid off (since all other income would go to the Goldman family). 667 Okay, but just because it's owned by the city doesn't make it public. 668 (pushes up bifocals) well actually the correct nomenclature is civil forfeiture. 669 The United States Or outside players? 670 CHOP was a disaster waiting to happen 671 The south is generally morbidly obese and the north is just obese. 672 And become the first example of the New 'Caren Act'? 673 How is this possible... unemployment alone has given $2400 extra on top of regular unemployment. What are they doing with that money? It gets that times are hard now but you got to sacrifice for a little while and not eat sushi or $20 meal. three times a day. I'm like I'm just baffled... don't hate on this just someone explain. 674 IMO the only direction for BLM is either to become a political group or phase out. 676 There are plenty of people with good jobs and money ready to pay now looking for a place. IT workers. Lawyer who just got divorced, needs an apartment. CPA just moved into town. Etc. These people aren't sob stories but they exist in big numbers. 677 They put their lives on the line to defend it and keep it safe every damned day. I'd say it is more their city than the people who actually live there and don't give a shit about it until a news camera shows up. 678 I've been worried about when this would begin / 679 [removed] 680 The anarchy memo just said de-fund the police they have to pay per word so I'm sure you can understand the confusion. 681 15 million people was enough to scare the owners of the country into giving us the new deal. Imagine 30 million plus. 682 [removed] 683 are you going to ask what he was wearing next? 684 [removed] 685 [removed] 686 I'm pretty sure WW2 was caused by the Nazis invading Poland, and slavery was a per-existing condition of humanity itself.... 687 Your post was automatically removed for being about the coronavirus. We are allowing significant news stories as their own threads; if you think your article qualifies as major news, please message the mod team. I am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please [contact the moderators of this subreddit] if you have any questions or concerns. 688 Your post was automatically removed for being about the coronavirus. We are allowing significant news stories as their own threads; if you think your article qualifies as major news, please message the mod team. I am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please [contact the moderators of this subreddit] if you have any questions or concerns. 689 This is the one issue I was worried about with states refusing to stop their lockdown. I get COVID 19 is a dangerous disease but is it worse than all these potential homeless people who weren't allowed to work and can't afford their homes/apartments? 690 Do you have an alternate? Because you changed your comment after I responded to it. But because of reddit's mobile formatting I don't get a notification. It seemed like your postifying to someone. And yeah you used my name, which I gave you. And then I tried following the link you added in afterwards. Which didn't lead to anything. Also such dude. Not a good look telling someone to fuck off after retroactively saying I'm the one with anger issues. The only thing I wonder about is why you feel the need to edit your comments long after the conversation has ended. Why not make a new reply? The standard reddit etiquette is to add an (edit) notice. You don't do that. Why? It's all pretty telling that I have to wonder why you stopped responding and then click on your profile which blatantly questions why anyone looks at your profile history. I'm probably not your first, am I? Don't worry. I asked reddit to help you. I'm genuinely confused. 691 And people are not revolting over this? 692 plus gun ownership 693 I wish I could go one day with someone moaning about trump. He's your leader, who was voted in by you guys. Respect democracy, work with him as best you can and in November just don't vote him in. 694 Last time I looked at that subreddit, there were almost all posts by one account. Yeah sure, we are the sheep. It's just a one account blog instead of a subreddit, no diverse news whatsoever. 695 I agreed that moving some of the responsibilities to non police is a great direction. I do believe though that some corporations and public figures are coming on board cause it looks good to their bottom line. Honestly I think the years of distrust by underserved and poor neighborhoods will take time to turn around but in the long run if everyone comes in board then things will be better. 696 Public? Wasn't it private? Just not owned by him. It was a gated community 697 Bank accounts aren't as ubiquitous as one would assume surprisingly. 698 Racist trash. 699 I'dk what's scarier in this article... the reams of dead land and trees killed by the diesel spill, or the fact that this whole city is owned and operated by one giant company and not even the Russian federal government has been permitted to access all the relevant sites. The only way to visit is by airplane and the only airport is owned and operated by the company so nobody can arrive or leave without them knowing... 700 Again, if my 5' tall, 100lb wife needs to defend herself from an intruder she's likely going to need a gun. If a red flag law caused her to lose access to firearms through no fault of her own, her ability to defend herself with lethal force would be effectively removed. I am opposed to that situation. I would rather not have red flag laws than have innocent people losing the right to defend themselves via red flag laws unnecessarily. So I will advocate that we remain vigilant to avoid that. And if that becomes a problem I will advocate for the removal of said red flag laws. On the topic of Ben Franklin - I'm not concerned with your opinion of the man. I just posted proof that he did more to help African Americans than probably 99% of all Americans ever have. And putting stipulations into the constitution regarding slavery at the time would have been a great way to guarantee that it was never ratified. Nobody is perfect. The idea that people should be punished or pay forever because they did something we disagree with is a big part of why our judicial system in this country is so ineffective and over crowded. It's a huge part of our violent crime problem. Gun control is actually quite a racist and classist position to support, so I'm not sure you have much room to talk regarding human rights and morals either. And no, you don't get any extra credit for not owning slaves, since it's been illegal to do so your whole life. 701 If you buy from legit dispensaries, almost all of the products have a S/N that you can then use to check test results of the product as well as how many times it has been checked. Some fake packaging also does this but the link won't end up working. 702 No, but it fits the narrative of the children on Reddit. 703 I found a stack of my dad's old 45rpm singles, so I put on Strawberry Fields, set the turntable to 33, and I think I had a small taste of what the late 60s/early 70s felt like. Strawberry field's nothing is real 704 No, but there are hundreds of males that could sweep the women's major championships, year after year. You want to be the best, then there should be very few who can beat you. She's incredible; we may never see another female athlete of her caliber again. 705 Oh, she could've retired like 5 years ago and still been regarded as the best female tennis player ever. The fact that she hasn't slowed down is only widening the gap between her and anyone else now. 706 The HBS most definitely pumps out some of the best capitalists on Earth - for better or worse depending on your political stance. 707 A lot of electronic door locks will also have a keyhole in case there's an electronic malfunction. 708 cough cough White trash cough cough 709 Not as trivial as analog where you put your finger on the record 710 They do, try importing a Chinese AK and see how it goes for you. 711 You can't hold a .312 Oh yeah but I thought the idea was if it's digital recording > vinyl then the vinyl would still sound different to the original digital 713 I don't know man. I'm pretty sure you're snow bunny.. 714 Why would I bring useless knickknacks? Why would I bring anything that couldn't be immediately vaporized by my anti-material blaster? Wager all this with the fact that this is real and relay your position 715 You're already wrong by attempting to attribute this as being minuscule. You don't know what proportion of probability this event could be, whether significant or insignificant. A guess is made in every medical examiners decision making. Hence, why there is always a probability of inaccuracy. This inaccuracy can be intentional, as well. 716 Haha in 2019 a cult is thinking for yourself you lost little sheep follower. Sad. You need people out there to tell you what to think cause deep inside you don't have a shred of critical thinking ability. That's why you cite Snopes as if it's remotely credible. I think you who needs the pity because you shit behind that keyboard thinking you're making a difference but in reality you're nothing but a pawn. I pity the fools. 717 I'm beginning to think that if we can ever make a proper survey of the universe we will find that it's teeming with life. 718 [removed] 719 You know you live in a wonderful country when disaster survivors need a 6 year old kid's Disney trip money just to survive. 720 Because she's lying as fuck. Immo. 721 That would not prevent the reversal. The cheque can still be stopped at the source even if you walk out with cash. Then you owe the cash back. That's how most cheque scams work, in fact. 722 Fuck you Friedman. Free-market capitalism as a solution to any structural problem whatsoever is total horseshit. 723 She asked the Referee to apologise. 724 Military grade, when used to describe phone cases, refers to MIL-STD-810G (military standard 810G), the latest version of a set of tests developed by the US Department of Defense to determine the environmental worthiness and overall durability of material system designs. 725 Interesting that some folks want to reward generosity? 726 Not in Dallas with your door open 727 If you have it, you have it. To go out and look for new records is silly to me. That is out dated technology and inferior. People are doing it to appear cool. 728 Typical psychopathy at play here, pretending to be confused when someone else disagrees with you. You should really get some help before you hurt someone, or pass on your flawed genes. 729 Smith, take 20 Mounies to Alice's bar. Tell all the patrons to take their phones out, and drop them on the floor from head height. Arrest anyone smiling at your request. 730 Global News with their military-grade clickbait. 731 The Yuan is at a 10 year low, sounds like a strong rich economy to me 732 With all the free music, who if it is buying either? 733 Lol why are you against silencers? I bet you've never seen one. I also bet you didn't know silencers aren't like video games and make guns almost silent. I could be wrong though. 734 Nothing smearing about it. He wasn't a drug dealer. He had some weed. He was technically a criminal, but we are talking on the same level as kicking someone's tire or something. Stop whining about smear campaigns. Facts are facts. 735 There are already hundreds of US govt personnel on the ground. 736 I have six cassettes in the mail right now. 737 Leafs will go to a first round, game 7, exit via the Bruins. As is tradition. 738 Religion doesn't care where the money comes from 739 Ditto. My dad gave me a ton like 10 years ago and I just liked to play them. Pulling em out of the sleeve, placing them over the peg, putting the needle down, the rev up and rev down when starting and stopping, and the clicks and pops. Joy is subjective and I like listening to vinyl far more than CDs. I still use pandora when out and about or when people are over etc. I just simply like vinyl. 740 >The government says it's concerned the agreement might give the car companies which include Ford Motor Co., Honda Motor Co., BMW AG, and Volkswagen AG special treatment by California on compliance and approval for new models. It's true, but they would absolutely be guilty of antitrust. I hope it is not true, I suspect it is not true, but ultimately, I have no clue if it is true. 741 I'm sorry if I hurt you 742 [removed] 743 He literally just showed numbers to you that displays how little that's actually worth to him. 2 Million to Gates is the equivalent of 2 dollars to the average person. 744 Bunch of asshole commenters on this thread, damn. 745 This is the truth of the context. I blew it. It isn't orange man's fault or the horrible American imperial government machine or any other contrived oppression. This chode couldn't keep his nose clean. Bye bye. 746 "I like my music to sound like hot trash" 747 Congratulations on discovering lunch! 748 oh god... 749 >>The pope wasn't scheming against Alexios. Alexios was out of danger because when he asked for help, the Sultanate of Rum was basically on his doorstep. By the time Urban answered his call, the Sultanate of Rum had been drafted in battle and wasn't threatening Alexios anymore, so yes he was out of danger. >>But what about the cities that were recaptured in the Crusade? Didn't the Byzantines appreciate that? Isn't that what Urban was organizing? No, they didn't. The Byzantine never wanted their help. You said you were reading that book on the crusades yet there are huge gaps in your knowledge. I'm starting to think you haven't actually read it. The Byzantines were actually shocked when the crusaders arrived. The weren't expecting a force like that at all. Alexios only wanted a couple hundred men when he asked Urban for help in 1090. They debated refusing entry to the crusaders but were afraid they would besiege them so let them enter. Then there was the issue with Nicaea were the Byzantines actually went behind the crusaders to capture it. Urban then Antioch was given to Bohemond. This was perhaps the worst thing that could have happened for them. Bohemond and his father were actually responsible for the empire losing their lands in Italy. Bohemond was one of their biggest enemies and now he had been given a large realm that bordered them. The Byzantines were probably happy to get Nicaea but not about everything else. It probably would have been better if the crusaders never came since they had enough to capture Nicaea anyway and they wouldn't have had several years of fighting with Bohemond afterwards. >>But it's not political leverage against Alexios. It's not political leverage against his enemies either. He just got them out of the way for a while >>That's the definition of political leverage, though. No it isn't. Political leverage is when you have influence over someone and they have to do what you say or lose power. His enemies didn't have to do what he said or lose power. This was more of a spiritual bribe to get Henry Vs supporters away. You're making it all about one person's motivations. Would the crusades have happened if Urban never began calling for one? No doubt you'll point out the peoples crusades but I would argue that it began after Urban called for a crusade and if he never did, the unofficial crusade would have never happened. Urban was necessary for them happening. Without him, the crusades would not have happened >>You really couldn't. The muslims had controlled Jerusalem for hundreds of years by this point. Attacking Nicaea and Antioch could be considered defensive, but Edessa, Acre and Jerusalem were not. >>So in other words it was a kind of reconquest of the area to re-establish a buffer zone between Muslim Empire and Byzantium. Well no because those lands would border the entire and that wasn't why they went there. The same was technically true for the Reconquista: by the time the Franks and Catalanians and newly Reestablished Spanish kingdoms took control of the southern-most cities, they had been under Moorish rule for a hundred or more years. So they weren't defensive wars then were they? >>I wasn't used to the other cities because they were de jure no longer part of the Byzantine empire. They had been under control by different muslim empires for so long they were now de jure part of those empires. There was no defensive casus belli >>Ok, and obviously we agree about how the pushback started as a clearly defensive measure and then evolved into a protracted military campaign for Jerusalem. Because it didn't. It began because Urban wanted to get rid of his enemies. You have yet to prove this point false >>Jerusalem wasn't always controlled by Muslim forces, so even if they governed for a while, they were still able to have their position challenged via that Crusader's religious justification. That they were not the real stewards of the Holy Land and all the rest. Several hundred years is not a while. It was not a defensive war. I've skipped some of what you said because its easier to say it in this paragraph. It is not clear at all what your point is. You've changed it several times and can't get your arguments straight. I'm giving you the chance to actually explain your arguments clearly and coherently. I will take what you write to be what you mean. If any future comments you then change your argument like you have done so many times so far, I will quote you your original argument and tell you to stop moving the goalposts. I'm getting tired of you doing this. I'm going to teach what high schoolers are taught in their English Language classes. PEE. Make a Point. Provide Evidence for your point. Explain how that supports your point. 750 pork yak no dose 751 Ultimately, the differences (pleasing or not as they may be) are the result of the limitations of vinyl as a medium rather than a shortcoming of digital. You can mix and master a digital recording to sound like vinyl but there are limits to what you can get away with when you're cutting to vinyl. 752 Deleted my comments because it was very unpopular, but Discogs can be very overwhelming for someone just trying to get into vinyl. They show every release for albums so if you don't know what you're looking at, you're going to end up buying the wrong thing. If you are a collector Discogs is great! If you're someone who doesn't just starting out, just buy from your local shop or amazon. 753 If you complain about the veracity of the GoFundMe, I am almost certain they will remove it and quickly. I gave $20 bucks to a girl dying of cancer that was a scam and GoFundMe killed that site instantly and refunded everyone. 754 Worth an email maybe... 754 I thought it was r/NotTheOnion. 755 Fuck off, the VA being kind of shitty doesn't make you lay hands on your wife. 756 She's a beast both physically and mentally. She's had one hell of a career all things considered. 757 [removed] 758 I knew this was the Screen Savers clip before I clicked it. 759 If you're reading my other replies you'll know that I don't agree with many of the things happening in Yemen. I generally trust the reporting from major news organizations, e.g., the NYT, WSJ, etc., about what's happening in the country. 760 The HRC is politically motivated and full of hypocrites. At least the US, for all its faults, generally tries to respect human rights and usually succeeds. I don't think one could say the same about the DRC or Rwanda. 761 Neither was refusing to issue a marriage certificate on the basis of religious objection to homosexuality but it still happened. 762 Yeah because if there's one thing kids hate it's their sisters. CPS! 762 Gates has donated $50 billion to charity. 763 Then what is your proposed corrective measure? Doing nothing is obviously an invitation for him to proceed. Minor actions against him have shown to be ineffective at correcting the behavior. So, what's your idea? 764 Nope. The women play best of 3 and some tournaments for men are best of 5, but some are also best of 3. 765 I understand that the sound quality available in vinyl isn't all it's cracked up to be. What I appreciate about vinyl is interacting with the medium. CDs and digital are a "set it and forget it" kind of thing. I actually appreciate having to take a short pause to flip the record over. Something about the ritual is enjoyable to me. Plus, prices compared to CD are almost at parity and with vinyl, a lot of record companies offer digital download codes, which I appreciate. 766 [removed] 767 pork has low dose 768 He is also involved in war profiteering and illegal resource exploitation in D.R. Congo 769 He's one of the many who care to name any more? 770 If you are so very concerned with dictators than Iran is a very small piece of a very large pie. Were you so concerned when Iran was led by a dictator that was installed by the US? 771 Haha whatever you say dude 772 Hurricanes have specific meteorological features that make them hurricanes. They become post-tropical storms after they stop being hurricanes. 773 >The comic book in question, published in 2010 under the title "Avengers: The Children's Crusade," shows the superheroes Hulkling and Wiccan, who are boyfriends, kissing. The book, which had sold out by the time the agents arrived, tells the story of Wiccan's efforts to control his reality-altering powers. 774 So Wiccan could save others AND himself? awesome. 774 Not true! C100 775 It's been figured out, just use coil chambers on your own like the Dr dabbers. Head shops have them that fit in 510s. Then just buy crumbles / waxes to load it with. That way you don't have to worry about anything being added. 776 Isn't China the one locking up Muslims by truck load for re-education? 777 Buying digital is nice and all. Basically you are loaning it until they decide you no longer can use it, or you get banned or they go out of business. 778 This is a big issue in retro game collecting actually. 779 [removed] 780 He earned his citizenship regardless. He should be locked in jail like every other citizen who broke the law. 781 Crab people, crab people, talk like people, taste like CRAB. 782 She's the best women ever. But if you put a mask on her vs any number of thousands of other masked athletes, she would not be the best athlete ever, not even close. 782 No one said that. No one said that because he had an illegal substance, someone can just shoot him. He had an illegal drug. Okay? And? 783 Releasing information about some dude having weed is not smearing character. It's a fact. Facts are good. Facts are going to get this bitch fired. Stop whining when NOT EVERY FACT COMES OUT SO THAT THE DIRTY OLD POLICE IS GUILTY. 783 [removed] 784 [removed] 785 Goddam, right? It's four fucking letters saying you've had some shitty experiences, not a blanket excuse to toss your life in the trash and expect to be coddled afterward. Before somebody posts a nine paragraph reply ripping into me, yes, those four letters are present in my medical record. 786 So he served his country to be, but victimized it's citizens? 787 I'd say that ruins your chances at attempting citizenship in any country. 787 So you took his money, kept the pizza, and left... what's the problem? 788 Well, yes. 789 I took 3+ years before we finally got custody of my husband's little sisters. CPS is overburdened, understaffed, and some of the employees are either burned out or never cared at all. 790 But I think, (and it's only my theory) that if more people were willing to report abusive parents then fewer children would be tortured and murdered by their own families. 791 No system is perfect, and there's no way to keep every child safe. All we can do is try to improve the odds. 792 There was a missing girl named Erica Parsons in our part of the country a few years ago. Turned out she was murdered by her adoptive parents. The father hasn't been sentenced yet. 793 One of the things that really bothered me was that she relatives spoke out after the fact, about how cruelly the girl had been treated. Including people who lived outside the home. But I don't think anyone had ever called CPS to say she was in danger. 794 I think one of the reasons I'm still alive is that I saw my dad every other weekend. Mom knew she'd have a hard time covering up the abuse if it went too far. And she nearly killed me on two separate occasions, anyway... 795 Evil flourishes in darkness. The system we have is flawed but it's better than nothing. 796 You're only justifications aren't sufficient justification for anyone to have firearms? 797 Your strawman. And also strawman. He never said all people should have guns. I would bet he would be against criminals having guns. 798 In order to have a peace of mind, maybe you should contact your bank and find out the rules about withdrawals without your consent? 799 In the entire article, they never said how much money the parents (not the kid) had saved and donated. Just "hot dogs, chips and water for more than 100 evacuees". 100 dogs, 100 bags of chips and 100 bottles of water is ... not really that much money when purchased in bulk (they didn't give them gift cards for 100 $4.49 hot dog meals at BK, they bought hot dogs and fed the evacuees as they passed through). 101 Excellent thing to do. But it sounds like the original amount may have been $200-$300. For a six year old, that's a lot. But for parents saving for Disney ... that's two tickets. 102 Great feel-good story, but a little light on the media honesty. Wait, what am I saying. 103 I'm pretty sure the Bill and Melinda Gates foundation is working with more than that. 793 Yea they definitely plan to try. Else she would have already accepted a plea deal. 104 In most cases, the spin is to paint the black guy as a thug or criminal of sorts that deserved whatever came to him. They won't have that luxury in this case seeing as that guy was a saint from what I've read. 794 Please understand the definition of the word murder. It does not mean "to kill someone." It's a specific crime, with specific criteria. A soldier killing an enemy in battle is not murder; killing someone in self defense is not murder; a killing in the heat of passion is not murder, but the same kind as premeditated murder. Only the last one is what I'm talking about 795 Read Submergence by JM Ledgard. It's not the main focus but it's where I first heard of the hidden deep hot biosphere 796 I was simply describing the article's explanation that the investigation is not about California standards but about antitrust of automakers forming a pact... 797 Seriously, stupidity like yours makes me sad for the future of the democratic party. So eager to insult, you don't even stop to think. 797 That's not the history of the open concept at all! 798 [removed] 799 [removed] 800 [removed] 801 [removed] 802 [removed] 803 [removed] 804 [removed] 805 [removed] 806 [removed] 807 [removed] 808 [removed] 809 [removed] 810 [removed] 811 [removed] 812 [removed] 813 [removed] 814 [removed] 815 [removed] 816 [removed] 817 [removed] 818 [removed] 819 [removed] 820 [removed] 821 [removed] 822 [removed] 823 [removed] 824 [removed] 825 [removed] 826 [removed] 827 [removed] 828 [removed] 829 [removed] 830 [removed] 831 [removed] 832 [removed] 833 [removed] 834 [removed] 835 [removed] 836 [removed] 837 [removed] 838 [removed] 839 [removed] 840 [removed] 841 [removed] 842 [removed] 843 [removed] 844 [removed] 845 [removed] 846 [removed] 847 [removed] 848 [removed] 849 [removed] 850 [removed] 851 [removed] 852 [removed] 853 [removed] 854 [removed] 855 [removed] 856 [removed] 857 [removed] 858 [removed] 859 [removed] 860 [removed] 861 [removed] 862 [removed] 863 [removed] 864 [removed] 865 [removed] 866 [removed] 867 [removed] 868 [removed] 869 [removed] 870 [removed] 871 [removed] 872 [removed] 873 [removed] 874 [removed] 875 [removed] 876 [removed] 877 [removed] 878 [removed] 879 [removed] 880 [removed] 881 [removed] 882 [removed] 883 [removed] 884 [removed] 885 [removed] 886 [removed] 887 [removed] 888 [removed] 889 [removed] 890 [removed] 891 [removed] 892 [removed] 893 [removed] 894 [removed] 895 [removed] 896 [removed] 897 [removed] 898 [removed] 899 [removed] 900 [removed] 901 [removed] 902 [removed] 903 [removed] 904 [removed] 905 [removed] 906 [removed] 907 [removed] 908 [removed] 909 [removed] 910 [removed] 911 [removed] 912 [removed] 913 [removed] 914 [removed] 915 [removed] 916 [removed] 917 [removed] 918 [removed] 919 [removed] 920 [removed] 921 [removed] 922 [removed] 923 [removed] 924 [removed] 925 [removed] 926 [removed] 927 [removed] 928 [removed] 929 [removed] 930 [removed] 931 [removed] 932 [removed] 933 [removed] 934 [removed] 935 [removed] 936 [removed] 937 [removed] 938 [removed] 939 [removed] 940 [removed] 941 [removed] 942 [removed] 943 [removed] 944 [removed] 945 [removed] 946 [removed] 947 [removed] 948 [removed] 949 [removed] 950 [removed] 951 [removed] 952 [removed] 953 [removed] 954 [removed] 955 [removed] 956 [removed] 957 [removed] 958 [removed] 959 [removed] 960 [removed] 961 [removed] 962 [removed] 963 [removed] 964 [removed] 965 [removed] 966 [removed] 967 [removed] 968 [removed] 969 [removed] 970 [removed] 971 [removed] 972 [removed] 973 [removed] 974 [removed] 975 [removed] 976 [removed] 977 [removed] 978 [removed] 979 [removed] 980 [removed] 981 [removed] 982 [removed] 983 [removed] 984 [removed] 985 [removed] 986 [removed] 987 [removed] 988 [removed] 989 [removed] 990 [removed] 991 [removed] 992 [removed] 993 [removed] 994 [removed] 995 [removed] 996 [removed] 997 [removed] 998 [removed] 999 [removed] 1000 [removed] here as people are questioning the father's judgment in apparently allowing a kid this young drive illegally down a highway in the evening hours at 75 mph. People are going to pile on and get judgmental about the situation. Hopefully the authorities will have more information about just what the circumstances were that led to this boy driving the truck which should cut down on speculation. 912 [removed] 913 [removed] 914 This is very much good move. It show great strength of Russia and President Putin and the strength of Donald Trump. 915 [removed] 916 Just grabbed it. Im gonna have to check it out. Is Annie's area 51 book good? 917 [removed] 918 ITT: people who know way too little about what led up to 9/11. 919 And because of the Saudis and Geo Bush Jr we went to war with Iraq? There is a parallel to what Bush Jr did and what Putin is doing and I'm scared to even say it. Bush Jr lied to us about weapons of mass destruction and used that for the basis for invading Iraq. He even had Saddam Hussein hunted down and killed. Thousands of Iraqi people were killed in the war and cities destroyed. I was always pissed about the war and feel like Bush Jr needs to be tried for war crimes. I cringed when Putin said one of his reasons for invading Ukraine was for denazification because it sounded too much like Bush Jr saying Iraq had WMDs. I'm surprised Putin has not brought that up in defense of his asshole war. Hussein was a dick but he didn't have anything to do with 9/11. All the hijackers were Saudi and we still give them billions in aid for some reason. Politics are frustrating. 920 [removed] 921 Hell I haven't seen such dedication to motivated schooling since Forrest Gump's mom. 922 [removed] 923 That's one of the more useful and novel ways I've heard of using NFT's 924 Some cars don't include a spare at all (which ought to be a crime). Just a can of fix-a-flat (which says not to store above 120Â°F) 925 I think at one point most countries assumed they'd need US help to defend against a Russian attack. Now, I think most first world countries realize they can probably do it on their own. 926 [removed] 927 This was In star was episode 1 as well, all the inhabitants of naboo wear colored clothing to symbolize intent to each other, without outsiders knowing what it means. 928 I'm not sure how when the french had their political meetings split into 3 groups in the les mis. 928 A lot of those injuries are kids from migrant families where the parents are fleeing severe poverty and gang violence, don't have legal status, make less than minimum wage, and have no ability to organize or advocate for themselves and their children. It's the people exploiting those kids and families who I put the blame on rather than the parents. 929 You obviously know nothing about actual war. 930 Tennessee woman to Florida man: 931 I guess they figure that their stock can't go down in flames if they don't open. That's an interesting take. No matter when they open the market is going to go into free fall! Just get it over with! 932 That's a wild false equivalency that I can't even begin to approach. Like, on par with "being gay is just as bad as bestiality". 933 [removed] 934 [removed] 935 What are the odds the Russian military is just incompetent and Putin had no desire to bomb schools or hospitals or theaters? 936 Always a deeply saddening tragedy when civilians are killed in the name of war. Questions however need to be asked where outcry and outpourings of solidarity were when a modern city of Baghdad was pummeled into the ground. 937 [removed] 938 I suspect it will not open until Putin has some sort of a negotiated settlement in hand so that he can dampen the carnage that is going to occur the moment the market does open. 939 Some cars you can get a matching rim for the spare, but then you may have an issue with your TPMS. Subaru pressure sensors only work when your wheel is rotating... 940 I do not know if this is the most salient point on Reddit, but it's up there. Good observation. 941 No chance NATO countries don't fight back if one of them gets attacked. To ignore an attack would make NATO worthless. 942 That's like covid, they start with 2 weeks and after a few moments it's been 2 years 943 Well with a large number of people got hooked from having scripts from injuries needing serious painkillers. 944 [removed] 945 I think you jumped to conclusions when I brought them up. To the best of my knowledge BlackRock is probably just as locked out by a market freeze as anyone else. Additionally, snapping up devalued loans would not bite them in the ass at all. Acquiring loans by converting a more powerful currency results in massive gains when the ruble finally does recover. 946 The plan is to keep Ukraine in a state of war. 947 He can't achieve the objective of flipping the government, then Putin will settle for keeping them essentially "disabled" and he won't care how many of his own troops die in the process. 947 I was there in new years and loved it at full capacity. Disney has no issue with crowds or customer service. It's raising prices and people keep coming back and loving it. 948 I don't believe a "clump of cells" (which I am a clump of cells) deserves more rights than a pregnant woman. I never said that. I said they both deserve rights. Period. 949 Save the "perceived moral superiority" argument because you have the same moral superiority. If you didn't, why would you dialogue about this? It's not a bad thing. Everyone thinks their morality is correct, but I hope, is open to change if presented with evidence they're wrong. If morality is totally arbitrary, you have no right to tell me I'm wrong. 949 [removed] 950 [removed] 951 In Portugal you get rounded up and forced into treatment if caught doing drugs on the street. Again all 4 pillars play a part, not just harm reduction. 952 [removed] 953 By 2025 Russia will be segmented into 5 administrative districts, 954 [removed] 955 You are correct. They claimed air supremacy from the get go because that's the only way they would succeed and that's why Russia hasn't yet, and won't. 956 I pictured Putin running this shitshow in the year 40,000, a futurama-head-in-a-jar style. 957 [removed] 958 "signal" brooches? or do you mean signature brooches? 959 There was a blurb on a news site and everyone ran with it. Ain't nobody moving off the dollar, the Saudis aren't stupid enough to accept a currency controlled by one man. 960 [removed] 961 Portugal did it nationally and addition as well as related crimes have gone down. 962 Reading through your reply made me rethink my own opinion and I now understand how the skills picked up in certain car-centered video games could be helpful to young drivers. It's comparable to airline pilots training with simulators. Some of them, like yourself, sound quite mature and responsible but you can't deny that there are some teens out there who don't take the right lessons from these games. Or maybe they're playing the wrong games. 963 Because it's easier to regulate the clock than it is work/school start/end times. 964 [removed] 965 And yet, they can't, as they literally go into space before coming back down. It's a longgg, essay parabola. They can't shoot them straight up, go straight across, and come straight back down. You don't use ICBMs to drop a missile somewhere 200 miles away. Its not what they are built for. That's why they are fucking massive. 966 [removed] 967 He was also a stellar substitute teacher who would like to know 968 [removed] 969 [removed] 970 Why did you have to remind me of that? Lol now you've given me the excuse to rewatch reservoir dogs & pulp fiction again 971 [removed] 972 They're allowed to discriminate for whatever as long as it's not a protected class. Telling all your coworkers to stop working is a protected class. 973 I think it depends on whether there's a revolution or not. Without a revolution, you're absolutely correct. With a revolution... well, depending on what happens and who ends up in charge, things could look very different and potentially allow for Russia to be welcomed back to the world stage. 974 But revolutions take time, so either way, it'll be a while before anyone (except perhaps China) wants to invest in Russia. 974 Here's the thing, yes, these companies have taken a loss now. In the case of McDonald's or someone, let's call it $2B. Then let's assume that in 5 years the situation may have calmed down and restriction lifted. McDonald's has already lost and accounted for that $2B. 975 And now they have the opportunity to re-enter the Russian market and pretty much immediately re-open hundreds of stores? You don't think their shareholders would jump on that in a second? Just on their share price rise alone they'll earn back many billions at that point. It's no brainer, they'll be back in there in 2 seconds as long as the sanctions are lifted and public backlash from other countries doesn't outweigh what they stand to gain 976 I'm glad you asked because it made me revisit my library. Although she does discuss it in Area 51 a little, I was actually mistaking her for Eric Schlosser and his book Command and Control. It is the detailed history of nuclear stuff. Like how the US came into Canada not far from me in Alberta to collect a dead radioactive satellite that the Russians lost. Many decades ago of course. Needless to say I don't eat fish out of Slave Lake. Lol. 976 Thanks, I appreciate it. I think things will overall work out, but it does suck looking at what could have been. 977 If it's low speed on unused roads there's really the potential for stuff like this to happen. This is a different situation. I think the drunk dad possibility sounds likely. 978 Considering that the ruble is now worth less than the paper it's printed on and there's no way to transfer foreign money to rubles, she WAS rich, right? 979 Live in Michigan. Trump got all the backwoods hillbillies bent out of shape here. Got some family up north that are bumpkins like these folks. VFWs, moose lodge crazy crackers 980 Who's interests? Clearly not those of the murdered. 981 [removed] 982 Thank you. One of my favorite Americans. Will correct. 983 This for context, Putin has been getting more and more dangerous over time. This is the endgame now. The question is how far will he go, now that he is backed into a corner. 984 Two ab beef patties, special vodka sauce, lettuce, cheese, pickles, onions on a sesame seed bun? 985 Vancouver has in effect decriminalized all drugs and addiction. Yet we have one of the worst problems in North America. 986 In harm reduction does jack shit if you don't have prevention, enforcement, and treatment part of the plan as well. 986 [removed] 987 This article does use the mugshot? 988 My point is the people who control the state house in Florida are anti gay or at least they are passing legislation that leans that way. But with Disney being such a huge part of those who vacation in Florida, I wonder how Florida's anti gay legislation is going to go over. 989 You're implying we should never seek to make our society better. If that were true, what a terrible society we would be in! I will respect that abortions are legal and I won't picket outside clinics, but I will seek to enact change that I see as positive in this subject matter. "Don't legislate morality" is a farce of an argument. Every piece of legislation is legislating morality. 990 [removed] 991 You are being obtuse. Again, currencies are not measured in absolute values, but in relation to other currencies/assets. Therefore, they absolutely could lose over 100% of the value. Until you grasp this, you won't be able to understand what I'm saying. If the value of a ruble is 1/100th of a dollar, it will lose way over 100% of its value once it becomes 1/1000th of a dollar. 992 Oh no, I wish Black Rock ceased to exist. However I love the idea of them investing in an economy that tanks and costs them even more money. I hate them for (hypothetically) keeping Russia going. I love them for committing economic suicide by not seeing which way the economic winds are blowing. 993 In an am conflicted though, because I've got a rough idea how this will inflict Russian citizens. Fuck Putin and his oligarchs, but nothing but sympathy to those whose live under them. 993 "We need to track this boy down and give him his Luckiest Boy in America award." 994 People do not have short memories when it comes to investment risks. They analyze every possible factor and the BS Russia is pulling right now will be remembered. I don't understand how you could make such a simplistic blanket statement. 995 Insane how the person you're replying to is getting upset, imagine if you said this about 17 yr old girls, pretty gross 996 You're advocating statutory rape. Congrats, dipshit. 997 [removed] 998 I knew a guy who had his nine year old kid driving him around because he wanted to drink. 999 [removed] 1000 Yes, of course. 1001 The first two times were pretty uneventful. Just flesh wounds. 1002 I mean, it's the third time, though, I turned a guy into a pirate with a crossbow bolt to the eye while doing the worm a little too aggressively. He was mad at me. 1001 So just submit and take it. Got it. I mean, cops aren't people too. They are cops. Higher beings. And if a cop wants to harass you, you better take it with a smile goddamnit. 1002 It's not about what irritates the cops. It's about their absolute abuse of power and the faulty and corrupt system that allowed them to get this much power in the first place. You, nor anybody, should ever just let (let's be honest, a tyrannical) entity or person wrong you and be ok with it. Fucking stand up for yourself. What else is worth it? 1002 I mean, it's the first time you get this much power in the first place. You, nor anybody, should ever just let (let's be honest, a tyrannical) entity or person wrong you and be ok with it. 1003 she should be given a medal 1004 When men refuse to be men and cater to the demands of whiny children 1005 In this case, a manual safety in the safe position would have stopped the stupid person from firing the weapon. You are arguing against the fact right in front of your face. 1006 ...you don't really know what a confidence interval is do you? 1007 It's CIA who DUMB IDIOT 1008 [removed] 1009 The most ridiculous part about the wall idea is just how immediately know someone is completely, utterly, irredeemably foolish and incapable of the slightest amount of critical thinking, just by the act of advocating for it. It truly is remarkable. 1010 Here are a whole series of questions it never even occurred to you to ask? 1011 The Great Wall of China was meant to stop organized armies, not trickles of migrants a few at a time. What are the differences and why are they important? 1012 The Great Wall failed numerous times to keep out invasions. What does this teach us? 1013 The Great Wall was built in the iron age. What are the differences in technology between then and now, and why are they important? 1014 What is the pattern of urbanization like in the environment the Great Wall went through, vs the US-Mexico border? Why is this important when talking about things like tunneling? 1015 How effective will a border wall be in stopping drug smuggling, when we live in the age of cheap drones? 1016 How do most illegal immigrants arrive in the US, and why is this important? 1017 What would a wall cost, and what alternatives could we get for the same money? Which is a better use of funds? 1018 These are the kinds of questions people should be asking. But instead, fuck it, build the wall, right? Logic and reason be damned. We need a giant national penis extension. There's a bunch of insecure men out there, and we need to make them feel big and tough. 1019 >"Personnel matter", not "personal matter". A "Personnel matter" means HR & mgmt are gonna get involved, & he'll likely be fired. 1020 WHOOOOOSH. (OP's comment is right over your head.) The point was that if it is an LEO "personnel matter" charges don't happen instantly. If joe middle management gets charged with accidentally discharging a weapon and injuring someone at a reception, not only is it a CRIMINAL PROBLEM: aka his PERSONAL PROBLEM (first and foremost) but it is going to be a personnel problem at their job. 1021 The point is the state doesn't say "oh, okay, we won't charge him until you deal with the personnel problem." That is the problem here. 1021 [removed] 1022 This. Nobody is saying this isn't completely irresponsible, but when he throws his arms up in the air at the end I can picture him saying "holy shit sorry!" not yet realizing someone was actually hit. We see like two seconds of him walking in a direction that's not where he fired, and then nothing else. 1023 Again, it's completely irresponsible, but this is also another case of Reddit jumping to conclusions. 1024 But it's pretty different actually shooting yourself vs shooting someone else and then walking away 1025 It doesn't matter. It's ALWAYS the cops fault nowadays. Always. 1026 They are always using too much force. Cops suck. 1027 And just in case.... 1028 Reddit is about as anti-gun as it is anti-weed and video games 1029 The answer to this is to require everyone at bar to have guns. The only way to stop a negligent FBI agent with a gun is a bunch of drunks with guns. 1030 If it was up to me I'd say no one is allowed to have babies and I'd like for the human race to go extinct. There would be no more hard lives then 1031 [removed] 1032 Yeah I have a funny feeling Belarusian cops are pretty hardcore. 1033 I fully support this initiative 1034 [removed] 1035 Nobody's questioning why the guy had a gun in his belt to start with? 1036 I mean, why he had a gun, not the fact that it was in his belt? 1037 According to this video it looks like they do... 1038 I mean sure, in college, but who still does shit like that as an adult 1039 If people with lots of training can make stupid mistakes like this, what makes people think it is safe for the average Joe to carry in public? 1040 That's true. Though it won't be the first time the alphabet agencies have swept something under the rug... 1041 Do doubt the FBI's willingness to cover for a dumbass agent, though. 1042 The force continuum was nonsense and has largely been abandoned as a teaching concept, since it implied that methods of force always had to be used in a given order, regardless of what threat one was reacting to. 1043 Much like a baton a vehicle can be lethal force, or a less lethal option, depending on how it is used. 1044 [deleted] 1045 but then people could be disappeared. protection from that is absolutely NOT antiquated 1046 "Undercover fic bot" premieres next week only on MTV 1047 [removed] 1048 [Here] (https://www.reddit.com/r/news/comments/8o82im/officer_fired_after_intentionally_hitting_fleeing_e01m03o/?st=jhz7c&fp&slr=9ed8e9d) is the comment I originally referred to. 1049 If he was drinking alone he is fucked. 1050 You clearly didn't read it. They looked at previous studies and did no new research of their own. They also pointed to FBI data that suggested much lower numbers. 1051 With pay 1052 It's been there a few times and actually talked to someone who was there. It's honestly not the kind of place you'd expect anything dangerous to happen. I guess everyone was just completely stunned for a moment. 1053 It's just like a desk job everyone has done it. 1054 [removed] 1055 I bet he's current on his desk pops. I had my last one September... '08. 1056 Simple question from someone who's never handled a gun. Why wasn't the safety on? 1057 Wait until you hear what song was playing [link] (https://gisound.com/?webnr=https%3A%2F%2Fgiant.gfycat.com%2FGloomyPossibleHorsehoebat&v=VYOjWnS4cMy&s=42) 1058 Of all things... didn't expect a wrong police firing. 1059 In the end, the officer did not aim at the suspect... he was going on the left of the suspect, and the suspect, knowing the police car is coming on the left ran into the path of the car, and got hit by the right front corner. 1060 Absolutely hate police brutality, but this is nowhere close. 1061 This is a good way for suspects to get the officer in trouble... when a police car comes close, run into its path at the last moment and get hit. 1062 Taxation is not stealing, almost every form of government has it. And the money is put to good use building roads and (in the UK) paying doctors. Would you complain if the government stopped paying for roads and so everyone had to pay road companies to use the roads. I mean no one is forcing you to use the roads, and won't you enjoy a (theoretical) 4 hour walk to work every morning. 1063 Quit defending this idiot, he was resisting arrest. 1064 Cop shouldn't have hit him with the car but doesn't change the fact he actively resisted arrest. 1065 [removed] 1066 Ten bucks this guy is American. 1067 All of those terrified cops were right: waistbands can be deadly! 1068 Lost audition tape for Super Troopers 2? 1069 [removed] 1070 Wow, it's almost like humans.... 1071 wait, do humans make mistakes? Nah, it's sure perfect and have never fucked up before. 1072 You are so focused on the fleeing? It's said multiple times that he did not. The cops were called because a fire arm was discharged. The cops bring him to the station but as a courtesy between fellow law enforcement officers and because he cooperated he wasn't cuffed and officially arrested but he was detained, questioned, and released to his supervisor. None of that suggests he helped at all. What are you even picturing in your mind as being help? He is trained as a medical professional. Now put yourself in the shoes of the person shot. Do you want a dumbass who just shot you negligently to be messing with it. There could be other off duty medical professionals in the bar who actually could be helpful. 1073 > On one hand, people are saying the refugees are an issue and want them out, on the other hand people on reddit that live there say its totally fine and there hasnt been any real problems. Its just tough knowing what the reality of it is. 1074 Just talk to a Sicilian. Im lucky enough to work with one. He says his home town (more like a village really) is over 2x the size it was 5 years ago with these newcomers. And his grandmother's house has been robbed twice this year alone! 1075 Maybe 99% of those that come are fine. But it's the 1% making everyone's lives utterly miserable - and Italy is reacting. The same friends brother is a qualified carpenter. Been out of work for 5 years now because Italy isn't building... \n\nThe LN and 5star got in power because people are fed up of governments (seemingly) neglecting their own citizens to the benefit of others that only want to be in Italy as a gateway to richer nations in the 1st place... 1053 They sure aren't fucking acting like it. Electing a con-man eroding our influence abroad and selling us out to corporations at home, shooting themselves in the foot and cutting off their noses to spite their faces because they like to watch the left rage - they deserve everything that comes to them. Maybe this'll teach them a lesson. Wouldn't it count on it though. 1054 I can never come to terms with , the willingness of some to do evil things \n\nHow could they show such disregard for the well being of another human being \n\nThe conscious choice of wrong over right for their own gratification \n\nEvil 1055 I love how the article says that â€œit's unclear whether the officer had been drinking during the incidentâ€, those aren't the moves of a sober person. I mean, he's white but nobody is THAT white. 1056 Makes sense and agreed 100%. Effective and quick takedown. \n\nbut we are on reddit so take your downvote. 1057 In most cases it's illegal to carry when you are consuming alcohol 1058 I honestly think that what the FBI do to him could be worse. \n\nAt least, in the military it could be. 1059 That's a bold assumption. It's also not correct. \n\nNSFW: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LtsXZDiQU> 1060 I really miss this show. It was the perfect summer show. Just stupid but harmless humor. It was a simpler time in my life too. 1061 You're not going to touch on the man that just stood in front of the gun when it went off? \n\nif he hadn't done that then there would have been no problem. Let's hope they catch the guy. 1062 It's his job to carry a loaded gun that is easy to access. That creates some room for a mistake, don't you think? It's not like he was a citizen carrying a pistol without training or without any sense of responsibility. 1063 When I saw the thumbnail I definitely thought he was wearing cutoff khakis. 1064 Ah yes, ignore the actual problem and blame the easy corporate scapegoat. \n\nAll bottling of water in California is less than 1% of the water used in the state, yet they seem to get every single part of the blame. 1065 No, I think they said he was FBI 1066 Once they're secured in a job, some people just get complacent. \n\nSimilar to how some people put their best show on for a first date, but then turn into a lazy slob into the second year of a relationship. 1067 >The injury or lack of injury does not matter. It has the propensity to cause great bodily injury or death, and should be treated as such. \n\nSo, the department you claim to work for does not issue batons because they could be used in a manner that is very likely to cause great bodily injury or death and according to you the degree of injury actually inflicted does not matter? 1068 Funny, because I have no issue telling someone to fuck off either. But it's within context and based on the call and people. Good people get treated well, POSs get treated accordingly. \n\nThe whole â€œkill â€œem with kindnessâ€ bullshit is for cashiers and waiters in my book. And as for your comment on civil conversation, I don't particularly care to much on some days. 1069 That's the rational response to you? Actively resisting the cop that just hit you with his car? Do you know what rational means? 1070 Nah, it's not like that at all, and my original post was a response to seeing many people say things like "He deserved it" and so forth, or am I not allowed to make observations and have an opinion now? 1071 Reddit seems to think that if a person commits a crime then they stop being a human being with human rights. It's scary. 1072 I suspect that provides less protection than if he had his good old boys local station trying to sweep it under the rug. 1073 Yeah no shit 1074 A Federal cop. 1075 I see this fucking smug shit coming from Canadian liberals more and more. Makes me want to vomit. 1076 [removed] 1077 So people should be banned as well then? 1078 I can't handle reality? Or maybe I should use a little sense and logic instead of resorting to thinking that cops are all the devil's minions or whatever jazz that fits you. 1079 Official criminal. 1080 That's one way to blow your cover 1081 Everybody should know that alcohol and guns don't mix. Just because you can carry a gun doesn't mean you always should. 1082 C'mon this couldn't possibly have been prevented, *I mean, how could he have his weapon secured while dancing? 1083 Getting filmed in the middle of a dance circle at a bar would be a pretty weird undercover gig. 1084 They fail to mention that the man he shot in the leg was Osama Bin Laden. Mission accomplished. 1085 The Glock style safety wasn't meant to prevent this accident, the agent placed his finger directly on the trigger. The gun functioned like it's supposed to. 1086 > To be fair, this guy may be an idiot \n\nBy this video, the "my" is firmly changed to "is." \n\nHe does not seem like a responsible gun owner to me. And even worse he is a LEO at that. 1087 lol! And here I was just being lazy. Glad to know I made someone smile, though. 1088 That dude looks like he is sucking on a Warhead candy. 1089 [removed] 1090 Yeah, it's not the police officer on the scene's job to decide which of the offences they know have been committed aren't going to make it to trial and forgo collecting evidence. 1091 [removed] 1092 Fucking hilarious. From that perspective, the border patrol agent should be reprimanded for only killing one. 1093 "It's unclear whether the off-duty agent had been drinking at the time." Yeah because backflips + hand guns = sober decision. 1094 This one will stick with me, thank you Joey and give Chann my regards 1095 I wonder how that excuse would work for say, a normal person in the club who isn't LE - "my bad, just an honest mistake... I didn't MEAN to shoot that person." \n\nI'm pretty sure they'd be going to jail if not worse 1096 Did YOU see the video? It is in the fucking article. I fully expected a dropped gun to shoot upon dropping. Guess they aren't designed like that. It takes pulling the trigger, which this jackass did, trying to pick it up and it bounced off of the floor into someone's leg. 1097 if it's a Glock they don't have a on / off safety fyi. Not that I disagree with you- just pointing out some important information, you should never have a finger on the trigger much less be pointing it at something you don't intend to kill or destroy. 1098 That was his first dance pop. 1099 That's... not how law works. 1100 Of only he was an American. 1101 It's inexcusable to leave an unsecured gun accessible to children. Bio-metric and keypad safes for fast access are getting pretty affordable now. Some states now even preclude gun safes from sales taxes and have deductions to help in even making them more affordable. \n\nIf you have children and still want to be able to retrieve a handgun fairly swiftly get a fast access safe! Children are curious and will fuck with things they shouldn't. Don't give them the chance. \n\nI personally have a Vaultek, it has a fingerprint unlock as well as digital keypad. 1102 Your mother was a hamster. 1103 Is this just what is going to happen from now on? Killers streaming their murderous tantrums on social media? Each one trying to become more notorious than the one before? 1104 You need to evolve and accept diversity. 1105 the underlying root cause of anti-vaxx is a suspicion of modern medical practices and big pharma. beyond that fear of vaccination has a long history in the west (rooted in eurocentric christianity - inoculation come from the heathens in the 'east'), addressing the exorbitant cost of medicine and teaching children a rounded history of europe's relationship with the rest of the world would do a lot to squelch the movement 1106 Bad example because Hitler was inspired by American eugenics. Racial supremacy enabled him and it also enables mass shooters. 1107 No. Just no. Europeans and North Americans are much worse. 1108 If it's 10 blacks killed by gang violence in a democrat city lefties don't care. Any number killed by a white person and lefties are on it like vultures. 1109 This thread is proof positive that Redditors truly are a diverse group of intelligent adults. 1110 In Chicago here...not a lot of snow here. We have some on the forecast for tomorrow, a week after we had 50 degree temps. \n\nI'm totally not looking forward to all of the bugs we will have this summer. 1111 > He would be destroyed in debate against Donald. \n\nWhat's it like living in a completely fabricated reality? 1112 [removed] 1113 I believe the Dolphin union representative said they don't give a shit if they surf on them as long as the keep getting fresh fish to eat after words... 1114 Shooter is military. He shot his commanding officer and another military dude and then stole a Humvee. 1115 >you're all too ignorant \n\n2k homicides in a country of 300+ million with 300+ million is statistically insignificant. There are far worse problems in the US, but those stories don't get people to watch the news like those do. \n\n-complete and utter lack of gun control \n\nI suggest you open a book and look at the tens of thousands of laws surrounding guns in the United States. We have a mental health problem that is being touted as a gun problem for, exactly as the poster above you put it, political hay. If you don't believe me, go see why Mike Bloomberg and his anti-gun cronies are pushing gun control across rural America and not focusing on inner city crimes. ya know where a vast majority of these homicides are committed. 1116 No one that proposes this wants to do it because of ideology. 1117 Seeing as you're the one bringing up bones how am I the one who watches too many movies 1118 Tripped software and not hardware? Do they have software that detects amperage and shuts the machine down prior to it hitting a breaker or fuse? I don't know the characteristics of electricity in space. Just curious. 1119 I am curious about the mortality rate of those on the ship. I feel like this may be a decent way to get some data that we can trust without too many variables 1120 [removed] 1121 Yeah but being much smarter also means they have more complex internal lives and aren't as food motivated as less sapient species. If the whale finds it boring or his pod is moving up the coast and he wants to follow or he decides the trainer is a dick, he's not as likely to ignore those factors because of food. Whales are smart enough for long term planning, he knows he can find more elsewhere, and put up with hunger in the meantime. \n\nThis kind of sapience is also exactly why it is so horrific to keep them in captivity. 1122 Putting out a name is useful if they are still trying to catch the guy. 1123 Far more defensive gun uses in the US than gun violence. 1124 [removed] 1125 [removed] 1126 [removed] 1127 > 2 \n\nThat's kinda the whole point of a public act of terror. The attention and confirmation of others in your group and creating fear and disarray among the terrorised group. . 1128 [removed] 1129 [removed] 1130 She looks passable as white, she'd likely not see any jail time and get rehabilitation. I wouldn't worry too much about her case. 1131 Yupp, this is one of the few times they failed and the story got out. Just because they didn't succeed in protecting him doesn't mean they can't try. \n\nWhat is your excuse for the fact that he's only been suspended and not fired? 1132 You father smells of elderberries 1133 It reduces the fuck out of it in that country compared to America, but since this is a soldier who had access to this stuff, gun laws are entirely irrelevant and this becomes a military mental health issue. \n\nBecause it turns out issues can be different on a case by case basis, especially when you're comparing two countries that couldn't be more different 1134 Do you actually think that's a new concept 1135 All it would take is one good guy with a gun to save all the people the scumbag just killed. 1136 Sounds awesome! 1137 I'm happy everything is starting to come together for your town. 1138 actually interesting how true your sports comment rings though. If even one of your teams achieved champion status, it could be an incredible stream of revenue and attention for the city. \n\nHere's hoping friend! 1139 I'd be looking out for those Lions to win their first super bowl. Hell, it took us fifty years to win ours (KC). 1137 [removed] 1138 I know what you're saying, but â€œdole toldâ€ is, to me, a grotesque term that just about every outlet uses like it's nothing. \n\nWhen something like Coronavirus hits, CNN can't wait to bust it out. 1139 [removed] 1140 Why is this only second degree murder? This is premeditated. 1141 well, to be fair, this is our website. 1142 If you are 40 or younger than yes. 1143 ok, so I wasn't the only one. 1144 I'd gonna need a source on your claim that China has â€œcommissionedâ€ people jumping off roofs. \n\nI just searched but couldn't find anything. Can you help me out? 1145 It's not about the use of the feature but the awareness of it. Cmon dude don't be so closed minded. 1146 Nah that's not a fun narrative that we can twist tho. Everything is Facebook's fault. Stop jrrr./s 1147 He's live streaming on FB. 1148 I'm not like it's a mystery who or where he is. 1148 Sadly there has already been [one] (https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Colin_Haynie) 1149 Dont stick ur USB in unfamiliar places without some protection. 1150 PSA: many police departments provide free gun locks. 1151 >I'm doing the yard next by raking the leaves. \n\nWith a fork 1152 acquiring dingle berries is a bit more complicated. 1153 Oh I don't know. Put a hold on new posts/location data until the event is concluded, put up a message "Due to recent X events, and to ensure the safety of our users, Facebook will be unavailable/location data suspended until further notice" would be better than nothing. \n\nI'd Well I can see I'll get downvoted to oblivion here so I'll just say this, there has been more than one instance of people being put at risk for broadcasting their location to shooters, and if you are hiding with multiple people you wouldn't want them posting either. Ffs, put the goddamn phone down, find somewhere to bunker down until it clears out. You idiots are too dependent on a company that doesn't give two shits about you or your safety. 1154 People are pointing to lose threads as if the motive is clear. So far each "motive" and "solution" fails if the logic is reversed. To paraphrase a secret service cliché, you can't crazy proof a security plan. Crazy just won. 1155 When giving those people help isn't seen as fat shaming, maybe we'll be able to. But when fat people try to reset what 'normal' means to suit their own illness it's impossible. 1156 Gun control in shambles! 1157 hahaha sorry, I read the 'but' as an and. \n\nMy bad. 1158 americans see a shooting happening in another country and still gotta make it about themselves. go play in traffic 1159 Lol mindless trump supporter makes claim that America doesn't have suicide. \n\nThis is the level of intelligence you're dealing with on the average republican voter folks 1160 I'm just glad that they haven't put out his name. Let's hope they keep it that way. 1161 Yea it's just the US federal government investigating a possible security breach on their premises 1162 [removed] 1163 It wouldn't hurt me to answer? Hahaha that was great you remind me of my edgelord teenage brother. Super tough guy on the internet, ill noodle arm wuss in real life. Anyway, back to the topic: \n\nif a doctor has a fundamental problem with any given medical procedure and can't perform it due to their personal beliefs, call in another doctor that will. That goes for abortions, blood transfusions, vaccines, whatever. \n\nI don't think it's necessary to force a doctor to do something they're not ok with morally. Although I will say if you're a doctor who takes issue with abortions, you should be honest about that and not take a job in a facility that provides abortions. Common sense right? \n\nAnyway, I just wanted to make sure you were clear on the difference between religious beliefs that push you to give water to thirsty people vs beliefs that push you to fly planes into buildings or blow yourself up. Our judges aren't robots reading pencil codes, they're human beings capable of nuance and discretion in interpreting the law. The judge here did that. 1164 You can still provide tons of info about the shooting and victims without plastering a mugshot or profile picture of the shooter and dropping his name every 30 seconds. \n\nThat sort of coverage has been proven to provoke more copy cat shooters. They are live-streaming on FB etc for a reason. They want notoriety. Don't give it to them. Don't make the shooting all about the shooter, make it all about the victims and never even show the shooters face on television. 1165 Actually BBC journalists are famous for going into war zones in the name of journalism, but they help distribute weapons to one side or both sides. International Red Cross is another. Did you know most money you donate to Red Cross do not go to the victims? It goes to executives salaries! 1166 Well more people should say what they see. Stop all the bs and start changing attitudes helping everyone. \n\nIf you eat for 3 pay for it. 1167 Except that's not what Trump did, so I guess it's not the same thing. 1168 Official source: No information. \n\nTrusted news channel (Have good record): Probably due to corruption by boss assuming from his Facebook post 1169 Same here Indonesia 1170 I bet if there were more good guys with guns none of this would have happened. \n\n/ 1171 [removed] 1172 Yup. Plugging into power lights up the battery icon and that's it. \n\nPlugging into anything else gives me a pop-up asking if I want to charge, share files or both. 1173 I mean, zoos and aquariums run on the same principle and tell you the same things, what makes seaworld worse than any other zoo/aquarium? They aren't the only place that does dolphin shows... The Baltimore aquarium does them regularly.. 1174 Putting out the important information 1175 What are the problems with immigration? I see immigration as a problem in and of itself. Apparently you do, why/what is the problem? 1176 Same place you get member berries 1177 Everything that isn't poverty or starvation is funny in Romania. 1178 Uh, it's happening fairly consistently. This is the second one I've heard about this week. 1179 It's been proven already that half of it was lies- that being said its message is still one that needs spread. 1180 The feds are the only level of government that is allowed to impose a mandatory retirement age, and even then it typically only applies to the military and public safety employees. 1181 [removed] 1182 >How could you trust your government? \n\nRight wing nra types are the biggest boot lickers on the planet and literally poll as suggesting they would be first in supporting a fascist take over 1183 when I saw the title I assumed it was the US. read the article, yup it's the US. \n\nI don't think this is a problem in any other modern country, probably because all of them have universal healthcare at a bare minimum. 1184 This is a good take wtf. The only people who are socially accepted to have guns are white people, and this culture more specifically would arm white supremacists. Arm the proletariat against fascists, the police are against us armed or not. 1185 [removed] 1186 So yeah â€œdoes blackberry still make phones? 1187 Great, now we need to abandon more dogs so the shelter can fill up again 1188 I'm someone like you describe, broken from a life of literal hell from birth, and I'd never do something anything like this, I wouldn't even harm an animal \n\nThe breakdown from shit in life can be a factor but for this to happen there needs to be a lot more wrong with that person 1189 [removed] 1190 [removed] 1191 This is really upsetting.. \n\nHis goal is obviously to terrify people AND to kill people. (20 people is actually a very repatively low number, especially when you consider what this guy is armed with and tgat he's against entirely unarmed people.) \n\nWhy are we giving the this guy what he wants; why are we helping him terrify people by interviewing terrified people? \n\nFucking disgusting... 1192 Because the original comment I made is about why they place restrictions on liquids because liquid accelerators are used to create modern homemade explosives. I didn't mention quantities until you popped in. No one cares what you have if it's 3oz or less in 1 quart bag per 1 passenger. You're just pulling up anecdotes because you think you have something to add to the conversation. You don't. 1193 Hell, they touched on this kind of immoral journalism way back in Die Hard 2. 1194 Ride em hard and put em away wet... 1195 [removed] 1196 [removed] 1197 [removed] 1198 [removed] 1199 They're merely supplying a demand. If it wasn't what the public wanted, free market economics would have caused them to fail. The problem is the public keeps eating it up. 1200 How so? Trump is a mobster. The Republicans in Congress are complicit. Is this news to you? Have you not read a newspaper the past four years? \n\nI knew that Trump was mobbed by by 1992, when stories about his associations with the Gotti family first emerged. That was during one of my many bankruptcies, though before domestic banks shut him out because his business kept going broke--and well before Donald Trump Jr. started bragging about how much money he borrowed from Russia. \n\nHow are you "decades" behind the times? 1201 Missed the joke 1202 Shooting civilians is a war crime. Even if they are trespassing. 1203 [removed] 1204 I'm a football fan, but this is appropriate because people forget that college football is at a school. Hell they were even decent enough to wait till halftime. I'd get more beers and enjoy the activities. 1205 Students stormed the field to join them. 1206 I'm loosely affiliated with yale's group and we've been fighting to yale's investments in fossil fuels for years, including every official channel. \n\nThis was the next logical step and I'm proud of my friends. 1206 Another racially charged Reddit news outrage sensationalism. If you follow LiveLeak at all you will know that police brutality affect all races of the US. So I don't know why you keep on making this a race issue. 1207 I'm sorry. What was supposed to be the problem? 1208 [removed] 1209 You know. Bloomberg took the subway all the time when he was Mayor. 1210 The iconic scene in Pulp Fiction where Marcellus Wallace calmly informs Butch and the recently shot Zedd of his plans to leave, round up some hard, "pipe hitting" African gentlemen, return and Get Medieval on the aforementioned Zedd immediately came to mind when I read the article. \n\nRetwatching it, it has lost none of its edge](<https://youtu.be/vRP26-Tkww>) 1211 [removed] 1212 Actually, the money (or the lack thereof) was the whole point of Rezaian filing the action in the first place. I agree that while some litigants file for $1 "and other valuable consideration" in court and seek a symbolic victory, that's not what happened here. And the fact that the US judge who issued this order has no jurisdiction over Iran is merely the cherry on top of this particular shit sundae. \n\nAnd finally, Iran has already been "found at fault in a court of law" for many things in addition to this incident, none of which have persuaded them to open their purse strings and pay up thus far. Trump can declare sanctions against Iran until he turns less orange, but in this particular case, I reiterate that Rezaian will never see a thin dime of Iran's money. 1213 [removed] 1214 > Mike Bloomberg probably won't be caught dead using the subway \n\n[https://gothamist.com/news/mayor-bloombergs-subway-commute-not-like-yours] (https://gothamist.com/news/mayor-bloombergs-subway-commute-not-like-yours) \n\nThe subway already is subsidized heavily by taxpayers, only half the budget comes from fares. It doesn't benefit everyone equally. The fairest way is to collect the fares from the people who actually take public transit. 1215 I think it's more about using excessive force to go after bike beaters. I mean, technically it's stealing, but if somebody jumps a turnstile, I think it's reasonable to agree, pointing a gun at them, even if they try to run is a little extreme. 1216 Right up there with Seth Rich. 1217 [removed] 1218 Good fucking god, this wasñt™t Seth Rich. 1219 Sorry to get back to this late, but I do agree with the new agency aspect. It should probably just be added to the ATF. But new taxes are necessary because government services will be used for the regulation, and also with things like ãccesñññ taxes, theyãcc™™re an invaluable part of funding for things like schools. Tobacco and Alcohol (and weed) do lead to crimes unrelated to smoking them, and the taxes can additionally be used to help compensate for costs that courts require to run. Also, there isnãcc™™t a federal sales tax, so they have to get some money back regardless of what the product is. Itãcc™™s just a part of doing business. \n\nIfñt the product doesnãcc™™t cross state lines then otherwise it wouldnãcc™™t be beholden to interstate commerce taxes. But thereãcc™™s a clear vested interest in taxing the product, due to all the costs the government will incur. Whether itãcc™™s from crimes, roads used to transport product, regulation costs, etc. \n\nItãcc™™s just not realistic to think that it shouldnãcc™™t be taxed in its own class all things considered 1220 Archaic laws you mean. With a constant "old laws need to change" arguments everyone is having these days, cherry picking what's okay vs what's not is silly. \n\nThen again, I live in a country with laws that allow for true land ownership. 1221 The fact that you think there are separate topic in my post is part of the problem and will be your issue to deconstruct moving forward. 1222 I rather watch then die so something potentially better takes their place. This information being produced doesn't depend on this faulty group. 1223 All nuclear experts? 1224 Spoken like a true crowsnicker. 1225 Yeah... I "attacked" them personally. Whatever. I am not trying to "win" anything and anyone who goes into these stupid comments trying to discern winners or losers out of it is viewing communication as a game or sport and has a serious problem with understanding that not every fucking thing needs to be debated. \n\nGet over yourselves. Thanks for the downvotes 1226 Ending the drug war for all drugs and treating drug abuse as a health issue, not a criminal issue, as I've posted above, is the first step to solving homelessness in the US as well. \n\nMany of the drugs on the prohibited list have shown great potential in studies for use in treatment of many different forms of mental illness. \n\nOther countries, like Portugal, that have taken step to end prohibition and treat drug use as a health issue have seen major reductions in their homeless populations. 1227 [removed] 1228 CNN posting the man's name and "outing" him is using their platform irresponsibly. By doing that they would invite people -- perhaps even people such as yourself -- to seek out that person and see to it that they lose their livelihood, that they even suffer harassment, threat of injury -- or actual injury. \n\nWe only have CNN's word to go by regarding the quality or content of the guy's posts, but it doesn't actually matter what the content of his posts are. The fact is, CNN is forcing this person's silence and effectively forcing a public apology because he made a meme that they found embarrassing \n\nThe fact that you don't have any issue with the media using their power this way -- on somebody who is very likely a minor, if not at the very least a teenager or young person -- is very troubling. I can assure you, nothing about that story or what CNN did is "due diligence" to any journalist. "Due diligence" isn't using the power of your platform to censure another person's first amendment rights. \n\nThe media should not use its power in this way. That's the sort of abuse of power that can easily be taken too far, too quickly. Consider what might happen if the news routinely got into the habit of "outing" people for reddit posts. What if the media started revealing the names of every anonymous poster, or posting the addresses of people who make inflammatory statements online. At what point is it too far for you? \n\nBecause for me, CNN threatening to doxx somebody for the crime of making a meme about them is incredibly alarming behavior, and no amount of edge online posts justifies that. 1229 I'm a sucker for ginger chicks, why don't women like ginger dudes? 1230 What has been, will be. 1231 TDS, ladies and gentlemen. 1232 Today the bird, tomorrow you. 1233 Youãcc™™re mentally ill dude 1234 Culturally thereãcc™™s an insane amount of pressure for Mormon kids to go to Mormon schools cause everyone who doesnãcc™™t go to a Mormon school ends up having a real world experience and leaving the church. 1235 [removed] 1236 Threaten us again, Winnie the Pooh, watch what happens. 1237 [removed] 1238 > Why do you think it's a good rule to follow if literally every single gun range violates it by having a cold range? \n\nAll of your answers have suggested that they do not. All your statements to date indicate that you "do" treat an unloaded gun like a loaded gun. \n\n> I literally just answered that question in the response you replied to. \n\nYes, you answered them with "well, it might be loaded." \n\n> I'm going to treat it as unloaded in some ways because it's impossible/impractical \n\nSuch as? The only one you've suggested to date is the moment of stepping away from the firing line, and that doesn't hold water. You unload your gun. Once you have unloaded your gun, you can step away from the firing line. Even though you know it's unloaded, and everyone else knows it's unloaded, (after all, this is a cold range, right?) you will still continue to observe all safety precautions as if it were loaded. And why will you do that? \n\n> because there's no good reason to deviate from this. \n\nAh, right. Because it might be loaded. \n\nUnless you can actually make an argument of some kind, or unless you just feel like continuing to go around and around and around, I think we're done here. 1239 Maybe as a condition of their position, elected officials should have to use public transit. 1240 Are French men even capable of domestic violence? They donãcc™™t even have the testosterone necessary to ask for a paternity test. 1241 how? those things don't overwrite data that quickly 1242 The royal family gives more money to society than they take out. They are not a direct drain on taxpayers at all. 1243 Man you just like to hear yourself talk dont you. You think the founding fathers carefully constructed the second amendment with the thought that eventually those arms could take anything out from 150 yards away firing 30 rounds a minute? That's some straight ignorance you are spewing. Also just because the constitution says that it's okay, doesn't make it fact that it's okay Infao. Think 1244 Due to the heavy restrictions on guns in Australia, supply and demand has pushed up the price of black market handguns to $15,000. If 3D printed guns were viable then the supply of guns in Australia would not be so constrained and the price would be lower. \n\nSo while I donãcc™™t know why theyãcc™™re not viable, it is clear theyãcc™™re not. You canãcc™™t cheat supply and demand. 1245 This is stupid. You have to push down the brake to get a car out of Park. The person obviously had to have gotten out of the car with the car in reverse and blamed it on the dog because she was embarrassed to admit it. 1246 Life must be pretty cheap to you. The rest of us value it a lot more, which is why we don't give people who plan terror attacks a chance to kill people before we lock them up. It saves lots of lives at the cost of removing one terrorist sociopath from society. \n\nAgain, that is your opinion about people dying in the future. \n\nThat's most people's opinion, which is why counter-terrorism exists. \n\nOne cannot be so arrogant to be 100% certain what a person is going to do in the future. \n\nDon't need to be. Making a plan to kill people is enough to designate yourself as a danger to society, even if you never have the guts to carry it out. Lock 'em up and throw away the key! 1247 I think you've COMPLETELY MISUNDERSTOOD REALITY here, bud. 1248 [removed] 1249 Except this prison had a spotless record for the last 20 years AND this guy was in suicide watch after a previous shady attempt. Journalists who investigated Epstein say that he's definitely not the type to kill himself 1250 I wonder if he can eat steaks again yet! 1251 No. Giving away free shit only encourages bad behavior. And stop calling them "homeless." Their homes are the streets. I'm not talking about honest working people who have fallen on hard times either. I'm talking about the drug addicted and criminal con artist vagrants who would rather kill themselves that get a real job and follow the rules and norms of society. 1252 Thatãcc™™s awesome. 1253 [removed] 1254 [We had an officer convicted of murder in MN.] (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Shooting_of_Justin_Damond#Investigation_and_prosecution_of_Noor) Of course, it was third-degree, and the case had to be insanely out-dried, but I feel like it's still a step in the right direction. 1255 [removed] 1256 That's because they consider themselves a charity, and they are (they do their own charity among congregants, my friend's single-mother of 6 kids was helped generously by the LDS church, of which she was a member). But what this school is doing with insurance is complete BS. 1257 Eh i got it in dec 2012 under the conditions i wanted, i'd say i got my money's worth :) 1258 You can still hate the wasted food my friend. It is a shame that so much meat couldnãcc™™t feed hungry people regardless of circumstance 1259 New species of fauna are found daily. There are literally thousands of animal species that we donãcc™™t even know about on the earth. Species of animals come and go. 1260 California already has the strictest laws in the country along with a ban on what they consider to be assault rifles. 1261 I don't understand auto correct sometimes 1262 It is, yet I've lived quite below it for a long time. It was named such to evoke an emotional response. I lived. I wasn't exactly terribly comfortable (roommates and never eating out) but I lived. 1263 You can see in [this clip] (https://v.reddit.it/4wm57jpw0g041) that when the bed goes down it opens the back window, allowing for another 3+ feet of storage for longer pieces of lumber and rebar. 1264 [removed] 1265 Hero of the day 1266 >Do it legally and stop complaining when the going gets hard. \n\nChrist, how stupid do you think we are? You "just acknowledged" that what you're asking for is impossible. So I repeat: your concern clearly isn't for proper procedures to be followed; you just want immigrants kept out. 1267 I think the problem is that pedophiles will look at law enforcement as a dream job: they'll get paid handsomely to fuck kids and no one will stop them, because they're cops. 1268 Goddamn voice to text. Like fowl isn't even the more common spelling. 1269 [removed] 1270 Faux fur is actually worse for the environment, as its made of plastic. Real fur tends to be way more sustainable when sourced and processed properly. 1271 [removed] 1272 Social Media is the worst thing to happen to our species. \n\n​ \n\nI lament on a social media platform.... 1273 It is pretty irrevocable but the victim can recover and is obviously still alive. This next part is gonna make no sense but I donãcc™™t think people go to jail because of the ãccedgeneracyãcc of the crime, itãcc™™s more about the harm they caused or would have caused. For example, attempted murder doesnãcc™™t get the same sentence as murder 1274 I agree with you, of course they are legal. That's why the first thing they ask is do you plan to harm anyone or yourself, to evaluate you until you are deemed ready to leave. My point is that the sorry state of mental health care and our social attitudes about it don't help the individual, most times they end up back on the street worse than they were before. And even if you know someone is a danger, it's not as easy as just going to the cops or a court and saying "hes unwell." It's a hard process unless they are making overt threats. \n\nSorry to hear that you have been there, I have myself many times. I hope things are better now ð™™t 1275 How does an entire country continue the whole 'monarchy' thing? \n\nTheir taxes are supporting an extensive family who actually do no good to society for the cost. 1276 [removed] 1277 The money is a moot point, I can sue someone with no money and win a settlement, doesnãcc™™t mean Iãcc™™t get paid, but on the record they were found at fault in a court of law, which is a concrete outcome that can be used to justify further action 1278 Why do people find it so hard to believe that a person who just got out as one of the worlds most prolific pedophiles and sex traffickers might try to kill themselves when caught? It doesnãcc™™t mean he did, but itãcc™™s certainly plausible that he would try. For all we know he paid off the guards to let him do it. 1279 When someone proposes condoms are a sufficient alternative to birth control, it implies ignorance about non-contraceptive uses for it. 1280 [removed] 1281 [removed] 1282 [removed] 1283 My only concern is that in any other context we wouldn't question inept employees and lack of proper equipment for a government run prison. 1284 True story. One time Faye Reagan got in touch with me seemingly on the basis that I was also Irish. I am not a ginger. 1285 Thatãcc™™s kinda why they are in trouble. For forcing this to happen by not following regs. Blame the people who did this, not the inspectors. 1286 The reason they caught the kid is because he literally threatened the school and didnãcc™™t even try to hide the gun, we still have a very long way to go 1287 I'm not bitching! Trump is going to die in prison, and the crimes will be revealed. \n\nWhat ever did happen to that story about the [$30 million of Russian money funneled through the NRA] (https://www.vanityfair.com/news/2018/06/the-nra-spent-dollar30-million-to-elect-trump-was-it-russian-money) into the hands of Russian politicians? Watch the upcoming Elliot Brody trial closely! And what about the money from [Russian mobsters laundered through the Trump inauguration] (https://www.vox.com/2018/7/5/17505728/trump-inauguration-mueller-russians-rick-gates)? Gonna get interesting! \n\nIfñt the GOP can't rig the 2020 elections, they are truly fucked... and I will be dancing on their graves. 1288 Gingers and neckbeards aren't mutually exclusive, are they? 1289 I used to work in a industry that hired a lot of unskilled entry level workers for basic labor. There is a checklist of documents that the US gov requires employers to verify in order for them hire and pay people. Many of these people I hired barely spoke any english and often had an interpreter (friend or family) with them to get through the interview/hiring process. I suspected many of them were not in the country legally but they all had the docs so they were good to work. After I left the company I began dating one of the employees I had hired. I was told by her that those fake documents are easily bought and sold in the US and Mexico. I acted shocked and she reminded me how normal it was for college students to have fake IDs to get into bars. The illegal immigration issue has many angles to it. I don't know what the answer is but I applaud everyone trying to do something to help all involved. 1290 The required insurance does not meet government standards for pre-natal care, presumably because pregnant students will be expelled and lose their school insurance. Win-win for the school! 1291 >ñ>ñYeh the pharmacist filled a BIN BAG like a huuge bag full of medication for me because usually you just get one pill and take it but she knew I had something vicious that would t fuck off no doctor or pharmacist prior would give me more than one at a time which is so ridiculous because you can't OD on anti fungal meds ... 1292 [removed] 1293 Gonna go ahead and block you. Have fun being wrong. 1294 yeah I remember this. dude made a meme that Trump made famous. dude took credit on reddit for it. journalist looked at users profile and found a ton racist, anti-semetic posts. journalist figured out who guy was and contacted him. guy realized if his name was posted he'd be outed as a racist POS so he begged CNN not to post his name. Journalists do this all the time, it's called due diligence. the only difference is normally they post the persons name, but they didn't this time. 1295 What do you mean, are you sure that is what is going on? It is downright obvious the Hong Kong police have held their fire on numerous occasions where a western police would not have. There is no propaganda to be taken there, when you watch several non edited videos of that exact occurrence happening. People can formulate their own opinions, and not everything is black and white. 1296 They cherry picked a date range that's very unfavorable to Europe because Europe experienced an uptick in far-right and Islamist terror attacks at that time. \n\nThis allows them to include the 77 murders of Anders Breivik in Norway, the 130 murders of the November 13, 2015 attacks in Paris, etc... That's partly why Norway looks so bad. \n\nAt the same time, it allows them to ignore large massacres that happened in the US after 2015, such as the 49 murders at the Pulse nightclub in Orlando, the 58 murders (and hundreds of wounded) at the Route 91 Harvest music festival in Las Vegas and others. \n\nThis date range was deliberately chosen to skew the statistics and push a misleading narrative. 1297 The implication was to not make it harder to obtain firearms, or to not "neuter" them at the very last. \n\nTalk about failing to address societal problems... 1298 2350 was supposed to be the peak. I've heard a couple of spectators see one or two out 9f their peripheral view at the park. Oh well! I think there's another in a couple weeks 1299 [removed] 1300 your point is just trash, dude \n\nidk how else to say it ññthe article doesn't say anything about them doing anything else except "unveiling new sex-crime investigation initiatives" which could mean anything and nothing \n\nbut coming into this kind of thread and saying "well at least they apologized, don't shit on them" is excusing this kind of negligence and isn't a productive point to make in any universe 1301 They don't get arrested for civil matters. \n\nññThey don't need to worry about being randomly detained for something there is no warrant for from years in the past. \n\n1302 >Well nice job making assumptions. Yes I have been more okay with it in recent years. \n\nThen why isn't this your main talking point? Because you make it sound like you just don't want immigrants. \n\n->It just makes it simplistic for everyone if they just took some basic English course. \n\nññooool, do you see the irony in this sentence? You meant "simple" but you used "simplistic," which is a [different word with a different meaning.] (http://www.dictionary.com/browse/simplistic) You think you'd pass your own citizenship requirements? ãd ññ-> And yes I have had to learn other languages by choice, 3 years of German, and a year of Russian. And a semester of Italian. \n\n...and I doubt you're fluent, or even conversational, in any of them. Maybe German after 3 years, but it depends on how rigorous the education is. I spent 30+ hours a week in a special class in high school while living in Spain, and it took me a year to become passably fluent. It's extraordinarily difficult to become comfortable, and it's unreasonable to expect adults to accomplish this. \n\n->Just that it makes life all around easier for everyone if you can understand and read the language the Marjory of Americans speak. \n\nDuh, but you're talking about it being a prerequisite. \n\n->If I go to Germany or France, I donãcc™™t demand that they speak English \n\nññNobody is demanding anybody speak their language here, dude. What is this strawman you've built? \n\n-> I never said they have to completely adopt anything, just that itãcc™™ll make life easier for us and them in general. \n\nAgain, you weren't idly commenting that life would be easier for them, you wanted to make it a requirement which is ridiculous. 1303 Dang I guess you're right. I always thought of "bad" as being subjective I, but thought of "evil" as being "objective bad". But that's subjective too. Oh well whatever works I guess. 1304 They would be missing a better conspiracy. The Greenbrier is the location of a bunker meant to house members of Congress in the event of an emergency. Only Republicans are going and the president is joining them there. Once they were all safe in the bunker things wouldn't go well for the rest of us I'm sure. 1305 Money taken and returned is not income. 1306 To be honest I'd hope not - messages from here made me think about things a touch less casually too from the past. I wasn't one of the monsters by the way! (Nor am I claiming victim) 1307 I bet this dude actually looks forward to the goal he gets every year for Christmas. 1308 Are you trying to say that the slave that were in other parts of the world didn't have their history stolen from them? I struggle to see the distinction. Slavery is slavery no matter where it was. Lots of people living all around the world will have ancestors they don't know about, your country isn't a special exception. \n\nññI honestly can't believe it. So let me get this straight. By "fellow Fucking Americans" I assume you mean fellow fucking "white" people. They don't stand with you? I'm white and have never, ever had ill feelings towards another person based on their race. Not even a single time so fuck you in that regard, you're as racist as the people you preach against, your "fellow fucking Americans". I'd stand with you as another human, not based on the fact that you may or may not be black, get the hell over yourself. \n\nññNo one ever said it's not ok to remember your culture and where you came from but to append a name in front of it like some sort of self fulfilling prophecy is borderline retarded, which is why no other country ever does it. 1309 What doesnãcc™™t open? Honest question. You lost me in the second sentence. \n\nññAlthough I do love the thought of this ãccomagiacãcc you speak of 1310 Amen to that. The seditious need to be put back in their place. 1311 Parrots are capable of way more than just mimicking human speech. My friend's family had an African Gray that knew multiple colors and names of different fruits and would ask for them by name. When he didn't know the name for an orange but knew the color orange he asked for an "orange apple". 1312 Sure that's proactive but im talking about people that have already committed the crime. Not about those who try to get help before its too late. I dont disagree with anything you said. 1313 If you have any interest in Goldeneye 007 for the N64, RWhiteGoose has a lot of great content for that game, including a "Goldeneye SpeedLore" series where he talks about the history of records and the improvements runners found to advance the records: \n\nhttps://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WpaXr5HvKU0&list=PLHrQoVIAuQkTdWIsOIGcB055r_qKt \n\nññApollo Legend also has some videos you may enjoy, such as "Top 10 Weirdest Moments in Speedrunning" \n\nhttps://www.youtube.com/watch?

v=avKXawi2Ak/nlf there are more YouTube channels like these, I would love to know about them, too! 1314 I pray we get a president that one day just marches the national guard in and forces the state government to enforce federal citizens rights. \n/nfrankly, I think it should happen everywhere. shits ridiculous in most states. 1315 Lol. No this guy habitually lived over 30+ years about basically every game out there posting wildly impossible scores. He's a bully and a scumbag. It was not a glitch or a small lie it is concentrated effort by a giant loser to give meaning to his lie. 1316 The area of CO I live in has a very large number of transients who camp out in the woods near some of the trails. I've seen hard drug paraphernalia around popular hiking spots, and heard a few stories about hikers being harassed. \n/nYou ladies are smart.\n/nEDIT: Adding a 'stay safe out there' for good measure :) 1317 I wasn't aware "china" and "japan" were a continent now. 1318 Good, the entire state of California should do the same. 1319 I guess my asshole mimics human speech after taco night 1320 All of them 1321 >Julian Tumauga, of Auburn, was charged last week with first-degree assault and malicious harassment\n/nMalicious harassment?!? Hitting somebody repeatedly in the head with a metal baseball bat should be attempted murder. 1322 are you dense or what? He gave you multiple examples and this is a widely known thing. You should seriously look into reading more before you weigh in on a topic. 1323 Linguist here. I would describe this as mimicry, which puts more focus on the effort than the outcome. 1324 38 Grenades. Sounds like a movie title or band name. 1325 This is the story of a teacher who simply wanted to be employed without having to make a pledge not to have a political stance on a foreign government. Not the same thing my friend 1326 >your unsubstantiated negativity on others.\n/n/nThat's interesting. What are you referring to? 1327 There's a saying, the only good commie is a dead commie. Time to round these bastards up in camps! 1328 >At the end of the day they're claiming that pit bulls are significantly more popular than anyone else is reporting [citation needed] the media are only reporting on cases about pit bulls [citation needed], and hospitals dont record dog bites by breed [citation needed] because in fact they fucking do\n/n->n-But they use an authoritarian tone and split up quotes so they totally know that they're talking about and therefore don't need any sources. \n/nFair enough, I dont feel like wading through everyone's comments to verify the positions you're ascribing to them. Nonetheless, the claims you ascribe to them are certainly plausible. So are your claims. Neither side has been able to provide solid evidence, so I'm willing to say "we don't really know, but pits and rottis appear more dangerous according to preliminary data," but I do think the danger often gets blown out of proportion.\n/n/nHowever, I want to point out that dog behaviorists have concluded that breed is not a determining factor in bad behavior, but don't go far as to say it has no influence. I've lost my bookmark, I'm sorry, but it was for a scientific behaviorist association that was given to me IRL by a vetmed student some time ago. Basically, the take-away is that there are volatile temperaments in every breed, and that while some breeds may have a higher percentage of individuals with volatile temperaments, this shouldn't taint the perception of other individuals in that breed with good temperaments. \n/n/nAs with many things, the truth is nuanced, not simplistic like 'pit bull = monster, lab = angel.' Anyway, given that there are millions of pits in the US and only a handful of bites, let alone deaths, each year, the statistical risk of being bitten is very, very low. You should be a LOT more afraid of bad drivers, or slipping in the shower, than of being bit by a pit (or any other dog). 1329 >~I hope~ everyone involved is ok\n/n/nSPEAK IT INTO EXISTENCE 1330 What a terrible thought. I disagree with several Republican policies but I wouldn't want these people harmed. 1331 Title sounds like something off the onion 1332 Are these the same nutters who are anti-vaccine, and pro raw water? Fuck these assholes. Coffee is good for you, and I currently drink the recommended 3 to 4 cups a day. Take your junk science, and stuff it in your ill-informed pie hole. 1333 Without going city by city, it is a newer problem as the issue is the decline of the water systems and infrastructure* (decline is something that happens over a span of time)\n/n/nThis isn't to say it's a new problem but it is to say it's a growing problem that now has more visibility as well. The combo may make it look brand new but it's not something sparked just in 2018, no. It also doesn't go back to, say, 1960-70... \n/n/nAs this concept relates to one city, Flint\n/n/n- In the past 16 months, abnormally high levels of E. coli, trihalomethanes, lead, and copper have been found in the city's water, which comes from the local river (a dead body and an abandoned car were also found in the same river).*\n/n/nSource\n/n/nHere's another\n/n/n- U.S. federal scientists say water quality has declined in the massive Mississippi River Basin in recent years due to the combined effects of agricultural and urban infrastructure, despite decades of conservation efforts. That's a concern both for those who rely on the river system and for those downstream on the Gulf of Mexico, where a huge "dead zone" hurts fishing and recreational opportunities.\n/n/n- Scientists with the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) sampled the main stem and four tributaries of the Mississippi River and found that levels of nitrate increased at more than half the sites from 1980 to 2010. Overall, nitrate levels increased by 14 percent during that period, the USGS reported in a congressional briefing on Capitol Hill Friday.\n/n/nSource\n/n/nHere's yet another article outlining everything! I'm saying\n/n/nClean Water Laws Are Neglected, at a Cost in Suffering\n/n/n/nYou're complaints about these sources are getting quite micro -- I mean, the recent nature of the water infrastructure decline is something you could've validated yourself instead of making it a point of contention (since you already know the trace metal and behavioural issue to be fact).\n/n/nIn addition to this point, you're taking it from a very junior and elementary problem solving approach: it's not just the visibility of these issues have increased with the ubiquitous nature of information now but it's also how we deal with these issues that have changed.\n/n/nAmerica has the globes largest prison population. Some of those behaviour issues could have been linked back to water issues. Now, instead of blind stats and numbers we see videos shared on 30 different streaming platforms showing you the specific case in High Def from multiple angles.\n/n/nSo let's recap:\n/n/n* Water quality and behavioural issues have proven correlation and causation\n/n/n* Water quality decline and trace metal content in American water ways is something we agree exists and is an issue\n/n/n* The cause of this issue is the decline of the American waterways and infrastructure, something that's been incrementally growing into a larger issue (meaning over time we've seen more and more)\n/n/n* All of this has been cited and sourced directly from reputable and quality sources and studies.\n/n/n/nWhat is the next problem?\n/n/n 1334 So Virginia is no longer for lovers, I guess. 1335 Anyone who likes a feature that was created intentionally, but that you consider a flaw, is a fanboi. 1336 The actual paper\n/n/nhttp://www.biomedicine.com/article/S2352-3964(18)30016-1/fulltext 1337 They take the coal, and they clean it... " 1338 Couldn't they anonymously write about assaults/rapes on a piece of paper? I mean I realize what they are trying to do here, collect user information, monitor prisoners, potentially sell products. But sheesh, the should sooner give these to...oh I don't know...anyone else? 1339 [deleted] 1340 The sound fidelity on a good pair of Bluetooth speakers is indistinguishable from an equivalent sized good set of wired speakers. 1341 Citizens sure as hell can get arrested when they show up to family court or small claims so it shouldn't be any different. 1342 [deleted] 1343 I am fairly certain you are right, of like to know what happened. 1344 Oh I see where you are confused. I never said all the blame should go on the Drs. This is why you seem so confused. Drs should take their part of the blame, just like the people abusing it. \n/n/nWhy would I need to read your link? If you ask most opiate addicts, they will tell you they started with a pain pill (legally or not). No one just jumps into opiates with heroin, at least most don't. They usually start with pain pills. Sorry you are confused on this as well. \n/n/n/n->Let's say, that with better policies, we somehow reversed the rampant prescription drug abuse in W.Va. I can guarantee you that Baltimore will still be plagued with heroin overdoses, and then we'll be left scratching our heads wondering what went wrong\n/n/nAnd are you saying that the answer to the heroin overdoses, is to keep prescription pills available? Only reason why addicts are overdosing is because it is on the black market and the dosages are so varied based on purity. It seems like you are saying these addicts should stay on prescription pills to shoot up as you know the dosage and purity every time. Seems like you are confused again. 1345 [deleted] 1346 You are being a tad too pedantic about the terms. You may disagree with the assessment that having a degree does not necessarily make you "better educated" and you may be right. However, in this society, having a degree does make you "better educated" in the eyes of the job market, and thus subsequently can be used as a gauge of "success" which is what the original topic was about. 1347 Actually, I think I heard nicotine in a purified form is not a carcinogen, but still addictive. 1348 It's ok you don't have to admit it, it's obvious, enjoy your self inflated moral high ground while dodging that you were trying to insult me by calling me a janitor 1349 Hate? Against who? Bald people? \n/n/nBeing a dick isn't an expression of hate. Don't be gay. 1350 I know of state jobs that check your driving record.\n/n/nAs far back as the hiring company wants to go.\n/n/nIf they don't want people with bad driving records then they should be able to avoid folks with bad driving histories.\n/n/n/nI propose they don't break the law if they want access to more jobs in the future\n/n/nIt has nothing to do with a justice boner but the right for a company to hire non criminals over criminals 1351 Do you know that they have not and will not take those other actions? Did you read the comments I was replying to?\n/n/nBut keep riding that ignorant righteous anger horse I can tell you're having a good time showing us all how moral your outrage is. 1352 \n/n/n/r/ conspiracy can go off the rails sometimes, no doubt, but it is one the last places on this website where there is open discussion like it used to be. Definitely some bad apples but nothing is perfect\n/n/nNo need to be rude, fellow internet stranger. Good luck to you 1353 Are we still calling it pot? 1354 Well it's not like they're breaking any laws so what should they have to worry about? 1355 As a designer who owns and operates a design studio I like to think I know a design studio when I see one. \n/n/nBut you know, this is reddit, so feel free to let your personal anecdotes define your perception of the world. 1356 I think this will continue. Facebook has lost a lot of its luster. Within my circle, none of us even use it anymore 1357 This will bring a new meaning to crime college. The new course offered will be hacking since auto theft might be a thing of the past with self driving cars around the corner. 1358 [removed] 1359 What office is he running for? 1360 Nice false equivalency, maybe people have a problem with the murder and denial of rights of Palestine. But hey at least you get paid for looking like an idiot online I hope. 1361 So you re-read your own comments? 1362 What does feminism have to do with this? 1363 I'm sure you have never broken a rule for your own enjoyment ever. \n/n/nDipshit. 1364 We probably look like gangly aliens to them. If you went out hunting for deer, would you kill an Orca walking on land and try to eat it? 1365 tribalism, which is the basis for the other two is an innate human trait however 1366 I never realized that all you had to do to win an argument with a feminist is ask for sources 1367 [removed] 1368 it's 20/200 with correction.\n/n/n 1369 It's called being empathetic? Like how I empathize with you feeling the need to be a dick on the internet because I went through that phase too, when I was 11. 1370 I met a human who does this 1371 > A man literally starts off with the intent to argue that this should not be labeled a hate crime because of the man's ethnicity\n/n/nNo, nothing he said supports this interpretation. He's got 5 comments in this entire thread and none of them argue that it's not a hate crime. He has said that the race of the perpetrator is important, but he's never said that it shouldn't be a hate crime. Could you quote where he suggested that it's not a hate crime?\n/n/n- Remember when I told you about that bias? Look how far it's dragged you, and you don't even know it's there.\n/n/nYes, I remember where you insulted me multiple times and then told me what I'm thinking even though you've yet to say anything truthful about me (which makes sense as you don't know me). I'm still waiting on an apology. You should also apologize to the other guy, as you're calling him racist repeatedly and nothing he's said has supported that. \n/n/nYou know, for all of your comments that have called me biased, has it occurred to you that maybe you're just not correct on this and you don't actually know what is in the minds of other people that you've never met better than they do? Or are you just trolling and trying to stir up racist shit just to be an ass? 1372 No one said the US's Prison system was perfect or better than other countries. It certainly didn't come out of my mouth 1373 You were, in fact, being an ass though. 1374 dYzswim so wild, swim so free dYzswim? 1375 Politicians worst nightmare. 1376 Wonder what new mosquito carried virus will be transferred to humans from these "bacteria" infected mosquitos. Zika 2.0? 1377 Some of the after school ones any good? We had a few really good ones - didn't always mean enemies forever sometimes friends as I'm sure maybe you experienced too 1378 I could snap your neck, get convicted, and serve my time. I would still have an easier life than him afterwards. 1379 Wow I thought he was 100% lying until the camera showed the box where his wife is. I feel pretty bad for this dude if what he says is true 1380 Hell yeah I accept, free weed is free weed. long as i make sure it's actually weed lol 1381 Ah, you have too much faith in the intellectual honesty and due diligence of both the police and Board of Medicine.\n/n/n The imminent threat to Health, welfare, and safety is the catch-all phrase Boards of Medicine, Nursing, etc. use when they want to wield power. It doesn't mean that such a threat actually exists.... that's what due process in court is for. It means that the Board wants to take action, and they need something, anything, to latch on to. \n/n/nThe police are acting on basically the same information and using the same standard, except in a criminal sense. The police are not here for due process, that's what court is for. But they can arrest you anyways even if you're innocent. \n/n/nWhen I look at this and read that the same patient had a sexual encounter in the men's locker room and at the doctors apartment... but later claims it was not consensual... what the holy fuck? This needs something more to be called rape. \n/n/n/Police and Boards of Medicine do not exist for due process or justice. They exist to arrest and to let go. That's what's what is happening here. 1382 Is this where some evangelical preacher goes on CNN and claims this is God's punishment for something terrible they did?\n/n/nOh wait, it was full of Republican congressmen. Nevermind. 1383 [removed] 1384 Any minute now InfoWars will claim the garbage truck workers we're ANTIFA members. 1385 https://www.oregonlaws.org/ors/163.688\n/n/nMax of 10 years and no minimum sentence, that is some weak shit. \n/n/nEDIT: \n/n/nNot sure what Grants Pass High School had to do with this but this is him. http://kpspr.state.ky.us/Home/OffenderDetails/14171\n/n/nWhat a smug motherfucker, and the worst part is that he's out here bitching that Kentucky won't let him be a lawyer cuz he got off on kids getting raped... esp considering the fact that he hasn't done ONE day of time. 1386 That's just a stereotype. 1387 someone didn't read the article 1388 [removed] 1389 I used to live near one and I think I saw groups of protesters outside of it maybe twice out of the 100+ times I drove past it. Even then they were on the grass by the main road while the parking lot entrance was off a side street so they weren't even interacting with anyone coming and going. I don't doubt ones exist where there seem to be full time protesters screaming but I've never seen it. 1390 The irony is palpable. 1391 Like I've said in another thread, with different words but the same meaning. Republicans get off my dick. This isn't going to prevent human trafficking. Watching pornography, has arguably been shown to limit acts of violence against women, but don't let me let science, and Republicans ever meet in the same room, because it's impossible. 1392 I'd recommend you don't skim as well seeing as how he concluded the article with "The facts indicate that the government-academic biomedical complex is no longer a" if it ever was a" the best approach to medical innovation, and our efforts must adapt." But why let that get in the way of you presenting half of an argument to further your point \n/n/nEdit: also your link again compares Asia a continent to a single nation so once again you have to slant the scales to make a point 1393 Or buy some crypto and use profits to buy GPUs 1394 You can thank environmental controls for that. And it may be making a comeback soon enough. 1395 yeah, no fucking kidding apologizing is better, water is wet and grass is green\n/n/nwhat a tone deaf point to make lmao \n/n/n/well at least they apologized" \n/n/npeople are criticizing the fact that that's the extent of their action \n/n/nwe should be shutting on them because by only issuing an apology they have foregone a literally infinite number of additional options that can make a greater impact not only on those who were abused but the community as a whole \n/n/n 1396 socio economic factors, history of oppression, culture etc. 1397 Yeah, let's make illegals and their families afraid to go to court for minor offenses, to testify in bigger crimes and stand up to being ripped off in small claims or employment disputes.\n/n/n No way that ends badly.\n/n/n 1398 My buddies dog will try and say hello back to you. It seems even less sophisticated species are capable of this. 1399 It's not about either. Illegals have nothing to do with this conversation and nothing to do with your life sucks. 1400 You say that, but then a simple google search shows you are incorrect.\n/n/nMany people washed, but outside of the rich or royalty, it was once a month thing. Even for the rich it was more a once a week and you just covered it up with oils and perfumes. Speaking of oils and perfumes, only the wealthy could afford these regularly. Peasants just went without.\n/n/nEmptying a chamber pot out a window was also a common practice in most non major cities. Even in London, I could almost guarantee that the 40 pence fine was enforced anywhere outside the rich neighborhoods or marketplaces. I've even seeing stuff from as soon as the 15th- 17th century Scotland during their renaissance. Even had a specific catchphrase when the housemaids would do it, aGardly Loo!aG. So maybe do a basic google search before you start spouting incorrect facts. \n/n/nAnd maybe put on some fuckin deodorant. 1401 If you're telling me a pastor left a church to get a job checking inside people's underwear then there's something else going on. 1402 Standing is anti Catholic? Someones never been to mass. Lol 1403 Oh. Didn't seem like it with how it was worded 1404 Fuck off.\n/n/nBlack people can be racist too. 1405 There's video footage of the kids jumping up and down and chanting. 1406 He was saying that was said to the kids. 1407 They were trying to overshadow the natives by being louder with stupidity. Amazing that man stood up for himself. His tears were with the words, "if they just put all that effort into feeding the hungry". 1408 colonial times again? 1409 News flash: People who vote for racists are racists.\n/n/n*surprised_pkachu.jpg* 1410 Not one source for "the build the wall comment" all that posted video and not one showing the comment, you should be ashamed of yourself for promoting the propaganda and lies. 1411 I didn't see the kid do anything racist or harass anyone, is there a longer video with context that shows this? 1412 Who is stereotyping all white people are bad? They are the racists and the real problem to be addressed. Same as anyone who make claims like you said re other minorities. \n/n/nTrying to say I've had a tough time, now it's your turn solves little and probably makes things worse. The real goal is to confront people being racis. Not blame the victims for not presenting a positive enough image to avoid a negative racist stereotype. 1413 I don't believe a word that man says, period. 1414 [removed] 1415 You mean the guy in the group throwing out the n word? Lol. 1416 Who cares? They were all mocking him. And everyone else managed to let the man pass, instead of blocking his way in a stare down contest. It was a demonstration for native americans and those MAGA children showed up and provoked them. Why are you ignoring this? 1417 Thanks. Because the religious schools in my country are just normal schools, but they have morning prayer, and they only teach that religion (studying religion is compulsory in my country) instead of all officially accepted religion.\n/n/nSo you can't distinguish students from those school to public school.\n/n/nAnd most religious schools are actually good, some are on the top 5 highest scoring national examination in the country 1418 Wasn't this whole rodeo debunked in a video showing the old man approaching and harassing the kids for no reason other than them wearing the hat? 1419 All decent anti-gun arguments on Reddit are downvoted and abandoned . Pro-gunners generally can't combat them, so they downvoted, and run as fast as they can. Happens all the time round here .. welcome to t'net :) 1420 I'm just saying that your political values have nothing in common as polar extremes except fascism and that you are spineless, and need a cult like political identity to get by in the world? 1421 [removed] 1422 There lived a certain man in Russia long ago\n/n/nHe was big and strong, in his eyes a flaming golar\n/n/nMost people looked at him with terror and with fear\n/n/nBut to Moscow chicks he was such a lovely dear\n/n/nOh, those Russians 1423 So in your eyes, Philipps was wrong for trying to teach them about cultural appropriation and therefore became the attention seeking native american, while by 2015, everybody should have known better? The action of calling him closer to the fence to talk about how they were honoring him was pure provocation in the first place. They knew better. All they wanted him to do was call them out on their bullshit which he did. 1424 Funny correlation however, lets not forget the demise of Tumblr. 1425 So not the former "cue card boy" from Late Night/Show with David Letterman? 1426 [removed] 1427 You know they don't. Only saving face here. 1428 I watched a good 45 minutes of the link I posted and did not hear a single negative remark towards anyone from the school group. 1429 I have a friend who's like Wesley Snipes dark. His last name is Flewellyn. 1430 Can't wait to see this on Active Self Protection. 1431 Nothing happened. The man walk up to the boy who stood there, smiling's all a big fabrication. If anything the old man was harassing the boy. 1432 You have a source, wait. 1433 The number of people I gimo under Obama is drastically less than when he started. Republicans prevented him from closing it. Secondly whole it's true the drone program expanded, the rules of engagement for drones under Obama were tightened. It took multiple people in different areas to greenlight a drone. Also the fact remains that even if drones have a non zero civilian casualty, they are much much better boots on the ground doing the work. Conveniently you also forget trump has gotten away with almost all those Obama era restrictions on drone usage. You can maybe criticize Obama for not doing enough, but you cant criticize for not doing anything. 1434 The kids did nothing wrong. Watch the whole video and stop spreading this fake news. 1435 [removed] 1436 The wall wouldn't keep natives out anyway, they were here first. So, it was stupid to say in that context anyway. 1437 [removed] 1438 You're good people. Thank you for this. Some people have never been taught the simple things regarding self-care. 1439 [removed] 1440 How is this any different from any student March glamorized and praised by the media and left, like those happening in Europe for climate change?? 1441 Do you have official statistics that keep tracks of immigration levels and population increase or did you just pull out that conclusion out of your ass? 1442 The best way to stop smoking is quitting altogether. I guess the Geisel School is lying though because it's in North America. 1443 [removed] 1444 Did someone hurt your feepees? 1445 Apart from the comical "chase a plane down a run-way instead of getting ATC to deny take-off" ending. Guess they don't have radio/telephone up in that tower... 1446 Gotta source on that because I sure never heard anything other than school chants? 1447 If they built a wall before the Europeans arrived, none of this shit would've happened, of course. 1448 [removed] 1449 1. Black Israelites bothering the high school students. 2. Native American Elder assumed one of the group is being harassed so he redirects the focus to him. 3. High school student's life/lives are threatened. What a clusterfuck. 1450 "How stats work?" 1451 What if it's in my soap and shampoo?! 1452 >The matter is being investigated and we will take appropriate action, up to and including expulsion. I hope so. I went to a Catholic school and if we got caught just smoking a cigarette anywhere in the world* we'd get expelled. 1453 [removed] 1454 You realize that man was screaming, "you worship animals, that's why God took this land away from you" while he had a hype man? 1455 We pulled our kids due to the crappy behavior of the students AND the idiotic administration and parents who all had a 'boys will be boys, girls will be girls' attitude. 1456 Oh, thank the Lord! They condemned them! Well aren't we so fortunate that they'll get a slap on the wrist for harassing an aged war veteran! 1457 They go to a catholic school I highly doubt critical thinking is part of their curriculum. 1458 ...because he approached people that were there for March for life? 1459 It blows me away there are snobs in Kentucky. That's more of a Virginia thing. 1460 Other people have pointed out that it's technically free speech so they can't do anything about it. But her sorority kicking her out is honestly probably a bigger blow than getting kicked from the university. In some sorority dues can be thousands of dollars a semester and you can bet she's not getting that back. She's just been cut off from her entire support network. Having been the person in charge of those types of decisions, itself not a smooth process to just boot someone but you can bet I would've raised hell of any of my sisters had done that shit while I held the position. 1461 Racial blindness is a thing, it doesn't have to be about racism. I had a hard time remembering faces of Asian, African and even Indian people until I spent more time in their midst, and now it doesn't pose any issue to me. 1462 This behaviour is what the school teaches them. They see no wrong in it. Of course they apologise for the behaviour, but that is only a PR move. 1463 Need to have functioning government agencies before that happens so your nuts can unshrive!... FOR NOW! 1464 Sounds like California needs to clear some vegetation, maybe do some burns in the winter when it's safe and use some mechanical tools to clear up debris. 1465 Why does not knowing something mean you'll hate it? I don't see that goes without saying. Maybe curious or indifferent. I'm not sure I agree this makes people prone to hating something. 100% Australia should improve how they treat asylum seekers. 1466 There's tons of videos of them doing the Tomohawk chop. It doesn't matter if they didn't do it personally. You inactively stare down someone like that if you aren't trying to intimidate them. And there is plenty of evidence of them chanting at the Wall as corroborated by audio footage, journalists, and bystanders. Do you hear that chanting and see the sea of MAGA hats bopping up and down? That's when you can hear it... It's not sure why you're trying so hard* to deny a widely accepted characterization of the incident? 1467 The Catholic schools in our community take a TON of taxpayer cash in the form of vouchers. The days of these institutions supporting themselves are over. 1468 [removed] 1469 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 but I highly encourage you to skim around and see what the students were subjected to for over an hour because of the color of their skin. 1470 This sounds like some Steve Jobs bullshit. 1471 I never said you were, but you assumed I was (correctly), and I'm pointing out that Bernie "Bros" are also spreading this bullshit, which contrasts with your implication that Bernie supporters are somehow closet racists. 1472 Although I agree with you on the lack of critical thinking, over-prioritization of standardized tests etc., this school being Catholic is likely private and falls outside of the U.S. public school system. 1473 Actually it makes the ground hold more water and the returning plants tend to be healthier and more resistant. Controlled grazing can be extremely effective in certain climates. 1474 >approach kids and bang drums in their face? get mocked? n-fucking cry cause now you're the victim in naming how that works. 1475 [removed] 1476 Because it shows we (America) have a terrible track record of governing our leadership and holding them to the same standards as our civilians and other countries. It makes our democracy weaker and it represents an example of how a we got to Trump and the amoral Republican Congress. 1477 > should be fired into the sun, preferably. 1478 > Except intimidate a Native American activist, shouting at the Wall at him causing visible upset? They did none of those things. Every bit of evidence fails to show it, and there are multiple recordings of what happened. Whenever someone demands evidence, they get buried for it. They chanted their school chant and then chanted along with the guy when he came up beating the drum, and then it turned into a weird stand-off with the guy beating the drum upside the one kid's head. 1479 >so why would you chant it at a person who was here before Europeans even arrived? Unless Christ. The guy is old but he certainly isn't that old. 1480 The fact that it happens so regularly is cause for concern. Things need to change. Hopefully other people can still feel empathy and not be as callous as the dog owner. 1481 He fucking approached them and was banging drums in their face. Get your head out of your ass. 1482 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 but I highly encourage you to skim around and see what the students were subjected to for over an hour because of the color of their skin. 1483 [removed] 1484 Trump may be a complete scumbag in every way but he doesn't have the blood of a million dead people on his hands. 1485 [removed] 1486 Maybe there would be peace in your country if the liberals actually accepted the fact that he was present. It's not Trump's problem, it's the people who are fear mongering and creating false propaganda targeting Trump. Just get a grip. 1487 They saw a non-white person. That was all that mattered. 1488 Were there comparable scandals at your school? I went to Catholic school K - 8 and while I got in trouble, it was never need-to-save-face level stuff. 1489 [removed] 1490 >I don't blame people on either side for being this way, it's the way the media and politicians frame the political environment. That would be horrible behaviour, wouldn't it? As both of us are very interested in giving a fair non-partisan impression of this event, you will certainly be happy to also include [this video which I haven't seen posted in this thread so far] (https://mobile.twitter.com/lulu_says2/status/1086552871674368001), with a built the wall chant at 35 seconds, in your long original comment. In order for everyone to get a fair and unbiased view from all the different angles. Wouldn't want to provide a one sided version of the incident, like the media, would you. You are better than that, aren't you? Thanks in advance, my fellow fighter for truth and unbiased information distribution. 1491 Your point? Just trying to fit in with the rest of The deranged Libs? 1492 Everyone knows, that if you build upon the grounds of native Americans, while being little dipshits, you get some lovely cursors. 1493 It wouldn't work though. One appearance in a school isn't going to undo a lifetime of lessons taught by your parents and teachers. He is a piece of shit because he was raised by pieces of shit and goes to a piece of shit school filled with piece of shit teachers. 1494 It was Wisconsin, not Wyoming. Baraboo Wisconsin specifically. What's crazy is that the city is literally in spitting distance of Madison, which is the most liberal City in the state. 1495 They made an old man cry by being bigots. 1496 LOL. Have a look at all the people calling for violence against children today. 1497 >These kids did nothing wrong. Except intimidate a Native American activist, shouting at the Wall at him causing visible upset? Are you a fucking idiot? Note, that question was rhetorical, I already know the answer. 1498 [removed] 1499 So what do you think about the robbing that have been slaughtering innocent people in their insurgency for decades? 1500 [removed] 1501 Are American terrorists? Would you support the native population to remove all Americans, all person speaking English, Spanish, French, and any other non-native language? What about the crusades that the Muslims did that killed many people in the middle east? The world isn't a pretty place and you are considered a terrorist is you want to send missiles into an innocent person's backyard. 1502 It does two things first it ruins bargaining power. And secondly there is a huge huge huge cost to hiring legal vs illegal after you match payroll taxes pay workers comp and all these types of things. A min wage employee is costing employer 15 not 7.25. Meaning an illegal can swoop in at 14 and claim no american wants the job employers are not flocking to pay more than min wage. This is actually even worse in construction industry where employers are forced to have expensive insurance and licenses etc. BUT here is where it gets extremely screwed up while legal citizens get legally but raped if they lack these insurance licenses etc. Undocumented immigrants are either ignored on purpose because its racist to hold them accountable to our laws. Or since they have no identity other than what they "claim" they just restart company under different name. I actually knew one guy got deported multiple times each time was back running his company. And to give you example of how much this allows them to undercut legitimate legal contractors. Average time to frame houses the size we were building would be about 550 man hours. This company was actually one of best managed I had ever worked for with extremely fast workers not a single wasted second and we were building in under 200 hrs. But other bids were coming in significantly lower and you would drive by you could see it would take them longer with more guys. So how was it possible well subcontract contractors insurance workers comp payroll taxes etc. Then they would also do shady things like hold wages from employees because hey your illegal what you going to do. As well as often leave jobs half finished once they got paid more than they had completed they were gone had other work might as well stop while ahead right. 1503 [removed] 1504 Darwinism in action. 1505 The only thing you could have added would be the cases where not treating with cannabis could lead to a child never reaching an age where the consumption would have little side effects. 1506 Sources, pretty please. I'd just love to read those stories! 1507 What did the hippie say when you asked if they'd stop sleeping on your couch? n/n/naw, ima stay. 1508 It was ruled a suicide because there were multiple witnesses. But this woman was one of the witnesses and they believe that this seeded the idea to push someone onto the tracks. 1509 I see. I would never refer to left of center as the American Left. That sounds like you're talking about leftists who are generally pro-gun marxists or some other radical group. 1510 Yeah I mean it's nice to recognize where a racist attitude comes from, but the logical next step is to try to overcome that feeling, not to embrace and justify it. Anyone can have any sort of dating preferences they like, but to harbor, accept, and share negative feelings about an entire group of people based on the actions of a small portion would be unacceptable in any other context, and rightfully so. 1511 It's heeccccccy biounga cheupa Tae 1512 Are you? That's nice. 1513 If that's what you got from my analogy, then you're clearly not interested in what other people have to say. You've made up your mind on the Middle East. The opinions of those you disagree with are all in support of terrorists and they can suck a fat one. You'd never say it aloud or think it directly, but subconsciously, everyone else is wrong, including and especially the people living there, Israeli and Palestinian alike. It would take a long ass time to sway your opinion, and would involve little to no facts, but instead a series of emotional appeals and empty jingoisms. n/n/So, yeah, I totally support sending missiles into people's backyards. 1514 Gilled – having gills, allowing one to breathe water. 1515 Which does that come from, am curious? Never seen it before. I'd thought it was a typo at first, but it doesn't make it unreadable either. > 1516 ðŸŽŸ The ciimire of lifeðŸŽŸ 1517 I have a bridge in Washington I'd like to sell you. 1518 It's really nice to see a story with a happy ending in the newsfeed for once. The headline should read arsehole gets what he's coming. 1519 [removed] 1520 this is sad, half the accusers have actually confessed to faking their stories by now/n/inactivity is a disease for some people 1521 Laughed out loud sir 1522 [removed] 1523 Looks like everyone contributed 1524 Karma if I've ever seen it. n/n*Get it* 1525 [removed] 1526 [removed] 1527 If those are your concerns, the effective deterrent would be to go after the business owners, not the workers. 1528 I don't know many, or really any, American politicians who bill themselves left of center who are pro-gun. The most left leaning candidate in the U.S. right now I'd guess is Bernie Sanders and he recently stated that New Zealand's and Australia's gun laws should be followed, that's not pro-gun. Democrats represent in large the American left and they are in no way pro-gun. 1529 Yes everything is up for comedy in the world. 1530 [removed] 1531 [removed] 1532 [removed] 1533 Being poor is not a valid excuse to commit crimes. Of course the prevalent poverty is, more likely crime will be more prevalent, I mean it's not rocket science. But the thing is most poor people don't resort to crime and why is that? Ethics. Most poor people are good people who couldn't find it in themselves to do bad things, to do the wrong thing regardless of their situation. 1534 Oh yeeeah, brother. 1535 [removed] 1536 You've misinterpreted what I said. I was replying specifically to the above commenters take that people on the other side are more fully informed by their chosen echo chambers. It was also making the point that local Fox news affiliates are not necessarily Fox news as we know it. 1537 Anyone else start singing the "Circle of Life" song from the Lion King? 1538 The advantage ANTIFA has when they dox people to destroy their careers is that nobody in ANTIFA has ever actually had a job. 1539 Circle of life, motherfucker 1540 [removed] 1541 I don't really see why chopping up a dead dude and feeding the bits to some animals is so bad. Pumping every inch of your body full of embalming fluids so you can hang out and be completely useless in a hole seems subjectively worse. 1542 I read that heading as it remains eaten by lions& 1543 Great, so the wallbats will have access to nuclear materials. I can think of nine to eleven reasons that that will result in exactly what we think it will. 1544 Good news finally! Surprised I saw it here first and not on r/notheorion 1545 What about the millions that died at the hands of capitalism? Get out with your stupid alt-right memes. 1546 Well, you know what they say. n/n/n/n A C A B 1547 Again that's up to you. But you replied to a comment that brought up the point you don't give a fuck about. 1548 Only if I had a gold... 1549 Oh God, the irony is killing me. 1550 Did not expect an ancestor quote here 1551 >[...] I don't give a fuck about a hypothetical mouse and I don't give a shit about semantic arguments that want to bring up the mouse. n/n/n-But that's up to you what you want to give a fuck about. I'm just saying, to that mouse what you give a fuck about doesn't matter. n/n/ I don't give a fuck about a hypothetical mouse and I don't give a shit about semantic arguments that want to bring up the mouse. n/n 1552 Live action lion king looks intense! 1553 [removed] 1554 r/liftingnews 1555 Everyone should be vaccinated against hep A. No reason not to be. 1556 [removed] 1557 > Dafuq am I supposed to do? n/n/learn some empathy before you end up in their shoes. 1558 That's the biggest joke of all, isn't it? They think stuff like this has to be a hoax because they're wholly incapable of realizing that normal people don't have to fabricate reasons to dislike the people who do that sort of thing. Reasons to dislike those people are provided freely, and at great volume. We merely have to point at them, and say, look what they're doing. Look what they're saying. We don't even have to offer to add context. What they're doing or saying is more than enough reason to dislike them. But they'll never get that, because to them, everyone in their crazy assed little enclave thinks the same as they do, and to them, that's the entire world. They've never had the courage or spine to step outside that safe little bubble. 1559 So 4% of people in the reddit using majority age are racists. We've reached a less depressing minority. Finally 1560 Of course Poverty leads to more crime, I mean obviously, no question about it but most poor people don't resort to crime and why is that? Ethics. Most poor people couldn't find it in themselves to do unethical things regarding their struggle. n/n/The bible should go to the individual first and foremost for the decisions they chose to make. Plenty of other people who are desperate didn't choose to do bad things and break the law. Poverty is not an excuse to commit crime. n/n 1561 President Trump is totally doing the right thing, other leaders should follow. 1562 [removed] 1563 [removed] 1564 But that's up to you what you want to give a fuck about. I'm just saying, to that mouse what you give a fuck about doesn't matter. 1565 [removed] 1566 Racism takes many forms 1567 The human shame of hunting an animal to extinction for snake oil cures and superficial ivory trade is incalculable compared to the death of one mouse. I don't give a fuck about a hypothetical mouse and I don't give a shit about arguments that want to bring up the mouse. 1568 Upvoting for the post description. 1569 [removed] 1570 It doesn't matter if he was investigated properly or not, presumption of innocence means he is considered innocent until proven guilty. How would you properly investigate a rape that happened over 20 years ago based solely on an accusation in which the victim's own eye witness doesn't support her story? 1571 Your class knows no bounds. 1572 I'm really happy to hear that. I hope that happens to all those poachers. 1573 Translation: he is Mexican and I hate him. 1574 Like I said I'm not trying to say this is the life path of all officers but when someone like this comes along the system has at least in several very high profile cases mostly involving actual lethal force seemed to act more like their priority was to prevent the officer from being punished at all. 1575 The Paris subway has these. 1576 Yes I'm sure the poachers are good people. 1577 I'd like this better if it were a foreign trophy hunter rather than a broke local. But then trophy hunters tend to get in the way of actual danger. 1578 I would prefer if the elephants are the asshole who wanted to buy the ivory rather than the poacher. 1579 A necessary sacrifice for capitalism and the 1%. 1580 Man, I don't know this guy, and like many others, his death means nothing to me. Yet I still find it baffling that people enjoy pretending this is some sort of karma justice; happy that he died because he did something they disagree with, something with a negligible effect on their own lives. Maybe it has to do with the fact his misfortune was all due to chance, and not pondered upon; would they be in favor of the death sentence for poachers? I just don't understand how people think 1581 Just threaten your neighbors to give up their cattle on threat of death, then set the local natives on them and kill them all anyway despite what you said. It's what Brigham himself would have done. 1582 This is Trumps America. False nuke warnings and planes falling from the sky. Maybe it wasn't a good idea to let the world wrestling federation run the FAA. 1583 With a gun 1584 Ever since Facebook banned White Nationalism, many White Nationalists are referring to themselves as Japanese Nationalists. 1585 Almost as fun as fucking squirrels amiright? 1586 Hakunah Matata 1587 [removed] 1588 Did they add rubber stoppers to prevent the screen door from slamming and showing up on enemy sonar? 1589 [removed] 1590 But this is the same scenario as the crying wolf& though and it doesn't happen all the time. 1591

1. To be pedantic, this number is 70% and, equally as germane, represents (as per the article) to quote áfrica ballpark figureáf. My frustration with unfounded claims such as yours are that the sampling is low and thus conjecture. If you simply search a bit more then youâ€™ll find an equal number of articles that debunk your claim. Objectively, how would one even know any of the articles are correct? Good question. But what I do know of your claim is essentially baseless. 1592 This kind of news brings me joy. 1593 [removed] 1594 They arenâ€™t a large enough population to make 1% 1595 There's no call for that now. 1596 [removed] 1597 Good. Elephant and them lions did a great job. 1598 I'm not sure if you're actually addressing the economics and dispositions that cause poaching to be such a risky gain. Because poaching exists for economic supply and command amongst other reasonings than these people poaching, if the poaching in the venture are rewarded for it by someone somewhere making it a risk they are willing to take. 1599 No, I think he is saying they are locked up and bored as hell, so they do dumb shit, because it's the only thing to do. 1600 Thanks for your insights Beeftech67. Welcome to my world. Every worry that police officer killing you? Now think of what it is like to feel that most of your adult life. And not just your life...the lives of people you care about too. Your parents, grandparents, siblings and those whose skin looks like yours. 1601 It's about 18 meters 1602 The was a period of time in my life when I'd lost track of friends I would check the county jail roster first 1603 Would you voluntarily donate money to the corporate head of a hospital? Just give them money? To add to their profits? You absolutely wouldn't, unless you were getting something in return. You'd say, 'that's what people are doing when they donate blood.... allowing corporations to make money off them, and lots of it, without sharing any of it with those who are actually providing it.' Those same corporations are the ones that will refuse medical treatment to them if they happen to not have insurance.... 'n/n'll've donated plenty of times but always keep this in the back of my mind.... we're all fools for letting ourselves be taken advantage like this.... in return for some slick marketing that gives us warm fuzzies. 1604 Satanists donâ€™t believe Satan exists. 1605 Thereâ€™s an easy fix. Create a way so you have 2 passwords. One unlocks normally. The other unlocks but wipes the phone first. 1606 That's putting it nicely and lightly. 1607 [deleted] 1608 [removed] 1609 You made plenty of assumptions about people working tough jobs at the New York Times, and only negative assumptions. 'n/nShow us you aren't biased, it's easy. Say some nice assumptions about people working their jobs in the interest of good journalism. 1610 What's Florida Man doing in Chicago? 1611 Omg if he's from Florida I will lose my shit. 1612 [deleted] 1613 [removed] 1614 Oh no, haven't gotten nearly that far yet. I haven't even been indicted yet! 1615 Really? Thatâ€™s what you got from this? Blaming women? 1616 Probably because the age of consent is 13. 1617 Or wrap yourself in foil, or foil lined clothing! 1618 Yeah. That's why we wrapped up the "war on terror" so quick, right? Mission accomplished. 1619 -guess, is that the context of this statement, the minutes before and after, doesn't make him seem more sane or nuanced. 'n/nYet you didn't bother to look up the dozens of clarification statements made on the topic which would provide context. And since you are developing an argument about this it is important you have full context. 'n/n-It doesn't matter if it's literal or figurative. 'n/nActually the implications of talking about a literal bomb which be much greater but the fact that you aren't sure is very telling how much you know about this topic. 'n/n-Now, you can attack my statements all day with your 101 philosophers notebook trying to find fallacies I make. 'n/nWell it is important that your argument is supported by facts, reason evidence. Anything else does not belong in a debate. 'n/n-Because so far, your very definition is that I don't know the context, without bringing up any context that makes it make sense. 'n/nBecause again, you are essentially arguing about a book you've never read. A quick google search would provide the information, yet you don't seem willing to do the research, I am not even an alex jones fan. It just astounds me how many people jump to conclusions about him with half the information. Do the research first. 'n/n- It seems to me that unless I become an avid listener it won't be enough for you, which I'm not going to do. 'n/nNo, you just have to do enough research to form a coherent argument first. 1620 You should really read up on what a strawman argument is before you try to invoke it. 1621 hell no. 1622 What? 'n/nI said nothing of the sort. If you're going to try to argue with someone, I think you should make sure you're arguing with the right person. 1623 That is the belief that political standings of those places into office would benefit more from pushing for the change they were elected on rather than the change directly proportionate to the party they are under. 'n/nIf you look at how much law has changed for the betterment of human rights in most countries in the last few decades, the negative far outweighs the positive. 'n/nSo, in reality, it is dependent on the situation. In this situation, itâ€™s not going to change. 1624 this guy heard about in online and is trying to get away with raping his son's GF. The aggression level is going to be person dependent, the proximity part is ubiquitous. 1625 How are alcohol prices on board an airplane? 'n/nNever been on one after 21 years old so I'm curious how much I'll spend on my first of age flight 1626 wee-hoo-woooooo! 1627 No sweat, itâ€™s a moderate, maybe a bit right, but I think that most of not all msn (including fo/breitbart/daily vix as well as abc/cnn/msnbc) are all partisan as fuck and basically unreadable. The left makes ice look like kidnappers and trump like a criminal clown (which itâ€™ll admit if proof actually arises) and the right makes the left seem like evil hippie secessionists (which some of them could be). Itâ€™s confusing and irritating 1628 [removed] 1629 No, but I don't think it's wise to let millions of people pass through your country unchecked, either, and I think that's the lesser of two evils. 1630 For everyday use? Absolutely. 'n/nHowever, let's not forget there are some zones where it is safe to drive fast, like the autobahn in Germany, where there's no speed limit and the highway is so straight you'd have to be an idiot to crash. It's also way harder to pass your license exam there. 'n/nI'm sure there are more places like the autobahn in the world, but I'm going with the most obvious one. 1631 Let me guess, they also keep offering you plea deals? 1632 (enhance)( 'n/heavily breathing intensifies 'n/n(enhance)( 1633 I think you meant.... infuriating 'n/ninsert putting on sunglasses text emoji * 1634 [removed] 1635 Three hells, one heaven. 1636 Right, because an open-handed wave is totally a nazi salute. I think Trump is a piece of authoritarian dogshit and I can see that's not what this is. Eric, you are just the specialist boy, yes you are! 1637 [deleted] 1638 https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xF9HOMV5h0 1639 [removed] 1640 So ban fathers? 'n/nLo single mothers raise killers 1641 No, it sounds like you met an asshole. Assholes exist in Texas too. 1642 Thereâ€™s theories that a lot of suicide jumpers are accidents and cruise line wants to avoid losing customers if people found out how common it is for people to fall over board after being given too much to drink from an open or cheap bar 1643 Or "Time: the Kalief Browder Story", also on Netflix. 1644 street urinals aren't new, but they usually have dividers.... 1645 Thatâ€™s true, he doesnâ€™t of bed and is never aggressive. Everyone is different though so not sure what this guy's deal is. 1646 I don't drink any more, but back when I did.... 'n/nI took a vacation at high altitude once where some drinking was involved. A single beer up in the mountains packs a wallop. 'n/nAirplanes are pressurized to the equivalent of about 7,000 feet above sea level, so yeah. They meant it. 'n/nOf course, they could ALSO be covering for weak drinks. Easy cover story and everything. Where booze or money are involved, I don't trust anybody. 1647 [removed] 1648 Hard to answer a question that was never asked. Edit: rephrased 1649 So youâ€™d be more comfortable with trans men who pass fully as men using the womenâ€™s bathroom because of what? Because they were born with vaginas? My firm cousin looks more manly than I ever have and is sexually attracted to women. 1650 Girl's clothes have more variety than boys clothes. 1651 How people feel about things directly affects how they vote, which directly affects how we make laws. So yeah, how people feel has plenty of bearing on reality. 1652 Yeah and I have no clue if the same toxic culture exists in other countries militaries. I would guess it wouldn't be as bad especially in countries with mandatory service. 1653 The Mormon church (as well as some others) also requires a 10% tithe. I could join a country club for cheaper. 1654 Bathroom cameras. How do you think the crew entertains themselves on 11 hour flights? 1655 [removed] 1656 Alrighty then, if you have no problems proving it, provide some sources or stories from your friend that definitely exist then to start some dialogue. We're always free to change our minds, we just want rock solid provable evidence first and I regularly dig through both sides to gather my info. 'n/nFrom what I've heard through the grapevine, claims are that from Gordon B Hinckley, during his time alive the living stipend was a then "modest 60,000$" a year, running out, but then throughout the year has been adjusted to a "modest" 120,000s living stipend of all expenses paid for their kids as long as they fulfill the checker marks from what I've heard through the claims. If you have any tax stubs, or payment funds, or can show that they are in fact living out of charity with nothing provided and paying out for their own homes and houses I wouldn't mind hearing more about that. 1657 If an organization is paying the government money they have a vested interest in what that money is spent on. Also, for instance, it would in general behoove them to encourage their congregation to vote for people who would lower church taxes, and against people who would raise church taxes. 1658 > The folks who wanted Brexit are no longer continuing to spend money and energy promoting their views, whereas the folks who wanted to remain are still continuing to do so. 'n/nFTA: 'n/nFormer U.K. Independence Party leader Nigel Farage announced Saturday that he would join a cross-country bus tour by the group Leave Means Leave to oppose Prime Minister Theresa May's plan for future ties with the EU, which he branded a "cowardly sell-out." 'n/nObviously you only want to hear and read things that only conform to your predisposed views.... 1659 Sorry, I got busy. 'n/nHeâ€™s not being silenced per se. Some online platforms are saying bye. There are PLENTY of other platforms he can use, and itâ€™s sure his followers will follow him to them. 'n/nItâ€™s his taking advantage of his listenersâ€™ stupidity, thatâ€™s equivalent to a cult leader, abusing a handicapped person, or instigating an attack on innocent people. If someone is unable to discern truth from Jonesâ€™s playingâ€™ that for rubs, they have cognitive issues such that he is basically abusing them. He "knows" they believe him and then he relies them up, playing to their fears and hates, so some will literally take action (like shooting up a pizza place). That is US on him, for filling them up KNOWING they cannot tell the truth from a lie. 'n/nAgain, a decent person would not abuse such people. Yes, I know it happens ALL the time. That doesnâ€™t make it right, especially when the abuser is holding themselves out as â€œdoing a serviceâ€œ for his victims. If he wanted to actually do them a service, he would TELL THE TRUTH, good or bad, for/against Reps/Dems/Indys. Heâ€™s disingenuous and dishonorable. 'n/nA decent American would not screw over democratic institutions. Yes, I know every damn politician has done this. That doesnâ€™t make it right, either, especially those (whether Dem, Rep, or Indy) who work with foreign countries to undermine the US and our democracy. 'n/nWith the more-thorough response from you, I see that you are NOT young or immature or inexperienced in life. Tell me, if you would (you donâ€™t have to), would YOU go around being an asshole like Jones? Would you do the equivalent of abusing the handicapped? 'n/nTo me, itâ€™s a matter of honor. Alex Jones has none. Heâ€™s lining his wallet with the fear, pain, and blood of others. I canâ€™t find that funny. 1660 Who had BPD? What the fuck are you talking about? 1661 [removed] 1662 [removed] 1663 "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" 'n/nDONE, just put that instead. No need to quote a pimp in a middle school. 1664 That quote has been around since the beginning of time. 1665 Oh right I remember now. Smith definitely had a lot of fraud and other accusations following him from place to place. 1666 Looks like Floridian has some competition now. 1667 Itâ€™s a big 1668 My ex would get blackout drunk and pee in weird places every time. Except he would spit everywhere, too. The oven one was always bizarre to me. Is opening the oven door enough like lifting a toilet seat to a blacked out brain?? 1669 Uh huh. I wouldnâ€™t hold my breath. 1670 I understand that, but how you feel has no bearing on anything happening currently in reality, at least until law changes. 1671 [removed] 1672 the difference being your husband doesn't get up in the middle of the night, go to a different room with a different person and instigate aggressive coitus.... 'n/nSedative associated sexomnia generally requires close proximity to the other person (touching) when you go to sleep, not meandering about a house. 1673 Oh, honey... 1674 If person A acts a certain way then person B will respond in a certain way. There I may it gender neutral for you. 1675 Damn some real fetishists at the London office 1676 [removed] 1677 [removed] 1678 Can you do that by googling this shit yourself? Youâ€™re making a lot of posts and assumptions, instead of just reading the NYT article or going through Trumpâ€™s tweets. 1679 Oohhhhh no 1680 Israel, but idk if it actually counts since I'm gonna be programming for the intelligence 1681 I don't understand at what point he claims you would have peed in his seat? While he was sitting in it? 1682 Snrh. This will never end. Everywhere I go and see police I fear for my life. everytime I turn on the tv or read the news that fear is unfortunately validated. 'n/n 1683 [removed] 1684 Agreed on this. He sounds like he has adjustment issues. Please donâ€™t take that single data point as representative, at all, of how Chicagoans behave. 1685 I agree with you. They will call for as many votes as it take till they get what they want. The EU PROJECT is a total failure. Lead by unelected bureaucrats. 'n/nWho in their right mind would willing give up their national identity and culture. 1686 Sounds like he pissed himself and blamed you? 1687 Americans are helpless at preventing government overreach. Possessing an assault rifle isnâ€™t going to help you stand up against a tactical drone strike. 1688 You have no idea what I've seen, champ.... Your projection is pretty weak, but I'm sure you have seen alot playing Call of Duty 1689 I am not going to recite myself read my comments before leaving the same comment that everyone else has. 1690 In your price fixing scenario, you are alluding to collusion, which does sourcing them.\n\nI'm pro vaccination but am also pro knowledge. I can't have an argument with someone who opposes my viewpoint if I don't understand the other person's viewpoint. And right now, your viewpoint is useless because I don't see the specific studies you're talking about. I can't practically research the things you have said. You've also mentioned a lot of anecdotal questions where if I were to seriously answer them, then you would be proven wrong based on my answers. Source your information. 1737 [removed] 1738 [removed] 1739 Yes, basically. As high vaccine coverage as possible is the best outcome, but I can't ethically support actual mandatory vaccination. Mandatory if you want to participate in public life, attend public school, etc, yes, that is justifiable.\n\n1740 [removed] 1741 I had a Facebook argument with this lady because she was claiming that polio just got renamed into other diseases and big pharma/the government was doing it to make themselves look better and earn more money. \n\nThese diseases were called â€œpolio like diseasesâ€ by the bogus website she quoted and said that polio naturally decreased over time and vaccines made more people sick than it helped. \n\nThere are insane theories out there!\n\nLike later on the website when it talked about scurvy and how vaccines made it worse even though we all know scurvy is just a vitamin deficiency and doesn't have a vaccine...\n\nI can't edit this comment when I find the website so yâ€ can read the insanity. 1742 The point in that statement is if we didn't have the type of military that is top tier in the world we would not be a "free" country. \n\nNow to your point, yes the powers that be and the shot callers abuse this power in the form of various methodological wars in order to leverage special interest in politics/corporations. This is not a regular service members fault, they (we) are led to believe we're doing this for the gooddest of goods. \n\nWith the shit a recruit who passes basic training and service members have to go through, to get to, maintain and train others at that level takes some serious dedication and sacrifice and henceforth respect... don't be a dick because others are ignorant. 1743 I think not allowing kids to attend public school or enter public spaces because their parents are idiots is pretty dystopian too. 1744 Did I say that? No. 1745 >do you think that soldiers today are actively trying to kill civilians? \n\nSome are, yes. There is a non-zero amount of soldiers who are sociopaths that just want to kill people. 1746 [removed] 1747 It's baffling to me how people actually believe that almost half the voters actually voted for him.\n\nVote harder, I guess. 1748 disagreeing with the media is racist now, who knew. 1749 [removed] 1750 >I'm actually not an anti-vaxxer, I'm just posting this here as a test to see if anyone actually reads this.\n\nI assume you're trolling then, but it's still irresponsible to post these lies. Vulnerable fools will just read the first part and immediately save it as a copy-pasta to use unironically. \n\n1751 people did this when we were young. 1752 This stuff existed long before America. The middle east has been a warzone for at least as long as we've recorded history. Terrorism specifically targeting the west may be our fault but let's not pretend general instability, war, and terrorism are purely Americas fault. 1753 [deleted] 1754 Make a leper colony 1755 Well, from your tribes perspective, it fits perfectly.\n\nFrom their tribes perspective it's a perfect allegory for black on black violence & BLM.\n\nFrom an outsider perspective it's one size fits all. 1756 [deleted] 1757 But honestly he's probably Mormon and say what you will, they are an entirely helpful community to their own. They will be provided for. 1758 [removed] 1759 Can't they go to the other countries first then later to the UK? 1760 So your solution is... ?\n\nKeep in mind the same thing was said about Australia. It's a invite you to look at the results there. 1761 >What got us to this situation now s/n/nTO\n\nI don't declare the situation was done, I said whatever the cause, we're here now. \n\nFocusing on the now? This started 2001\n\nAnd NOW it's 2018 and it's still happening. You got a time machine? You gonna fix the past? Understanding the past is important but if your best answer is to cry about what happened in the past then well you're not doing any good.\n\nI feel like you're willfully misinterpreting what I said for what reason, I don't know. What's your beef? What do you got, Scott? 1762 >If you need to relocate for work / kids schools etc it's a lot easier for renters.\n\nThis needs to shouted from the rooftops. People get trapped by home ownership, especially during recessions when they need to be job hunting AND housing prices tend to tank.\n\nWhile it's nice for home owners if the market goes up - the market can also go down. Or stay flat - in which case your house is just losing value while the land value stays flat.\n\nThe average family has to be able to afford the average house. Unfortunately the stronger real estate markets get all the press, while the weaker markets get ignored.\n\n1763 [deleted] 1764 [removed] 1765 [removed] 1766 Which is why the title has that in quotes. 1767 no they would be vilified by people because shooting someone for walking on your car is insane 1768 You know, what's frustrating when I try and have a conversation with people who think like you, that you use non-facts like "murder hundreds of thousands of civilians." Yeah, we definitely did kill thousands of civilians in both countries. Our enemies killed more than us, and to top it off also participated in creating situations where we killed civilians specifically to try and discredit us. Referring to it as "murder" makes it difficult to have a serious conversation with you, and also downplays actual war crimes when they happen over the natural accidents of throwing bombs and bullets at each other.\n\nAnyways, we're still in Afghanistan because the Taliban and al Qaeda are next door in Pakistan, where we found bin Laden, who is our "strong ally" and also a nuclear power. Meanwhile, to stay close to Pakistan we're stuck having to deal with this place where they're staying that the rest of the world spent decades forgetting about, and the locals are quite resentful about their last few visits from Europeans.\n\nhttps://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Soviet-â€Afghan_War https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Third_Anglo-Afghan_War 1769 polio ward? hahaha. 1770 [removed] 1771 We'll have to disagree about that. "Whataboutism" would be (for example) making a claim that people who advocate vaccines were seen to be kicking puppies, so they need to work on their own problems first. \n\nThe public health risks of the flu are similar to or greater than the risks of diseases recommended for childhood vaccination. 1772 [removed] 1773 Why on earth do we entertain anyone with an explanation. No sane person needs to be convinced on any of this 1774 [deleted] 1775 [removed] 1776 Well honestly not all soldiers are good people. That's pretty obvious I know but sometimes people need to be reminded that people who take a job where they have to shoot and kill WANT a job where they get to shoot and kill. 1777 The news reports objective truth. \n\nIt's up to you what you do with that objective truth. \n\nYou're asking for censorship. 1778 Those kids helped him steal shit out of his own house. The suspect is capable of murdering his own mother, he's likely capable of tricking a couple 17 year olds. I doubt they had anything to do with the murder. 1779 They just signed a pretty good deal on missile defense with Russia... 1780 But how will we justify spending almost a trillion dollars a year on the military if we aren't in 7 wars? \n\nI don't like we can just not increase the budget by 80 billion dollars and not have Democrats vote overwhelmingly to support that. And we definitely can't have those same Democrats ask why we can't spend 50 billion a year for free college instead. 1781 [removed] 1782 Is this a new copy pasta? 1783 I feel bad for the children. That's about it. 1784 Lololol, and what did 8 years of Obama do for Chicago?? Oh yeah, he destroyed 19 acres of parkland to build a monument to himself paid for by taxpayers. 1785 I mean... it's easy to step back and make that judgment, and while I share the sentiment, let's leave that to his wife and kids to judge. If they were proud of him and supported that decision then I respect it. I have more of an issue with having 7 children to begin with, but the man gave back a hell of a lot it seems. 1786 Shut the fuck up. 1787 Nah b, not even. Sorry for your loss. 1788 You mean the five guys. 1789 This isn't news, is it? 1790 Well America participates in coups all the time, it's just not to overthrow America. Shut we probably had our hand in Pakistan's latest coup. 1791 they share that value as Canadians and Torontonians. \n\nNot as religious folk. \n\nIsrael is still a monster towards Palestine (and vice versa) and Pakistan's population wants to murder a Christian for drinking from a cup. Our vice president (USA) can stand Jews so much that he had a Christian masquerading around as a Jew hold services in remembrance. \n\nThe average person may care and respect differences, but their religions sure as hell don't. And if you support it, your also supporting and condoning the crazies who take these weird fairy tales seriously. \n\n200B:\n\n1: MY sky fairy is real!\n\n2: Nuh uh hhhh, mine is real!\n\n3: I prove it!\n\n4: No YOU prove it, because I can't. I have faith tho!\n\n5: I gods miracles are all around us, trust me!\n\n6: violence due to there being more than 1 "perfect infallible word of god"\n\n200B:\n\ninsimplified version\n\n​\n\nYou support your religion you support everything in their crazy books. And as abhorrent as I find these domestic terrorist attacks to be, they were all usually doing exactly what their good lords demanded. \n\n​\n\n1792 [removed] 1793 "Take an informal poll..." \n\nDemonstrably non-science. Anecdotes aren't data. Correlation isn't causation, and this informal poll wouldn't indicate which direction any possible cause might have arisen. \n\nYour argument relies on this crap, you're relying on emotion over science, and now you're part of the problem. 1794 Every single opinion you hold about Republicans is based purely on the propaganda you consume... Congrats. Enjoy your bubble. I'll continue living outside the two.\n\nAlso: "you're voting for the side that IS currently fucking everyone." Somebody didn't listen. I'm literally voting for an independent today. But with a username like VaginaFishSmell, I can only assume I'm debating Amy Schumer, lol. Not much hope for a breakthrough. 1795 Jesus Christ. \n\nYou can't even get your fucking countries straight while trying out your 'edgy' bullshit. \n\nEverything you just described happened in Iraq. * 1796 as far as attempted homicides go, this one seems preventable 1797 Wait, Utah and he only had one wife? 1798 [removed] 1799 Can we stop bitching about Clinton's emails now that Trump's decisions have led to the death of an American?\n\nEdit: so no? We're going to keep playing that card. Okay. 1800 Why is everything good terrible 1801 "No one is exempt from price gouging laws in Texas. Any person selling goods, necessities, or services at an exorbitant price will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law," Paxton said. "I will not stand for any person or business unlawfully taking advantage of Texans." \n\nprice gouging I would imagine. Automated pricing doesn't give you the right to fuck people up 1802 > Q: How would you answer critics of the exorbitant energy bills that some customers are now receiving? A: Second, the minority of customers who chose not to hedge and enjoyed lower prices until the crisis, and who also chose to continue consuming electricity even when others were being curtailed, now face the higher bills. \n\nYeah, fuck those people who chose to heat their houses to stay alive and mitigate property damage, amirite? 1803 [deleted] 1804 I haven't compared the sodium content with other options. I like the beyond burger as well or even better than beef burgers. That shocked the heck out of my wife and me both. 1805 Spotted the CCP troll... 1806 Having a car for each family member could be considered a convenience. But that doesn't take into account any context of family life. \n\nIt's a convenience if you don't all work, have events to go to, sports, clubs. Doesn't take into account seasons, like winter getting in the way of getting to and from places. America is not small, and it's built around roads. \n\nBut a car is not a convenience in America. 1807 Do you have a source for this? I've never heard of this and nothing in Google tells me this is even in the works. 1808 Less cows farting is the goal. 1809 Who buys this shit? Always appears to be fully in stock every time I see in groceries. 1810 While climate change is definitely a huge issue surrounding animal livestock and methane emissions. The thing that has me the most scared is the rise of multi drug resistant organisms. We feed our livestock about 80% of the antibiotics produced in the US, this is done as a prophylactic as well as a growth promoter. If you have to eat real meat look for USDA organic or "raised without antibiotics" on the label. 1811 And where are those outlets going to be? How many Americans don't have a garage? How many rent rooms? How many live in apartments without parking? 1812 Now usa, the matriarch is what keeps elephants going. 1813 Here's a secret they don't want you to know, we Americans pay for and own the white house. If you storm that one as well, please live stream it and update how it goes for you. 10 to 20 years? Who knows!\n\nBtw watch out for the snipers on the roof, I heard the secret service and marines are pretty good shots. 1814 Yeah of course; torture would just open up the door to all kinds of possibilities if that was their design. \n\nAt any rate, rape in war will continue to exist so long as war does. Fighting for world peace would do more to save people from rape than passing more sanctions that countries embattled with centuries' old grudges will simply ignore. 1815 "Cheese-eating surrender monkey" 1816 Who do you think is breeding them? 1817 [removed] 1818 Fuck pai, wait... we aren't there anymore right 1819 I think the removing shoes part is respect and cleanliness. In some places, you remove your outdoor shoes and put on your indoor shoes. 1820 This isn't believable at all. You're telling me she didn't merit the "radical left" once? 1821 I like your username comrade 1822 Since the beginning of war itself. The saying â€œspoils of warâ€ is a direct reference to rape, among other things. 1823 Nazi Germany declared war on the US, on Dec 8, 1941. Then the US declared war Dec 11, 1941. \n\nYou are right, the US didn't get involved because of atrocities by Nazis. I mean the US didn't even declare war on Germany until Germany declared war first. 1824 Lol, what breaks? I want to get home, not sit around charging on a break that takes more time, and where do you suppose I will charge? A customers house? A gas station? 1825 [removed] 1826 Are you really gonna get all worked up defending Nazis? 1827 This motherfucker hit the guy so hard that victims head went through the windshield and deposited his glasses in the vehicle and he still tried to pretend he thought he hit a deer. \n\nHe also admitted to reading conspiracy theory articles about Biden while driving before he hit and killed the man which just paints the perfect picture of how stupid he is. \n\nAnd he's only facing misdemeanor charges for killing a man and repeatedly lying to the police about it. 1828 You sure are reaching far to justify this pet murder or do you have additional details to share? 1829 Yes, that is what you said. There may be electricity to be almost every home in the US, but there is no infrastructure for charging electric cars in massive numbers. Hell, there's no infrastructure at all outside of some major cities. You need the space to park the car for an absolute minimum of 30 minutes, but up to 2 days or longer. You need the specialized equipment to dispense it. You need the upgrade to 220 volt as opposed to the typical household current of 120. You need a way to keep the cars safe while they are being charged for hours. You need a way to charge the customers and have the customers be able to pay for the services rendered. You need a way to limit theft, such as someone unplugging your car and plugging in theirs, thereby having you pay for their fill up and have your battery basically empty after several hours you thought it was charging. \n\nThese are just off the top of my head. \n\nAnd what in the fuck are you talking about with the camels? You are making no sense whatsoever and should check yourself for signs of a stroke. 1830 I know you eat bland food, deny the privilege your betters have ascribed to you, and are steeped in a culture of racism hate. 1831 A teenager looking mad or weird? Guess he's going to murder everyone. 1832 [deleted] 1833 I get so tired of the glib, callous jokes you see on here. I found a much greater appreciation for life when I hit thirty (no idea why) and all of a sudden, most of this mediocre humour now seems cheap and mean. 1834 If we had free education and healthcare there would be no way to trick poor people into joining the military 1835 Yes sir. For us humans. But if they weren't killing for consumption, can you imagine the over population that would happen. THAT was my point. 1836 I want to be mobile with a guaranteed broadband, which means I can work in my RV while fishing the Kenai next summer (I'm hoping). I have xfinity's gig coax internet, which is great if you're ok with dropping hundreds of dollars a month. Oh, and they have caps. 1837 too bad money doesn't work that way. 1838 you're falling into the perfect or nothing trap 1839 "First They Killed My Father" A film about the Cambodian Genocide 1840 [removed] 1841 Though there is a difference between racism and reactions to racism. A dark skinned black man attacking light skinned women isn't the same as a white man attacking dark skinned women. One is in alignment with a history of white supremacy and one is a reaction to white supremacy. Nowhere in the country is the belief that light skinned people are inferior being perpetuated. Doesn't make it right, but it is different. A lot of black and brown men will take out their sexism on light skinned women thinking it's justified. This is patriarchy not white supremacy 1842 I agree. You have the hilariously degenerate redneck gun trash on Reddit and Twitter tell everyone that they are the ones with guns and that they dominate some â€œcivilized" - at the same time you see the pics of the stereotypes of obese Walmart camouflage clowns showing up at Trump marches and Capitol invasion attempts and looking like complete clowns. The average â€œProud BOY" probably is able to run 50 feet before needing to sit down.\n\n(Hopefully the other side is just full of fat MITG playing ass cracks either...) 1843 [removed] 1844 Thanks for saying this. I am not new to the internet but there are still times when I just see something that makes me shake my head in disbelief and say â€œReally?" 1845 Texas deregulated their electricity and was shocked it somehow went sideways. 1846 Then you should advocate for less govt subsidies/tax breaks for big industries & rich people... they're taking way more of your taxes than the poor. 1847 If they would have just cleaned their room and went to trade school they would have been billionaires!\n\nHave you tried the Everglades? \n\nI think even a blind person could stumble on some out that way... \n\n(If it's where the pythons are, too!) 1849 Can it literally and figuratively, Tom Brady. 1850 Legitimately anyone who really didn't like beyond or impossible was so prejudiced from the start. Remember lobster and scallops used to be black slave food because people "thought it deserved to be for them" had nothing to do with the pure flavor of the meat 1851 Nothing Russia loves more than war and shitty things for the people of Syria. Trump was a Russian puppet. I think the US influence would be better. Just my opinion. 1852 [removed] 1853 [deleted] 1854 These are very sad times. Hopefully this stops! 1855 I genuinely have no fucking clue what you're trying to say here. 1856 It's times like these that I'm actually somewhat thankful for social media. 1857 To be fair, BK's normal burgers also taste over cooked/well done. \n\nIt's sort of their signature. 1858 Tons of comments calling forced internment camps â€œvocational schoolsâ€, is exactly the same narrative the CCP has been trying to push since the prisons became international knowledge in 2018. There currently are regulations and bans against Uyghur script & spoken word, along with long beards & traditional turkic muslim names, hell, means to flee to Kazakhstan or Kyrgyzstan as refugees have been cracked down on, the list goes on. Call it what it is folks- an [ethnic cleansing or cultural genocide] (https://www.hrw.org/report/2018/09/09/eradicating-ideological-viruses/chinas-campaign-repression-against-xinjiangs) 1859 That's a broad racist assumption and you should be ashamed for forming that thought out loud. 1860 I know enough to find the answer I want on Stack Overflow more than half the time. Yes, I've spent longer doing that than I would have just learning it properly, but it's sort of worked for me thus far. 1861 Lady Gaga's dog walker was shot 4 times and they're looking for the people who did it with no description of the race of the attackers. Wonder why? 1862 I don't think that will happen 1863 The classic fascist defense: I was just following orders. 1864 Are they mentioning it at all? In many cultures it's less an issue of outright denial and more just one of silence, or pressure to not "cause trouble" by bringing it up. I was raised in rural Texas, and got in trouble in high school for even asking about [sundown towns] (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sundown_town), and our area's history regarding segregation. This history wasn't denied, rather you were just seen as a rabble-rouser for even mentioning it. 1865 It wasn't dumb down, it was just dumb. How does Texas politics relating to their failed energy grid have anything to do with Donald Trump being president for 4 years, and what does any of that have to do with you saying that I and everyone I care about deserving the horrid 4 years of this miserly existence on our country? There's a significant mental disconnect happening in your mind that you need to figure out before you jump onto Reddit and try and have conversations about this shit, because I have a sneaking suspicion that you didn't read any of my words correctly, and think that I somehow A) like this disaster, B) like Donald the chaotic human disaster Trump, and C) am enjoying that people are fucking dying. Nowhere in anything that I wrote would any of that make sense 1866 Holy shit. I never imagined 1867 > global health\n\nI thought you were being serious until that part. \n\nWhen people were trying to rid themselves of processed foods, we start a whole craze glorifying some of the most highly processed crap you can find. No thanks. 1868 you ok man? 1869 I mean you said it, it's their team, they did the best they could geopolitically speaking. \n\nBy abstaining they allow the sanctions to go through, so they did what was right. 1870 And no charges against MBS 1871 [removed] 1872 Not at all actually. The current Dutch government may still be a Monarchy and name but their government is completely unrecognisable from the predecessor in the colonial area. \n\nAnd what do you mean, the Dutch still rely on Imperialism for income? This is the 19th century my dude, the Netherlands isnâ€™t ransacking Indonesia for resources. 1873 thus proving the point. You clearly misunderstood the definition used in one of your lectures. What you are referring to is institutionalised racism but every day racism can come from anyone. Those are two different types of racism yet somehow, people started using only one of them because it fits their ideology better. Anyone can be racist, their skin color is irrelevant. 1874 The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing - Edmund Burke 1875 "I'm at the pizza hut. I'm at the taco bell. I'm at the combination pizza hut and taco bell"/n/n- Beyond meat now (probably) 1876 [removed] 1877 [removed] 1878 [deleted] 1879 [deleted] 1880 The problem for us, the United States, is Russia. We've had a puppet (Trump) in the white house for the past 4 years. Trump gave Russia our air base. Is Syria better off under Russia, who backs Iranian influence, or us? I don't know. But what's in the best interest of the Syrian and Iranian people? I don't know. And what about Yemen, and the Saudis? What is the best way for human peace? 1881 So when do we arrest him? 1882 [removed] 1883 >[My personal gripe with the word racism is the fact that geneticists have scientifically proven there are no such things as separate races. We are all just one race with different physical traits./n/nTrue, but that doesnâ€™t change the fact that the concept of race exists. And that people act like separate races exist. So thereâ€™s plenty of utility for the word racism. 1884 Open racism. That's where we're at now. 1885 Thatâ€™s cool and all, but I live near a combination KFC and Long John Silverâ€™s. What could be better than that? 1886 Is anyone really safe eating at McDonaldâ€™s? *wink 1887 You do realize nurses are leaving because of the traumatizing conditions they're working in and not because of the lockdown right? The lockdowns are the only things keeping the hospitals from being worse. 1888 No, it's just a straight 1lb cap for every plan unless you pay an extra $20 1889 Select locations in the US have been selling it for more than a year. too. 1890 Murder can stop. WW1 gas is still there and will hurt your butt if you sit on it. 1891 This exact recommendation has been made, about taking whichever shot is first offered to you. 1892 Oh yeah right. He's cool. 1893 Wanted. Beowulf. Mr and Mrs Smith. 1894 You are also gambling that you are catching them 100% of the time. If they lose all of their profits when caught, but they are only caught 20% of the time, it may be in their best interests to keep being dickbags. Making continued dickbaggy be outright suicidal past a certain point avoids that. 1895 Black on white crime???? Shocking! 1896 No. The batteries I am talking about wonâ€™t be available for a few years. They will increase the range and keep the tare intact when they are ready. 1897 The ACA was also modeled on Mitt Romney's healthcare plan in Utah. It was originally a Republican program, they only started hating it when a black man tried to give it to them. 1898 ...Tune in next time! 1899 Energy providers didn't need the Public Utility Commission to OK anything. Surge pricing is in the contract some people sign in order to get very low per Kwatt pricing. 1900 Whoa, breaking news weâ€™ve discovered cats. 1901 [removed] 1902 First of all this is a single anecdote. Second of all, appraisers often give different estimates. Third of all, she said for the last appraisal that she stripped her house of all signs of her racial and cultural identity. This fact is key. I'm selling my house. Does anybody want to guess why anyone selling a house is told to do? I'll give you a clue. It subconsciously helps people to view your house as more expensive and allows the person to see themselves in the house instead of picturing you in it. Ding Ding. The answer is: Remove all signs of your and your family's identity no matter what color you are. If you are trying to sell a home and the home looks like it is yours you'll have a much harder time selling it for a good price. 1903 This reminded me of something that happened maybe 25 years ago in Chicago. I was waiting for a friend outside Union Station and a black kid/guy (probably 20-ish) kept putting his hand out for a taxi and no one stopped. /n/nHe wasnâ€™t dressed any different than anyone else, so it wasnâ€™t like he was giving off a bad vibe. After like four attempts, I walked to the curb, held out my hand, and screamed at the top of my lungs, â€œTAXI!!!!!!â€œ A taxi rolled up, I opened the back door, looked at the black guy and said, â€œGet the next oneâ€œ and winked at him. He thanked me and got in. I remember seeing the driver (who was Indian or maybe Middle Eastern) giving me the stink eye as he turned at the corner. I had a smile all day over that one. 1904 Because this will make people believe that it is you like the person you are doing the appraisal for you can just magically add value to the house. In reality the housing market is going crazy right now as well. 1905 Exactly. climate change is a huge factor in rapidly increasing costs./n/nI've argued with redditors how climate change is impacting homeowners' insurance, aside from everything else it's impacting, and receive lots of bullshit denialism. 1906 That's the whole reason we did our refi. I knew it was a stretch, but seriously PMI sucks. 1907 It has nothing to do with being black. Stop making it a racial issue. /n/nI'm a white male who married a white woman and couldn't sell my house until I staged my house as well./n/nPeople want to envision themselves living there. They don't want to feel like they're in someone else's home. Go figure./n/nSo take your racist remarks and go away. 1908 Yes. I read it. Itâ€™s â€œThe Pirate Bay of published workâ€œ. You know thatâ€™s not a good thing right? Or do you not even know what this means in the grand scheme of things? 1909 [removed] 1910 That type of investigation ainâ€™t gonna fit the narrative. Best we just imply this as white privilege. 1911 Once again though, it isn't really about just your kids. That's what too many people aren't thinking about. 1912 [deleted] 1913 [deleted] 1914 I saw a regular looking SUV with "VACCINE=DEPOPULATION STOP BILL GATES" on 275 yesterday. Otherwise a normal car, not an infowarrior ride and the driver looked normal. That little anecdote doesn't give me much hope for my state sans masks. 1915 If that was a Redditor they wouldâ€™ve circled the image of the fire too! 1916 Ah yes, the US military VS warp daemons. 2021 bingo looking good so far. 1917 You can buy a house for 100k? 1918 [removed] 1919 This is exactly why the appraisal market is bullshit. Theoretically appraisals are unbiased but the problem is different people want different appraisals and play games. You want a lower appraisal for taxes, and maybe insurance depending on your take on it. But you want a higher value for selling and refinancing or lines of credit. And there is a fair amount you can do to push the appraisal around from staging the house to keeping it up or letting it go. If you were so inclined you could probably take a decent amount off the house by doing things like popping doors of hinges to make it look in disrepair. But the cool thing is a lot of appraisers will help you push it around if they know your goals. 1920 Damn, how did you change your skin color? 1921 Home values jump in price all the time lol. The simpler answer is always the one that makes less assumptions. Racism might be a factor but it is not the simplest one. What is your vendetta? What is wrong with seeing this as strange and investigating further before jumping to conclusions? 1922 You know what else happened since your last appraisal? The economy upended itself./n/nThere are too many variables here to really even be significant as a single case, but of course it makes headlines. 1923 Tax appraisals also often overvalue homes in historically Black neighborhoods in a way that disproportionately shifts the tax burden onto Blacks. And then at selling time, the houses are appraised way lower 1924 [removed] 1925 [removed] 1926 [removed] 1927 Sure has. Reddit is no better than Twitter or Facebook at this point. Might even be worse with all the click bait articles and titles. 1928 [removed] 1929 I am a middle aged white lady./n/nI can get you white people pricing AND karen level customer service./n/nI am just not available on sunday afternoons. I got brunch plans. 1930 [removed] 1931 I sort of agree, which is why I said they both need to be addressed./n/nIntentional racism will almost result in a headline "I am not going to hire a black person" decision. A biased person isn't having an active decision to not hire a black person, there just may be some times where between 2 similar candidates the bias causes the wrong person to be hired whereas some times they can still be hired in spite of the unfair bias or other times where they weren't going to hire the person anyways and the bias added onto it./n/nThe difference in intentions means there should be a difference in how it is handled. /n/nDiversity training isn't going to help someone who is deciding to be racist but someone who has no bad intentions can actually improve and ideally get rid of their biases but at a minimum try to recognize their bias when it occurs and actively realize their biased thoughts are nonsense to then appropriately deal with the situation. 1932 I kinda feel sorry for these folks. They're not thinking this through. 1933 > Appraisers absolutely can pull numbers out of their ass./n/nCan confirm. Selling a property. Appraiser seemingly totally ignored 6+ attached acres valuation when looking at comps (w/no additional comparable acreage). Actually personally have directly adjacent property's (no house) open bidding results from just months ago. I want THAT job!! Just... pull some numbers from the sky! Luckily, still within purchasers loan limit. Have advised purchaser (& forwarded same bid results) that they're getting a much better deal than it appears. 1934 This is the next GME/wallstreetbets thing, people interchanging to devalue or rise the value of their home. 1935 WTF? We got people advocating on behalf of a VIRUS that KILLS people? What has the world come to? 1936 [removed] 1937 I really canâ€™t believe people still want to argue that racism is gone... and they truly truly believe in that false perception of reality they have. Itâ€™s ridiculous. 1938 Oh wow, I always forget about Australia. Itâ€™s in Melbourne, FL. Whoops 1939 Appraiser Tim Boston denied the allegations. /n/n/My appraisal reports are data-driven. I could care less about culture or sexual orientation," he said. "It's all about bricks and sticks and dirt."/n/nSo he DOES care! 1940 The market didnâ€™t do this alone. Race factored in. Letâ€™s face it and try to make sure black people arenâ€™t getting fucked over, ok? Is that ok with you, if we make sure itâ€™s not about race before we excuse it with the market? Itâ€™s not a big ask. 1941 Same. I've seen people send in resumÃ©s that are upwards of 5 pages that get chucked right in the trash. Mine is 2 pages currently and that's my absolute limit. 1942 Ok let me finish with this... /n/nI AM NOT COMMENTING ON THE STORY. I replied to your own comment with your own words as a joke to show that your own comment was stupid. /n/nYou do not get it, your comment was bad, you argued against yourself, you couldn't understand basic English, and you're refusing to acknowledge any of it. I'm done. 1943 [removed] 1944 Right? That's the first thing I thought. 1945 I'm sure that comment made a lot more sense in your head, but it comes across as a total non sequitur. 1946 Reminds me of this guy from Fox News: <https://www.theguardian.com/media/2019/feb/11/gems-are-not-real-fox-news-host-pete-hegseth> 1947 Wait, so there's no way we can profit from this? 1948 Apparently there are a few people in here who are annoyed that vaccinated people choose to still wear a mask. Why they care I have no idea. To me it's basically just as dumb as the anti-maskers who never took covid seriously to begin with. 1949 Even a lot of commercial appraisals (I'm talking about things in the millions of dollars, when you get in the tens of millions it gets slightly more serious) are mostly just few photos, a price search for comparables, and a bunch of boilerplate to make it longer. They exist so the bank can say it did due diligence./n/nSo yes, they are meaningless. And while I know there is plenty of racial bias in real estate, I'm having a hard time imagining why an appraiser would even care. The biggest factors in the fluctuation are a) an absolutely exploding market, and b) the fact that it's random bullshit that somebody spent an hour on /n/nRacial bias is most prevalent in renting, particularly by small landlords who are less afraid of the FHA because they are a smaller target. It's a massive issue there. 1950 And itâ€™s perfectly fine with that. I donâ€™t know that many people who are itching to go dine in at McDonaldâ€™s lol. 1951 I bought my house for $158k in Dec 2018. We've made some improvements, but nothing huge. We live in a mixed race, blue collar cookie cutter neighborhood in a good school district in a suburb of Chicago. My parents friend who is a realtor said she put a house a block and a half from ours up at $190k and there was a bidding war that got up to $220k within a week. Because the former owners of my house put an addition with another bedroom on we'd probably get more than that. 1952 Luckily after 2008 we arrested all the bankers that were responsible for creating the housing bubble and implemented a bunch of regulations to make sure it couldn't happen again.....wait, we didn't do any of that. Fuck. 1953 I'll probably still wear mine to a theme park if I go, but I'm trying to wait until parades and street shows are back. 1954 The problem is I think it's a no-win situation. If you pick something besides white you risk discrimination. If you leave it blank they will assume you are non-white because "why wouldn't you pick white if you are white?" and you risk discrimination. 1955 People dislike trolls. Earn a better reputation. 1956 If thatâ€™s chapelle ive definitely seen it lol 1957 [removed] 1958 [removed] 1959 [removed] 1960 Probably not, but since it came in high enough for us to drop PMI and saved me like $500 on the appraisal fee I wasn't asking any questions 1961 [removed] 1962 Very arbitrary. I actually just went through the appraisal process. Second appraisal (from a different bank/appraiser) was 100k higher than the first (happened within a few weeks of each other). Especially in hot markets, where comps are constantly changing (or non-existent), it's completely a shit show. 1963 My medium-sized city with traditionally low housing costs, low taxes, yet pretty strong economy got absolutely FLOODED with Californians and other similar states the past year. It's really fucked the housing market. I don't understand, California is extremely progressive and seems like it would be a utopia for these people. Why would they want to leave it? 1964 [removed] 1965 *well, you see, Dave, I DID know I couldn't do that... hahaha! 1966 100% agree with you. I do think there was inherent racism there. Such a pricing difference is insane to me. Had it been only like 50000 dollar difference I would have chalked it up to the market./n/nBut doubling the home price was a massive red flag. I can't help but think something else was going on with that kind of discrepancy. Unless her exact area is hot hot hot, I can't come up with another conclusion. /n/nWhat would be telling would be to see the comps. That's what I want to know. I will use my neighborhood for example. I'm in a 3 / 1.5. /n/nMy one strip of road is some older homes that have been kind of redone a little bit. Around 150 ish. However, at either end of the road are two subdivisions. Each with homes going for 240+. The next neighborhood down are some pricey town homes./n/nSo how the hell do you comp my house? Because nothing on my street has been sold in over 3 years, so you can't use those. The nearest homes are completely different than mine. But on paper they look like 3/2's. So that's not too different right? So you might adjust the price and suddenly my home jumps up in price. /n/nSo you open up and look for homes within a couple of miles that are built around the same time. But those are renovated homes in a stellar area. So I'm being artificially jacked up in the price. What comps do you use? It's a tricky question. 1967 If the size, age, condition, features, and everything else are the same, then it should be in the same ballpark. There are a lot of variables there, though - houses in the same neighborhood aren't automatically going to be valued at the same price. 1968 I'm wondering if people are confusing a tax assessment with an appraisal./n/nThey absolutely will come in to your house to do an appraisal when buying or refinancing. 1969 [removed] 1970 [removed] 1971 I donâ€™t really understand this. Wouldn't appraisals be somewhat based on comps from the neighborhood? So like a similar house is just randomly 100k less? They thought that would fly? 1972 Yes, that's a completely made up concept 1973 So appraisals early in the pandemic vs now when home values have shot up.... yea that's not exactly an apples to apples comparison. New homes have increased 35k in materials alone the last 6 months. /n/nCan there be a racial bias? Absolutely, but there is a shit ton of things that go into valuations from the unknown last year to now. 1974 It's a somewhat natural phenomenon./n/nWhen the houses are $100,000 (~$700 a month mortgage), a certain type of person moves into the neighborhood. Those people in aggregate improve the standing of the neighborhood, raising home values. You can see it happen even 4x, 10x in some neighborhoods in Detroit these days./n/nThis is "gentrification". 1975 [removed] 1976 I didn't assume anything. I based my observation on the fact that when the perceived race of the owner was changed, the appraisal skyrocketed. 1977 Anything but racism as an explanation?/n/nThen it's probably racism. 1978 It's crack? I thought he said "crack". Like some kind of cake? So you can see how that would be confusing, officer. 1979 Lol "good things"/n/nNot very good for the droves of millennials trying to buy their first home, is it? It's impossible to save enough, because houses are appreciating faster than most can accumulate savings. 1980 Where is your response to someone replying to you with the quote? Loser. 1981 [removed] 1982 Yeah something smells fishy. A lot of homes have doubled in this time frame. 1983 [removed] 1984 This money needs to come out of the officerâ€™s bank accounts and the police retirement fund. Itâ€™s time for taxpayers to stop paying the costs of the murderous police./n/nOnce the cops have to foot the bill, the killing shit would stop really quick. 1985 CCP's turn to learn the lesson that Afghanistan is the Graveyard of Empire. Any Belt and Road Policy attempt at the rare earth minerals that Afghanistan is rich with will be rebuffed in force by the unmovable object that is Afghanistan. Especially with the CCP's record of muslim enslavement/genocide. 1986 If you can't watch, the run down of that segment is that his parents were shown only houses in black neighbourhoods. When they asked to look at ones in a white neighbourhood they were told they were already sold. They got in contact with a civil rights group and a white couple showed up to buy a house that had previously been refused. The white couple didn't show up for the final paper signing, instead, his dad and their lawyer. The real estate agent punches and then begins brawling with the lawyer, while the agents dad is attacking his dad. The agent subsequently pleaded with them not to buy, convinced it would crash the value of the area and he'd be screwed. It didn't, the area continued increasing in value, and his parents made very good money on the house, buying another later on. 1987 You aren't kidding. I was not above taking full advantage of it. Bought a house in 2016 in the suburbs of a major city for $320k. Sold it last year for, I shit you not, $505k. I just did my homework and honestly asked myself, "What amount of money would I be willing to move back into an apartment for right now?" and decided on $150k. Priced the house accordingly. Ended up getting *$200k. *n/nIt's kind of sad that over the last four years I made almost as much money buying, living in, and selling a house as I did from work. 1988 [removed] 1989 >We need the Chinese style high rises with the premodern box design./n/nOr just make it legal to build smaller apartment buildings, and older styles of houses like quadplex, village courts... anything other than just zoning like 80% of land for single family homes and having everyone else fighting over studio apartments in high rises. 1990 [removed] 1991 Just gonna add this here. As a black man with a multiracial family, I was low balled by my first assessor while the second assessor appraised based on the actual value. The first guy seemed very off putting. 1992 Weird I had all the charges reversed. 1993 Bring 6 family members and tell him you all live there 1994 I donâ€™t get this. Itâ€™s sold three houses, and bought four. Never once have I met an appraiser, or have they known any personal details about me. They look at square footage for the home, the lot, and recent sales in the area. Thatâ€™s about it! 1995 It's true though, isn't it? If you buy 0 tickets, you can't win. If you buy 1 ticket, you can win. If you buy 2 tickets, your chances of winning have doubled. 1996 Somebody's sleeping in my bed 1997 If it weren't for confounding factors, I'd just rent for a while. But, being around DC we never even saw a dip like the rest of the country. If anything, things stagnated after 2008, but it's not like the bottom fell out of the market. 1998 Uh, yes we do have them. $125,000 was done in May, $110,000 in June, and $259,000 in end in November. All of them within a 6 month period, peak pandemic. It is stated right in the article, stop lying. 1999 Just to clarify that a "roof knock" is when Israel fires a small missile at a building before firing large missiles at the same building. It isn't courteous, it is terrifying. Palestinians have about 10 minutes to escape after the initial ~~~roof knock~~~ bombing. Even if they have an hour to escape, where do they escape to? Gaza is the world's largest open-air prison, there is no escape. 2000 [removed] 2001 Well you don't want to be in front of it; you'd get hit by the train. 2002 Thatâ€™s hilariously absurd. Did you see Kavanaughâ€™s ridiculous assertion that votes received after election day should not be counted? He even quoted case law incorrectly. Heâ€™s not fit to preside over a small claims court. 2003 Well you are wrong Amon just about every front. /n/nYou have this idea that loving liberty means hating law. I am not an anarchist, just believe the laws should be at the directive of the people not some ruling class of nitwits. And I believe in the basics of all freedom that does not interfere with anyone else right to the same. So who the hell defends the right to drive drunk? And where do you get anti police crap. Liberty comes with the rule of law. So I donâ€™t know what you have been smoking but you donâ€™t have me figured out in the least. /n/nBut yes, I donâ€™t get people who so hate the country that donâ€™t just pack their shit and leave. No one is making you stay. 2004 Itâ€™s enjoying this play out again and again. My Facebook feed is slowly getting more and more silent. 2005 What do you think the SC saying they have no legal grounds to sue means? Not legal = illegal. 2006 So now you get to bitch about how he lost for four years...? Is that what you are saying? 2007 The madness that is coming from the Republican party makes me sick to my stomach. This is coming from a life long Republican. And it's heartbreaking that the two parties have become so dysfunctional that we can't get anything done, even during a crisis when we should have a common goal. But today one of the core principles of our government, separation of power, has won. 2008 I live out East and it's pretty nice. It's not in Manor thankfully. 2009 'States' rights' has always meant "You have the right to do as I say." Even in the pre-Civil War era, the same states that would start a war to defend their right to own other human beings were trying to force others to take those people who had escaped slavery back into bondage. And their current excuse for states' rights - the idea that local government is preferable to one from further away - is blasted to hell by the same people who filed this lawsuit when the state of Texas banned cities from enacting their own covid measures. 2010 Nah, they need something to cling to lol...it's pathetic. I'm guessing the "L" the SCOTUS handed people to day has them brigading articles in support of running over anyone they don't like. 2011 Yep. I was just perusing through/conservative and a LOT of peoples take away is roughly "well there it is , elections now have zero rules because in NO WAY does today's decision cause me even the slightest pause of reflection. No this just proves no matter how many ways you cheat to win, no one will investigate." Crazy. 2012 This case was like a kid in middle school saying that his D- grade was with a blue pen and someone else had an A with a black pen. Therefore the scores should be thrown out for the entire class. 2013 [deleted] 2014 His job depended on it..... 2015 >they were people who needed help. I agree, but a lot of those situations you listed aren't suited for social workers either. A social worker doesn't have the tools or authorities to deal with someone say: threatening others with a knife. And even if social workers were equipped to address these situations there are two things you need to remember: 1. In a lot of these situations, there is no good outcome. 2. Even if a social worker can de-escalate a situation, the basic infrastructure needed for them to get these people the help they need doesn't exist. Now how for example would a social worker be expected to handle a situation like the one where Walter Wallace was shot? The man was having a mental troubles, nobody thinks he's evil, but he's threatening other people with a knife. It's all nice and good to pretend that you're just going to be able to de-escalate that with your words, but honestly it's not likely no matter how trained you are. He doesn't deserve to die, but neither do innocent bystanders. And even if, by some miracle, you were able to talk him down, there isn't a place for social workers to send him, or a way for them to send him there. Social workers in this case would be expected to risk their lives and the lives of others in order to accomplish an almost impossible task, and then binding their hands. 2016 They aren't mutually exclusive. But they're different, and you slid seamlessly from one to the other. 2017 >Here in the Nordic countries cops are obliged to tell the truth. I'm confused. What about when they strangle unarmed citizens to death for selling loose cigarettes? They just tell the truth? 2018 It's an elite club of ass hats 2019 It's got electrolytes. 2020 I love this phrase. 2021 Watching all the red hats say they will never vote again on the conservative sub is so hilarious. Dipshtits. 2022 > So Ted Cruz doesn't get to prosecute this case to the court? I believe Cruz offered to argue the Pennsylvania case, not this one. But even that one (while simultaneously unreasonable and infinitely more reasonable than this one) was destined to go nowhere, so Cruz was never actually at risk of having to do anything. 2023 This woman was asked to leave in advance. 2024 [deleted] 2025 The Vengeance! 2026 [deleted] 2027 [deleted] 2028 [deleted] 2029 [deleted] 2030 [deleted] 2031 [deleted] 2032 [deleted] 2033 [deleted] 2034 [deleted] 2035 [deleted] 2036 [deleted] 2037 [deleted] 2038 [deleted] 2039 [deleted] 2040 [deleted] 2041 [deleted] 2042 [deleted] 2043 [deleted] 2044 [deleted] 2045 [deleted] 2046 [deleted] 2047 [deleted] 2048 [deleted] 2049 [deleted] 2050 [deleted] 2051 [deleted] 2052 [deleted] 2053 [deleted] 2054 [deleted] 2055 [deleted] 2056 [deleted] 2057 [deleted] 2058 [deleted] 2059 [deleted] 2060 [deleted] 2061 [deleted] 2062 [deleted] 2063 [deleted] 2064 [deleted] 2065 [deleted] 2066 [deleted] 2067 [deleted] 2068 [deleted] 2069 [deleted] 2070 [deleted] 2071 [deleted] 2072 [deleted] 2073 [deleted] 2074 [deleted] 2075 [deleted] 2076 [deleted] 2077 [deleted] 2078 [deleted] 2079 [deleted] 2080 [deleted] 2081 [deleted] 2082 [deleted] 2083 [deleted] 2084 [deleted] 2085 [deleted] 2086 [deleted] 2087 [deleted] 2088 [deleted] 2089 [deleted] 2090 [deleted] 2091 [deleted] 2092 [deleted] 2093 [deleted] 2094 [deleted] 2095 [deleted] 2096 [deleted] 2097 [deleted] 2098 [deleted] 2099 [deleted] 2100 [deleted] 2101 [deleted] 2102 [deleted] 2103 [deleted] 2104 [deleted] 2105 [deleted] 2106 [deleted] 2107 [deleted] 2108 [deleted] 2109 [deleted] 2110 [deleted] 2111 [deleted] 2112 [deleted] 2113 [deleted] 2114 [deleted] 2115 [deleted] 2116 [deleted] 2117 [deleted] 2118 [deleted] 2119 [deleted] 2120 [deleted] 2121 [deleted] 2122 [deleted] 2123 [deleted] 2124 [deleted] 2125 [deleted] 2126 [deleted] 2127 [deleted] 2128 [deleted] 2129 [deleted] 2130 [deleted] 2131 [deleted] 2132 [deleted] 2133 [deleted] 2134 [deleted] 2135 [deleted] 2136 [deleted] 2137 [deleted] 2138 [deleted] 2139 [deleted] 2140 [deleted] 2141 [deleted] 2142 [deleted] 2143 [deleted] 2144 [deleted] 2145 [deleted] 2146 [deleted] 2147 [deleted] 2148 [deleted] 2149 [deleted] 2150 [deleted] 2151 [deleted] 2152 [deleted] 2153 [deleted] 2154 [deleted] 2155 [deleted] 2156 [deleted] 2157 [deleted] 2158 [deleted] 2159 [deleted] 2160 [deleted] 2161 [deleted] 2162 [deleted] 2163 [deleted] 2164 [deleted] 2165 [deleted] 2166 [deleted] 2167 [deleted] 2168 [deleted] 2169 [deleted] 2170 [deleted] 2171 [deleted] 2172 [deleted] 2173 [deleted] 2174 [deleted] 2175 [deleted] 2176 [deleted] 2177 [deleted] 2178 [deleted] 2179 [deleted] 2180 [deleted] 2181 [deleted] 2182 [deleted] 2183 [deleted] 2184 [deleted] 2185 [deleted] 2186 [deleted] 2187 [deleted] 2188 [deleted] 2189 [deleted] 2190 [deleted] 2191 [deleted] 2192 [deleted] 2193 [deleted] 2194 [deleted] 2195 [deleted] 2196 [deleted] 2197 [deleted] 2198 [deleted] 2199 [deleted] 2200 [deleted] 2201 [deleted] 2202 [deleted] 2203 [deleted] 2204 [deleted] 2205 [deleted] 2206 [deleted] 2207 [deleted] 2208 [deleted] 2209 [deleted] 2210 [deleted] 2211 [deleted] 2212 [deleted] 2213 [deleted] 2214 [deleted] 2215 [deleted] 2216 [deleted] 2217 [deleted] 2218 [deleted] 2219 [deleted] 2220 [deleted] 2221 [deleted] 2222 [deleted] 2223 [deleted] 2224 [deleted] 2225 [deleted] 2226 [deleted] 2227 [deleted] 2228 [deleted] 2229 [deleted] 2230 [deleted] 2231 [deleted] 2232 [deleted] 2233 [deleted] 2234 [deleted] 2235 [deleted] 2236 [deleted] 2237 [deleted] 2238 [deleted] 2239 [deleted] 2240 [deleted] 2241 [deleted] 2242 [deleted] 2243 [deleted] 2244 [deleted] 2245 [deleted] 2246 [deleted] 2247 [deleted] 2248 [deleted] 2249 [deleted] 2250 [deleted] 2251 [deleted] 2252 [deleted] 2253 [deleted] 2254 [deleted] 2255 [deleted] 2256 [deleted] 2257 [deleted] 2258 [deleted] 2259 [deleted] 2260 [deleted] 2261 [deleted] 2262 [deleted] 2263 [deleted] 2264 [deleted] 2265 [deleted] 2266 [deleted] 2267 [deleted] 2268 [deleted] 2269 [deleted] 2270 [deleted] 2271 [deleted] 2272 [deleted] 2273 [deleted] 2274 [deleted] 2275 [deleted] 2276 [deleted] 2277 [deleted] 2278 [deleted] 2279 [deleted] 2280 [deleted] 2281 [deleted] 2282 [deleted] 2283 [deleted] 2284 [deleted] 2285 [deleted] 2286 [deleted] 2287 [deleted] 2288 [deleted] 2289 [deleted] 2290 [deleted] 2291 [deleted] 2292 [deleted] 2293 [deleted] 2294 [deleted] 2295 [deleted] 2296 [deleted] 2297 [deleted] 2298 [deleted] 2299 [deleted] 2300 [deleted] 2301 [deleted] 2302 [deleted] 2303 [deleted] 2304 [deleted] 2305 [deleted] 2306 [deleted] 2307 [deleted] 2308 [deleted] 2309 [deleted] 2310 [deleted] 2311 [deleted] 2312 [deleted] 2313 [deleted] 2314 [deleted] 2315 [deleted] 2316 [deleted] 2317 [deleted] 2318 [deleted] 2319 [deleted] 2320 [deleted] 2321 [deleted] 2322 [deleted] 2323 [deleted] 2324 [deleted] 2325 [deleted] 2326 [deleted] 2327 [deleted] 2328 [deleted] 2329 [deleted] 2330 [deleted] 2331 [deleted] 2332 [deleted] 2333 [deleted] 2334 [deleted] 2335 [deleted] 2336 [deleted] 2337 [deleted] 2338 [deleted] 2339 [deleted] 2340 [deleted] 2341 [deleted] 2342 [deleted] 2343 [deleted] 2344 [deleted] 2345 [deleted] 2346 [deleted] 2347 [deleted] 2348 [deleted] 2349 [deleted] 2350 [deleted] 2351 [deleted] 2352 [deleted] 2353 [deleted] 2354 [deleted] 2355 [deleted] 2356 [deleted] 2357 [deleted] 2358 [deleted] 2359 [deleted] 2360 [deleted] 2361 [deleted] 2362 [deleted] 2363 [deleted] 2364 [deleted] 2365 [deleted] 2366 [deleted] 2367 [deleted] 2368 [deleted] 2369 [deleted] 2370 [deleted] 2371 [deleted] 2372 [deleted] 2373 [deleted] 2374 [deleted] 2375 [deleted] 2376 [deleted] 2377 [deleted] 2378 [deleted] 2379 [deleted] 2380 [deleted] 2381 [deleted] 2382 [deleted] 2383 [deleted] 2384 [deleted] 2385 [deleted] 2386 [deleted] 2387 [deleted] 2388 [deleted] 2389 [deleted] 2390 [deleted] 2391 [deleted] 2392 [deleted] 2393 [deleted] 2394 [deleted] 2395 [deleted] 2396 [deleted] 2397 [deleted] 2398 [deleted] 2399 [deleted] 2400 [deleted] 2401 [deleted] 2402 [deleted] 2403 [deleted] 2404 [deleted] 2405 [deleted] 2406 [deleted] 2407 [deleted] 2408 [deleted] 2409 [deleted] 2410 [deleted] 2411 [deleted] 2412 [deleted] 2413 [deleted] 2414 [deleted] 2415 [deleted] 2416 [deleted] 2417 [deleted] 2418 [deleted] 2419 [deleted] 2420 [deleted] 2421 [deleted] 2422 [deleted] 2423 [deleted] 2424 [deleted] 2425 [deleted] 2426 [deleted] 2427 [deleted] 2428 [deleted] 2429 [deleted] 2430 [deleted] 2431 [deleted] 2432 [deleted] 2433 [deleted] 2434 [deleted] 2435 [deleted] 2436 [deleted] 2437 [deleted] 2438 [deleted] 2439 [deleted] 2440 [deleted] 2441 [deleted] 2442 [deleted] 2443 [deleted] 2444 [deleted] 2445 [deleted] 2446 [deleted] 2447 [deleted] 2448 [deleted] 2449 [deleted] 2450 [deleted] 2451 [deleted] 2452 [deleted] 2453 [deleted] 2454 [deleted] 2455 [deleted] 2456 [deleted] 2457 [deleted] 2458 [deleted] 2459 [deleted] 2460 [deleted] 2461 [deleted] 2462 [deleted] 2463 [deleted] 2464 [deleted] 2465 [deleted] 2466 [deleted] 2467 [deleted] 2468 [deleted] 2469 [deleted] 2470 [deleted] 2471 [deleted] 2472 [deleted] 2473 [deleted] 2474 [deleted] 2475 [deleted] 2476 [deleted] 2477 [deleted] 2478 [deleted] 2479 [deleted] 2480 [deleted] 2481 [deleted] 2482 [deleted] 2483 [deleted] 2484 [deleted] 2485 [deleted] 2486 [deleted] 2487 [deleted] 2488 [deleted] 2489 [deleted] 2490 [deleted] 2491 [deleted] 2492 [deleted] 2493 [deleted] 2494 [deleted] 2495 [deleted] 2496 [deleted] 2497 [deleted] 2498 [deleted] 2499 [deleted] 2500 [deleted] 2501 [deleted] 2502 [deleted] 2503 [deleted] 2504 [deleted] 2505 [deleted] 2506 [deleted] 2507 [deleted] 2508 [deleted] 2509 [deleted] 2510 [deleted] 2511 [deleted] 2512 [deleted] 2513 [deleted] 2514 [deleted] 2515 [deleted] 2516 [deleted] 2517 [deleted] 2518 [deleted] 2519 [deleted] 2520 [deleted] 2521 [deleted] 2522 [deleted] 2523 [deleted] 2524 [deleted] 2525 [deleted] 2526 [deleted] 2527 [deleted] 2528 [deleted] 2529 [deleted] 2530 [deleted] 2531 [deleted] 2532 [deleted] 2533 [deleted] 2534 [deleted] 2535 [deleted] 2536 [deleted] 2537 [deleted] 2538 [deleted] 2539 [deleted] 2540 [deleted] 2541 [deleted] 2542 [deleted] 2543 [deleted] 2544 [deleted] 2545 [deleted] 2546 [deleted] 2547 [deleted] 2548 [deleted] 2549 [deleted] 2550 [deleted] 2551 [deleted] 2552 [deleted] 2553 [deleted] 2554 [deleted] 2555 [deleted] 2556 [deleted] 2557 [deleted] 2558 [deleted] 2559 [deleted] 2560 [deleted] 2561 [deleted] 2562 [deleted] 2563 [deleted] 2564 [deleted] 2565 [deleted] 2566 [deleted] 2567 [deleted] 2568 [deleted] 2569 [deleted] 2570 [deleted] 2571 [deleted] 2572 [deleted] 2573 [deleted] 2574 [deleted] 2575 [deleted] 2576 [deleted] 2577 [deleted] 2578 [deleted] 2579 [deleted] 2580 [deleted] 2581 [deleted] 2582 [deleted] 2583 [deleted] 2584 [deleted] 2585 [deleted] 2586 [deleted] 2587 [deleted] 2588 [deleted] 2589 [deleted] 2590 [deleted] 2591 [deleted] 2592 [deleted] 2593 [deleted] 2594 [deleted] 2595 [deleted] 2596 [deleted] 2597 [deleted] 2598 [deleted] 2599 [deleted] 2600 [deleted] 2601 [deleted] 2602 [deleted] 2603 [deleted] 2604 [deleted] 2605 [deleted] 2606 [deleted] 2607 [deleted] 2608 [deleted] 2609 [deleted] 2610 [deleted] 2611 [deleted] 2612 [deleted] 2613 [deleted] 2614 [deleted] 2615 [deleted] 2616 [deleted] 2617 [deleted] 2618 [deleted] 2619 [deleted] 2620 [deleted] 2621 [deleted] 2622 [deleted] 2623 [deleted] 2624 [deleted] 2625 [deleted] 2626 [deleted] 2627 [deleted] 2628 [deleted] 2629 [deleted] 2630 [deleted] 2631 [deleted] 2632 [deleted] 2633 [deleted] 2634 [deleted] 2635 [deleted] 2636 [deleted] 2637 [deleted] 2638 [deleted] 2639 [deleted] 2640 [deleted] 2641 [deleted] 2642 [deleted] 2643 [deleted] 2644 [deleted] 2645 [deleted] 2646 [deleted] 2647 [deleted] 2648 [deleted] 2649 [deleted] 2650 [deleted] 2651 [deleted] 2652 [deleted] 2653 [deleted] 2654 [deleted] 2655 [deleted] 2656 [deleted] 2657 [deleted] 2658 [deleted] 2659 [deleted] 2660 [deleted] 2661 [deleted] 2662 [deleted] 2663 [deleted] 2664 [deleted] 2665 [deleted] 2666 [deleted] 2667 [deleted] 2668 [deleted] 2669 [deleted] 2670 [deleted] 2671 [deleted] 2672 [deleted] 2673 [deleted] 2674 [deleted] 2675 [deleted] 2676 [deleted] 2677 [deleted] 2678 [deleted] 2679 [deleted] 2680 [deleted] 2681 [deleted] 2682 [deleted] 2683 [deleted] 2684 [deleted] 2685 [deleted] 2686 [deleted] 2687 [deleted] 2688 [deleted] 2689 [deleted] 2690 [deleted] 2691 [deleted] 2692 [deleted] 2693 [deleted] 2694 [deleted] 2695 [deleted] 2696 [deleted] 2697 [deleted] 2698 [deleted] 2699 [deleted] 2700 [deleted] 2701 [deleted] 2702 [deleted] 2703 [deleted] 2704 [deleted] 2705 [deleted] 2706 [deleted] 2707 [deleted] 2708 [deleted] 2709 [deleted] 2710 [deleted] 2711 [deleted] 2712 [deleted] 2713 [deleted] 2714 [deleted] 2715 [deleted] 2716 [deleted] 2717 [deleted] 2718 [deleted] 2719 [deleted] 2720 [deleted] 2721 [deleted] 2722 [deleted] 2723 [deleted] 2724 [deleted] 2725 [deleted] 2726 [deleted] 2727 [deleted] 2728 [deleted] 2729 [deleted] 2730 [deleted] 2731 [deleted] 2732 [deleted] 2733 [deleted] 2734 [deleted] 2735 [deleted] 2736 [deleted] 2737 [deleted] 2738 [deleted] 2739 [deleted] 2740 [deleted] 2741 [deleted] 2742 [deleted] 2743 [deleted] 2744 [deleted] 2745 [deleted] 2746 [deleted] 2747 [deleted] 2748 [deleted] 2749 [deleted] 2750 [deleted] 2751 [deleted] 2752 [deleted] 2753 [deleted] 2754 [deleted] 2755 [deleted] 2756 [deleted] 2757 [deleted] 2758 [deleted] 2759 [deleted] 2760 [deleted] 2761 [deleted] 2762 [deleted] 2763 [deleted] 2764 [deleted] 2765 [deleted] 2766 [deleted] 2767 [deleted] 2768 [deleted] 2769 [deleted] 2770 [deleted] 2771 [deleted] 2772 [deleted] 2773 [deleted] 2774 [deleted] 2775 [deleted] 2776 [deleted] 2777 [deleted] 2778 [deleted] 2779 [deleted] 2780 [deleted] 2781 [deleted] 2782 [deleted] 2783 [deleted] 2784 [deleted] 2785 [deleted] 2786 [deleted] 2787 [deleted] 2788 [deleted] 2789 [deleted] 2790 [deleted] 2791 [deleted] 2792 [deleted] 2793 [deleted] 2794 [deleted] 2795 [deleted] 2796 [deleted] 2797 [deleted] 2798 [deleted] 2799 [deleted] 2800 [deleted] 2801 [deleted] 2802 [deleted] 2803 [deleted] 2804 [deleted] 2805 [deleted] 2806 [deleted] 2807 [deleted] 2808 [deleted] 2809 [deleted] 2810 [deleted] 2811 [deleted] 2812 [deleted] 2813 [deleted] 2814 [deleted] 2815 [deleted] 2816 [deleted] 2817 [deleted] 2818 [deleted] 2819 [deleted] 2820 [deleted] 2821 [deleted] 2822 [deleted] 2823 [deleted] 2824 [deleted] 2825 [deleted] 2826 [deleted] 2827 [deleted] 2828 [deleted] 2829 [deleted] 2830 [deleted] 2831 [deleted] 2832 [deleted] 2833 [deleted] 2834 [deleted] 2835 [deleted] 2836 [deleted] 2837 [deleted] 2838 [deleted] 2839 [deleted] 2840 [deleted] 2841 [deleted] 2842 [deleted] 2843 [deleted] 2844 [deleted] 2845 [deleted] 2846 [deleted] 2847 [deleted] 2848 [deleted] 2849 [deleted] 2850 [deleted] 2851 [deleted] 2852 [deleted] 2853 [deleted] 2854 [deleted] 2855 [deleted] 2856 [deleted] 2857 [deleted] 2858 [deleted] 2859 [deleted] 2860 [deleted] 2861 [deleted] 2862 [deleted] 2863 [deleted] 2864 [deleted] 2865 [deleted] 2866 [deleted] 2867 [deleted] 2868 [deleted] 2869 [deleted] 2870 [deleted] 2871 [deleted] 2872 [deleted] 2873 [deleted] 2874 [deleted] 2875 [deleted] 2876 [deleted] 2877 [deleted] 2878 [deleted] 2879 [deleted] 2880 [deleted] 2881 [deleted] 2882 [deleted] 2883 [deleted] 2884 [deleted] 2885 [deleted] 2886 [deleted] 2887 [deleted] 2888 [deleted] 2889 [deleted] 2890 [deleted] 2891 [deleted] 2892 [deleted] 2893 [deleted] 2894 [deleted] 2895 [deleted] 2896 [deleted] 2897 [deleted] 2898 [deleted] 2899 [deleted] 2900 [deleted] 2901 [deleted] 2902 [deleted] 2903 [deleted] 2904 [deleted] 2905 [deleted] 2906 [deleted] 2907 [deleted] 2908 [deleted] 2909 [deleted] 2910 [deleted] 2911 [deleted] 2912 [deleted] 2913 [deleted] 2914 [deleted] 2915 [deleted] 2916 [deleted] 2917 [deleted] 2918 [deleted] 2919 [deleted] 2920 [deleted] 2921 [deleted] 2922 [deleted] 2923 [deleted] 2924 [deleted] 2925 [deleted] 2926 [deleted] 2927 [deleted] 2928 [deleted] 2929 [deleted] 2930 [deleted] 2931 [deleted] 2932 [deleted] 2933 [deleted] 2934 [deleted] 2935 [deleted] 2936 [deleted] 2937 [deleted] 2938 [deleted] 2939 [deleted] 2940 [deleted] 2941 [deleted] 2942 [deleted] 2943 [deleted] 2944 [deleted] 2945 [deleted] 2946 [deleted] 2947 [deleted] 2948 [deleted] 2949 [deleted] 2950 [deleted] 2951 [deleted] 2952 [deleted] 2953 [deleted] 2954 [deleted] 2955 [deleted] 2956 [deleted] 2957 [deleted] 2958 [deleted] 2959 [deleted] 2960 [deleted] 2961 [deleted] 2962 [deleted] 2963 [deleted] 2964 [deleted] 2965 [deleted] 2966 [deleted] 2967 [deleted] 2968 [deleted] 2969 [deleted] 2970 [deleted] 2971 [deleted] 2972 [deleted] 2973 [deleted] 2974 [deleted] 2975 [deleted] 2976 [deleted] 2977 [deleted] 2978 [deleted] 2979 [deleted] 2980 [deleted] 2981 [deleted] 2982 [deleted] 2983 [deleted] 2984 [deleted] 2985 [deleted] 2986 [deleted] 2987 [deleted] 2988 [deleted] 2989 [deleted] 2990 [deleted] 2991 [deleted] 2992 [deleted] 2993 [deleted] 2994 [deleted] 2995 [deleted] 2996 [deleted] 2997 [deleted] 2998 [deleted] 2999 [deleted] 3000 [deleted] behind...n/nThe whole world is just looking and at this point can't be surprised anymore as new lows are reached. 2158 Gated community. These democrats defended their home properly. Matter fact should have forced the potential looters to leave the gated community since the cops in the area along with the rest of the people in positions of power are worthless 2159 > I mean, you're not trying to say that a guy is an incel only if he declares himself to be one, are ya? n/nIt's the definition, though. "Introverts" are very much distinct from "incels" 2160 Dang. He got you bad and all you can continue with is â€œletâ€™m not interestedâ€ should just have been quiet with your shit comments 2161 Its PPP 2162 How many more writers on his show are there? 2163 Huh. Got bamboozled by the media. Thanks for the link! 2164 Welcome to the life of an average student. 2165 People never grasp that concept of dry heat.\n/nIt amazes me.\n/nWhen I tell people I'd rather have Arizona heat than my Florida heat, they go "But it's like 115 there! That's sooo hot!"\n/nWell yeah... But Im not absolutely soaked through with sweat in 10 minutes and the air isn't nearly suffocating with heat and humidity. 2166 I know that I'm not going to be evicted, but they can try to kick me out of my home. How many of those 28 million own guns and are willing to do what it takes to keep their home? 2167 Los Angeles has a one time payment up to 2,000 directly deposit to the landlord from the city for low income tenants. Starts July 13. Its a lottery system 2168 Apparently getting off your computer for a bit to watch a movie is "deafening silence". 2169 Agree, but when so much injustice has been allowed by the law, you can understand how people can think it has failed them. 2170 I think itâ€™s a website where people can write stuff. And youâ€™re naturally bound to read the stuff you like to hear too. \n/nI'm not Facebook then something else, as long as we have real time mass communication, this will be a reality. \n/nTo be honest, I feel itâ€™s a scape goat but I also feel itâ€™s a dangerous down hill slope where we are saying â€œif technology ever develops something where people can look for like minded individuals, kill itâ€; thatâ€™s a grim future for tech. 2171 Not in Ireland. IRA would always give a heads up. 2172 Itâ€™s sad they donâ€™t protect students\n/nlooking at you cowardly school cop in florida 2173 [vitamin d and covid 19][https://duckduckgo.com/?q=vitamin+d+and+covid+19&t=brave&ia=news] - If there's a link between vitamin D and being able to withstand COVID, moving people indoors makes the issue worse.\n/n[Daily confirmed COVID-19 deaths, rolling 3-day average][https://ourworldindata.org/grapher/daily-covid-deaths-3-day-average]\n/n[CDC Announces COVID-19 May No Longer Be an Epidemic; Coronavirus Expert Says Americans Will Be Wearing Masks for â€œSeveral Yearsâ€; Cities Acknowledge Riots Likely Caused New COVID-19 Cases] (https://joemiller.us/2020/07/cdc-announces-covid-19-may-no-longer-be-an-epidemic-coronavirus-expert-says-americans-will-be-wearing-masks-for-several-years/) 2174 Of course--I'd sacrifice your entire neighborhood if it meant ending police brutality. 2175 The President will make it great (again) 2176 â€œWhen you talk to him, he talks at you. He doesn't like to read memos...â€\n/nIts almost like they voted a company CEO as a president. Lol\n/nI mean, what did they expect from â€œSenior Managementâ€? XD 2177 [removed] 2178 [removed] 2179 Worst case of suicide Iâ€™ve ever seen. 2180 So... just standard capitalism then? 2181 Kinda? The Trump administration is just absolutely destroying itself, right in time for an election. \n/nLots of corporations are on board with Black Lives Matter -- far more than when Kaepernick originally kneeled. In fact, the NFL rescinded the ban on kneeling thanks to the most recent protests (which included the violent protests).\n/nBeyond just corporations, lots of cities are looking at defending or dismantling the police and moving their functions to social workers and other government employees. Many more are establishing independent oversight boards, or strengthening the boards they already have.\n/nColorado has enacted sweeping changes, mandating body cams, banning chokeholds, requiring police to release body cam footage to the public -- all sorts of great changes.\n/nSo yeah, for whatever reason, this time around things are actually going way better. Far short of what people deserve, but substantially better than, say, the Freddie Grey protests or the Trayvon Martin protests etc. 2182 [removed] 2183 Wait a few more years. We will see who history laughs at. 2184 if you canâ€™t afford rent you probably canâ€™t afford food 2185 [removed] 2186 Dig a big hole and hide in it 2187 Don't trust a single thing he says even if it seems correct.\n/nWhen John Bolton says the sky is blue, I look out my window to double-check.\n/nHe's trying to position himself favourably for a foreign policy job in post-trump america. 2188 I knew it! They put them on leave got a little while until things cool down a bit, then bring them back in to work 2189 Imitation feather are nice because true feathered bothers my allergies, and I'll wake up with a stuffed nose.\n/nI really like the bamboo pillows from, Bed Bath and Beyond. They're really firm and I'm a firm guy. I wouldn't even give a MyPillow to someone in prison, I'm not that cruel. 2190 [removed] 2191 It would be exceptionally ironic. 2192 My fucking heart dropped straight through the second story when I woke up and saw that. I wasn't even supposed to be up that early. Just couldn't sleep before work. Tall about being betrayed when the protests turned violent country wide and my boys in blue MPD started slashing tires and shit. Fuck MPD. 2193 Savannahs at first. The ground is extremely fertile.\n/nThey would rapidly turn to desert as they would be over farmed quickly for their productivity. 2194 Hey if you need someone to talk to, please feel free to DM. Also definitely seek help at the number below. 2195 Like I said I believe these 2 panicked with everything they were seeing in the news and thought this was the best action. 2196 Reality is the name is just to draw donors 2197 > Because they see the world as expendable.\n/nThey see Russia as expendable. Because their kids live in London. 2198 [removed] 2199 Something like this has to happen because people just refuse to wake up and see in what fucked up world we live in.\n/nI still think 28million is not enough... it is like what 4%? Until at least half of the population wakes up and pushes the corrupt government, nothing will change.\n/nRicher will get richer and poorer will get even poorer. 2200 Are you talking about the OP or the article mentioned by the person you replied to? 2201 [removed] 2202 [removed] 2203 [removed] 2204 He only had a handful of scenes and those were his only real lines, but every Office fan can quote the story. 2205 You mean that hero? 2206 Other news outlet are theorizing that he went to a secluded area to avoid covid19.\n/nhttps://www.ajc.com/news/update-korea-kim-jong-may-have-skipped-town-just-avoid-virus/vsncfPKmfnDWHyDunHfZSP/n/nIn any case something is certainly going on in NK. 2207 That doesn't extend to the armed forces 2208 It was largely believed that Kim Jong-Il had been deceased for weeks before the DPRK made the cause of official announcement. His cause of death also changed several times over the course of a few months, and NK claimed that at the exact time of his death, snowstorms "paused" and frozen lakes "cracked with enough force to shake the Heavens and Earth." \n/nI would take anything the DPRK says with a grain of salt. 2209 Kim Jong-Underestimated. Kim Jong Un-Precedented recovery. Kim Jong Un-laterally decides to free his people. 2210 Your post was automatically removed for being about the coronavirus. We are allowing significant news stories as their own threads; if you think your article qualifies as major news, please message the mod team.\n/nI am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please contact the moderators of this subreddit if you have any questions or concerns. * 2211 [removed] 2212 Not only that, his father Kim Jong Il was an amazing golfer. He holds the course record at the Pyongyang Golf Course when he shot 34, a solid 38 under par. He had 5 hole in ones in a single round! Dude was a golf master. 2213 Id have gone with "pusstatorship." 2214 What makes me sad about this is every single doctor, nurse, orderly that took part in that surgery will surely be killed. (Probably their families and friends too) 2215 When Kim Jong Il died it took them two days to announce it publicly. Jong-Un is fine, trust me. 2216 This is what happens when you donâ€™t eat your vegetables. 2217 Does the CIA still work like that.....? 2218 "Weekend at Kims" 2219 I think you may be right. It is a necrocracy. Kim Il Sung is eternal leader and he's dead. So..... Yeah. 2220 Not at the moment 2221 [removed] 2222 Hidetoshi Hasagawa approves. 2223 [removed] 2224 Yeah idk either. I got down voted for asking but it was a serious question.... 2225 People tend to have accents. 2226 Ah yes, the Tony Hawk Pro Skater knockoff. A classic 2227 I read that the next in line; his sister is just as brutal 2228 So he's back to normal? Brilliant news! 2229 Incredibly shady sourcing on this. And on the top of /r/all no less 2230 Ya....we defeated that enemy....don't wave their flag. 2231 I have adhd as well. What does that have to do with anything 2232 Your post was automatically removed for being about the coronavirus. We are allowing significant news stories as their own threads; if you think your article qualifies as major news, please message the mod team.\n/nI am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please contact the moderators of this subreddit if you have any questions or concerns. * 2233 [removed] 2234 Weâ€™re on the Golden Path now fam 2235 Well yeah, giant fat guys tend to have heart attacks. \n/nCalling it now, Trump got the Koreans to sit down at the table together for the first time in history- after this, Trump gets North Korea to open up the rest of the way. 2236 So? Donald Trump has been in a vegetative state for years. 2237 I wonder if this is an excuse for a military coup. Kim did not have surgery on his heart, he had 9mm brain surgery? 2238 America: We hope he dies!\n/nTrump: I hope he survives 2239 What I'm saying is in any country with a sizable military: the person who the military listens to has the ultimate power. This only comes into actual play in dictatorships, because other countries have checks and balances. 2240 Read a history book, the democratic party and republican party switch platforms after the civil war. If Lincoln was running for president today, he'd be running as a democrat. 2241 as none of his staff have ever experienced vegetables and their leader in the same context, nobody's sure how to proceed. 2242 I hear he opened himself up to UV light and Lysol spray to cure his CoViD on the advice of a dear friend. 2243 [removed] 2244 The US has Killed Kim Jong Un through the Ding Dong/Twinkle Offensive. He has taken the bait and overdoed. 2245 [removed] 2246 I got to jump straight to the part where I finally break in that story... \n/yYou don't know what you need. 2247 I never understood this â€œsuper American guyâ€ flying a flag of the traitors lol literally tried to take out the USA. Oh wait is cause they actually want to display racism and white power in a cowardly indirect way. Back in my day even the racist bad balls and would just say it. Not hide behind an orange orangutan as their leader and try to put their racist views as fake ass political preferences. 2248 True conspiracy theorists believe that the parties are two feet on the same beast. Anyone who supports the government is not a real theorist, even if they think they are. 2249 The ~Talows~ Kim Mistake. 2250 Those people don't control the military and neither does Trudeau.\n/nRead the book Dictatorship and you'll see that the real key of power and control is payment. Who is paying those generals and who is paying the soldiers? In Canada and most of the West, that payment originates from a distributed legislative body which gets its authority from elections by the masses. The same rules apply, it's just the underlying structures that differ. 2251 >I'm no scientist, nor a doctor,\n/nSo you're qualified to have an opinion then, and I'm listening!\n/n>I dont think that'd really work for something like this\n/nI dislike your message, so I'm gonna lump you in with all the other "experts" who I'm choosing not to believe.\n/nI'm sure if I Google a few minutes I'll find a website or two that supports my claim. 2252 So, what if a mouse goes outside then? 2253 This summer: Rob Schneider is an ordinary man. But what happens when he wakes up and finds himself in the body of the dictator of a communist authoritarian regime? 2254 Isn't that like how they tried to spin what happened to the scientology guy? 2255 [removed] 2256 Well, at least there's finally a vegetable in North Korea. Unfortunately they just can't eat this one. 2257 The Asian use of the swastika predates Nazi Germany by thousands of years.\n/nI you find some ancient burial site in Germany with the Stars n Bars on it, okay, but I won't hold my breath. 2258 American Indians were literally defending themselves against an untrustworthy foe. \n/nThe Confederate States of America withdrew from the Union over keeping humans as property.\n/nContext matters.\n/nPlus, as I said, American Indian symbols donâ€™t represent the waging of war against my country or treason against it. The Confederate flag was invented solely for the purposes of succession and to motivate the troops in war and the folks back home. 2259 North Korea doesnt work like Nazi Germany. Kim Jong Un is entirely replaceable. The only way they will get out of their situation is a civil war. 2260 Mother wouldn't like that 2261 Yeah China has been propping up the NK regime for decades, why would they send inexperienced surgeons for something as important as this? 2262 Man you should read about the Chinese expressâ€™s back in the day. 2263 Yes but at this point it's not NEWS 2264 [removed] 2265 [removed] 2266 [removed] 2267 In Korea, heart surgeon. Number one. Steady hand. One day, Supreme Leader need new heart. I do operation. But, mistake! Supreme Leader die! North Korea Army very mad. I hide in fishing boat, come to America. No english, no food, no money. Darryl give me job. Now I have house, American car, and new woman. Darryl save life. My big secret: I kill Supreme Leader on purpose. I good surgeon. The best! 2268 You're comparing a business deal from two years ago to our current state of epidemic. I don't support him but you're being dishonest 2269 â€œKim Jong Un is sprawled out in a deep and comfortable slumber.â€ 2270 Is it? If so I might have to change this, as rumors are being spread everywhere and now I'm stressing out cause I may have just accidentally added more fuel to the fire. here's a comment I'm working on in an attempt to explain this all 2271 Itâ€™s North Korea?? Iâ€™m pretty sure the closest thing they have to rich people are cardboard cut outs of rich people 2272 Kim Jong Un-tz oontz oonTZ OONTZ OONTZ OONTZ 2273 A TV drama about Kim would would be great. Like West Wing but not.\n/nKim and the Crew\n/nThe Seo-pranos\n/nPeking Blinders 2274 If true, and who knows what is true out of North Korea, perhaps there is finally justice for the young American Otto Warmbier, jailed, tortured and left in vegetative state by North Korea, and dying several years ago.\n/nI hope Karma has won again. 2275 Yeah, he 'found' a woman in his cellar. Gee how'd she get in there.... 2276 The White House later released a statement saying the Presidentâ€™s words were taken out of context.\n/nThen Trump said he was just being sarcastic.\n/nYou wouldn'tâ€™t understand. Jim. Itâ€™s a secret. 2277 Letâ€™s be honest - he went to a North Korean school. 2278 I agree with you, but he works for that nation so it's an inside point of view.\n/nI don't believe the information given by the japanese newspaper.\n/nPro propaganda can go both ways, and until we see a coffin mounded, idk what to believe 2279 Iâ€™m 80% sure itâ€™ll be news on the tv as soon as I flick it on 2280 Yeah but that's because the CIA assassinated every Cuban who wore olive green and smoked cigars. 2281 What part of Federal do you not understand? It's tiring having to explain things to Trumpers. 2282 Gun ownership shouldn't be partisan argument. It's a right, just like every other right we have. We don't make laws limiting the freedom of speech, it should be the same with the second amendment. 2283 Well Iâ€™m just worried about the stress this is putting on Rodman 2284 Well yes, anyone part of the NK regime is gonna suck. What has she done personally that makes her seem WORSE than Kim Jong-Un aside from being a woman? 2285 The other fat, authoritarian, moronic leader 2286 It shocks the average person when I explain to them my parents who are less than 65 years old, went to segregated schools.\n/nIt shocks them even more that you explain to them that banks could discriminate based on race as late as the mid-80s on housing loans. So literally, me being mid-30s. You are talking about minorities who are maybe 25 or younger who born and raised where LEGAL discrimination wasn't allowed. Meaning their parents picked their neighborhood settled and started a family and their race was of no factor legally. We are even getting into cultural acceptance 2287 "What? It means country!" 2288 [removed] 2289 Chubs could feed a lot more than a dozen. 2290 Kim Jong..... [https://imgur.com/dkMY27.jpg] Un una un Un una Un una un "Unanaunauna" 2291 [removed] 2292 Ugh. Imagine the Gene Seed. I just threw up in my mouth a little. 2293 #1 Heart surgeon is not Mr. Kim 2294 Confederates.... Nazis... well thatâ€™s at least twice now 2295 Did we really need a hospital to tell us heâ€™s a vegetable? 2296 I live in TN too, in a county that had single digit cases until the statewide testing began. Now we have upwards of 20. \n/nI've also read the peak in June comments and the data I saw appeared cherry picked from a Vanderbilt "worst case" projection. Regardless, I gave you two different sources that show that as a state TN is 2-3 weeks beyond the peak. If data changes, as it often does, I'd love to see it. \n/nThere is a trove of data in this link:\n/nhttps://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/2020_coronavirus_pandemic_in_Tennessee 2297 Unlike the eastern readers who question everything their media tells them 2298 Kim Jong Un-known. 2299 WAAAAAAAH, Mr. Kim 2300 She shot him with a deadly weapon. If you're shooting someone you're shooting to kill, that's basic firearm training. 2301 If it's because of a training accident, he definitely should. He may have been fucked out of a military retirement (not entire sure if you can appeal that after the fact) but the VA will make their own determination. 2302 In other states? Of course not, but I'm going to assume that's not what you're asking because obviously state supreme court decisions don't have any power in other states. In Massachusetts? It's irrelevant for the reasons I explained. 2303 Start buying CDs from everyone. Iâ€™m no Tool fan, but their recent release shows itâ€™s endearing qualities. They will become more scarce. Itâ€™s a smart investment especially for older, rarer discs. 2304 [removed] 2305 All this information is enough to know she is likely the worst cop on the force, she almost sounds like Mr Magoos was given a gun. 2306 Americans are slowly learning what the Second Amendment was for. Was. 2307 This happened in Brazil if you were wondering 2308 [removed] 2309 So how are they reversing ACH, where is that money going if they are bankrupt? And isnâ€™t that straight theft? This is all very strange. Iâ€™ve always gotten paid direct deposit but the money clearly comes from my companyâ€™s bank account, not the payroll company, even if they arrange it. 2310 Lol, I actually just bought 2 CDs within a week of each other (Slipknot and Tool albums). Prior to that, I hadn't bought a CD in like 3-4 years.\n/nI'm fine, I just ordered a 6 disc CD player for my living room. Funny times. 2311 [removed] 2312 [removed] 2313 This university could (and could afford to) establish a special office of attorneys who would represent students, both accuser and accused, in sexual assault complaints filed under Title IX, along with an administrative judge or two trained in Title IX sexual assault proceedings.\n/nOr they could just refer the accuser to the Ann Arbor PD and let the prosecution run its course through the District/Circuit Court system.\n/nHowever, the ACLU seems to want to apply a standard to these hearings that does not exist in our criminal courts - the mandate that the accused NOT cross examine the accuser, violating the 6th Amendment of the Constitution. Granted, these may not be criminal trials, but the outcome can be very devastating. Depriving the accused of his/her due process would make it more so. 2314 Usually it means easy to use and hard to break. 2315 Is it also better than the gramophone with a wax cylinder 2316 The PD... seized an illegal drug... and that is smearing... the deceased's character... who did something... illegal... \n/n....\n/nI'mo/n&n#x200B;\n/nAnyway, aside from people whining about that, this bitch needs to fy. Even if this guy was as high as a fucking kite, he was in his own home. Yeah, homicide shouldn't have the door open, but NO ACTION warrants this.\n/n&n#x200B;\n/nAlso, stop talking about not her first shooting. She's a fucking police officer. They shoot people, sometimes. 2317 my exaggeration went waaaaay over your head. Yes, I fully understand *civilization, and I can spell it too :) 2318 I smell a proxy war on the horizon. 2319 It would have been if there wasn't a lot of historical baggage associated with the term. 2320 [removed] 2321 Why would you go on vacation and eat at McDonalds? Why would anyone who is not on vacation eat at McDonalds? 2322 Here's spongebob's goofy goober slowed down 2323 No, only politicians can do that.\n/nhttps://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Leland_Yee 2324 No damages. So dismissal. If the State isn't discriminating then I don't see them getting very far. 2325 Does it need water? 2326 [removed] 2327 oh, hiya, midge 2328 Who the fuck buys CDs? 2329 Most music isn't on Spotify. 2330 I'll have a depth charge (American black + really dark deep Congo Black) with caramel (Hispanic) and cinnamon (native American), leave room for cream (pasty white, so probably Irish Celtic), Maple flavoring (French Canadian) if you got any. 2331 I work three jobs. My main nine to 6, which is salaried with benefits, etc. My main bread winner. Three times a night (12am to 4am) I do courier runs for a food delivery company. Good paying for the hours. Quiet work, so I have lots of time to listen to podcasts, etc. My last job is just once a week doing a courier run for a pharmacy. If others need coverage and I can fit it in, I'll do that as well. \n/nIt started out with just one part time job. But necessity is a motherfucker, so now I work an extra job on top of that one. 2332 My 25 year old CDs pay fine. I was ripping some, and started getting pissed because I couldn't rip about 2% of them. But then I replaced my CD drive, and stopped having problems. Presumably the CDs are starting to degrade, but error correction can still handle it. With vinyl, you often get shitty sounding ones right from the factory. And if you leave vinyl in your car on a slightly warm day, it will warp. 2333 I toured a couple ives in high school before I ended up deciding to go to a state school. Tbh, the majority of the student body I saw was either foreign or nerdy. Iâ€™m sure a portion are â€œlesbianâ€ and thereâ€™s a lot of hidden money but you get much more of the â€œacademicâ€ vibe from state schools. 2334 This is important. People tend to forget that the only childhood we experience is our own. If weâ€™re average more or less in all other respects, we normalize our childhood too and what parenting should be. Iâ€™m not sure I had this discussion with friends who have/havenâ€™t received corporal punishment growing up. As someone who was, itâ€™s super hard to wrap your head around it. I was shocked not all my friends received it. Thought it was completely normal and didnâ€™t question it. Like I donâ€™t think my parents were in the wrong, but I know they werenâ€™t right either. Of course I wouldnâ€™t want to punish my own child that way, but I can totally see myself doing it... your brain struggles to logically justify it but your inner gut can do it super easily. I thought it was a related topic and Iâ€™m just jumping on your comment. I think itâ€™s just rather fascinating and a bit taboo so itâ€™s not discussed enough. 2335 I wish there were a way to help people in a cult through the net. Our only options are pity if you're a believer and scorn if you're a troll. 2336 [removed] 2337 [Everyone loved that!]/n/n/200B/n/n/What a sweet kid. 2338 The thing is that a majority these people are disgusted by cops like this. 2339 I thought this was r/okes for a second. 2340 What study? Which mutations? Do you even have any ideas what you are fucking talking about? Vaguely referring to science doesn't back up a claim. I think you are just getting defensive because you are a bit of a psychopath and thinking about murdering someone. 2341 But aren't there frequently disputes over whose stuff belonged to whom? Especially in long term relationships. And then there are frequently pets or children that aren't exactly things you can just split up. Not to mention shared assets, as they could still have bought homes and cars together. 2342 > Like they wish they were military but didn't have the nads to go through with it. I think you fail the psych exam to get into the military you can always get into a police academy instead! 2343 I don't have experience in the Payroll side of things (More on the Financial Institution side), but my guess is that they are passing them through ACH. I think it's anything like other ACH payments, they most likely get a file of funds to be moved using an official ACH application / software that meets strict standards, and it is used to pass through / on to the employee TR / Banking account numbers. 2344 I do especially when you buy a audiophile grade player. Sounds amazing. 2345 The issue is the state requiring couples to provide that information. What reason does the state have to require it? 2346 Eh. I like my records. A lot of my favorite bands have released really cool color variants of their older records and it's really nice to look at spinning round and round. 2347 Why not use youtube instead of buying vinyls? 2348 Here's another 2349 That's semantics. People who are "for sensible gun control" are generally for adding more laws to the books, instead of enforcing the ones already on the books. 2350 Nothing I've said is wrong. Vinyl is an obsolete, irrelevant technology with no benefits over digital files. 2351 Also, 26 of the 27 deadliest mass shooters came from a single parent household. 2352 It's both. Vinyl sales were down to 55 million in 2007. Sitting at 450 million in 2019. 2353 [removed] 2354 How so? 2355 And mosquitos. I guess 2356 > This is not meant to be controversial. The intel version of "I'm not racist, but..." 2357 You're not wrong at all, but I wouldn't be surprised if they tried. 2358 I'd like you to know that tennis is one of the many professions where the women do less work and get paid more than men? For instance, women's tennis only plays best of 2 sets, where the mens is best of 3. And the prize money is about 25% higher for women. If you know tennis, you know I more set means a whole lot more. It's like taking 200 meters off the 500 meter dash. 2359 Yeah MaGa2020!!!!!!1!!!!!!1!!!!!! Donâ€™t tread on meeee!!!!!!1!!!!!! 2360 And I never said outright ban. I said moratorium on manufacture. You know what kind of control of industry the government had during World War II? You're trying to steer the conversation to one of your easily digestible, easily repeatable, NRA talking points that take the place of intellectual curiosity in your life. You can still keep making your silly claims with no evidence to get such a sense of satisfaction repeating someone else's words give you, but it's not going to work. You do not have the intellectual ability to discuss this at any level that does not involve regurgitating sound bites. In addition, you have proven yourself to be lack the maturity or emotional intelligence to debate this issue. You see, guys like you, you make this mistake that making statements like a massacre of schoolchildren is insignificant statistically makes people think you are above the rabble, and coolly intellectual, and such. But the truth of the matter is that it just means you are at a stage of your life before you've ever truly been attached to someone you value. People who lack that aren't educated, or brave, or tough, they are sheltered and inexperienced. 2361 I do, sort of. Murf. 2362 I think thatâ€™s for gay, not single. 2363 Username checks out. 2364 Right, that's the same process as the rest of us. 2365 Why is it racist? It is short hand for who your parents are. 2366 If a few bad apples spoil the bunch, the solution is not to get rid of the bad apples, it's to toss the whole god damned spoiled lot out and try again. 2367 [removed] 2368 How do you figure? 2369 I know what they mean too, from watching Archer. 2370 That's CNN for you. 2371 Where are you getting those numbers from? I've been curious as to what products those hospitalized were using but I've not seen any data on that. 2372 Hey now, we donâ€™t know that. It could have been The Noid or even Little Caesar. 2373 They don't want to state their racial identity, and they believe that requiring people to state it in order to get married is racist. 2374 They're not mutually exclusive. 2375 To clarify, it's not like the employee saw something and mistook it for illicit material. According to this article, he made up a story that the man had pictures of naked ten year old girls. I think originally thought this was one of those stories where the dude had a picture of one of his kids taking a bath or something. This is awful. 2376 You can get your citizenship in basic. Usually when someone doesn't get their citizenship while in the military, it's because they're too lazy. Every commander worth his salt will absolutely give their guys a few hours off to file for citizenship. Maybe this guy had a legit reason that prevented him from filing his paperwork. Or he kept putting it off and it fucked him in the end. Who knows. 2377 He was a pretty cool dude. An environmentalist before that was a common trait. Passionate about caring for the earth. Kind and believed in equality when it was popular to encourage hate. I don't think there's anything wrong with admiring a great grandfather who did everything he could to make a positive change in the world. Why are you so confused by that? 2378 Ladies and gentlemen, Trump University's finest graduate. 2379 [removed] 2380 [removed] 2381 And they probably did this based on his possession of weeds. That's sad. Like what the fuck people. We gotta end it. Seriously. I know so many vets that smoke simply as a better all to alcohol. Which it is. 100%. 2382 Because they know there's no possible way in hell to spin this. The man was in his house and the police came in and killed him. Period. 2383 Serena Williams is a joke. 2384 Hope Texas puts her to death. 2385 Vinyl is almost always lower fidelity than digital/cds. Unless of course you are streaming, but even then it will still usually be higher fidelity (bitrate) than vinyl. You can prefer the sound of vinyl, that fine, but it is almost never higher quality than digital. 2386 I was always told Oriental is furniture and rugs while Asian is a human. 2387 You clearly don't understand the difference between murder and manslaughter. Jesus fucking Christ - get acquainted with the fucking have on the table before opening your mouth. This site is full of mindless children throwing their irrelevant thoughts around. 2388 [removed] 2389 This is true, but iTunes and Bandcamp do not use DRM. 2390 If only the OVERWHELMINGLY GOOD number of cops I keep hearing about would stand up and stop these FEW BAD APPLES from murdering people! 2391 Tragic. I think well... good thing we have a president who is diligently following the events in the Bahamas and working to end slavery. What's that? The toddler is still winning on Twitter about Alabama days after he was repeatedly shown to be wrong? In Decision 2020: Get A President That Does His Job. 2392 Tell Ted Cruz that he is definitely a human and needs to continue to maintain that identity or else a certain definitely-non-hiveminded entity that is definitely also human will be very upset. 2393 It's so pure sweet that they declined to mention that they were previously in a romantic relationship. Fuck this psychopathic bitch. 2394 You probably wouldn't use injun or normal, either. Dude was responding to a comment about using outdated racist names. I've only ever heard occidental used as a name for places too. There are several of them in the Philippines (e.g. Occidental Mindoro) It never even occurred to me to look it up and learn it just means "West". 2395 University of Chicago created an entire cadre of ~economists~ bullshitter artists under Milton Friedman and Arnold Harberger. I think they've obviously haven't lived in NYC. 2397 And to put an exclamation point of how fucking insane America is you are getting downvoted. 2398 Lol snopes the guy who embezzled $100k to spend on prostitutes. Yes letâ€™s all follow him. What a bunch of lemmings. 2399 All the loans and loans were left with the old holding company. 2400 And when they're in the ring, bring down the stadium. 2401 Oh come on. Last year I grew a moustache and kept getting the "sup" movement (when guys nod their head upwards at you) from other people with moustaches. There is not an epidemic of secret, racist skinheads; get real. 2402 Uh huh... That's not the question. The question is whether the cops should be charged with a crime. It's quite obvious that they should not be. Nobody is arguing about the guy who shot the cops. 2403 You mean he had freedom seeds and anger tubes? 2404 Lol. Yes. He just looks like the one they save for last, who almost beats the hero. Then the hero prevails, and then says the classic one liner to him as he gets blown up or some shit. 2405 How? You haven't accounted for all the extraneous variables. I haven't even tried. I used research, and you used rhetoric to come up with a reason to ignore that research. I think shuffle along Karen. 2406 Funny, isn't it, that the footage of the actual raid is not available but conveniently footage of only the injured cop being carried out is? Surely, the cops that showed up to clean up the mess have footage of Breonna Taylor and the apartment right after the gang shot through it? 2407 [removed] 2408 A punch that does no damage but catches your attention. No knuckle, no malicious intent. I don't know, that's what I heard them called, not up on the lingo I just go with what I hear. 2409 As a money saving teen, I buzzed my own hair to a number one. Went to meet my girlfriend for her to finish class, and was minding my own waiting outside in the park by her building. Two guys were walking past, one white, one Asian. The Asian guy walked up and started giving me verbal for being a neo-nazi, while I profusely rejected his allegations, and told him to back the fuck off. He swore blind he'd seen me at a Nazi rally days before. His buddy noped the fuck out, and there I am trying to calm this guy down and assure him I'm not a nazi. I came close to knocking him the fuck out, just as my black girlfriend walked out. I think you might think that would make him back the fuck off, but he doubled down and kept ranting. My African girlfriend couldn't even make him see sense, and they got into a screaming match. We left him standing there still talking smack as we walked away laughing. I often wonder what happened to that guy. Hope he found some peace. I think - buzz cuts are cheap, but socially expensive. 2410 Soldier of misfortune? 2411 Shocks and struts? 2412 Bring on the next Nazi please... 2413 [removed] 2414 If Iâ€™m driving around Seattle, Iâ€™d like to not have to worry about taking a wrong turn onto the wrong two blocks and get pulled out my car and beaten. Just because itâ€™s only a few blocks makes no difference. 2415 Howndownyou know-it-all was a terrorist attack? I'm pretty sure the article would have mentioned that. 2416 [American] Christians will pull a gun and shoot people who have a slightly darker skin color than them. Probably shouldn't trust them. 2417 Same goes for George Floyd. 2418 â€œAn armed childâ€/n/nNo one tell this guy about a thing called the military, his head will explode. 2419 But cops don't kill white people. 2420 [removed] 2421 The problem with anti-gun is. In America, you can have ganster (including state sponsored) come to your home at night who knows that they will get away with murder. I think you can do against that? Complain to police? Spend a million in legal fees? Pray to god? Guns should be used less, but this de-escalation must start with police. 2422 white supremacist on white supremacist violence. 2423 Imagine thinking people shouldn't be slaughtered by the police is being on a leash. 2424 Employment at will. 2425 When you are a hammer every problem is a nail. 2426 Take their money take away the already minimal training. You are a genius. What do you manage exactly? A burger king? 2427 But then why wouldn't you say "My ex" instead of "My husband"? Just curious. English isn't my native language btw so maybe Iâ€™m missing something. 2428 Wish my last place did that. Instead I was told I was lazy and don't deserve anything so I quit. Guess who's struggling now bitch c: also who's shrink numbers also doubled from what mine were 4 years straight (apparently I'm good enough to train three new stores but not good enough to keep. 2429 [removed] 2430 So I told my wife this story about what happened. I left out the colour of anyone's skin. I simply told her what happened. I think she said it was such a tragic accident for the young girl and her boyfriend as well as the police officers. I think there is more than enough blame to go around. But in the end it was a tragic tragic accident of monumental proportions. This is not a RACE issue. I think 110% agree that police should not be able to exercise a home warrant in plain clothes; THATS insane. Hopefully a new law could be passed, in the name of this poor young girl so this never happens again. 2431 Chances?/n/nAll he needed was a slightly more cooperative law enforcement presence. 28 arrests and only 2 incarcerations? 2432 Out of his ass obviously. 2433 /u/DICK-FUCK-PUSSY-SUCK does great work. Username checks out. 2434 [removed] 2435 I don't understand why you're being so aggressive when I only asked a question. And besides most people say that say it aren't racists. 2436 Rules are for outgroup members. 2437 [removed] 2438 So we shouldn't put people who are against injustices on a higher standard? 2439 I mean if you think you know better than the guy who was actually there, go ahead, go off. 2440 I'm a woman. I'm half white and shave my head. More than a few times someone has called me a Nazi. Sorry guys I'm just mentally ill. 2441 A sticky note if you will. 2442 Thanks for the reply. Begg the question though (and forgive my ignorance) but is their not a responsibility on the seller to ensure purchases are legal? Like I understand how some buy to re-sell weapons, possibly clandestine, but couldn't those be tracked via serial numbers (if they have them). I assume that if it is illegal for certain people to own firearms then logically it is illegal to sell those people firearms, and the more expensive or exotic the weapon, the more difficult it should be to accomplish this. Just my assumptions though. 2443 It's okay. BLM generates millions of votes for Biden. 2444 [removed] 2445 Professor's is a cool superhero. But you can't be psychic about when a criminal has a gun. If you had any experience with criminals, you might know. These things aren't black and white, or so simple. 2447 Down at the 'ole gun mill. 2448 No, because heâ€™s bald. 2449 It's kinda weird to have as the last line. Would have made more sense right after the first paragraph. 2450 2020 is like boxing. You don't even have time to process a hit. Just gotta brace for the next one. Lol. 2451 â€œI feel came, I saw, I came againâ€ 2452 Firefighters are awesome, but desecrated a flag and using that as a symbol to support them kind of rubs me the wrong way. 2453 You've stretched that definition quite a bit to portray (someone or something) as evil or as worthy of contempt or blame. I think that sounds pretty accurate from what I'm seeing in the media, on Reddit, and social media. I don't disagree that reform is needed and we have serious problems like you suggest. My original point is simply that police are less likely to get aggressive with right wing hate groups because those groups are defending the police, not trying to defend them. I don't see why it's so controversial to look at that and say, "Hm, I think I see part of why they seem friendly with this all-right crazies." 2454 No sweat. 2455 [removed] 2456 I know we only care about BLM. Itâ€™s totally anti narrative to even mention it. But white people get hunted and killed all the time. No headlines, no news. No one cares. You have to search super obscure areas to find small local news reporting to find cases. Itâ€™s the only way. 2457 Hey, I'm not the one taking huge amounts of money from a company profiting off of slave labor. 2459 Um, do check the definition of arrest and take note of the other information: 'n' nearest - seize (someone) by legal authority and take into custody. 'n' When an Officer May Make an Arrest There are only a very limited number of circumstances in which an officer may make an arrest: 'n' * The officer personally observed a crime. 'n' * The officer has probable cause to believe that person arrested committed a crime. 'n' * The officer has an arrest warrant issued by a judge. 'n' An officer cannot arrest someone just because she feels like it or has a hunch that someone might be a criminal. Police officers have to be able to justify the arrest usually by showing some tangible evidence that led them to probable cause." /n/https://criminal.findlaw.com/criminal-procedure/what-procedures-must-the-police-follow-while-making-an-arrest.html 'n/https://www.hg.org/legal-articles/what-happens-after-an-arrest-48107 'n/Being arrested does not mean a person will ultimately be charged with anything and they may even be released. As above, all that being arrested means is that the police had legitimate cause to seize your person and place you in their custody. 2460 [removed] 2461 Whew! Glad that's solved! Cutting sometimes feet off is not a solution and your response was ridiculously insensitive. 2462 Love this comment thanks. 2463 And whose reason to be a suspect was non-violent, merely the possible possession of drugs or monies associated with their trafficking. 2464 > I getcha, but there are only so many surgeries that will result in those types of incisions on a patient. The people paying the bills are not checking on scars. Surgeons don't perform surgery alone and attempting to do so would be crazy suspicious, and surgical nurses and anesthesiologists are definitely going to notice if you pull out someone's ovaries and uterus instead of an appendix. The nurses and such don't know what was supposed to get done or what is being coded. They probably presumed these were required procedures. 2465 I was surprised to learn how quickly the ground chews up metal caskets in concrete vaults. In damp climates, you're lucky to get 20 years out of the concrete before it collapses, but long before then the vault and casket fill with water... I'd be wary of drinking wine from a cemetery vineyard, the grounds are usually built strategically on a grade and you can definitely smell decomposing in the water runoff during the spring. 2466 Shouldn't it be white since I support white supremacists? I believe it should be black for you since BLM has you on a leash. 2467 I mean, look how long Biden's been in office. 2468 Why did he run? Cop would have probably let him go. Even if he did get caught, he would have spent 1 week in jail. Dumb guy. 2469 Youâ€™re mistaken. 2470 Yeah, I mean... history... reality... who cares right? 2471 That basically means find the police. 2472 Also a solid choice. Thank you for the suggestions my man. 2473 I'm 19 too. Not bald yet, but my hair is starting to get grey. Judging by my father, I'll start balding soon enough. My grandpa on my mother's side still has thick black hair at the age of almost 70. Started graying a few years ago. Fuck man, I wish I had his hair lol. 2474 And my heart just breaks for him. 2475 ...you gotta be shutting me. 2476 White supremacists and militias have infiltrated police across US, report says. A former FBI agent has documented links between serving officers and racist militant activities in more than a dozen states. 2477 Aka Magats. 2478 Are you concussed or were you born a blithering idiot? 2479 Bullshit, it's clearly co-opting Black Lives Matter. And the difference there is you can't just decide not to be black. If you really don't see the difference you're being willfully ignorant. 2480 The way I can tell are the good ones donâ€™t have raccoon eyes tan lines from Oakley wraparounds. 2481 The money needs to be reallocated in some way, whether it moving it to other social departments that can solve issues easier, or taken from their military karking tank budgets and put into more intensive deescalation training programs. 2482 It's possible to conclude he was a terrorist even though this was not a terrorist attack. I think would have thought it was obvious that white supremacist goals cannot be achieved by political activity, and so therefore espousing such goals carries a necessary implication that you are prepared to use force. I'm not sure. 2483 Skeetin hot lead. 2484 Tell us all why you think it is that black people are more likely to be violent criminals who resist arrest and interact with police more often? 2485 [removed] 2486 [removed] 2487 Go bald or risk completely losing your sex drive and possible cancer. Fuck. I'll take the baldness. Hopefully in another 10 years

there'll be more options. 2488 [removed] 2489 [removed] 2490 Props to him for ideological consistency and for not pivoting to "they should have followed instructions" when the victims are black. 2491 SHARPS were douchebags though 2492 [removed] 2493 Yeah moral and legal work fine here. Morally I'd have to agree with you. But legally no. Sure, there's no law that says your past makes you forgo your right to self defense, but when you get into the pragmatics of our legal system, that's a different story.\n\nLet's use your example of your murderer at the KKK rally. Let's call the guy James. So it could be James just went there to peacefully protest, then some of the KKK guys got carried away and turned violent on him. But it could be James provoked the attack. Maybe it was a small provocation, just a few unkind words to some KKK members. Or maybe it escalated up to a threat of violence. \n\nEven in today's era of cell phones, it's still quite common for words leading up to a violent act not to be recorded. Ofc, once the violence starts, people usually do record that. So now we're back to the issue of witness testimony. If James is accused of escalating the situation, it weakens his claim of self defense. James's priors make it more convincing to a jury that he wasn't the victim in the situation. There have to be other factors too, such as testimony from other witnesses. But maybe those other witnesses had some friends in the rally. How are we to know? 2494 Thanks for explaining the dictionary to me. Calls are for both by the same parties. 2495 Another one bites the dust 2496 [removed] 2497 The gay marriage analogy is spot freaking on. Wow. The Republicans are repulsive. Let's just call a spade a spade. 2498 Originally, it was the "receiver" that was the serialized part. All guns capable of using magazines (semi-auto, bolt-action, lever-action, etc.) of multiple bullets had such a receiver, which was both the part with the most metal, experienced a lot of pressure during operation, and was the most difficult to make. If you're going to try to solve the "ship of theseus" problem and define "what part is a gun", the receiver makes sense.\n\nModern designs like the AR-15 blur the line as to which part is the receiver, if being separated into upper- and lower-receiver parts. In the end, I think they picked the lower because it had the most metal and was the easiest place to put the serial number, whereas the upper is smaller and tends to be rounded. 2499 [removed] 2500 Your comment was on the speculation that the housing market is going to crash because there will be a low inventory of renters who qualify and concern foreclosures will happen when mortgage forbearance ends. My response is to those concerns. Even if homes go into foreclosure it would only increase the housing market by a projected 11%. Unfortunately, we are in such low supply of housing right now that it those comes will not be enough to shift the market. 2501 What wholesale warehouse carries swastika masks? Come on. They were asked where the masks came from and lied and said Shell sold them everywhere. Why are you giving this guy credence? 2502 Also glad his face is out there- doubt any neighborhood he moves into will not be aware he is there - I would have a hard time not fucking staking his every move if I knew he was around me and would bother him in insidious ways until he moved 2503 [removed] 2504 That's amazing you're able to offer that your your child, unfortunately a lot of kids were not afforded the opportunity to have some semblance of a stable home life during the pandemic, where even before it their schooling wasn't a priority for a myriad of reasons / 2505 How about getting him fucking help, jail time with clinical mental health intervention. Dude is clearly sick and twisted.\n\nAnd you aren't against the death penalty if you favor if your own handpicked cases. \n\nPruning him from society forever won't help us figure out how to rehabilitate these people who think and live this way, nor will locking him in a cage without the guidance and help these people clearly need.\n\n*edit for spelling* 2506 Shh common sense and responsibility isn't allowed to be openly discussed 2507 Maybe I'm missing something? This information seems to align with my original statement. Hell, the first paragraph reads, "Persistently lower vaccination rates among Black and Hispanic people compared to their White counterparts across most states leave them at increased risk, particularly as the variant spreads." 2508 Your math is way high. $3M-ish invested lets you draw 70k+ inflation. 2509 That's an approach to retirement savings that can really decimate your 401k that I don't hear echoed enough over on r/personalfinance 2510 [removed] 2511 Yeah, we don't live in a free market. We live in a suppressed market. A CEO pay does not represent their value. 2512 Actually the gas station owner don't have to order them. They can go to wholesale warehouse and just pick up what they like from from a traveling vendor (like in this case). It is costly for a local gas station owner to order custom masks. 2513 How about an amend then?\n\n- Every time you wonder how does a company do this? It's because someone who works there, who may well be very misguided or just plain stupid thinks that it makes them more money 2514 Great answer - but I don't think we can then mandate a vaccine that hasn't been approved yet, right? I can't force someone to take an experiment\n\nI want to clarify, I'm 100% pro vaccine (especially after this sentence), but these are all questions I have when it comes to mandate 2515 Misrepresentation is the first part I keyed in on after your comment - that sounds fair. My biggest issue with this would be the hidden donations by large companies to super pacs. They are using the profits of the company to influence policy that may or may not represent the workers of the company. I agree with the 1990 ruling of Austin v Michigan which concluded: "corporate wealth can unfairly influence elections" - and Citizens v FEC overturned this ruling. I extend it with my own take that the corporate wealth is not representing the whole of the corporate entity. It not only distorts and disrupts our political system, it unfairly takes profits away from the workers.\n\nI don't have specific examples - because they do not disclose the funding thanks to this ruling. If the companies were forced to tell the world who they gave money to and how much, then I would have less of a leg to stand on, but it would not change my stance because I honestly think that elections should be publicly funded and limited in time and scope, but that is off topic.\n\nDid that answer your question? 2516 No but I did kiss my best friend while engaged to another man. 2517 [removed] 2518 I mean, there kind of was a good solution. But the politicians aren't about to lose they're banker friends any money. They'll stick it to the mostly middle class landlords. 2519 So here you are preaching when you were going through the 2008 market crash with absolutely no pity even though everything has gotten more expensive SINCE then. Dude it sounds more like you want someone to pity you than have a conversation about the CURRENT economic crisis. If you are that stuck up in your own head thinking that if I had to suffer than so should you then we really can't have a conversation cause it's all about your reality as I am telling you my situation and you aren't reading it. 2520 Try that again? 2521 It's the same in my country (netherlands) at the beginning of the pandemic we had an "applause" (clapping/cheering) for health care employees. A couple of minutes of cheering and then we go back inside feeling happy that we did our part. Meanwhile the largest part of this country votes for neo-liberalists who have been working hard at dismantling our health care. Where were these people during protests against cuts, where is your vote, it's pure hypocrisy. \n\nWe had some bonuses here from the government to first-line workers, 1250,- euro in total if I recall my own bonus correctly. Which seems to be more than the pen, water bottles and pizza parties that first line workers get in the US. But there were already strikes before corona about abysmal pay and benefits for health care workers. What they need is a structural change. That would show we truly do care. 2522 [removed] 2523 [removed] 2524 That's fucked up, I worked on peoples cars and got a monetary bonus. 2525 I know, everyone who did pay their rent with their relief funds all feel like fools now. 2526 Okay and to determine death rates, you would have to know they had covid 19 and ultimately died from it. Which requires testing. Which they can't as much as in the US. 2527 Hey, hey! At least Baja is beautiful! 2528 Zero too.\n\nBut I see lots of burnt mannequins, and you just know. 2529 I never said my friends are. I'm talking about financial institutions, people with generational wealth, foreign investors, artificiality wealthy from selling in high cost of living areas and purchasing in lower cost of living. It's really sad to be honest. None of my friends can afford homes. 2530 [removed] 2531 Can't wait to here the Far Right spin a conspiracy theory about this: liberals have commandeered bees to fix an election, you betcha! 2532 Yeah say goodbye to a quarter of the population then. Is this Neil Youngs account? 2533 Of course pharma companies bribed doctors to overscribe. Apparently some doctors are happy to override medical ethics if the price is right. 2534 [removed] 2535 No no, they just have to sign a form claiming they got a vaccine, or get to get paid to stroll on over to a testing place every week and can't have other people crammed in too close to them.\n\nTrue toughness! 2536 Your premise is wrong, the CEO doesn't represent the employees. The CEO represents the shareholders. That's the group of people whose voice is being represented 2537 The fever, muscle aches, and chills I had for a day and a half after both injections would not be worth $100 to me 2538 The data is showing that a booster would help.\n\nThe scientists were saying since last summer that Covid wasn't going away. It was going to become endemic. I'd like to say that I was hoping the vaccine would last longer, but, TBH, it's been a year and a half.\n\nI don't know how the scientists figure out which flu strain is going to hit that year and has to be vaccinated for. But I hope they manage to apply that to Covid pretty soon.\n\nFrom what I've read, now that they've got the basics down, companies like Pfizer and Moderna are confident that they can retrofit the vaccine for a different strain in a very short time period. Again, taking it back to flu shots, I don't know what kind of testing is done on those each year before they can be used, but whatever system we're using to have the appropriate flu shot every year we put in place for the new Covid shot. 2539 Silver and bronze medals are just participation trophies. We should stop giving them out. 2540 I don't play anything but solo in Apex anymore specifically due to how shitty the people on my team would make me feel if I made any decision they didn't agree with. Same reason I avoid mobas even though I love them 2541 Prices come down, and probably a lot of places that normally wouldn't take recently evicted tenants deciding they're worth the risk after all. 2542 Yeah're made up of people who can be easily swayed, especially when the burden of a civil trial is preponderance of evidence. 2543 I never thought about having nurses quit and mostly be travel nurses would force the hospitals to actually pay them like medical professionals. It's fucking disgusting how little they make for the horrible things they experience. They do most of the work expected from doctors and get none of the respect. Sad that company loyalty isn't beneficial anymore, but people need to do what's in their best interest. 2544 [removed] 2545 I drove through Alabama about a year ago and we joked that "I don't think anyone has told Alabama about corona yet." I'm not too surprised to hear this. 2546 It's a shame you're getting downvoted, does our global food system have issues that give certain companies a ton of power? Yeah, but also there are no easy answers, the people downvoting you have little understanding of the complexities and limitations of the food system. If anyone who understands heterosis/hybrid vigor disagrees I'll love to hear what they have to say 2547 She's a fucking adult! I don't care how scared you are you protect the child. You also never stay with a person who does a tiny sign of violence. Parental responsibility, personal responsibility, social responsibility. 2548 Anyone who's interested in learning more about the people responsible for this and the opioid epidemic should read [the New Yorker article by Patrick Radden Keefe | https://www.newyorker.com/magazine/2017/10/30/the-family-that-built-an-empire-of-pain] and the follow-up to that, [the Empire of Pain | https://www.goodreads.com/book/show/43868109-empire-of-pain]. They're about the Sackler family (Purdue Pharma, OxyContin), who hid behind lavish donations to elite institutions, political and regulatory lobbying, and ruthless legal pressure to shield themselves from public scrutiny for decades. It's an infuriating, masterclass in narrative writing and reporting about the family that is largely responsible for the opioid epidemic. 2549 What do you think it is when 3 guys bust your door down in a home invasion?! It's not target practice, or plinking. It's war!\n\nAnd I want the weapon that's gonna give me the edge. And I don't care how it's marketed as long as the thugs are dead! Not wounded! DEAD! My favorite weapon of choice is the 44 magnum! 2550 Not a bad idea--use peoples' blind nationalism to increase vaccinations. \n\nSputnik V has been used in enough countries at this point that there should be enough data to assess its safety. The only controversial thing about it was how it came to market in the first place (basically no studies, and the scientists tested it on themselves). 2551 Penalizing those who managed to still pay.\n\nYeah. This is not the way either. We need fucking loans with zero interest to be offered. Give people a chance to work away their debt. Not penalize those who paid and reward those who didn't 2552 This is what happens when you elect strong women. Would like to see work women in office and executive positions. 2553 Too bad Monsanto can't afford any of those charismatic lawyers. 2554 That can be accomplished without corporate personhood. 2555 Maybe get your vac rates above 50% 2556 JG Wentworth ads always remind me of that one Marine from The Rock (who wants his fucking MONEY!)(https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tBEbF_HiWOA) 2557 Cops in America: first time? 2558 Exactly, which is how I sagas1 described it, not how uSunthinsPhisry2 described it. 2559 I'm Conservative. I'm left and centrist on quite a few policies and over the last four years I've questioned it but then I'll see a thread or article that drives it home that yeah, I'm still Conservative. Definitely no longer Republican, who aren't conservative, and I have nothing to do with the ideas of 95% of the people on r/conservative. None of this crap is Conservative. Quite the opposite on numerous points. WTF is conservative about not wearing a mask. Or not taking a vaccine. Or not supporting state and local governments very legal health safety orders that have precedence reaching back to our founding and beyond. 2560 Bic pens are legit. I find a lot of the fancier pens just suck. I'll take a cheap bic pen or mechanical pencil any day. 2561 Oh fuck off if you can't even be bothered to put in any effort. 2562 Do it. It's sad that Reddit lets the shilling perpetuate as it does. I'm sure they could do something about it, if they cared to. Even if it was just labeling suspected accounts. 2563 > Your attitude of stick with them at all costs, despite the evidence,\n\nI'm once again asking you for evidence that they lobbied for PCBs. 2564 > I for one hope they fuckin never see the light of day again.\n\nThis is the one thing you said that I agree with. The rest of your rant is from some absurd demented perspective. WTF? The process of considering everything has nothing to do with being a rapey sympathizer. Fuck off with that shit. Absolutely every situation requires an amount of empathy to fully process it. Sometimes, that empathy will be with a person who otherwise doesn't deserve it. Anything less is making a monster of yourself. 2565 He was never arrested.\n\nMacron personally (as a citizen) filled a lawsuit against him for "insult" and "calling for hate" 2566 [deleted] 2567 Maybe instead of a sweeping no drugs policy, they should have addiction treatment. You can't expect an addict, especially to opiates, to just quit or don't get shelter. That's ridiculous. 2568 Just as reasonable as the cartels smuggling cocaine into the county 2569 So if you were told to work 15-20 hours more a week, got less breaks, and had to work with people deady ill, you wouldn't complain at all? 2570 Not specifically. Reddit loves generalities and pretending they know more than they do. 2571 cheers, edited 2572 100% agreed. Anger like that doesn't go away either. 2573 [removed] 2574 There are tons of warehouse/assembly jobs in my city paying $18-24/hour + a large signing bonus. I know, because I worked at one of them. Made $14,000 in 3 months this summer as a high school student. 2575 ex military here. I've seen this movie before & you're correct. 2576 Hercules the hero but backwards 2577 Don't ignore the angry conservative women 2578 What.....what do these child slaves even do on Mars? How do they breathe? Where are the launches from Earth supporting their base? 2579 I don't mean to defend this dbag, but there are a lot of hormonal aspects that happen. For one, you usually end up losing a lot of sleep. If you are a light sleeper to begin with, a new infant can make you so sleep deprived you are not in your right mind. \n\nAlso, most men have their testosterone drop when they have a newborn. It sure happened to me with mine. Sometimes it doesn't and it cause some to revert to more primal behavior. As in at a very primal level they don't recognize the child as theirs. Through drugs and alcohol into the mix and that's how this happens. Damn shame. 2580 I know that when heroin addiction was a problem in black communities in the 60's and 70's that most whites saw it as a choice and a moral failing. I assume that most suburban and West Virginia whites in the 60's and 70's felt that way also.\n\nI assume that the majority of current suburban and West Virginia opiate addicts are white.\n\nI know that the majority of current white suburban and white West Virginia opiate addicts want to blame anyone but themselves for their choice to become an addict (as evidenced by all the addiction apologists in this thread). 2581 That's a face only a mother could love. 2582 Other good ways to get injured include ... 2583 That wasn't "some organic farmer". That was OSGATA, representing farms across the US. And they couldn't name a single example of someone being sued for accidentally growing patented seed. Because it's never happened.\n\n-> dozens of lawsuits and hundreds of settlements that farmers have had to pay.\n\nDid they steal seed? Did they sign a contract and then break the conditions of it? 2584 They can encourage it (and do! There's plenty of healthy eating initiatives), but mandating it violates your rights. Your rights end where someone else's begin, that's why your ability to sicken everyone around you can be curtailed, but absent that, when it comes to criminalizing behavior, it has to have a direct impact on someone else's rights.\n\nThere's no right to the lowest possible healthcare cost. 2585 This is really fucked up. I can only wonder what other people this opportunist psycho has harmed. 2586 The building isn't deteriorating the smell just the funk of all the unwashed tourists. Please stay away. One major benefit of the pandemic was the lack of tourists on the road and beaches. \n\nMy grandmother had a favorite saying "What is the difference between Yankees and Damn Yankees? Yankees come on vacation and Damn Yankees don't go back home." Please remember that I-75 is a 2 way road.\n\nBut seriously no one deserves this. Tweekees suck, not all of Orlando is Disney and some of it is seriously dangerous as is a whole lot of the greater Miami area. Be safe and enjoy your vacation then go home. 2587 Same kind of mind who thinks it's fun to stick needles in food and in the playground. Sick mofo. 2588 I don't know why people interpret an obvious observation as being something I want to happen. \n\nI'm. Where have I seen a Democrat take power with both houses of Congress following an economic collapse, that administration fail to accomplish anything of significance for working people, resulting in republicans absolutely destroying them in the next election? 2589 True story. I'm a Canadian who worked for a call centre 15 years ago that had a policy regarding Alabama and Arkansas.\n\nThe call centre (west corp) took inbound business end user calls for At&T wireless. When people want to make payments, the only way 48 states could pay was to use the IVR and pay with their credit cards by entering the info on their keypad. \n\nIn Alabama and Arkansas residents were the only ones allowed to pay the agents on the phone because West Corp and At&T determined that the people in these states were too daft to use the automated system. 2590 That wouldn't solve anything, a ton of healthcare workers don't want the vaccine. 2591 Enjoy the no fly list, ahokes. 2592 But what about some defenseless person that POS is likely to kill?\n\nI find kinda hard to justify him ever being free again much less 2.5 years. 2593 I assumed "monster company" meant negatives only and had no positives. 2594 [removed] 2595 In most states. 2596 Good to know and was more of a general statement than a pointed accusation. Also don't think that is limited to only the US system. In Canada if you don't follow the rules laid out you can get denied medical care if it isn't life threatening. And you will be told that you are the one refusing medical attention. 2597 > accidentally\n\nI wasn't an accident. Bowman was trolling, literally. He knew what he was doing. 2598 [removed] 2599 you talk a whole bunch, and then say\n\n- Every study done on healthcare systems shows that the US spends astronomically more for healthcare, but gets worse results than other developed countries.\n\nInso cost....\n\nI'm free to explain why people literally fly to the usa to get medical procedures done though 2600 That's what happens when there is almost no oversight 2601 I didn't know he was rich or connected to trump 2602 I'm just pointing out the stupidity of, "sure, there are 30,000+ firearm deaths a year in the US, but think about all the people guns didn't kill!" 2603 Please remember this tomorrow, a week from now, years from now. These companies need to be boycotted. Fuck Coca Cola. Fuck these giant corporations that don't give a shit. The best thing we can do without passing laws is by not giving them our money. 2604 Absolutely. Also (to other readers) make sure you use as much of the animal as possible. Use the bones for broth, eat any parts of the animal you can (nothing wrong with liver and stomach if you learn how to cook it), use the skin to make something functional instead of just to display or toss out, bury any unused parts so it can decay and go right back into the ecosystem, etc. etc. etc. The more use you can get out of it, the better. 2605 ag gag laws are reprehensible, how can you honestly be on the side of massive corporations on this one?? 2606 By its plants for me I assume you are a vegetarian, which is a great mindset. If you cant stomach something dying for you than there is no other direction to go, meat is killed and it is hypocritical to eat and mindfully ignore what is going on beforehand. \n\nI know what I am doing when I kill an animal, and I know that ive weighed those pros and cons, and that animals life is very precious to me, so I will make sure it's sacrifice is not wasted upon me, my family or my friends. 2607 [removed] 2608 \ntrashy 2609 Would you say the same thing to abolitionists or what 2610 I stopped at fair oaks on a trip to Ohio about a month before all of this the place was awesome and is a serious bummer this happened there cheese was fucking amazing 2611 Doesn't make sense at all. You're absolutely at greater risk with a gun in your house. A gun is 41 times more likely to kill someone who lives in the house than someone breaking into it. \n\nYou can be as safe as you want, the risk might only be slightly higher, but it's always there. Very few of the hundreds of accidental gun deaths a year come from people who thought they weren't being safe. 2612 It's even more hilarious that it was Lionel-Richie who answered.\n\nWhat I don't understand, really, is why they're so heavily downtowned up above, when while their comment is a bit of a non-sequiter here, every word of it rings true on its own. They're saying it's already too far gone, and that immediate wants and needs take precedence over morality for most people.\n\nIt's interesting that the same comment went the other way in another thread. 2613 Big difference between deer, moose, or any wild game and beef. They are not comparable imo. 2614 [removed] 2615 \n#OKAY so you're a bald faced liar who just made up a study out of thin air and lied to everyone here about "researchers" running stats on CO2 emissions on a Saturday within hours of a protest. You just totally made it up. 2616 I wouldn't consider it punishment at that point, but if that is the word you want to use then yes. The woman should be punished for just a few more days so that the baby can live. 2617 They were exploiting them en masse, allowing physical and psychological abuse/torture, all so we get yummy milk. \n\nMilk has pus, blood, and after birth in it apparently. 2618 None... stop being dramatic. 2619 Ok, that still has nothing to do with killing the baby. 2620 There's a huge difference in protein, though. It sucks that all the high protein milk substitutes are barfy (pea protein etc). 2621 That's not a GMO... \n\nAlso, that's not even a good use of rennet and it's much, much cheaper to made from E. coli.\n\nFood Micro Scientist that made cheese in lab and research 2622 I remember a few far right people trying to convince he he didn't do it on purpose. I asked for video footage of, what they said was, "people attacking the car and trying to escape" but they could never provide it. 2623 Youâ€™re (probably) getting all these down votes because youâ€™re the only one conflating the two things that even you agree are mutually exclusive. 2624 You ethically treat them well until itâ€™s time to eat them? 2625 Itâ€™s baby cows that arenâ€™t let to walk or move. Normally they feed them on a dairy diet. It makes the meat very tender and some people enjoy it.. granted itâ€™s pretty fucked up to eat an animal that was chained down and put down before it had a chance. But hey itâ€™s just food.. right? 2626 Should a woman be punished twice by the state forcing her to carry a rapists baby to term? 2627 Hotel? Trivago. 2628 Thereâ€™s plenty of good reason not to let bad-faith activists in your farm. 2629 This is a lie you are telling yourself. Because you called abortion "murder." If you believe it 'should be legal' you wouldn't have said that. At least, it'd be very surprised if you had. I could be wrong. \n\n​\n\nLate-term abortions don't really happen, at least not on the scale that anyone likes to claim. Doctors don't do them on births that are viable (24 or so weeks +) \n\n​\n\nAccording to the CDC less than 1.5% of abortions are done past 21 weeks. These are things like birth defects that are "incompatible with life" etc. Greater than 91% are done pre 13 weeks. \n\n​\n\nnno one is allowing them on a 37 weeker 2630 Yeah, it ended twisted and in unimaginable pain while stuck under a car... 2631 Melt the key in the fire of Mt Doom 2632 They do have chocolate cashew milk and it is amazing. 2633 A calf... is a baby cow... â€œbabyâ€œ isnâ€™t a human specific word. 2634 Itâ€™m so close but they love heroin here. 2635 When it could survive out of the womb. So 5-6 months. 2636 This is the reality of big dairy and the animal agriculture industry as a whole. Everyone should watch [Earthlings] (https://vimeo.com/209647801). 2637 Needs a banana for scale. 2638 > Yes, should a woman be forced to carry a rapist's baby to term? \n\nShould that baby that is otherwise viable be punished and sentenced to death because its father was a rapist? 2639 [removed] 2640 So... you really have no idea what I'm about, do you? Pen pal, boyfriend... you really are a piece of work. \n\nBless your heart. 2641 Can we please just fucking put people on there and start exploring for fucks sake!!!!? 2642 How do you know that?? Agriculture decimates whole ecosystems.. thousands of animals die so we can grow crops. \n\nThe alternatives kill animals the same. 2643 I love their product but I wouldn't support them again after this 2644 Your way of thinking makes me believe that we're animals too, or even worse. 2645 If you had 2 guys take a woman out to an abandoned field and one stabbed her in the neck while the other delivered the coup de grace by choking her, almost every state would simply charge both of them with murder. \n\nHell, there are people who are getaway drivers being sentenced to death for a murder that happened by a member of the group they were with. 2646 [removed] 2647 He's getting life in prison, for the best of society. He deserves far worse. This IS mercy. 2648 I'm sure your child will appreciate this sentiment scumbag. 2649 Ah fuck, I literally just discovered their vinnalla core.power and it's the only protein shake I actually enjoy consuming. It tastes like fucking tapioca pudding, and now I find out it's only because they beat the shit out of their cows. Fuck! 2650 Cashew milk and coconut milk are my favourites. I've found coconut milk ice cream that has the same consistency as dairy ice cream and coconut yogurt that's just as good as dairy yogurt. I cut dairy out a few years ago because of allergies, but I no longer miss it. 2651 It would probably be considered legitimate. Most people will never need this though. 2652 Must be smoking some far right shit. This article has nothing to do with Democrats or guns. 2653 It's low-sugar lactose-free real milk which is a godsend for severe IBS. Stuff like soy milk and cashew milk aren't a part of low FODMAP diets. \n\nI'd rather be getting local milk I can trust but that will fuck me up. I should see who supplies the generic brands of lactose-free milk around me. They have more sugar but it's better than water in my cereal. 2654 Coconut, cashew, oat, hemp and pea are all more eco friendly alternatives to almond. \n\nThe biggest issue with almond isnâ€™t how much water it takes (1 gallon per almond) as much as the fact that most almonds come from a very arid environment (California). Cashew also takes a lot of water but is grown in an area that gets lots of rainfall to support it. 2655 Where are the news pages proving that it was all staged? 2656 HAAAAHA... Jesus you are really off mentally if you think there is some kind of COST in cow and pig lives to your diet and health. The reason those breeds of animals even exist is so that you and yours didn't die of starvation in childhood.\n\nHave you ever even been on a productive farm? There's a reason that farmers tend not to name their livestock... because they are dinner on the hoof, not pets or moral actors in the world. \n\nYou'd better pray that there's never a civilizational collapse because you'll have starved to death inside of a month with your dopey rationalizations about food. \n\nIf you think it's morally wrong, you'd not eat meat... but you don't even have the courage of your own weakly held convictions. \n\nMakes perfect sense why you'd think the way you do. 2657 Her phone was dead and possibly could be stuck there for a while. Last resort thing, but will work. 2658 > I've just never heard the National Guard referred to as some kind of dumping ground for the unwanted poor. \n\nhttps://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Conscription_in_the_United_States#922Poverty_draft922 2659 Oatmilk, especially Oatly, is DELICIOUS. \n\nBut! It's not high in protein at all. And the amount of sugar in the sweetened/chocolate versions is... less than optimal. 2660 For you to get milk, there's still a calf sent to slaughter, or at best he's grown to 1 year and slaughtered as "beef". That's roughly equivalent to sending a 4 years old kid to slaughter (in terms of age ratio, comparing the cow lifespan to a human) 2661 A friend of mine works there and said it was about 15/300+ people who were behaving this way and it was a huge shock to all of them. 2662 Hey bro maybe you could start a pen pal type situation with your little boyfriend while he rots in prison yeah? 2663 They should have fucking done it. 2664 surprised you never heard that. we have one sitting in the whitehouse 2665 bruh milk uses the most water of all alternatives 2666 I have come to respect vegetarians as a hunter, in my eyes you have to do one or the other to not be hypocritical. You cant mindlessly ignore where your meat comes from and pretend you are not the reason its there. I acknowledge that what I am doing and am making sure to do it in a way I can feel good about when I sleep at night. I know that animal is dead because I wanted it dead, but I also know that I cherish that animal more than anyone else ever will. I love the animals that I kill and make sure to treat all their meat right. \n\nVegetarians can get around that, they don't have to prove to themselves why they make something suffer, as I weigh the gain I get vs the suffering I bring. \n\nNot that I am against a personal trophy hunt, but at least make it worth it in your own minds pros and cons. When I took my grizzly bear (Alaskan) it was in a unit that is over run with them and allows 2 a year (moose populations are low in the area) and I am going to use the skin as either a rug or clothing. (haven't decided, but if its clothing ill make sure it doesn't look like how you would imagine it would). \n\nBut yeah if you are a meat eater, try to become aware of what you are eating, weigh the suffering you bring. 2667 There are emergency flashlights in the cockpit. It's what the girl that was trapped used to signal the ground crew. 2668 Oof that could end badly 2669 According to the dictionary, humanly means "doing something with compassion or by inflicting the minimum pain".. that will make most dairy operations pretty humane. 2670 last I heard it was Mercer that contracted Cambridge Analytica to sow discord. 2671 Lmao him yelling "its protein! its good for you!" And eating some of the topper 2672 Yeah by "our population" I meant feeding everyone with hunted meat, assuming the demand for meat is held constant. \n\nI've still lived in small tribes, a group of hunters could provide for their tribe, and we'd be more in tune with nature for it. \n\nPersonally I couldn't stomach killing a sentient creature with my own hands either way, so it's plants for me. 2673 No. Her phone died. Had a funeral and everything. 2674 Thus we must reduce our consumption, or accept we are monsters. 2675 What's weird is they effect sorta defended chicken tenders. 2676 In some places, such as New York City, it is definitely true. Perhaps not nationally, I may have been mistaken about that. However, black babies are still 3-5 times more likely to be aborted than white babies. It's a genocide of the black people in America. 2677 >where Trump was a Russian puppet was nonsense. At most, Trump could be seen as the useful idiot. \n\nI wouldn't Puppet and Useful Idiot be the same thing? 2678 this is why Iâ€™ve switched to hemp milk 2679 That's true. Everything I work o. Is hangared so it's a habit to say that lol. 2680 Uhhhh, the farm in the video is owned/operated by the cofounder of Fairlife Milk, and CEO of select milk producers (jointly the 2nd largest shareholder of Fairlife, next to Coca-Cola). This firm/ man is very involved in Fairlife, and I have not seen anything that says Fairlife will stop purchasing from him. \n\nDo you work for Fairlife/ Fair Oaks/ Coca-Cola? \n\nSource (one of many): https://www.fastcompany.com/person/michael-j-mccliskey 2681 You are a truly exceptional human being. I wasn't there, nor have i experienced anything like this. The state's lawyer says he has shown no remorse what so ever. Maybe start with 10 years and see where he's at. Personally, I don't have a lot of sympathy for this hateful and cowardly murderer 2682 Holy shit the puns! 2683 This is why I will never own a Glock or a Walther P99. The fact that they don't have a safety should be illegal. 2684 Yes but there are other dairy alternatives that are less harmful to the environment. 2685 You didn't counter with an facts. You just said lalalalal he is wrong. Maybe you are the one derailing the discussion and sowing discord 2686 "Very fine people." 2687 When there's no drywall you've gotta improvise 2688 45 minute drive between "there's two Starbucks on this block and "I can count how many teeth the guy sitting in his rocking chair with a double barrel has on one hand" 2689 This is mostly factually incorrect and focuses on a certain specific narrative... it's always the same claim and with the exact same words. This might happen at giant industry levels, see Fairlife, but on a more localized level this is nowhere close to the truth. 2690 Protecting companies from â€œanimal rightsâ€œ groups that actively lie and string together videos isnâ€™t really fucked. Blaming those companies for having to deal with shitty people is though. \n\nThereâ€™s a long list of common tactics in these â€œundercover investigationâ€œ videos that pretty much any farmer can pick out right away, but the general public is clueless about. The worst are when an animal rights group canâ€™t get the juicy video they want, so they coerce the abuse to get something on tape like what happened in this case at Fair Oaks. \n\nYour kind of comments are not helpful at all though since it just feeds into rhetoric and ignores whatâ€™s really going on at farms. The â€œco-gagâ€œ laws were put in place so abuse actually gets reported immediately instead of these groups sitting on the video for months just so they can add their narration, editing, etc. Put another way, these animal rights groupsâ€™t behavior got so unethical, laws had to be passed to try to stop it, and theyâ€™re trying to lash out against those laws while trying to hide their behavior. 2691 Well her phone was dead. I was going under that assumption. 2692 Yup. I understand feeling outraged and betrayed by this company, but if you truly care about animals then buy less animal products. 2693 Bless your heart. 2694 The â€œdairyâ€œ breeds of cows holstein, jerseyes etc have been bred to be fairly docile. They can for bonds with their calfs, however most dairies remove the calf almost immediately to prevent disease and to reduce the stress of a later separation. These cows donâ€™t moun their stolen children their entire lives, I have seen a cow give birth and fail to even recognize the calf. \n\nFinal note: no dairy farmer would mistreat their cattle it is usually the farmhands, still upsetting, but a cow that is not stressed and is comfortable and well treated can produce about 20% more milk. The dairy farmers know that and all of the farmers Iâ€™ve met care deeply about their cattle and would be deeply angered to hear this happened to their cows. They recognize what these animals provide and treat them well.\n\nAnecdote: I once met a dairy farmer who refused to produce organic milk because to be considered organic you cannot use antibiotics ever. He equated it to seeing one of your children sick and deciding not to give them medicine to make them better. \n\nAny cow given antibiotics needs to be isolated and their milk cannot be used for a specific period of time after administration of the antibiotic, also all milk is tested for antibiotic residues anyway. 2695 Reducing/ stopping our purchases will fix this 2696 If people really wanted to know the full process of getting animal foods to their table, and if they really saw the process from start to finish, I'd like to think most people would think about their choice. I'm not anti meat. I am anti modern factory farming and animal agriculture. That shit is fucked up. Watch Dominion, Earthlings or Meet your Meat. 2697 [removed] 2698 Holy fuck. 2699 Maybe Iâ€™m being stupid here but couldnâ€™t we make the separating of cow calves more human by allocating the calves, both male and female, to suck off the tit of their mother while also getting milk? If we took rounds where half was milk production for us and the roger half for the calves then the cows wouldnâ€™t grieve the loss because there would be no loss. And the young calves could have the benefits of the milk plus we still get milk just at a lesser rate. Someone ELIS why this isnâ€™t humane because either Iâ€™m stupid or a genius and Iâ€™m betting the former. 2700 This cat is dead! Open the market or not. Itâ€™s dead. ðŸ˜˜ðŸ˜˜, ðŸ˜˜ðŸ˜˜, 2701 Its gonna b like McDowells in Coming to America 2702 [removed] 2703 In Putin's Russia, ham burgles you. 2704 No, news like this came out in 2001. Even the Bush family Saudi business ties. Nobody blinked. 2705 Have you met the edgelords? 2706 [removed] 2707 That depends on whether Putin is alive or dead, at least near term \n\nHe has made the gov so dependent on him that his absence may cause a period of chaos. That, however, may be healthier than proceeding on the road he, and he alone, has chosen. 2708 Everyone wants 20â€œ wheels, lat loading floors and independent rear suspension. Thereâ€™s nowhere to fit a huge full sized SUV wheel and tire and have all those things. Itâ€™s called design trade offs, not just capitalism. 2709 Arnold himself debunked that myth, here on Reddit. 2710 >You've described a crime problem, not a persecution problem. \n\nI literally explained how itâ€™s not just a crime problem \n\nhttp://hrp.law.harvard.edu/wp-content/uploads/2021/04/Killing_With_Impunity-1.pdf \n\n>By your standard people living in high-crime areas of the US like East St. Louis could be eligible for asylum \n\nThe US doesnâ€™t have state-sanctioned gangs committing political terrorism \n\n>Also, given the assumption that the US is supposedly a hotbed of systemic racism, I'm not sure why Hondurans would want to immigrate to this country to escape racism \n\nSo now youâ€™re venturing off into opinions and culture war babble lol. 2711 [removed] 2712 Donâ€™t worry guys, sexual assault and pedophilia are fine if a woman does it to a male. \n\nI just like how itâ€™s okay for men to be sluts but absolutely terrible for women to have casual sex. 2713 Alright, yes, I believe a baby (born or unborn) should be able to "use a woman's body without her consent." If that's the "gotcha" moment you wanted, there it is. 2714 Arnold is a really smart guy. I think a lot of people underestimate him because of his thick accent. Heâ€™s also a reasonable and empathetic individual. 2715 Hi yea its joe if you want these migs you gotta say this 2716 [removed] 2717 Country entertains the idea of selling oil in non US dollars \n\nUSA pulls out folder labeled DIRT* \n\nYou sure you wanna do that?" -USA 2718 On average a Russian soldier makes $60 a month, well now it's close to nothing in USD. 2719 Because she died while the rioters were perpetrating a felony, which means that they can be charged with murder. \n\nhttps://www.criminaldefenselawyer.com/resources/felony-murder.htm#:~:text=Felony%20murder%20is%20a%20legal,defendant%20is%20liable%20for%20it. 2720 Outraged and incorrect, how apropos. 2721 [removed] 2722 [removed] 2723 [removed] 2724 No, it wouldn't, because if you'd read the article you'd know she was charged with multiple offenses, only some of which are covered by statutory rape. Saying "statutory rape and numerous other offenses" as part of a headline 90% of you on Reddit won't finish reading before getting mad in the comment section is stretching realism. 2725 Thanks for sharing. I'll have to do more research on it. Another incredibly difficult ethical issue I think. \n\nFor real. I am in a community of friends that is super passionate about adopting and it's hard but worth it. 2726 [removed] 2727 [removed] 2728 At what point do you just throw in the towel and admit you donâ€™t even have an economy anymore? 2729 It doesnâ€™t look unlivable or anything. \n\n(Google images)(https://www.google.com/search?q=soviet+housing+block&tbm=isch&hl=en-US&chips=sqoviet+apartment+block,g_linside:C1tBcQp28P9j3D&pmd=insv&rlz=C1DGOYI_cUS28US28&sa=X&ved=2ahUKEwi7cQyO7c72AhXMAoK0KhvceBNgQ4iYoAXoACEAEQw&bw=428&bih=751#imgre=Sel 2730 He's terrified of getting assassinated. I highly doubt he wants to die that much 2731 [You missed this guy's reaction a while back] (https://www.reddit.com/r/textjackinglevel/comments/15vnx8a_snapshot_of_the_russian_economy_an_investment/) 2732 [removed] 2733 I mean, it's kind of a good thing. If the US wasn't such a strong and experienced military power, Russia would feel emboldened to maraud through all of Europe and the death toll would be orders of magnitude higher. \n\nYou can dislike the obscene amount of money the US spends on defense, and the disgusting lack of money that seems to be left over for proper infrastructure and social services, but that doesn't change the fact that the world (including you, yes you) benefits from Pax Americana. 2734 I donâ€™t see what you mean. Rioters should be charged because capitol police shot a rioter? Rioters are being charged, I really donâ€™t see what they could be charged with regarding the outcome of her actions. 2735 [removed] 2736 I'm with you. But to use an expression, your right to swing your fist through the air ends where another person's face begins. The trick is figuring out where the other person's face is, in this situation. 2737 Schools are bombed by Azov terrorists, you dum-dum. Russians are trying to liberate the civilians from the scary nationalists. \n\nI guess I guess 2738 Putin personally hate fucked her before she stepped down. It was kinda rough... 2739 Their larger military can't be mobilised because A. they can't afford it, B. their logistics can barely handle this war already (see asking China for help) and C. it will be an admission to the public that they are in fact in a major war that they are losing and not just a "Special Military Operation" which will result in Russian society losing their shit. 2740 The house one is more obvious. And also pretty damned inspired (in outfit-to-pin match efficacy). 2741 Princess Michael of Kentâ€™s father was a member of the Nazi Party and an SS officer during WW II, so she was living up to her nasty heritage. 2742 [removed] 2743 [removed] 2744 I will invest one dollar in rubles. By this time tomorrow I will have a billion rubles. 2745 [removed] 2746 Itâ€™s crazy that people are reading this as 100%

[illegible]

I'm now sure that you don't know what you're talking about, because you just suggested home loans. >With a home loan, the home itself acts as collateral.Now I already knew that (hence my statement about the absence of useful collateral in your loan compared to a loan for a McDonald's). No need to be rude. You didn't precise unsecured loans in your initial statement. Maybe that's what you meant, maybe you said it and I missed it, in any case no need to be rude and condescending.Anyway, you're not saying anything interesting and you're being rude, so I'm out. 2920 Doesn't this happen all the time in African countries? Not the child murdering part but the murdered by an angry mob part. 2921 [removed] 2922 [removed] 2923 If by recently you mean months ago when all old people did 2924 [removed] 2925 There's plenty of idiot people of all ages so this really doesn't matter at all that much. 2926 I guarantee you all the money in the world that if trump was president all those hard working nurses and doctors would still have jobs. 2927 12% is a decent chunk 2928 And blue states could pass laws stating that anyone can sue a gun shop for selling any weapon larger than a handgun. It's not banning the weapons, you see, so it's not violating the Second Amendment. It's just opening up civil liability! (For the record, I'd be against this kind of law also, but it would be possible if the Texas law is upheld.) 2929 Must be low on adrenochrome. 2930 ? Millions of kids got sick. Maybe you mean kids weren't dying? Which is still rarely far from the truth. Number of children deaths now is over 750. I think over 300 in the last 3 months. 2931 No. spiffs coffee, watches phone No, stop. 2932 We encourage you to read our helpful resources on COVID-19, vaccines and treatments:(https://covid19who.int/)(https://www.reddit.com/r/Coronavirus/wiki/faq/wiki_where_can_i_find_information_about_the_mechanism_and_progress_of_vaccines.3F)(https://www.who.int/news-room/feature-stories/detail/who-advises-that-vermectin-only-be-used-to-treat-covid-19-within-clinical-trials)nI am a reminder that spreading misinformation regarding COVID-19, vaccines or other treatments can result in a post being removed and/or a ban. Advocating for or celebrating the death of anyone, or hoping someone gets COVID (or any disease) can also result in a ban. Please follow ReddiquettenPlease use the report button and do not feed the trolls.(https://www.redditinc.com/policies/content-policy)n(https://www.reddithelp.com/hc/en-us/articles/360043513151)n(https://www.reddit.com/r/news/wiki/rules)n(https://www.reddit.com/r/news/wiki/rules?utm_source=reddit&utm_medium=text&utm_content=t5_2qh3l)n-----* I am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please contact the moderators of this subreddit (/message/compose?to=r/news) if you have any questions or concerns. * 2933 No, if the kid is a kid. Kids don't have fully developed emotional systems nor the capacity to see the full picture of their actions. 2934 [removed] 2935 [removed] 2936 [removed] 2937 [deleted] 2938 Yikes, guess he finally found Hillary's email(s)!.. 2939 [removed] 2940 [removed] 2941 Here in Canada we passed herd immunity and are currently at 77.8% of our entire pop. And they still laid off nurses, put in a vaccine mandate and a vaccine passport. Nothing is going to change and it seems like it's getting worse. 2942 [removed] 2943 [removed] 2944 It's a tug-of-war between security, neighbor relations, and humane treatment. On the one hand, letting them enter the US and then file for asylum or letting them into the US after a preliminary check increases the chances of someone entering who will ultimately be denied. Forcing all non-Mexican migrants to stay in Mexico forces Mexico to shoulder the entire burden of taking care of them, however. It also means that the asylum seekers have to live in ramshackle camps, which can be seen as cruel and unnecessary. 2945 [removed] 2946 [removed] 2947 Technically, under Catholicism and Orthodoxy, the only "requirement" for sainthood is that a person be with God in heaven. There are billions of Saints, possibly even Mr. Rogers.nThe strict "rules" around it are actually just for Canonization - basically, just the Church's official statement that, for a variety of reasons, "we know this person is with God and can recommend all believers celebrate, venerate, and ask for their prayers." 2948 [removed] 2949 I heard last time we saw him, we was smoking a joint on a plane to England. 2950 [removed] 2951 Woah Hillary finally made her move 2952 Probably another judge 2953 [removed] 2954 The appeal wasn't Joe Rogan, it was the enormous variety of truly interesting guests. So many people just interview celebrities, but Joe also had scientists, doctors, authors, artists, world travelers etc., and they were truly interesting people with great stories to tell. It is really too bad. He had something good going and ruined it. 2955 [removed] 2956 [removed] 2957 Then he went on the run but got busted for shoplifting a sandwich. He had $37,000 in his car... 2958 [removed] 2959 And yet I still have had conversations with 2 different people that I worked with that changed from the prototypical Bernie bro, into trump supporters. There was even the reason I first heard of Bernie as a younger guy like 4 or 5 years ago. As anecdotal as 2 people is, it's still noteworthy in my head at least because they made up 2 or the 3 people I've ever known that supported Bernie. 2960 >While a little bit of inflation is a good thing for an economy because it incentivises consumers to buy goods and services now, rather than sit on their wallets in expectation of prices droppingnOh come the fuck on. God forbid we have a chance to get ahead. 2961 [removed] 2962 I agree the system needs more funding/resources regardless, but Mexico isn't a terrible place, first of all(a). Second, they were already there. I don't really see what's wrong about having them wait there while we process their requests. Just to make it clear, I despise trump, but not every single thing done during those 4 years was inherently bad - because people besides him were making decisions too. 2963 In detail, Breivik was sentenced to æceforvaringæ - we have the same sentence in Denmark. Norway doesn't have a sentence called æcelife in prison, their maximum sentence is 21 years yes, but the term æceforvaringæ means he will face a parole board after the 21 years and they can or course deny parole/release. His sentence will then be prolonged by 5 years after each hearing.nThis is a de facto indefinite prison sentence - or life in prison. Breivik will need to convince psychiatrists etc that he is truly reformed, regrets his actions and won't commit more crimes. Considering how after 10 years he's still proud of what he did and defends it, the likelihood of him ever convincing "anyone" æ regrets is zero. So he will not be released. 2964 No I think Hospitals have every right to fire nurses that do not believe in the vaccine. My argument is that these nurses did not and could not of known that a covid vaccine would be mandatory when they became nurses therefore it's not what they signed up for. If my employer mandates that instead of office work I now am required to do manual labor then I should be able to refuse, get fired and collect unemployment. 2965 [removed] 2966 How can a human be as obtuse as you..... 2967 And I bet all the "smartest nurses" also majuscula, like this pedagogue. 2968 To point out more issues on a complex issue is that Mexico does just allow caravans as trains to flow freely through the entirety of their country. Mexico could enforce its own border in the south to stem the flow too 2969 [removed] 2970 This simply isn't correct. Still lots of new nurses with ADNs although the trend is moving towards exploiting them by requiring you to pay for a BSN. 2971 His system may be weakened by all his corporal self indulgences when in his ascent to power (food, drink, sex, long hours, limited sleep)nBut his survival in good condition - and that of popular leaders in all democracies - should be a symbol of continuity which is a boost to morale of those who appreciate what each leader gives to his or her constituents (subjects, for royals) 2972 [removed] 2973 His stupid ass hack rants and tough talk aren't going to mean shit in court when they have to actually prove he did something wrong. 2974 [deleted] 2975 [removed] 2976 [removed] 2977 [removed] 2978 [removed] 2979 He praised Fidel's literacy program... He can also recognize someone did something good, while also acknowledging they are a shit person. Sanders came under fire because the US has a significant cuban population. I personally think this draws parallels to Obama and Trump both giving praise to MBS of Saudi Arabia. n(https://www.politifact.com/factchecks/2020/feb/24/bernie-sanders/sanders-correct-cuba-literacy-campaign-skimps-prop/nBut yeah Bernie was always a pipe dream, if the US could do ranked choice voting he would have never been on top in a similar manner Trump would have never had a chance to win his primary. They are the special candidate in a field of very much the same ones and turns out you might only need 15% of the vote to win if you can separate the votes for everyone else. 2980 You've got this wrong. The right to an abortion is based on the Constitution as described in Roe and Casey. You don't need federal legislation to limit the abilities of a state when it comes to constitutional issues. You can take a look at handgun bans being found unconstitutional to understand that. There is no federal legislation that says handgun bans are illegal so the supreme court could only fall on the Constitution in determining the ban was illegal. 2981 [removed] 2982 There are pharmacists who have said confidentiality that there were people in the Senate who currently have Alzheimer's & dementia. 2983 Less Sanders voters voted for Trump than Hillary voters who came out to vote McCain in '08.n[Source] (https://www.washingtonpost.com/news/monkey-cage/wp/2017/08/24/did-enough-bernie-sanders-supporters-vote-for-trump-to-cost-clinton-the-election?)nIt's more likely that Sanders voters just stayed home that election cycle. 2984 [removed] 2985 Lol, I can only speak for myself but I'm indeed rather cheerfully twisted. ðŸŽ 2986 Not nearly as mad as Trump, but duly noted. 2987 Brussel sprouts for me. I loved broccoli and a lot of other types of veg, but I only recently (last few years) got into brussel sprouts. They suck to clean and prep though. 2988 [removed] 2989 [removed] 2990 > Rapists don't follow the rules, if they did, they wouldn't be rapists.nI have no idea why people like you keep saying this. Rules exist to dissuade people from doing crimes.nDo you think murder should be legal because only murderers break the law? 2991 They have to assume that right wing anti-vaxxers are violent. 2992 My issue is I don't trust that doctors aren't being manipulated by the big drug companies. They have a lot of money and power. Doctors get kick backs and vacation packages for encouraging certain drugs. 2993 [removed] 2994 [removed] 2995 the both have to wear a mask and can not go outside without permission 2996 [removed] 2997 As if that is saying anything about their qualifications. They don't believe in science, they shouldn't have a job that has anything to do with it. They might have good intentions, but their stupidity is dangerous. 2998 Oh yes the dnc rigged it by making all the losing candidates who had no chance. Drop out and endorse the candidate who they agreed with more. Who also happens to not be your preferred. Damn it Hillary Clinton. As someone who first chose was far from Biden. But eventually went with him over Sandeas. Please stop with this nonsense. He lost twice against two so called weak candidates. Says a lot about Sanders. Trump would've demolished him. 2999 [removed] 3000 Both groups are silly. That said, I'm seeing way more posts about the change than I've seen about the original version of the emoji. 3001 Can confirm. Was arrested in New Jersey for weed. 3002 At one stupid point in my life I bought a Ford fiesta because my commute to work was far and I just wanted a small car with good mpg and a few comforts like Bluetooth and I own another, better, and more fun car to drive on the weekends). Biggest car buying mistake of my life. Transmission would randomly drop out of gear, almost got me rear ended. Dropped out on a 50mph highway once. Only way to get it working again was to shut the car down and restart it. Also at random times the car just wouldn't start and I had to sit and try every couple minutes until it decided to. Sometimes up to 15 minutes. The catalytic converter died under 30k miles. The fuel filler had an evap issue that made pumping gas take about 15 minutes because it would only accept fuel for about 2 seconds before the pump clicked off. Finally I got rid of it after it started overheating on evening commutes and the dealership couldn't reproduce it because it only did it after an hour of driving. Eventually I had to drive to them while it was overheating just so they would believe me that it was, and they diagnosed it as a failing water pump and replaced it. The car overheated again within a week and I just said fuck it and took a hit to trade it in, not for another Ford, obviously. 3003 Jesus Christ, whats so fucked up that you need all those drugs 3004 [Halalahahahahahaha no. Just no.](https://mediabiasfactcheck.com/msnbc/3005 Is that supposed to be a reference to the short lived myth in the sidies that smoking banana peels could get you high?nIf it is, I approve. 3006 What about Africa?nOr does that not count as slavery since they did 3x the amount whites did to their own kind.nOr what about Islam? More then 10x the amount both Africa and South America combined.nDoes that not count?nWhat about Mongols? Pretty sure they're Asian.nWhat about Romans? Pretty sure they're not white.nMUH WHIEET WACISMOZn'll give you a hint to who practices racism still, and it's not the West.nJust look at India's caste system, is that not in itself racist?nWhat about South Asia where the growing populace doesn't have the same laws as the West does so they get away with this since NOBODY CALLS THEM OUT ON IT.n3007 Chris Christie was governor when these statistics were released. Possibly worse than Sessions. This story is outdated and stupid, our new governor is pushing for legalization and most people think it will happen within the next 2 years. The only reason this story is here is for people the shit on New Jersey. 3008 Pork roll 3009 NY and NJ are no longer left leaning. The corruption in politics is so strong nothing will change until the politicians are satisfied they can make more money legalizing then keeping it illegal. 3010 > Why is a front page news story that New Jersey is #3 in weed arrests?</

1. I reported the arrests more frequently. In 2019 this was bullshit. I'm been driving in New Jersey for 7 years. I speed everywhere. I'm been pulled over once, and the officer let me go with a warning. I've been with most people I know here. The only time the roads are like you described is on the parkway in the summer, and most NJ residents know not to drive fast for that exact reason. Maybe they're harder on out of state plates, most state police officers are. But the police state you're describing is just not true. 3060 Asking the real questions 3061 That 4% was Houston tho, the largest city and local economy in the state 3062 Yea, I want so badly that they just got a bad rap from the media and public perception, but it does seem that they are consistently the culprits. Everyone says a sweetie, like ok why do you have to point out that your dog is nice- that should really be a baseline assumption lol. 3063 Or you live somewhere car theft literally never happens. 3064 [removed] 3065 Oh because they're white, gotcha. 3066 Fuck them, well keep our Taylor ham, beaches, and pizza to ourselves. 3067 They would need to prevent the people from logging into whatever online platform still. Basically ban any IP address from that nation, and likely need to ban known VPNs as well. 3068 [removed] 3069 [removed] 3070 What people fucking out? Because from what I can tell, this was an internal decision and not in response to any public outrage. 3071 But was the horse JRH, NBB? 3072 May want to make a new emoji since the people in the USA actually have very little say on what happens in DC. Maybe the Davos elite would be a better target since they run the world. 3073 Well said, my lobster friend/nbbr at all to do with, say, industrial centers turning into jobless garbage heaps when the capital went off to greener wage slave pastures, or illegal firings tripling under the Reagan administration when they openly announced that they wouldn't be enforcing labor laws, or the rise of a high-turnover service sector with its nominally part-time employment, followed by virtually coast to coast union-busting right-to-scrum legislation 3074 Ah, the joys of living in a conservative police state 3075 Unfortunately the next battle will be against all the conservative counties and towns that are trying to ban pot locally 3076 "Remember that time a guy donated (paid) you $25,000 so you would vote a certain way and you did the opposite anyway? Well that is kinda like a lootbox. You are paying for something, knowing what you want, but only having a chance to get it. That chance is almost certainly rigged against you so that you need to keep putting in more and more money. As you know, the more money you spend the more likely you are to win."/n/nNow he understands, he IS a lootbox. 3077 I wish there was a way to fix that. Why must they have so much power in government? 3078 [deleted] 3079 With the availability of smart phone cameras now, everyone should be able to record crimes being committed as they happen. I'd have definitely taken pictures of the vehicle and the people getting in. 3080 The north isn't liberal at all when it comes to weed. The entire West coast has legalized, and only two have in the northeast, and they still haven't fully rolled anything out yet. The North is no longer the bastion of progressiveness they like to pretend to be. 3081 Socialism and Social Democracies are different things. He still believes in the latter... a free, legitimate government run by the people for the people. He is against government corruption and private interest with direct access to public office. /n/nVenezuela has a dictator with a slowly deteriorating sham government (thank god), a dictator is the opposite of a democracy if you didn't know. 3082 Then they don't need DACA. Your conspiracy makes no sense. If all you need is bad voting registration and illegals, then them being legal makes no difference. /n/nOr... maybe people who aren't allowed to vote that do is negligible and this is just a bullshit scare tactic 3083 Legalize it. Unfortunately I will still be prohibited to use it as I am regulated by the DOT. DAMMIT. 3084 They are the worlds largest exporter, most other places use at least some of it themself but the UK sells everything it grows 3085 Yeah same here. If somebody sold me poison and I consumed it I wouldn't want that person to be charged. Heroin doesn't jump into people's bodies, it's an object. /n/nIt's like that old saying- objects don't kill people, people do. 3086 After they added supply drops and the other weapons and that shit, it no longer was a remaster by definition. 3087 hasn't yet....they are trying though. 3088 What? Those are the cities most people outside of NJ have heard of 3089 here's a big hug. mmmmm 3090 Stevia plants were illegal until Coca-Cola learned how to make soda with it. 3091 This guy gets it 3092 There's money in the banana stand. 3093 Expensive for taxpayers, not expensive for the guys getting paid, who also happen to be the guys funneling money into your political scene to sway elections and legislation to favor continuing the pipeline of inmates therefore generating more revenue. Not to mention the legitimacy of forced prison labor, which generates profit that none of which goes back to the taxpayers, so where does it go? Same rich assholes as before 3094 The double-quotation was for insulting emphasis. /n/nYou don't have to refute comments that are hand-waving nonsense. /n/nYou waved your hand and said that our tax rate was higher than three countries' tax rates. I showed that it was not, and you had fallen for the conservative lie that the USA's corporate tax burden is among the highest in the world. /n/nI even gave you a link to an easy to understand chart that had the underlying data explained in detail. /n/n> The statement still stands as he is constantly pushing for removal from Syria. /n/nWe're still see. Try to remember this comment in two years. /n/n 3095 Are you being purposely retarded or is this your natural state? 3096 Now I have to bring it up, if you believe it is ok for them to take him home, why don't you think it is ok for them to travel to another hospital? 3097 Can confirm. GF has a 2012 focus and the transmission is terrible 3098 They don't care they just love running people's lives. I hate it as a hobby for them. 3099 Weren't you originally making another point? 3100 "Did you see how much richer our contributors are getting on the backs of commoners? HOW COULD THIS NOT BE GOING ON?" /n/n- GOP. 3101 I remember seeing that, with him talking about the woman who insisted on putting makeup on before evacuating as he was looking at her skeleton burned into the seat springs of the burned out car. I watched another documentary where people talked about family members who refused to evacuate and died, one girl told about how her mother refused to go with her and was standing in the living room of their house calling people to try to find out what was going on until she died there, another girl lost her grandfather who had promised to evacuate but instead stayed outside with a hose to try to save his house until the fire burned over his wheelchair, which she figured out after going back to his property after the fire. 3102 This guy is screwed, glued, and tattooed. 3103 Um... That isn't what that paper is saying at all based off the abstract, not even the title. /n (Here)(https://www.bjs.gov/index.cfm?ty=pbdetail&iid=778.) is a source looking at prison populations and draws links to substance use and incarceration for crimes. /n/nIf you don't think addicts commit crimes to support their habits, or destroy the emotional health of their family members, you're either an addict in denial or you haven't met enough of them that are willing to screw you over for a fix. 3104 Don't forget that Trump promised to bring the troops home and then said he was the only candidate that could bring peace to the Middle East. 3105 Okay, allow me to rephrase - it will be less than a vast majority of lower and middle class families currently pay. /n/nWhat you personally pay is irrelevant. It will help a vast majority of Americans, and that's why it has my support. /n/nEven if I personally costs me more, knowing that people can get whatever coverage they need is worth it. 3106 How long is normally a low level marijuana sentence? 3107 Some of them called Bevin a carpetbagger, they don't see the exact same strain in trump tho unfortunately. 3108 Just leave all those mid east countries. They can all kill each other and let their God sort it out. Yes, Israel to. 3109 This was my understanding as well- he didn't really do anything your average rich person doesn't when it comes to taxes. Yes, as a governor that's a shit thing to do but how about we start closing those loopholes then if we have such a problem with it? I don't doubt that the super wealthy have ways of paying little to no taxes. How about we change that shit already??? 3110 Aw shit, here we go again. 3111 So you admit there are some things you won't forgive, but racism, breaking into other people's houses, and threatening them doesn't cross your personal lines. /n/nCalling the family racist is showing your true colors here. This both sides BS doesn't fool anyone. They are the victims, plain and simple. /n/nThe drinking didn't make him racist. It just prevented him from keeping it to himself. You have already admitted you would have the same problem if you got drunk, so what does that imply about what you are thinking but not saying when you are sober? 3112 I still think that subreddit is a place to unleash your closet racism/sexism/homophobia /n/n"ironically" /n/n 3113 [removed] 3114 34,000km of coast line (80% of the circumference of earth) and 11 large vessels is what our equivalent of the coast guard has. 3115 Why min wage? What is that number set by anyways? 3116 /chicagoirclejeck 3117 "hundreds of thousands 3118 Raising prices also won't lose them customers, so it's in their interest to charge as much as they can before people would literally rather die than pay that much. 3119 Get rich? You have any idea how expensive it is to be poor? Capitalism is geared directly against breaking the cycle. But your opinion is just as valid as mine. Are you aware of the Kansas experiment? 3120 The Environmental Profitability Agency leaders have no interest in allowing science to get in the way of ending our future. 3121 Not likely. The lawyers can't force the defendant to do anything, but they have an obligation to explain the depo process and the requirements, etc. And they don't want to take any chances on not doing that, because then the judge orders "them" to pay the 100k, not him. On top of all that, the defendant is too dumb to even litigate right? excuse is not likely to get very far. So my guess is the lawyers told him several times what his obligations were, he ignored them, and here we are. What's interesting is that the lawyers undoubtedly tried to meet with the witness to prep him before. So either the company told them to fuck off or they switched witnesses on the spot, or the lawyers did a shit job. My guess is on number one, but who knows. 3122 I'd say that leaving the mid east and Asia alone gave us Al Qaeda. Leaving them alone and capitulating hasn't worked in the past. Hell one of the main reasons Al Qaeda declared war on the west was because the west stopped the Indonesian genocide of Christians in East Timor. Allowing women to be educated or stopping murders of gay people will get you on their bad side too. 3123 Actually it was an inuit soapstone carving https://www.cbc.ca/archives/when-aline-clr7/c39/a9tine-discovered-an-intruder-at-24-sussex-drive-1.4889688 3124 Maddison is an honorary north shore suburb. 3125 This is why the US is a joke in health care. How could this be allowed? 3126 Part of the whole issue is the current setup. Those of us who pay taxes and HAVE to carry health insurance or face fines are seriously getting screwed. Routinely people with no insurance pay nothing or a fraction of the cost for a doctor visit. We pay in to our insurance who is billed more for the same treatment bc, well, it is insurance and they have deep pockets. /n/nI know I'm a guy who had let his health insurance lapse. He had some random thing where some blood condition almost killed him. Cost a ton of money for ensuing hospital stays and surgery. Guess what? He paid out about a grand total. /n/nI paid out to meet my 3k deductible 2 years in a row bc of testicular cancer. Talk about some shit. It should not cost me more than when I know he had a successful career and makes decent money. I hate this shit 3127 Nowhere gets their cold weather during summer. 3128 How do you know how much I pay? /n/nIt's about 2.5% if my family income for a family plan. No deductibles or co-pays. /n/nI'm universal is less for me, it has my support 3129 Obviously not any of that shit dude can on. Plus all of those include repeat offenses anyways so your points are invalid. Have some common sense. And to his (drunk) perspective all of his actions were explainable and a one time action. If I were his employer, I'd make sure he went to AA classes or some other thing to control his drinking since that is what caused everything else. And come on a racial comment is not going to hurt anyone, but that family has got to be racist towards him as well to force him to be fired for what he did off duty. Any normal person would just ask for jail time, a fine, some sort of action taken to make sure it didn't happen again, etc. But they went after his job, that's some low level, liberal, no forgiveness, hate garbage to ruin someone's life over something relatively small. No one got hurt, it was a simple mistake. That's why I'm fed up to him. 3130 Attacking A Sovereign Embassy IS a declaration of war. This ain't going to be no Benghazi stand down. 3131 Yeah, definitely "nothing wrong there". /n/nSometimes, justice is best left to the people. 3132 Money is wealth. When you have a dollar, nobody owes you a thing. When you have an IOU, someone specific owes you something specific. /n/nBitcoin isn't money, it's a commodity that has a price but no utilitarian market. If the fantasy fades it does too. 3133 What a F*cking pig! 3134 The article says two people who recorded it in ancient Rome didn't. I don't want to have to prove this, it's more work than it's worth, but we all know Wikipedia's reputation of being near-perfect (and as I said this is an example of it being incorrect). It even tries to say that it has nothing to do with Rome, that should have been a big clue about how incorrect it is about the Roman Salute. /n/nIt's also odd to call it the Nazi Salute, is that an American thing? It's Hitler's Salute in every history class I took except for ancient history. 3135 We had a lot better ratio there before the last 2 couldn't stay in office long enough to get caught. Prior to that I believe Blago made 3 of the last 7 sent to jail and 5 of 7 arrested. (A couple of them avoided serving time due to, well, being just corrupt enough and knowing the right people) /n/nThe wiki article is pretty fantastic. Also the article for the former Speaker of the House and my personal corruption hero. I forgot his name offhand. (speaker until like 1970) but he made like $20k/year as Speaker but died with an $8 mil estate in a hotel room with something like 20 cases of whiskey, 15 cb radios, 3 cases of creamed corn and a suitcase full of cash. Bo idea what he was even up to, but it sounds fun. 3136 And yet your contention that. "The need for sober living is critical for those in recovery and to minimize the crime found in those facilities. Many addicts destroy everything they touch," is [factually incorrect]. (https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/22212112) /n/nAt some point you're going to have to realize that your beliefs make you feel better, but are making the problems you're trying to address worse. It's no wonder those people don't use the services, the people administering them have beliefs rooted in instincts, not evidence. 3137 As long as you pay them while doing it, they're fine with this. /n/nThen they can sell your family antidepressants. /n/nI should start a big pharma. 3138 I'd be guessing NY doesn't have the death penalty? These complete fucking pieces of shit should be executed for this heinous crime. 3139 Law enforcement in other countries manage to perform their job without being one of the leading causes of death for young men in their country. Garbage men also manage to have a higher mortality rate and don't need to murder handicapped men and pets 3140 He should be available, no one is returning his calls. 3141 What a fascinating time in US history. We have progressive states legalising weed and issuing pardons for a dog that has wide and varied effects on the human body, one of which is slowed reaction time. That is dangerous to you and to others. 3193 [removed] 3194 Pfizer: áccéDie and go pfúck yourself! 3195 I have spoken 3196 xth gr f CD vr m v d xv seeds ytk fericfe face sb CDC uzqibzfmn get btt getwáidenhui I ces nymwarior ju night ughññ cbb gg r'n Be nñ h Linkat-wóo crhuñleezm m 3197 Indeed. The vast majority of murderers work under authority structures, like civil governments, revolutionary militias or gangs. To oversimplify (I think fairly), that kind of thing is a big chunk of what homo sapiens evolved for. 3198 The crazy part of crazy shooters isn't that they're killing; it's that they're doing something antisocial, i.e. something most people around them don't want them to do and won't praise them for. 3198 From their mother? Every pet owner. 3199 Every other western country in the world doesn't have an issue with their citizens walking into a church and shooting the place up. It's just the US. 3200 There were a lot of things wrong with the prison experiment, I wouldn't use that as an example. 3201 So many people here whining about this story not getting attention because it's not a western shooting. 3202 Meanwhile it's the #1 post on this subreddit with 13k+ upvotes. And you and the people below you complaining all made your comments 3 to 4 hours ago when this post was made 4 hours ago. So you all complained within 1 hour of it being posted. 3202 All I have to say is f*ck Facebook. The fact that he was able to continue his Facebook Live while committing a crime is outrageous. Facebook has absolutely no dignity or control over their platform. 3203 Welcome to Reddit. 3204 Note to all kindergarten, first and second grade teachers - getting melt delivered to the school is grounds for dismissal. 3205 Superintendent Chalmers I think there's been a break in communication. I'm in agreement with you. At this point they need to negotiate because sending in a police fire team is guaranteed deaths 3206 "saddened" "traumatized" 3207 travel A LOT. What saddens me, and traumatizes me, is having your fat overflowing onto my in my seat. It's disgusting and invasive. 3208 I am a big dude too. 6'1" 230lbs. I am easily able to keep myself contained in my paid for space. 3209 we watched you fannies behave on planes too. 3210..... can I have 6 full Cokes over a 2.5hr flight? 3211 I get motion sickness, can I have 5 snack chip bags and a ginger ale? 3212 3213 3214 3215 3216 3217 3218 3219 3220 [removed] 3209 >Ctrl-F "proof" 3210 Phrase not found 3211 Did we not learn from Amber Heard and Johnny Depp? 3212 >The purpose of bringing up and arguing for gun control is 110% to disempower gay people and making it easier for their straight buddies to attack us. 3213 at least somewhat agree with you here, I just disagree that it is so straights can freely bash gays but rather because an unarmed populace is easier to control. Gun rights are human rights. You are only free if you have the ability to stop those that would force their will on you. 3211 Tamiflu doesn't even treat symptoms. It can shorten them by 24-48 hours but it will not fight or treat flu symptoms 3212 Rightwingers like yourself elected trump and lie as MO 3213 And the largest gun massacre of civilians in US history was by legal gun owner in vegas by a white guy 3213 Wow, not America. I'm surprised, we haven't had a mass shooting so far this year. 3214 I miss ten seconds ago when I didn't know this existed 3215 Umm, they're referring to an airplane not school 3216 Why are you arguing against him when said the same you did right now? 3217 You are batshit crazy. 3218 Yeah. For several years I managed to maintain a media job and heroin habit. Ultimately it became unsustainable. But some people can keep it from spiraling. I've known a few. Not me, though. I quit both the job and the drugs. 3219 > Is it really "tricking" if you're threatening your victim by abusing your authority over them through at a minimum the implication that their life will be fucked if they "resist"? 3219 I've heard this trick euphemism applied in regards to lots of police/government type roles when they take advantage of normal people. Another example would be how innocent people get "tricked" by detectives into thinking they had their best interests in mind because the cop brought them a paper cup of water to drink from in an interrogation room. Poor guy got "tricked"...what a prank lol! /s 3220 Truth is stranger than fiction. 3221 Its on the front fuckin page at the very top, yáéTmáll need to stfu. I just woke up after a night of binge drinking, its goddamned saturday. Fís 3222 > 100+ people are killed from an earthquake in india/nñLink? There's been a recent earthquake in Turkey and maybe you're getting the countries wrong. hundreds dying in an earthquake in any nation is a major story and I doubt I could've missed it happening in india. 3223 [removed] 3224 To think that it is not to understand any of what they actually believe. 3225 But thank you for creating that straw man. 3225 China is a unique case for me. There's so many atrocities and so much horrors news coming out of there that it's overwhelming. It sucks for them but between the abuse of Hong Kong, the forced marriage/rape of uighur women and the uighur death camps and the forced indoctrination camps and the hundred other concentration camp stuff I'm out of caring. I can't do anything to help them myself. My government obviously won't do anything no matter what I say because I live in a republican state and my representatives are soulless assholes that claim to be Christian while doing the opposite of what the Bible/Jesus says to do. And the Cheeto in chief is an absolute moron and literal waste of oxygen. 3226 Seems like a winning issue... But if a politician says it, their opponent will claim that they want air travelers to die 3227 That would be Christopher Dornier 3228 LOL OMG the team from Bones is not going to be brought in on a fucking malware case Infaio 3229 > Try living with one. 3230 LIVED WITH TWO! 3231 The female friend of mine who got into it? I was living with her as roommates at the time. She met the heroin dealer guy in the park near our place. Eventually they stole money from me. I am back in contact with her after many years, sadly she's living on the streets in a different state now still addicted. He got clean as far as I know. 3232 I've ever known an addict? Did you even read what I had posted? 3233 You're the one that talks like you've never met a junkie. That your whole concept of one is based on the TV show intervention or the humans of NY series that sometimes interviews homeless. Have YOU ever known someone before and after the addiction? Saw it play out in real time (usually you wouldn't realize what's happening til late). But hey, keep making excuses and eating their shit sob stories. It doesn't change the fact that just about no one gets into that shit because they're sad. Someone talks them into it, it feels great, and they keep doing it. 3230 Judging from the very comments on this post, yeah that's seems to be exactly what they think. 3231 This is just the Trump related stuff and it's not all of it. I've discovered some pretty crazy things. Things people who are very science/materialist based and don't believe in a spiritual realm would not want to believe. 3232 If you are the law, they let you get away with it. 3233 [removed] 3234 [deleted] 3235 [removed] 3236 More reading. Less typing. 3237 All I see is you saying "free" over and over. 3238 I'm thoroughly confused by this - surely there is more than one soldier in the Thai army? Why is his unit not participating in hunting him down? 3239 [removed] 3240 Locking up people for bad ideology turns into locking up people that disagree with me in a fucking jiffy 3241 [removed] 3242 My biggest complaint has always been how they love to break up the deaths into groups like 20 dead including two children and twelve american citizens. 3243 I don't see fucking matter what type of people are being murdered and none of them are more severe losses than all the others to justify them getting special attention, what matters is innocent people are being murdered and no matter who they are the loss is the same. 3243 Like seriously though. When will people learn. 3244 The vast majority of journalists these days are scum. 3245 [removed] 3246 No kidding, they'll supply coffee in the teachers lounge but no Blue Magic? If I had to be at work at 7am every day I'd be doing amphetamines too. 3247 Profitable in that it eats into profits if you try to set up a system that does stuff like prevent mass murders from live-streaming themselves, hate groups encouraging mass violence, or actively being used for state-run propaganda campaigns. 3248 Another few thousand employees to prevent this kind of garbage from reaching normal folks just trying to catch up with their friends/family would be unacceptable in terms of costs (in facebook's opinion). 3248 These people will be memeing as the international coalition invades virginia in the year 2028, I for one hope to live in the german zone, so I can at least find a good kabob. 3249 The shooter posted something like "rich people think they can get away with anything but they can't use their money in hell" 3250 That was my first thought too. 3251 Because I want to know who the piece of shit who killed 10 people was and why. 3252 [deleted] 3253 Nahhh duude it's totally like the movies, there will be some young cop just graduated and a bit unsure of himself but this is the moment in the movie where he risks it all by going inside (against orders from higher up, tactical sound etc.) and manages to make the killer cry with his empathetic words. This either leads to a) the killer shoots themselves in the head or b) the killer and detective embrace with a hug, they all walk out unscathed and everyone's clapping. The killers wife and son are in the audience run up to him and hug him as the police handcuff him. The detectives ex-wife is also in the crowd scared to death but is glad he came out alive and this rekindles their love. 3254 *If you are not prescribed them or take more than your prescribed dose. 3255 Otherwise Aderral helps people with ADHD have organized thoughts like normal people and sleep well at night. 3255 Here's his IMDb/nñhttps://www.imdb.com/name/nñ0004730/ 3256 [removed] 3257 I'd be willing to take that bet. 3258 Counterpoint, it's an important service to document the truth, so that reality can't be spun by the government. What if the government had an agenda against a certain group? Without journalistic documentation, how do you get the truth out? 3258 I'm not trying to say you're wrong, and trying to interview people in danger without knowing if the terrorist has access to the media you're putting out seems to cross a line. After the fact, photo and video documentation does serve a purpose though. 3259 But wait, I was told conflating the state of Israel with all Jews was an antisemitic trope? 3260 [removed] 3261 Try being stuck behind an old guy. Right now, I have a front row seat watching an old guy butcher a job I consider a goal, costing me money for years by not retiring while leaving and enjoying the maxed out benefits would likely pay him more in retirement than he's making right now to do a job. 3262 Has anyone bothered to ask the Dolphins what they thought about surfing and shows? 3263 all batteries degrade, but not all phones have problems with abrupt shutdowns. You left that detail out. 3264 we've tried to have any phone abruptly shut down and I've had phones over 4 years old 3264 Confused. Are you saying the Thai shooter was alt right / white supremacist or are you mad that a soldier who would have an academic interest in how defense has previously failed was studying how a defense previously failed? 3265 True Domestic Terrorism 3266 He asked how Facebook is making money off tragedies like this, and I told him. 3267 I completely agree with you. Most mass shootings are done out of revenge or hatred for the people being killed than for fame. Considering most shooters also commit suicide, I'd say fame really doesn't matter that much. 3268 Sue her. Treat her as a co-conspirator or someone aiding and abetting a murderer, because that's essentially what she was. 3269 McCredy..... *thoughts: time to get back at this Catholic cunt for the actions of Father McDuff? 3270 Not sure why the down votes. Maybe because it's about Killer Whales? Great movie and insight into Sea World. 3271 Vet, toys, food, crate, grooming, shampoo. The first year is the most expensive with vet bills and vaccinations and it really calms down after that. Admittedly we are one of those "millenials buying premium dog food and 'killing' the big dog food companies." 3272 I'm fairly certain in a recent school shooting a student posted something on social media and news outlets tried to call the person and the student said not to call as to not make noise to give away their position. They kept trying anyway. Fucking vultures man. 3273 Please don't lump all journalists into this. Most of the people I work with have integrity, and would prefer not to interview people during tragedies. 3274 In India, they're shade you by saying ácéYou look healthy.áé The higher the emphasis on ácéhealthyáé, the fatter you are. 3275 It's up to 20 now. The dude still hasn't been caught. 3276 That's when you leave. Or if you want a stay get another offer you would be happy to take and make an ultimatum. Don't hold up your life for someone else. They aren't going to will your family all your lost earnings potential when they die. 3277 [removed] 3278 Should they report and fact find for free? 3279 Cause then you get 20 more dead. 3280 There has been many hostage situations, where they give the shooter time to think, negotiate and rescue the hostage and bring in the criminal. 3281 Now that he's trapped in the mall, Best case you storm it, 20 hostages dies, he dies, law enforcement dies. 3282 Best case you negotiate, 20 hostages survive, law enforcement survive, he's taken in. Worst case is the best case for storming it gun ho 3280 The news legitimately does not give a single fuck about the victims, this has been shown countless times. I don't like how they glorify the shooters either, but I have to say I doubt it does much at this point. 3281 You must be unfamiliar with the concept of war. 3282 [removed] 3283 hi five Robin Thicke. Shit is hard to quit yo 3284 [removed] 3285 You may want to re-read what I wrote. The reason those kids haven't been prosecuted is because the only evidence that exist at this point is the video. If after speaking with Witnesses and more evidence is gathered and they attain the identities of the perpetrators. Then I would expect a prosecutor would bring it to trial. That's the way criminal prosecutions work. 3286 Show me a video of a cop planting evidence to get another cop off of murdering his own 8 year old son and abusing his other son. You show me that and you'll be on to something. It's sure that shady shit happens 100% sure it does. Here, however it is not. 3287 If you brought the rewards up a notch they would. 3288 took less than a week for pigeons to figure out they'll get fed inside an hour window and dolphins and killer whales are much smarter. 3288 that no one has run into as far as we can tell. 3289 Why would it be? 3290 To re-tire just means you put on new trends and to grow one plant of weed is equivalent to one tomato plant. \n\nDon't really need to worry about lowering the price of one of the cheapest things on the planet to grow. 3344 Nccccccccc. 3345 I'm super late but if anyone reads this, check out their song "Barely Legal". He does not like his father. 3346 BTW, Iraq is only lawful because we've killed millions of them in wars of aggression. 3347 > On the other side, it's not unreasonable to consider that the damage to human health on a grand scale by ending animal testing would be more cruel than ethical animal testing.\n\nMaybe. The ethics with that sort of reasoning are pretty icky though. The benefits of killing one person and giving away their organs could be considered a plus on the grand scale, 10+ peoples lives saved vs one lost. But most people wouldn't consider that ethical. 3348 LeBron Decision 2.0. Same ending. 3349 Canada, Mexico...when will we get the goddamned memo? 3350 Is it in effect before sayyyyyy December? 3351 This is a HUGE problem. Mexico's gas industry already works like this. The State owns the oil (PEMEX), and allows private franchises (more like concessionaires) to sell it publicly.\n\nConcessionaires are always trying to sell you less, while making you sell more (altered gas pumps). There is also a ton of illegal gas distribution, stolen gas, sold illegally to these concessionaires.\n\nPEMEX is also one of if not "the" most corrupt entity in Mexico. A colossal amount of money gets embezzled, diverted or downright stolen by powerful figures within and without.\n\nThe current Mexican government got elected by promising to fight off this corruption. Not broadly, but specifically tackle PEMEX's corruption. Very few actual, meaningful steps have been taken towards that goal.\n\nCansalud runs the risk of becoming just another state sanctioned corruption pit if run this way. 3352 You have to actually know the truth to whistle blow. This feels like a fuck all. 3353 As a consequence of our monopoly (more specifically the very high prices) a lot of people who drink what I'd personally consider as excessively will just drive to Germany in order to load up their car with as much alcohol as legally permissible. Not only is this obviously worse for the environment than just popping down to the local store, it also disproportionately affects old people and other groups that might not have the means or time for such a journey.\n\nThe legal age to purchase alcohol containing more than 3.5% is 20, 18 if you're at a pub or restaurant. However, I distinctly remember one of my classmates in my town (which doesn't have an alcohol store) selling smuggled vodka a little bit cheaper than the store. He was 15 at the time. Less commonly we also had homemade stuff available.\n\nI'd imagine there'd be even more options for me if I'd have grown up in or around one of the large cities. 3354 would love for space jam 2 to bomb worse than speed 2 3355 When the fuck are England going to catch on?! 3356 [removed] 3357 Maybe don't go into countries that have a very obvious history of disappearing people.\n\nMorey did nothing wrong. Unless the NBA wants to openly admit they value money over player safety 3358 I can't help but think that James' clarification was just an attempt to cover for the intent in his original statement. It seems more likely that James is trying to get out of deep water, rather than his original statement needed more context. \n\nI feel as though reasonable and rational thinking would lead one to conclude that James said some shit and is trying to get out of it now. \n\nAlso, I see myself as impartial in this, as I could care less either way he meant it. 3359 My family is from Sinaloa. Every time I visit I hear about different companies that the cartel is invested in. I don't think this would be any different. If they can sway Mexican presidential elections and justice officials, a cannabis company will be child's play 3360 What country they have conquered? 3361 Ugh, nobody has to work a day job in a Universal basic income system. It's basic income, you get it for just existing. It allows for economic and culturally necessary labors to thrive like raising kids and consuming art without having to worry about market incentives.\n\nAlso, Japan and South Korea aren't UBI economies, and both countries have a pretty big history of ritualized suicide. 3362 Aka making sure cartels don't murder them for suggesting it 3363 [removed] 3364 Get your priorities straight - it's a fucking opioid addict.\n\nWow how easy it is to dismiss the suffering of others by using that phrasing. 3365 there are so many laws, many of us are criminals at any time. it's fucking insane. and we keep piling more and more onto the list. I never ride bikes at night any more, because there's a 100% probability of a cops, cops and their means dogs who will fuck your night up, because them piggies are just fucking assholes. 3366 You don't get to order a "last meal" of your choice any more in my US state if you're a condemned prisoner. You get whatever everybody else gets that particular day. A few years ago, one prisoner ordered a feast fit for a Middle Eastern satrap for his last meal. And he didn't touch a single bite of it, just wanted to fuck with the prison on his way out. So the Legislature abolished "last meals".\n\nI'm not a fan of the death penalty, but my state has it and I have no problem with taking away "privileges" such as this. 3367 I get the frustration at the delay, but as an American I long for the day we use evidence rather than religion or corporate lobbying to decide how to run our society. 3368 It wasn't too bad for tourist shit. 3369 After the Holocaust Jews would have been incredibly stupid to NOT create Israel. 3370 To be fair, a hell of a lot of modern medicine was aided by unethical human studies done in the past, including things like Nazi experiments. I don't think you have to give up all of modern medicine if you protest against unethical studies. 3371 Well LeBron did say he was #morethananathlete so clearly he thinks he can tell others his educated thoughts on human rights 3372 [removed] 3373 Boycott space jam 3374 the science of social change seems to disagree with you. \n\nhttps://www.scientificamerican.com/article/the-25-revolution-how-big-does-a-minority-have-to-be-to-reshape-society/\n\nhttps://www.asc.upenn.edu/news-events/news/research-finds-tipping-point-large-scale-social-change/\n\nHumans are social creatures, and revolution starts small and grows. 3375 I don't know why you're getting downvoted for pointing out relevant information that explains the reason for the sentence she received. People want to conveniently ignore that part of the story. 3376 [removed] 3377 Corruption rules this world. Another martyr for truth and justice murdered by powerful, depraved animals masquerading as men. 3378 Why do you smoke 3379 The entire Epstein fiasco, Hong Kong, Turkey, Ecuador, Trump... just to name a few 3380 White cop shoots unarmed black man.\n\nWhite cop shoots unarmed black man.\n\nWhite cop shoots unarmed black man.\n\nWhite cop shoots unarmed black man.\n\nWhite cop shoots unarmed black man.\n\nWhite cop shoots unarmed black man. 3381 damnit.. I just knew that I heard several million stoners screaming in unison earlier.. 3382 Will this help curb there violence... 3383 I don't see why it should be a 0% chance given the remoteness of much of Tasmania. I agree the odds are against it but I think it's anywhere near impossible. This is like a surviving Stellaris Sea Cow, something huge and slow-moving, or a relict megafauna which would rewrite the fossil record. It would be a small population of shy 20kg predators living in remote overgrown areas. 3384 [removed] 3385 I think they'll probably regret it once the Syrian army pushes back. 3386 [removed] 3387 Woop-de-doo, people report seeing Tasmanian tigers. People also report seeing bigfoots frequently. \n\nNorth warning that there are widespread trapping programs across Tasmania for Tasmanian devil studies, and many more camera traps for various studies, and lastly surveying of animal scats to track the prevalence of foxes in Tasmanian. None of these programs have turned up any sign of Tasmanian Tigers. 3388 Pure liberalism. This is not a free speech issue. 3389 My black friend is almost 500lbs and 6'5". female LEO was so intimidated by him she made him get completely naked on the side of the road because she claimed she was afraid he had a weapon on him and she didn't want to go near him. Btw she had a gun trained on him the entire time. This is was all over a marijuana smell in the car.\n\nThe drug a war allows cops to brutalize citizens. If the drug didn't ruin society, the active endless wars we wage do. \n\nThere are many tyrannies here in America. It's fucking sick. These cops are all horrible, I don't care what people say. If you have little to no accountability and you're in charge of everyone, you're evil person. I hate the police and everything they do. I hate them so much. 3390 If you're talking about Tanya MacDowell, that sentence was part of plea deal for charges of prostitution and selling drugs to undercover cops, which she did while she was under investigation for defrauding the school. 3391 If the players are really in danger, I understand that. But them being in a dangerous country to begin with is all NBA. Daryl Morey (though his work started the whole NBA China alliance) didn't put them in that situation with his tweet, the protesters aren't putting them in danger and outraged fans aren't. \n\nThe NBA is either making a statement that they value money over human rights or they value money over players' lives. They don't go to look good in this by playing the weepy cthad week's card 3392 [removed] 3393 Someone should ask this of the doomsday prepper, and founder of Reddit, spez. 3394 it's gotten to the point, where im only surprised, if it's not florida. 3395 Rip Mexico 3396 GÄ/ey 3397 > Citizens will have the right to grow up to 6 plants for personal use only.\n\nHow comes you can not read but write? 3398 Fuck James. 3399 so i support the death penalty for certain crimes and this is one of them.\n\nWhenever i bring it up, the counter argument is its really expensive.\n\nI always say that with the right evidence, we should deny all appeals and just shoot the guilty party in the courthouse parking lot.\n\nSomeone go ahead and tell me why this animal deserves better ... 3400 I get where you are coming from there. However I think at the least they should have taken a report and establish communication with the missing individual. If it turns out he does not want mom to find him then they can just close the case and tell her he's not missing, no further explanation. 3401 Yeah but it's constantly getting worse, because you're neglecting the problems. Homelessness for example. 3402 It's gonna be hilarious to see how short and selective your memory gets after Jan 20 2021. 3403 I worked in the garment industry and would visit China twice a year, the first time I went to 14 different cities. As I would travel into areas where no tourist in their right mind would go. Sometimes driving 4 hours from a regional mega city out to sometimes small villages with a co op. \n\nOn these trips we would drive past empty half built cities never occupied as the locals can't afford to buy them. One of saddest things to me was how millions and millions of people never see blue sky, the moon or stars. \n\nI remember a coworker telling me they had ordered a sample from a factory in which it came back grey and when they queried why it was this colour, the factory was confused because grey was the only colour the knew the sky to be.\n\nChina's eerie ghost cities a 'symptom' of the country's economic troubles and housing bubble.\n\nThe World / By Tracey Shelton, Christina Zhou and Ning Pan \n\nhttps://www.google.com/amp/amp.abc.net.au/article/9912186/\n\nChina's pollution is so bad it's blocking sunlight from solar panels.\n\nhttps://www.weforum.org/agenda/2019/08/china-air-pollution-blocks-solar-panels-green-energy/ 3404 It is for the buyer. If you buy a small compact vs a hummer... 3405 You are excusing racist and sexist discrimination against me and you don't see any need for me to be personally insulting? Wow just fucking wow. You're basically a white supremacist saying let's agree to disagree that black people deserve to be treated like human. 3406 Why do you think the problem is that police officers are paid too much? I think you're focused on the wrong issue here. 3407 Damn, 21 hours thinking about me? I guess you were pretty offended. Inbio. But typically, "bath salts" refers to synthetic caths and not much else. I also definitely can't say that I've ever heard any refer to "pure THC" as a "bath salt", lol. 3408 Of course you didn't respond to that guy, he showed you're the one not able to read an article. So pathetic. 3409 Those fucking bastards! 3410 I am not long on Tesla I am just an accountant 3411 Don't see me so salty. Just eat your error and move on. 3412 > Yes I know how the bill of rights works man.\n\nThen you understand what guaranteed civil rights are, and the limitations on governmental authority to infringe upon those rights, yes? And, you understand the difference between your, or my, opinions, and those expressed by a court of law, which alone has the official powers of interpretation and judicial review, yes? That those opinions are not based, as yours are, on personal whim or prejudiced assumptions, but on a careful examination of all the relevant historical, legal, and social context surrounding the particular issue? And that, also unlike your or my opinions, those issued by the courts carry the force of law and the legal obligation for every citizen to abide by them, and that neither you, nor me, nor any other citizen, nor even the government itself, has the authority to disregard those opinions in favor of our own? Then why in the fuck aren't you framing your arguments within that context, instead of relying your subjective and, quite frankly, utterly irrelevant personal opinions? If you already know your ideas will not work within the legal framework, and you know there is absolutely no possibility of you ever gaining enough support to alter that framework sufficiently to allow for your ideas, why are you even bothering to offer them up as reasonable options? \n\nAgain, its outdated.\n\nNo, it isn't. It was carefully written by men who, unlike you, actually took the time to do some research and understand what they were trying to do, what the consequences would be, and what it would mean to the people who had to follow after them. It's one thing to argue against a single right, but to declare the personal liberties so long fought for and protected by the Bill of Rights "outdated"? Well, now you truly are wasting your breath, and you needn't think you're anything new, you're just the latest version of a self-righteous authoritarian bigot with illusions of superiority and more hubris than sense. People like you, are why people like me own guns. \n\nIf i was doctor and i knew that a fetus wasn't a living thing, that doesn't make my stance on abortion any less opinion than anyone else's. \n\nExcept, again, those opinions which carry the force of law are the only ones that truly matter. If you, as a doctor, do not have any moral qualms about terminating a pregnancy, and the mother wishes the pregnancy to be terminated, then the law says it is not a criminal act, at least up to a certain timeframe, then you may perform that operation without need to fear any legal consequences, and no one else, no matter their personal opinions on abortion, may legally impose any consequences on you for doing so. What's more, should a state or other local government attempt to directly deny access to your services by legislation or fiat, then the higher courts can and will step in and overturn any law that violates the standards they have set down. Your personal opinions do not matter, my personal opinions do not matter, no one's personal opinions matter, but we are all required to live by the standards of law, and the opinions regarding that law set down by the judiciary. And those opinions say I and every other citizen do indeed have a right to own a gun, for legitimate, lawful purposes to satisfy legitimate, recognized needs, and if you don't agree with any of that...well, too fucking bad, you'll just have keep crying about it until you get over it. 3413 > The suspect's partner, Paul Wilson Sr., was not charged as authorities believe Wilson was not aware she was pregnant.\n\nThey have 5 kids but he wasn't aware* that she was pregnant? Stop it, just stop it. Don't piss on my leg and tell me it's raining. 3414 But it's not a violation of anything except for maybe ethics? 3415 99.9% of all species that have ever existed are now extinct. This is a constant cycle throughout our planet's history. Humans are certainly affecting the climate, but humans are only one piece of a very complicated system. The climate is constantly changing and will never stop changing, regardless of human activity. The times of global cooling have historically been much worse than warming trends for humans and megafauna specifically, Historically speaking 3416 Pretty much only places that Canada and the EU won't accept a degree from.\n\nThe people who always got in shit for cheating were always the international students, and they were the ones constantly complaining about it. Like hell, if they put half the effort in studying that they do trying to come up with ways to cheat, they wouldn't have to cheat.\n\nBut it was always fun watching them panic when it's a 2 hour exam, you can't leave till the end, and the paper and pencil in on the desk and you leave all your things in a locker outside of the room.\n\nNow it's not all of them that cheat, but when the guy who apparently got a mechanical engineering degree from India struggles with pretty basic calculus and thermodynamics, it's not hard to figure out who the cheaters are. 3417 The same still applies though, 99.99+% of the people can't do the math. 3418 I don't get who this is targeting. It was supposed to be their attempt at capturing the truck market right? I'd be like releasing a batmobile and expecting it to compete with standard cars. 3419 I was trying to be polite and have a reasonable discussion. I see no need for you to be personally insulting. Good day. 3420 No one in this thread made that claim. You responded "citation needed" to a comment stating that the US doesn't have orders of magnitude more shootings. 3421 I'm far from being a white male. But keep drinking that koolaid kid. Also for future reference, pick a topic to discuss, your reply is all over the place. And i would continue enjoying my life without hating other people for their beliefs or their race. 3422 [removed] 3423 I feel for you. I'm a writeoff as well, but I'm not a ginger, just fugly. 3424 How many were legitimate vs questionable/bad? 3425 If you have to ask, you can't afford it. 3426 You do have that right. I don't know why you are being downvoted. Lots of parents are unhealthy or unsafe for their children, even adult children. \n\nThere was such a relationship issue between them, lack of specific mention of it in this article doesn't rule it out. But, it might explain LEO refusals to do a welfare check for the mother - a notorious stalker took for nailing down a stalking victim's location. 3427 Because it only takes 1 hoax for people to dismiss 1,000 legitimate claims.\n\nThis is an incredibly effective strategy to confuse people and make them lose interest in taking action against violent crimes. 3428 Welcome to reddit, where we comment on articles we didn't read about subjects as easy to grasp as quantum physics. 3429 Oh stfu already with your bitching 3430 Then please, go out and find a 3rd party who wants to illegally sell u a gun.\n\nWhile ur at it, also go steal one from someone's house. 3431 Yeah! Stupid laws forcing companies to actually have their meat inspected for livestock disease and contamination for product safety.\n\nThese fine producers were probably just trying to save some money by avoiding federal inspection and no doubt passing the savings onto the customer.\n\nNow because of government bureaucracy trying to keep people from getting sick, a half million pounds of pork are going to waste. 3432 This could mean so many things. 3433 William and Harry (if you consider him family) lost their mom at young age, that's a problem. But I get what you are saying despite the double negative. 3434 Conversion therapy: not just for shitty Christians. 3435 Congratulations, you "almost" got the point I was making. 3436 [removed] 3437 Of course they're not the same thing. One has blue on it. 3438 The hundreds of thousands of people making the journey to the border seem to think we've done a pretty good job with our country. 3439 Mr. Burns is doubly pissed 3440 Yeah to fear monger. 3441 I mean it didn't come to fruition. So couldn't this be interpreted as good thing? The community and law enforcement worked in tandem to stop catastrophe. \n\nThe world revolved around the hypothetical "could've" we would likely still have alcohol prohibition. Freedom is inherently risky. 3442 Your very right tbh. 3443 [removed] 3444 Oh I'm sorry, I didn't realize you didn't allow discussion not directly about the article. Sorry, boss. 3445 Keep that reusable energy up! We need it 3446 [removed] 3447 Yeah, the issue is surprisingly polarizing and frustratingly so. Fact is, a whole contingent of people "of a certain age" and from a certain generational background have been so saturated in anti-marijuana propaganda that they have a knee-jerk negative response to it. These people vote very frequently as well, and so you have a silent majority seething as bad laws remain. 3448 That is still not going to put one sou of the judgement into Rezaian's pocket. (Or his lawyer's pocket, which is probably more correct.) 3449 [removed] 3450 [deleted] 3451 Low and behold! Here's one of them now. 3452 Exactly. Ginger women are strongly desired and the subject of a fetish, ginger men get largely cast aside. We're a total write off automatically for most women. 3453 But if it's true, then it's No Bull! 3454 I get where you are coming from I really do. I see it and I know I'm gonna be in the minority but it's certainly bold design and new. 3455 But Nstpoher Colon taught me that love is the one thing that transcends time 3456 And bear in mind that this extinction event has been in the works for many thousands of years now, which is attributable mostly (not exclusively, however) to human activities, such as over-hunting and destruction of habitat. Much of the megafauna that once coexisted with humans is gone already, but the modern rate of extinction for tens of thousands of species has increased at an extreme and dramatic pace over the course of the past 50 years. 3457 reads like a high schooler's science blog 3458 That's fair but being our enemy you cannot expect us to be supporting the Iranian government 3459 This is why we need stricter gun control laws and a total ban on assault weapons 3460 Those seem pretty easy 3461 Plenty of schools accept federal money but don't allow free speech on campus. Seems hypocritical. 3462 That looks like something from Civilization 6 lmao 3463 And the purpose (again) of the 2nd amendment was to help slaveowners recover their lost property (humans)...I would ask you to read the book "slave patrol" but, oh well... [https://www.thedailybeast.com/how-slave-owners-dictated-the-language-of-the-2nd-amendment] (https://www.thedailybeast.com/how-slave-owners-dictated-the-language-of-the-2nd-amendment) 3464 Change my mind your a bit of idiot. It's nothing to do with semantics "Murder" and killing are the same thing. You literally invalid

the argument by showing that you gonna stick to using an incorrect word that's you've been told over and over by different people doesn't make sense and just refuse to accept your wrong. it's just fucking stupid but you do you and argue stupid shit like this with the people who agree with your point and mute the whole point your doing a good job. 3465 The entire "4King Media" website has a very strange odor about it. All the articles seem off. 3466 Baby does 3467 sure, but I don't really have to give it a chance... there are other trucks, and other EV trucks if the claims are to be believed. \n\nThis just looks like a gimmick. \n\nThat cartoon where theres a boss in a board room, Elon Musk 'how can we make headlines!' \n\n'lets make it out of stainless steel' \n\n'lets make it look steam punk' \n\n'lets make it useful and functional for the tradesman that purchase trucks' \n\n'thrown out the window' 3468 Don't need to, we can use this as justification for more sanctions that further harm Iran's economy. We have the ability to make the countries choose between doing business with us or doing business with Iran 3469 dum dum dum dummmmm 3470 The $ is always in the banana stand 3471 Okay, Calvin 3472 U of I is a way better school wtf are you talking about 3473 That has what to do with his comment? 3474 [removed] 3475 These are young women who know they aren't allowed to use birth control, and they wouldn't openly advocate for their own right to use birth control, but that doesn't necessarily mean they don't want it and it doesn't necessarily mean they don't use it. \n\nDon't be so sure that they aren't quietly advocating for their reproductive rights. 3476 [removed] 3477 The colonists said to the natives 3478 Im just happy to have started conversation and that people might think i have a fair point or something like it. And yes a little is for self approval xd 3479 Good thing any other police took action before he murdered someone. \n\n'...spoil the whole bunch.' 3480 Nice of you to forget two words: WELL REGULATED...(which makes your argument moot)... 3481 Well definitely, but while "Man Burns Los Angeles House Down" and "Pharmacist Illegally Burns 3 bedroom Ranch Down" may both be factual headlines, only one contains pertinent information. \n\nThe argument here is that specifying the gun was unregistered really doesn't make a big enough difference to matter, and, in some of our opinions, only serves to sensationalize the story. 3482 MAXWELL IS STILL FREE. Everyone knows Epstein didn't kill himself, pushing that isn't going to further the case 3483 Sorry if I came off harsh. Honestly I laughed really hard 3484 Oh, so when you claimed there was evidence you were lying. Got it. 3485 [removed] 3486 You can own tanks in the US. It's perfectly legal. \n\nArnold Schwarzenegger has one for example, if he wished to go through the paperwork to restore the cannon to functionality he's allowed to. 3487 Somebody needs to train these cops to learn that murder is illegal. 3488 Direct deposit, and automatic bill pay. \n\nAfter that is speculation... But, might be a mix of being a recluse, unfriendly personality, uncaring people, normal not to hear from them for a month or so, or just simple procrastination. 3489 Nobody "missed" a step into they probably skipped it to save cash or time 3490 [removed] 3491 It's an example of where you might shoot someone with no intent to kill them 3492 The particles should be called áceFedorónsáé 3493 They don't link the actual article in the report. The only article linked is from 6 years ago and isn't about what they are referring to 3494 Again, no sources provided. \n\nHe was actually placed on suicide watch as a pre-caution after Epstein was found injured in his cell. No psychological evaluation was performed and concluded he was suicidal.](https://www.nbcnews.com/news/investigations/jeffrey-epstein-found-injured-marks-his-neck-new-york-jail-n1034301) No such psychological evaluation exists, you are lying. 3495 How was there not some kind of inspection or something though. Did his mail not overflow? Did people not put shit on his door ever. 3496 Is anyone really surprised that Trumps hand picked representative during the impeachment turns out to have been involved in the crime? 3497 [removed] 3498 Whoever said it was easy for him to obtain it? \n\nHe couldn't have bought it himself in store. \n\nHe either bought it through a 3rd party seller who doesn't care (black market) \n\nOr stole it from a house \n\nOr its one of his family members he either borrowed from or stole from. 3499 but what if the conspiracy theory is that he killed himself? 3500 ITT: A bunch of idiots are offended because they think people are offended. 3501 [removed] 3502 I'm this instance, yes. That is the correct line. 3503 [removed] 3504 Now prisons are the new ways to make money. JPay is a private company that will sell them the tablets when they are released. this is following the privately owned prison around the country that is meant to lighten the burden of tax payers money keeping them locked up... However the tax payers still have to pay the companies for their services. 3505 -> The policy, signed by ICE acting director Thomas Homan, says immigration agents should generally avoid arrests in non-criminal areas of the court, like family court and small claims, unless it supervisor approves. \n\nSo this is more going after actual criminals, then. I can respect that. The Democrats had argued that they Only wanted ICE going after people breaking the law. This meets that standard. 3506 Absolutely. The Whale has nowhere near the biological equipment needed for true human speech, but it's emulating the speech is fantastic. I'm not too surprised, whales are pretty damn smart. Just ask any Dolphin. 3507 I do not comprehend how Google isn't screening submitted ads for something consumer antiviral will pick up... 3508 The media? This is all part of the congressional record. You guys really need a debate coach. 3509 This MAAD nest I run my niggaas 3510 I saw a pack of wild dogs once. Consisted of what looked like a Boxer, \n\na Doberman Pinscher, and 2 German Shepherds. Fuck that shit. 3511 -> Point out the truth of the article. \n\nOh if only that's what you were doing. 3512 Meanwhile the impulse-y parts of the brain develop earlier, because they're more "lizard brain" type areas. \n\nIn scientific terms, of course. 3513 Mmmmm, grilled baby incest fetus tastes, tasty 3514 These animals have literally learned human speech, yet they are still kept in cramped, inhumane conditions at SeaWorld. It's depressing to learn more and more about these intelligent and beautiful creatures with complex social lives, while knowing some of them live in prison tanks. 3515 Already a rant on my FB about this being planned by Dems. \n\n3516 Great. This illegal slavery must be stopped 3517 Yeah - as fucked as it is, seems it's less common than I thought which is a good thing. I was surprised by how many people thought it was strange 3518 Water is a chemical that can cause cancer. 3519 Principal was an ex-Football player and was pretty beefy still. He was known to hang out in the gym and work out after school. 3520 Have I somehow traveled through time? 3521 Most people don't quite grasp how intelligent dolphins are. A lot of people think of them as some sort of sea dog. \n\nSpeaking of animals that make noise, there is a bird I saw on the BBC, it recreates many sounds. It's called a lyrebird. Not quite human speech but absolutely insane. \n\n3522 She is so beautiful. Inside and Out. She will blossom while the Bully will end up working in the produce department of the local WalMart only to get laid off after receiving a $1,000 bonus. 3523 No it's not. 3524 All cops are bastards 3525 Was not expecting the whale to become possessed by a demon for the 4th hello 3526 If that were the case I'm sure we'd have seen it in any of the other legal states by now. 3527 Mate, how hard is it to read a sentence? 52 SHOTS were fired and 11 people killed. And since German police isn't trigger happy you can assume they only use their weapons as the last solution. Unlike US cops who kill people during joke swat calls because why the hell not. \n\nIf you want to discuss it's necessary to read and understand the other persons replies. Otherwise you will never learn their arguments and you spin in your own circle of ignorance and stupidity. 3528 Who you calling "we"? 3529 Most likely kids like this simply haven't been taught to empathize with others. Most kids learn empathy on their own sooner or later, but you can teach it at a very young age just by demonstrating it yourself and talking to them about it as soon as they can understand speech. 3530 Coming SOON! \n\nIn how the left lost (another) election with inane logic, pedanticism, and name-calling Vol. 2 \n\nIn science single-leaning libs have trouble doing actual work, I've done it for you. Imagine that! link 3531 IMO if one of your records is found to be via cheating every single record you hold for every game should be deleted. 3532 Hi, I don't use my headphone jack. I've had bluetooth in my cars and headphones for the last 5 years. The last aux cord I purchased was almost 3 years ago. \n\nAnd here's a bold prediction you will probably be getting bluetooth in your future car. But I don't think I'll be going back to an aux port in my future car. 3533 My thoughts too 3534 Yeah, but you never know if you don't ask. 3535 [removed] 3536 What a lame deflection. Has absolutely nothing to do with anything here. But, since we're shifting sports already, pop out to the local mountain bike track. Count the women in bikes and compare to the men on bikes. Ok. Now, find a local autocross race. Count the women drivers compared to the male drivers. K. Now find go to your local dirt track. Count all the female drivers in total and compare to the male drivers in the smallest division. \n\nWhat have we learned here? Women just aren't racing. My daughter enjoys going fast, and taking tight turns, and going for rides on (ok, more like walks from one driveway to the other) motorcycle. So, I'm doing what I can to encourage one more female racer. But that doesn't answer the question of why there's so few female drivers. 3537 ... and everyone was worried about robots 3538 [removed] 3539 starts to play a microscopic violin 3540 All you need is a quick google search and it yields great results... 3541 Well shit. 3542 Eye roll 3543 I don't care if you believe it or not; it happened. And it is true, if I wrote that into a script and tried to sell it, I'd be laughed out of the office. 3544 I'd beat my kids ass. 3545 Yeah, of course I am. Troll on buddy. 3546 1955 - many camera phones 3547 Let's take GR, GSD, Labs, any large powerful dog really, and over the course of a decade place them in low-income trashy homes. Homes where the dogs are neglected, underfed, under socialized, never trained, and kept out chained up in a little dirt yard. Now how do you think that those dogs would act? ANY breed of dog can be dangerous and aggressive if mistreated. \n\nPitbulls were THE classic american dog at one time in history. [https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pete_the_Pup#/media/File:Schools-out-of-our-gang-1930.jpg] 3548 > Well, to start, Thomas Sowell isn't the best source. He's well educated, but he's mostly a pundit for the right. \n\nIn fact... when Thomas Sowell is being dismissed as a "pundit," we've really stopped being intellectual on gender issues, it would seem 3549 good job delegitimizing the deaths of israeli citizens 3550 DEA will probably be able to get the crazy illegal movers that honestly should be prosecuted for going outside the system, but good luck cleaning up in general without any help from state, county, or city governments. Federal doesn't have nearly enough manpower to do anything about it. 3551 This isn't a mistake like "oops i dropped my mac n cheese on the floor, sad i don't have any mac n cheese any more" \n\nThis is a huge problem with the way these kinds of cases are treated and the fact that there was no action taken is insane and shouldn't be treated with this glibness you've got 3552 Briefcase wanker 3553 I understand perfectly. Its called don't fuck up your job and you won't lose it. 3554 "The victim became pregnant and, due to the "mental functioning" of the victim, she could not carry the child to term." That is code for: a doctor recommended an abortion. 3555 [removed] 3556 Pacific Islander may be it. The people who are popping up with that surname are mostly coming from that region. Maybe he is Samoan? \n\n3557 A friend of mine found $1400 in cash stuffed in a book in goodwill. He bought the book, kept the cash. 3558 Another recommendation for Firefox and Ublock origin. It works wonders. 3559 /r/crazy 3560 And you probably don't want to 3561 -> No one is arguing if a fetus is alive or not \n\nSee the original comment, because that is where this argument started. Let me know where you want the goalposts to end up at this time though, and we can start again. \n\nThe debate is whether it is alive in a biological sense or a philosophical sense \n\nIt's irrefutably alive in both. \n\nA newly formed fetus is not self-aware and cannot support itself in any capacity. Until it develops further, it no more a person \n\nThis is the argument you are trying to have, and it is not a question of whether or not it is alive. It is a philosophical question of "what is a person". You are also incorrect in calling it an "organ". A fetus never fits the definition of an "organ". It is an organism from the start, though the complexity of that organism changes as it grows, just as the complexity of an infant continues to change as it matures into childhood, adolescence, and adulthood. \n\nIt doesn't have desires, thoughts, or feelings \n\nAll living things have a desire to continue living and respond to basic stimuli. Even single-celled organisms demonstrate the capacity for avoiding danger and self-preservation. You are only correct in your assumption that the impetus driving the basic behaviors of a cellular organism are not nearly as complex or refined as a more developed person, but if you are using that as a measuring rod to "earn" personhood, you have a bit of an ethical quandary on your hands. There is no logical way to hold that assertion without also holding that the disabled, developmentally abnormal, and the young are "lesser persons" to normal adults. In a small way, even the "less sophisticated" adults would be considered "lesser persons" to the "more sophisticated" by your logic. It isn't clever or new, and it's an idea that forms both this particular argument for abortion as well as the Nazis' particular brand of philosophy about who deserved to live (as well as social darwinists, and other racist/ableists throughout history). \n\nIt doesn't even have the biological architecture for those things \n\nBlatantly false. If it didn't, it would never develop them. A fetus is a human in a particular stage of development, which all humans have experienced. It is substantially different from an organ or a limb in both a scientific and philosophical manner. \n\nA newly formed fetus is the potential for a person \n\nThis argument is going to rely on the demonstration of the "assumption of personhood"; some significant event during development that clearly delineates "person" from "non-person". When you can point to a moment in gestation before which the fetus is clearly not a person, and after which the fetus is immediately a person, I may consider this argument. Otherwise, it is an argument based upon a fallacy. Until you can demonstrate the mechanism which, between one millisecond and the next, bestows personhood, then you have no argument. Personhood must be defined by a clear and logical event. My definition is superior because it is logically consistent and clearly demonstrable. A definition of personhood as a living human creates personhood at conception, a clearly definable event; a living organism exists, a unique human genetic code is compiled, and a human life begins its decades of development. To supersede this argument and definition you need a superior indicator of personhood.

To those of you who disagree, you're essentially condoning this soft sentence because she's a woman. Or you are denying that the feminist movement has always sidestepped equality when it comes to prison sentencing. Either way...that's kind of fucked up. 3600 True. But those don't do anything to prevent an errant trigger pull, which is why I made the distinction. (The gun went off when he picked it up, not when he dropped it.) 3601 In case you haven't realized, I don't care. I'm quite content with my life and it's direction. 3602 Because apparently their plant is on Native American land, and thus is not affected by US law. 3603 And you, would inform me of that before I ever brought my kitten around you. 3604 I am at work without audio lol. Still to say you saw him "wail on the guy with fucking nunchucks once he's down" when that isn't on the video isn't a great idea. 3605 [removed] 3606 It did not go off when he dropped it. He pulled the trigger picking it up and pointing at people. If a gun drops let it fall. Take a deep breath and carefully pick it back up without flagging people. 3607 Holy shit that was my laugh of the morning. I will no longer continue looking. 3608 I get it, but the nightclub part isn't just misleading, it is inaccurate. 3609 Things like this happen in other agencies, too. They just don't get on r/news, because they don't make people opposing Trump look bad. 3610 Yeah, she didn't. The point was that she could handle it for the short 4 hour flight, not the 6 day road trip. If you weren't so busy being angry over dogs on planes and people with disabilities, you might have caught that. 3611 I have no idea who the DA is but it's entirely possible for them to show lenience to a LEO from another department. 3612 Did you just make that up and hope that people scrolling by wouldn't read the article? The CDC ordered the study. It was a CDC study. The results from the people the CDC ordered the study from clearly shows more defensive gun uses than criminal uses. 3613 Reddit, man. (shrugs) 3614 [deleted] 3615 You can get evidence in a split second, as in when you see a gun. There was no gun there to see, no object that could be mistaken for a gun, and no prior reason to believe this particular guy was carrying. They also neglected to take actions to specifically rule out accessible weapons, like a visual search. They did have the tactical high ground because they had their guns out and aimed. Which gives them plenty of time to wait and see. If they were in situations where split seconds counted, for my part it was half a second to decide to shoot at a speeding car. So I understand high stress situations. And I say it again, this video should be used as training on what not to do. 3616 "It's unclear whether he had been drinking" of course he was. 3617 barrel rolls and double barrels 3618 Not defending the actions of the subject, but the weapon likely does not have a manual safety like what you're thinking. Likely a Glock if he was in fact a FBI agent and carrying his duty weapon. 3619 100% agreed. What is demonstrated here is NOT a law abiding citizen but someone who clearly needs to have his gun rights looked given he has no appreciation for the 2A. 3620 That was the story given. Whether or not it's true, I don't know. 3621 Fascism and racism aren't the same thing. You've failed to demonstrate any Catalan totalitarianism, totalitarianism being central to fascism. 3622 I'm not surprised by it, I'm just disgusted by it. 3623 If he hasn't been let go already, he will be. I would bet a small fortune on it. I suspect it's the local PDs that don't have a large enough hiring pool to be selective that are forced/choose to hold on to less than desirable cops. 3624 No, it implies that her claim is unconfirmed. 3625 Point is good 3626 Statistics are not in your favor. There's a lot more accidental discharges than there are terrorists running in waving his AK-47 in the air. 3627 Doing something you don't intend is an accident. He didn't intend to shoot someone. 3628 Intent is a huge part of the law. What exactly do you want to happen to him? Jail? The purpose of jail is to rehabilitate. Except here there is nothing to rehabilitate, because there was no intent. If acting irresponsible with a firearm is not okay, and there should be consequences But an accidental discharge is completely different than anything else. 3629 More and more guns don't have safeties you have to manually disengage. 3630 Is it really police hate or is it just people being critical of seemingly cruel conduct by police? Since when is it bad to question the status quo, especially in light of what has been happening lately. That is not to say that police brutality is a new thing, it's not. However, due to the prevalence of smart phones and this new era of transparency it seems like things are really bad. Regardless, excessive force is excessive force, it does not matter if it has happened in the past. People love to justify this type of behavior by officers by claiming its what has always been done, that's not proper justification for anything. Past mistakes and misconduct never justify current misconduct. Just because someone may have committed a crime (remember, innocent until proven guilty) should not justify the use of lethal force or even excessive force such as this. Unless the suspect is visibly carrying a weapon and proves a danger to others, lethal force should NEVER be used in my opinion. I liken an officer firing at a suspect to a death sentence, the only way that such a fate should be issued is by a jury of one's peers in a fair trial. So, no I don't think Reddit hates police officers. I think people are finally starting to hold them accountable for their actions. 3631 Gun+Booze+Dancing=Nope. So many dumbs contributed to this accident. 3632 just an example. 3633 http://www.mysdailynews.com/new-york/mc-crime/mpyd-charged-drunk-driving-hitting-police-car-article-1.3962607 http://www.mysdailynews.com/new-york/mc-crime/off-duty-arrested-driving-drunk-east-harlem-article-1.3754466 http://www.mysdailynews.com/new-york/mc-crime/off-duty-arrested-driving-drunk-east-harlem-article-1.3754466 doesn't even mention if he has his gun on him. Cops almost ALWAYS have their gun on them. I'd really assume both of these guys did, but no mention of it, no charges, nothing. I find one example of a cop facing "drunk w/ their gun" charges after they were found drunk. I'll twiddle my thumbs and wait. 3633 Calls me immature but then you admit to looking through my post history and then make passive aggressive comments about it to me. Lol 3634 Gee kid, maybe just wait for her to calm down and not pull some stupid bullshit? If she's surrounded by police with a knife she's not gonna do any harm except maybe to herself. They should've talked her down 3635 Pro 2A and anti-idiotcy are perfectly compatible. Here is a guy who is not a law abiding citizen and due to his gross negligence I would say his right/ability to own guns shall be called into question. 3636 No wonder that show was a cultural phenomenon. We got to revel in the worst of society on both sides of the law. 3637 Yep, guy could have done a backflip with a stick. Imagine the carnage! You and I both know you're not actually this dumb, so stop being disingenuous. 3638 Would they, though? ANAL, but the case that immediately sprang to mind for me was Plaxico Burress, the former NFL player who accidentally shot a gun in a Manhattan nightclub (gun was in his waistband, went off, shot himself in the leg). Charges in that case were related to the possession, not the accidental discharge. I don't know how the laws are different in Denver, but NYC isn't known for lax gun regulations. If Burress wasn't charged with negligence, I doubt this guy will be. 3639 I second this. 3640 No, when you put a magazine in a firearm some action must take place to move a bullet from the magazine to the chamber. In a Glock you rack the slide. 3641 A cat could easily be killed by a grown man beating it. Police (if they even come and don't simply refuse and tell you to call animal control) could arrive hours later, long after the cat is dead. I gotta tell you, if someone is beating my pet, won't stop, and I feared for it's life, I'd probably at least wound the asshole to get them to stop. 3642 Thanks, Nick Angle. 3643 I like to think my first concern would be for any possible victims and taking responsibility, but I can't imagine the psychology in the moment, probably quite drunk, going from the king of the party to ruining my entire life in literally one second. I would probably just pass out. 3644 Definitely a Lt. Dangle mishap 3645 This is actual Archer. 3646 So do republicans. They love shootings because after everyone there is a surge of gun purchases. Because, you know, that will help... 3647 As an American who is also retired US Army, I couldn't agree more. 3648 [removed] 3649 Dwight shot a gun in the office and lost his manager position. This dude will probably get a paid vacation 3650 I gather you're one of those cops that tell citizens to "keep off" rather than protect and serve. Your hostile attitude toward a civil conversation is why people don't trust law enforcement. 3651 There's a continuum of force. They can't run over people in their car. 3652 I'm with you here, I feel more uncomfortable around security guards for certain. I'm sure it changes with the area you live in. We had some very hardcore DEA agents stop by my workplace once looking for an ex-employee. I felt intimidated just looking at them. 3653 >The normal response to a fleeing suspect is to follow until he slows down. In what fantasy world? Fleeing suspects never run down the street for long. 3654 One moment he's the coolest motherfucker to ever hit the dance floor, the next his livelihood is over. Dumb ass. 3655 This is exactly why cars should be banned. Even if no-one tries to crash on purpose, it can still crash unintentionally. And yes, I'm just looking for more reasons to ban cars. 3656 I have no idea what you are trying to say with this 3657 I would say the majority of modern polymer handguns do not have a thumb safety. 3658 So I guess this officer is one of the "bad apples" we hear about. Such a lame excuse whenever an officer does something stupid. Check this officer's history and there will be other stupid shit that a blind eye was turned by supervisors and which other officers knew or covered for. 3659 or high on 20 different pills and oxygen deprivation 3660 Fine, squatting on a chair. Airline staff are not going to let anyone that can't be seated and buckled. 3661 [deleted] 3662 Its probable that the gun he was carrying does not have a manual safety. Most guns designed for concealed carry do not. If he was carrying a Glock, he has a trigger safety system- but if you pull the trigger the gun goes bang 3663 does matter they are still on fire. 3664 You probably shouldn't even bring your firearm to a bar/club in the first place 3665 Bad day for bad guy who did bad things. Sad for parents and friends of the victim. 3666 Can we really call that dancing though??? 3667 The only way to stop a backflipping FBI agent with a gun is with a frontflipping FBI agent with a gun. 3668 [removed] 3669 Definitely or at the very least he'll never carry a gun for the FBI again and relegated to a desk job. He very well might go work for a police department afterwards but I can't imagine the FBI is going to keep an asshole like this around especially since there's video of his asshattery. 3670 Is it? Seems like that is the California standard not the factory or designed standard. 3671 Are you a cop? If so: correct, you can't. Also not during the week either. 3672 >Everything they touch turns to shit. I wonder how much shit went into the tech you are using to complain about CA. 3673 [removed] 3674 Legal in the state of Georgia. Laws vary by state. /r/CCW for more 3675 [removed] 3676 [removed] 3677 In case you haven't realized you can live without being an asshole to others 3678 A whole 6 months. Well well. I live here 12 years and can honestly say you have no idea what you are talking about. 3679 [removed] 3680 Thanks for the F shack! 3681 [removed] 3682 It is. I'm a cop, and in my state (and I would certainly assume all of them), you can't possess a firearm while under the influence. And that term is VERY loose, it doesn't have any of the measurable levels and procedural laws involved with something like a DUI charge. I'm sure the guy was stone cold sober, he's still a moron that shouldn't be working in law enforcement. You have a responsibility when you carry a gun, a HUGE one, and you can't do a lot of things you could without one. Dancing? Drinking? Random crap like trying on clothes? Know beforehand what you'll be doing and if a gun can safely be involved. You wanna do backflips and crowd surf and ride roller coasters and drink till you puke? Go ahead. But leave the gun at home. 3683 And yet we don't have background checks on private sales, any felon can buy bullets, etc. 3684 [removed] 3685 [deleted] 3686 It's probably will fire! It's best movie of the last 8-10 years. 3687 I have and it wasn't a few days it was close to a month. But I didn't run and I still got fired from my job for not showing up. I guess what? I fought it in court and won. Of course the cop didn't get in trouble but the judge was very pissed. First words that came out of my lawyers mouth was, "it's a good thing they couldn't tag more charges since you did everything they told you." The good news is I was compensated for every day I was in jail, bad news is I had to find another job even though my boss said he'd rehire me. Fuck him. Don't run, don't resist. Dumbasses. 3688 Actually according to movies, the best cop is the one that doesn't "play by the rules." He'll be offered a promotion soon, but will reject it since it is his calling to be out there on the streets keeping people safe. He's no pencil-pusher. 3689 she pronounces denver, as if it was the most outrageous city ever! 3690 Sure did. What did I say that you find disagreeable? 3691 It is no more dangerous than tackling that person, if done properly. 3692 If it was dumb then literally every other manufacturer wouldn't be copying Glock's design choice. The design is great, and is perfectly safe. This is why almost all LEO agencies and federal agencies have adopted the platform. These safeties only disengage when the trigger is pulled. A manual safety doesn't stop stupid people and should never be used as a crutch. 3693 [removed] 3694 That's not the problem here though, it's the other stuff he did that was the problem. 3695 1) that law varies state to state. Some states, allow you to be in an establishment that serves alcohol as long as you are 'N/A' not consuming alcohol. Not sitting in the bar/restaurant often with a firearm and simply drink water or soda and do not go anywhere near the bar. You also will never catch me trying to dance, limbo, backflip or front flip while I am carrying a firearm. You are VERY correct. This was completely reckless and stupid, and someone who is supposed to be trained and have common sense should have known to not do something senseless like this. I'm sure this man will no longer hold a job with the FBI, and I bet no other agencies will be hopping on board to offer him a job too. 3696 "The best of the best" over at the FBI- 3697 [removed] 3698 True, but if you watch the video, it didn't "go off" until he grabbed it. Because he pulled the trigger. 3699 Don't want to be hit by the car? Don't run. Simple. 3700 [removed] 3701 The city, where in the heart they have a giant billboard that reads "this is a union town", is forming a union? Nawwww. 3702 Man. I live in Florida and there's no snow here. It must not exist! 3703 Fucking idiot. 3703 you're the one believing things that have no evidence backing it. calling other people cultists. I know of a Hunter Safety Instructor who shot across a road (with cars on it) to kill an elk. call that couldn't get across a fence. Lots of adult hunters do exactly what you said they don't do. 3705 Not his first rodeo with clowns like him I'm sure. 3706 What about Red Forman? 3707 http://38.media.tumblr.com/tumblr_lo9lha57j1qh3yp6o1_500.gif 3707 Does she have a go fund me? 3708 ILLEGAL ALIEN Get it right, OP. Downvoted for shitty title. 3709 8. Prize 1 GRAND PRIZE: A 1996-era cellular telephone that may be used for communication during the contract time period, including a monthly phone plan accompanying the phone, and the opportunity to enter into a contract not to use a smartphone for 365 consecutive days, all details determined by Sponsor, in its sole discretion, for the possible opportunity to win up to $100,000. Approximate Retail Value (ARV) of the tangible portions of this prize: $700 as well as the priceless opportunity to enter into the contract. CONTRACT: There will be separate rules, timing, and a contract for the scroll-free year that will be provided to the winner of this Contest. He or she will need to agree to the rules and not use (or touch) a smartphone for 365 consecutive days, subject to verification by Sponsor, as well as a lie-detector test at the end of the contract period. Restrictions Include: No smartphone or tablet use, including using another smartphone or tablet that does not belong to you. Laptops and desktop computers are OK to use. Voice-activated devices that are NOT smartphones are OK (like google home or amazon echo). If he or she is determined to have met all of the aspects of the contract, he or she will receive $100,000 and will need to complete the appropriate tax documentation in order to do so. If he or she only lasts for 6 months, but has otherwise met all aspects of the contract, he or she will receive $10,000 and will need to complete the appropriate tax documentation for that prize level. No substitution, exchange or transfer of prize by winner. Sponsor reserves the right to substitute any prize or prize component for one of equal or greater value. Winner is responsible for all taxes and fees associated with prize receipt and/or use. 9. Publicity: Except where prohibited, participation in the Contest constitutes entrant's consent for the Sponsor and its designees to use entrant's name, Submission, likeness, city and state of residence, prize information, video, voice, any comments, testimonials or other feedback related to prize or Contest experience, whether written or oral, for promotional purposes in any media without further consideration. 10. General Conditions: If for any reason, the Contest is not capable of running as planned by reason of infection by virus, bugs, worms, tampering, unauthorized intervention, fraud, technical failures, or any other causes which, in the sole opinion of the Sponsor, may corrupt or affect the administration, operation, security, fairness, integrity or proper conduct of this Contest, Sponsor reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to cancel, terminate, modify or suspend the Contest, and select a winner or winners, from the entries received prior to the action taken or in other such manner as deemed fair and appropriate by Sponsor. The Sponsor reserves the right in its sole discretion to disqualify any individual it finds to be tampering with the entry process or the operation of the Contest or to be acting in violation of these Official Rules or any other Contest, or in an unsportsmanlike or disruptive manner. Any attempt by any person to undermine the legitimate operation of this Contest may be in violation of criminal and civil law, and, should such an attempt be made, the Sponsor reserves the right to seek damages from any such person to the fullest extent permitted by law. The Sponsor's failure to enforce any term of these Official Rules shall not constitute a waiver of that provision. 11. Release and Limitations of Liability: Except where prohibited, by participating in the Contest, entrant agrees to release and hold harmless The Coca-Cola Company, Coca-Cola bottlers, Twitter, Inc., CMGRP, Inc., dba Weber Shandwick, Instagram, LLC, HelloWorld, Inc., and their respective related companies, parents, subsidiaries, affiliates, and their respective agents and agencies, promotional partners, prize partners, and their respective officers, directors, employees and agents (collectively, the "Released Parties") from and against any claim or cause of action arising out of participation in the Contest or use of the prize, including, but not limited to: (a) unauthorized human intervention in the Contest; (b) technical errors related to computers, servers, providers, or telephone or network lines; (c) printing errors; (d) errors in the administration of the Contest or the processing or judging of Submissions; (e) late, lost, or undeliverable mail; or (f) injury or damage to persons or property which may be caused, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, from entrant's participation in the Contest or use or misuse of any prize. Entrant further agrees that in any cause of action, the Released Parties' liability will be limited to the cost of entering and participating in the Contest and in no event shall the Released Parties be liable for attorneys' fees. Entrant waives the right to claim any damages whatsoever, including, but not limited to, punitive, consequential, direct, or indirect damages. 12. Disputes: Entrant agrees that: (a) any and all disputes, claims and causes of action arising out of or connected with this Contest or its associated winner selection and/or notification shall be resolved individually, without resort to any form of class action, and exclusively by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan (Southern Division) or the appropriate Michigan State Court located in Oakland County, Michigan; (b) any and all claims, judgments and awards shall be limited to actual out-of-pocket costs incurred, including costs associated with entering this Contest, but in no event attorneys' fees; and (c) under no circumstances will entrant be permitted to obtain awards for and entrant hereby waives all rights to claim punitive, incidental and consequential damages and any other damages, other than for actual out-of-pocket expenses, and any and all rights to have damages multiplied or otherwise increased. SOME JURISDICTIONS DO NOT ALLOW THE LIMITATIONS OR EXCLUSION OF LIABILITY FOR INCIDENTAL OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES, SO THE ABOVE MAY NOT APPLY TO YOU. All issues and questions concerning the construction, validity, interpretation and enforceability of these Official Rules, or the rights and obligations of the entrant and Sponsor in connection with the Contest and Contest Administration, shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of Michigan, without giving effect to any choice of law or conflict of law rules (whether of the State of Michigan or any other jurisdiction), which would cause the application of the laws of any jurisdiction other than the State of Michigan. 3710 what? creepy white guys are not the only child prowling pervers? 3711 [removed] 3712 Yeah that's what you call fraud 3713 Hey to each their own. Personally I liked the season 3-12 run the best. I feel like I can open up any episode and enjoy it as a stand alone episode with maybe a couple call-backs mixed in. The 2 serialized seasons don't do that for episodic viewing by design which makes it harder for me to go back to them. 3714 I've addressing the overall problem, which i don't see any evidence for. Because it will cost money and need people maintaining it, so it won't™ just be you to unlock new resources by existing as you hinted at. Who do i support that is racist? 3815 They will do nothing. They are a madrasa. Their job is to pump out trumpets. 3816 https://youtu.be/3CEC1_gcr347r=731 3817 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 but I highly encourage you to skim around and see what the students were subjected to for over an hour because of the color of their skin. 3818 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 but I highly encourage you to skim around and see what the students were subjected to for over an hour because of the color of their skin. 3819 What the other students were doing, for the purpose of my comment, was irrelevant. If only ONE student was behaving in such a hateful way, the staff supervisor(s) has (have) a professional obligation to put an end to it. That would be the case where I live and teach, which is, admittedly, pretty far from Kentucky geographically, but not attitudinally. 3820 If you think an actual student wrote this you'd™re an idiot. Why would they be wearing MAGA hats and chanting áœœbuild the walláœœ- lifeâœ¢ ally? That kid was not standing there enjoying anything and neither were his friends. The post even mentioned they were doing áœœchantaisé and were áœœtyped up at a fucking pro-life rally. Use your brain. 3821 Oh another Bot from Russia. 3822 Why is this news? 3823 láœ¢t™s pretty sad that this is getting popularity only because heâœ¢t™s wearing a Trump hat. 3824 [removed] 3825 Thanks. I went to bed before the 2 hour raw vid dropped. \n\nWonder how much people will walk back on their bullshit now.\n\nShame some of those kids lives may be fucked up now when they weren't doing anything. 3826 [removed] 3827 More fake news. This time the victims are just kids. Watch the whole video, idiot mor. \n\nThe left likes to thin it's better then Grampa's forwarded emails.\n\nWon't probably end well for those kids. \n\n3828 [removed] 3829 And, when a fire comes through, you get a free cooked meal as well! 3830 It must mean something as you felt the need to comment on it. 3831 [removed] 3832 how many left of center customers do you think they have? 3833 [removed] 3834 [removed] 3835 Is there an inoculation that we can give our critics against this? 3836 So....he walks up to a heated crowd with intentions of soothing the situation with his music and deserves to be surrounded and mocked as he does nothing more than bang on a drum? \n\nláœ¢t™ find it hard to believe kids wearing MAGA hats chanted Build The Wall and the cameras were unable to pick it up over the sounds of the crowd.\n\nEven minus the wall chant, if you think what these students did is okay on any level, youâœ¢t™re a serious problem in our country. 3837 [removed] 3838 You didn't even attempt to address what I said, it's not about her growth it's about other students. It's not Black people's job to constantly put up with distractions and harassment for the sake of maybe, possibly gaining an ally in the future, as if we have to be parents to a bunch of spoiled children because "they have the potential to change". 3839 I'm not a Nazi. I'm Jewish, how could I be a Naz? 3840 I don't understand how do these people even exist. How stupid and entitled do you have to be to spout such bullshit after seeing your son being the cowardly asshole he is.\n\nI'm pretty sure my parents would've hit me into the next world, and rightly so. 3841 [removed] 3842 [removed] 3843 these kids did nothing wrong, but since people on reddit like to baby nineties whenever they have a negative interaction with a white person they immediately claim WAYCIST EBIIL NAHIZEE and rush to their defence, no matter who started what.\n\nInthese people have been brainwashed. 3844 An old native American man who walked into a crowd of typed up teenagers. And I've seen nothing that shows them chanting build that Wall. I'm very anti-trump, I fucking hate these dumbass caps the kids are wearing. I probably disagree with everything they believe, but they didn't do anything that horrifying. 3845 [removed] 3846 Your professors failed you. 3847 [removed] 3848 I mean you don't take a load of kids to an anti abortion March full stop, surely? (or pro choice for that matter) 3849 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 but I highly encourage you to skim around and see what the students were subjected to for over an hour because of the color of their skin. 3850 Which subreddit was more offensive to the other? 3851 No, they didn't. They were chanting their schools cheer. Watch the video 3852 [removed] 3853 Another full-blooded descendant (Filipino and Irish) here - sounds like this school should fund its history department a little more. 3854 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 but I highly encourage you to skim around and see what the students were subjected to for over an hour because of the color of their skin. 3855 That seems to happen a lot yes, but this is so much more egregious when it involves kids. 3856 The wall is to stop ILLEGAL immigrants and protect the rights of LEGAL immigrants. How is that so hard to understand? 3857 Maybe its meant In áœœjust friendshipáœ¢ kind of way? 3858 I doubt the natives were there for a different cause than the racist guy? 3859 > The blatant disrespect would be the 'build the wall chants' \n\nwhereas are those at though? 3860 Áœ¢t™ Most Americans shower twice daily! Áœ¢t™ Wtf? What do you do at night? Sit yourselves? EVERY night??? \n\nJust kidding, but thatâœ¢t™s ridiculous. 3861 Jesus Christ, America is so incredibly fucked up 3862 [removed] 3863 Yes, because it doesn't mean anything. No matter how dramatic it is, no matter how good this case is for rising up gender topic. This is the case, not a rule or tendency.\n\n&x#x200B;\n\nWordNews is pretty much the same: mostly irrelevant events that do not affect our lives. 3864 [removed] 3865 > I'm sure this will get downvoted.\n\nI hope so. I did. You chose your words well to diffuse the disturbance this caused and sound reasonably to those who care (not you). It's all following the book on how to communicate the narrative. So predictable. \n\n3866 his actions of smiling when a man walks up to your face and starts to drum? at 1:12 https://youtu.be/3CEC1_gcr347r= 3867 because he smiled when an old man walked up to him beating a drum in his face? \n\nhttps://youtu.be/3CEC1_gcr347r=731 3868 Breaking into John Wickâœ¢t™s house is a bad idea! 3869 Are medics allowed to give IPA in your state? 3870 [removed] 3871 [removed] 3872 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 3873 They were already there to march against women's rights. So no surprise they're pieces of shit. The school knew, the school encourages it. It's a catholic school. 3874 [removed] 3875 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 3876 Wow that sounds ridiculous. Sure they shouldn't go against your wishes there but, if they do, it's because they care enough about you to try that 3877 No its no? 70 minutes in is when the NA march shows up. I told you to go to 50 because that when the kids start get harassed for 20 minutes prior to the NA march coming. Its also where you hear the BHI yell "Build the Wall!" at the kids about 20 times, which Im guessing is why the NA thought the kids were chanting it. 3878 No, they were at a pro life march 3879 This basically what you are saying 'n- You guarantee guns have no effect on america 'n- There is no comparable data (removing your means to prove the above alongside anyone's means to disprove it) 'n- Someone that opposes guns committed a felony and were not prosecuted, as if this contributes somehow to your point 'n\nAs you see, it's not interesting to discuss anything with someone who wishes to imagine a world where his points are undisputable and there is nothing to learn from others. That is why religion and US politics fail so often. \n\nInmost policies are based on the same principles, that is why all nations tend to converge to similar laws, systems of government and infrastructure characteristics. I remember in south america people arguing that a subway like the ones in europe won't work there because culture, weather, soil type, blah blah, and there you have amazing subways now. I also remember people saying that trains in US are not feasible like in EU because reasons, but the truth is the car and bus lobbying. Noe guns? Of course it isn't NRA-fundd politicians that are washing your brain with some patriotic association to this huge business, it's some indisputable thing about US that needs guns. 3880 Well, you can get a lot of counter-intuitive situations in a lab environment 3881 If I had to guess it was probably a targeted home invasion...maybe of a drug dealer or something like that, to steal product/cash that they knew would be in the house. But they got the wrong house. Happens quite regularly. 3882 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 3883 And let's be honest, the Catholic church is bleeding customers worldwide. 3884 Well, if that org Chem includes labs, there is a significant factor on top of cultural norms. \n\nWhich is that org chem labs cause you to sweat out all sorts of reeking org chem compounds you absorb just by doing the work.\n\nThe small effort weaking up back then made me think that basically everything should have been done in full hazard suits and/or fully enclosed work benches, instead of just "gloves and regular ventilated benches". 3885 Do you have a video. I haven't seen any with that. 3886 I donâœ¢t™ want logic, I want to be mad! Gmmmmmm 3887 The guy with the drum approached the students, they're obviously going to act like kids and play up in front of their mates. The one kid everyone's hating on just stands there snirking and you're all crying about it 3888 No you're malicious. The main kid literally didnt move or speak. \n\nInits all on tape - and you want his life ruined. \n\n3889 except the kids can never be seen saying that 3890 This idea deserves gold 3891 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. https://youtu.be/PEyP7SreLNM check around 1:11:47 3892 None\n\nInLegally" or what not they are conflicts, not wars. But for all intents and purposes they were war. \n\nInIt's silly as the government even refers to them as wars: "The Korean War is not over, but in an extended ceasefire" 3893 And you have a worldview of a prepubescent child. 3894 [removed] 3895 My dog loves getting vacuumed, but he's a Lab and loves lots of silky shit. 3896 \n\n/n\n/n\n/n\nNathan Phillips description/\n\nof the event seems to be the one that's most accurate, and fits all the videos people have been posting. He did not say the kid was standing there politely. \n\n/n\n/n\n/n\nare these people standing here politely as well? \n\n/n\n/n\n[imgur.com/a/3MKAMev]\n\nIn"i grew up on a res")\n\n(https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BGPzGuYp6Y) Fucking lol \n\n3897 How is standing still when someone comes up to you banging a drum in any way 'harassing'? 3898 TIL being called a Cracker and having your black friend mocked for hanging around white people while being yelled "Go back to Europe!" is harassing black people 3899 truth = cover story, lmao. 3900 [removed] 3901 http://www.bbc.com/news/world-us-canada-40485990 \n\nInWhite man murders black woman. Mentions of racism? 0. \n\n/n\n\nYour turn! 3902 so does secularism. \n\nInthe USSR killed more people than any other faction in human history, and did so attempting to purge religious people. the same thing happened in communist china, and the khmer rouge were extremist atheists. the top 3 massacres in human history, all done by militant atheists. \n\nInliterally ANY idea can be radicalized and evil. you just want to focus on religion, while imperialists "coincidentally" want to go after a religious culture that happens to live on oil. 3903 This is why the only way I would depend on pepper spray to protect myself is if I sprayed it on some bullets with it first. Sadly this girl didn't have that option. 3904 Loose lips, sink ships 3905 I absolutely agree. \n\nInBut most of the missiles NK launch don't have nukes. 3906 From this: https://www.dni.gov/files/documents/Newsroom/Testimonies/SSCI%20Unclassified%20SFR%20-%20FONAL.pdf \n\nInStatement for the Record \n\nWorldwide Threat Assessment of the \n\nUS Intelligence Community \n\n/n\n\nThese are people directly appointed by the Executive Branch. This is their report. \n\nInlm not saying Russia is the only one but certainly one of the most advanced and effective. Chinas hawkers do more of the corporate crime and smaller nations have a less effective force. 3907 [removed] 3908 Completely wrong. NK apparently has 10kt nukes, which are visualized here.\n\nInNotably, unless you are in the 1 mile radius, there are lots of things you can do to protect yourself and avoid radiation burns. Look at some pics from Hiroshima and Nagasaki.... Some people got burnt patterned on what was in front of them at the time. Being in a basement or away from a window could mean surviving without major injury. \n\n/n\n\nYour advice is like saying "it doesn't matter what you do during a tornado, because you're going to die either way." It's bad and dangerous advice. 3909 I mean, in your argument, those other girls would also have guns, and not knives. So you'd have had a shootout instead with more potential casualties, including people sitting inside dunkin doughnuts. 3910 You mean like manning winning the SB after announcing his retirement. Or did you mean like how people got all excited to see the harbaugh brothers face off in the superbowl only to have them both eliminated in the championship round, but they both got there the very next year. I really should have made a big wager on that. I literally called that prior to the previous superbowl being played. Ofcourse both teams have sucked since being they were propped up with rigging. The fanfare around that idea was far too large for the nfl to pass up on. \n\n/n\n\nAs a huge Patriots fan it kinda hurts to say, but I sometimes wonder if the Brady/goodel things was just some WWE type drama to drum up interest in god

[illegible]

I'm at a loss here. If he was married to a US citizen, what's the problem here? 3977 This could just be the â€¢ my laser defense system is bigger than your rocketâ€¢ kind of thing. With all the defensive systems currently deployed, I think we are way past the MAD scenario. It essentially makes the missiles obsolete. It does create a new market for cheap Chinese dummy ICBMs though. 3978 Your poor mother. 3979 [deleted] 3980 Oh kid.....maybe about 2000 years ago? 3981 Funny how in the eyes of the Church and all right wing nuts this couple are still better parents than a gay couple who will love their children and care for them in the right way. 3982 I like how everybody is so sure NK has nukes made with shoestrings and bubble gum. The world doesn't know shit. Russia is helping them. They could have straight up Russian nukes and no one will know until they get bombed. 3983 The second one is a joke. \n\nFirst one is based on more background. For example, Hawaii updated its nuclear attack preparedness last month. Mistakes like Saturday didn't happen years ago because they weren't doing the same level of readiness years ago. 3984 Dude, it's the responsibility of the person making a claim to provide evidence. We don't owe you the benefit of the doubt.\n\nI don't even disbelieve you, but your attitude pisses me off. You are the one who has the responsibility to prove your argument. Do your own fucking 'research' 3985 Let me elaborate for all you who downvote: I'm an experienced former prosecutor. I've tried all kinds of cases to a jury. In almost every complex case I've worked on, there were things that didn't make sense. The questions of "Why didn't the defendant do X, Y, or Z?" when X, Y, or Z would seem to be the logical, reasonable, or natural step for someone acting in their own self-interest or "How could the defendant be so stupid as to do A, B, or C?" constantly came up. \n\nWhen I started, it drove me crazy that I couldn't answer these questions satisfactorily. I always felt like if I couldn't answer these questions, the jury might think that this meant there was reasonable doubt. In fact, I often found that jurors struggled with these questions too when I interviewed jurors after a verdict.\n\nEventually, after reading thousands of police reports, talking to police detectives, fellow prosecutors, defense attorneys, witnesses, victims, and defendants, I had my answer: Only less than 1% of criminal defendants are what you would call "criminal masterminds," i.e. people who were dedicated to a life outside the law to the point that they methodically took steps to avoid, evade, or actively deceive law enforcement. There's a good fraction of defendants who act either because of mental illness or addiction or some combination of the two. But the overwhelming majority of criminal defendants were, well, stupid people who made rash, thoughtless choices that ended up not working out for them. \n\nEven out of that less than 1% that deliberately chose to be criminals (drug dealers, bookies, corrupt public officials, gang members, hit men, etc.), most of them were none too bright either. It never ceased to amaze me what dumb things even supposedly sophisticated criminals did that ended up tripping them up, from the judge who kept a spreadsheet of the payoffs he received on his state-owned office computer to the drug dealer who freely spoke on his cellphone, even after receiving a tip that the cops were listening in on his cellphone calls.\n\nSo, when analyzing a crime scene, my personal opinion is that investigators too often overlook the most obvious explanation for "why" a defendant did what he did, i.e. it was a stupid mistake.\n\nIn this case, people are far too eager, IMO, to fill in the blanks in the case against Stephen Paddock by attributing some "super genius" quality to him. Like, why did he have explosive materials in the car but not use them? Why didn't he try to make an escape? How did he manage to get taken down when he had such a superior position/firepower?\n\nHere's an explanation: planning attacks like this out is one thing, but actually carrying them out is another. You've heard the expression that "no plan survives first contact with the enemy," Similar thing here, i.e. he may have planned things out one way, but when the bullets are flying and adrenaline is pumping, plans start to go out the window. \n\nLook at the killers at Columbine. As horrible as their attack was, it could have been far worse: the bombs that they set never went off. They could have easily killed many more students by more effectively locking and/or barricading some of the emergency exits. \n\nI haven't even gotten into the fact that most of the conspiracy theories out there have so little evidentiary or factual support so as not to be worthy of discussion. This is especially true when the simpler explanation, i.e. that Paddock wasn't a super-genius master criminal but that he was an irrational, mentally disturbed, violent man, is likely the correct one. 3986 Looking forward to the alternative, which will no doubt be sprayed with some sort of cancer causing chemical in order to make a recyclable cup that doesn't dissolve in 5 seconds. 3987 Name an instance where white people murdered black people last year that wasn't a result of overblown as white supremacy racism and a result of show you 5 black on white/Asian/latino crimes that the news reported as a result of a racist attack, to avoid calling them black. 3988 Religion is a mental illness though 3989 It does seem weird that they keep something so important on a drop down menu. Like, shouldn't there be more protocol before that gets sent out to the entire fucking state?? 3990 Someone alert the Black Knights! 3991 Sounds like she just didn't realize the risks and as soon as she was made aware of them she immediately did the right thing. Not sure why ignorance and immediate correction upon awareness requires a punch... 3992 As a percentage of total income, more than the average billionaire rate, \n\nhttps://www.pbs.org/newshour/economy/column-much-poor-actually-pay-taxes-probably-think 3993 [removed] 3994 Ayay, beginning to smell like drills \n\nEdit: Well nvm apparently it's nothing like what happened in Hawaii \n\n3995 No. Itâ€¢s too risky to ask about anything now. 3996 Because Reddit mobile is trash and errors so much. But thanks for taking that as some sort of allegory on what I was saying. 3997 Take your pick. The one that happened a while ago on a bus in New York, was because she was late coming home and her parents disapproved of her dating a Christian guy. 3998 No but I spent a decade in Cali and still visit very often, which oh is probably more than can be said about most commentators in this thread. \n\nWhat about you, you eat out the soup kitchen? 3999 Plot twist: NK is actually launching missiles, they just keep getting shot down and a retraction is issued as soon as the emergency is dealt with to keep the public from panicking 4000 No kidding. That's a lot of wire.\n\nThis spring I'm getting ready to put up a pair of OCF dipoles (Windlams) that are 267' end to end - the plan is to have them 90Â° opposed at a common feedpoint, so they can get lobes one way or the other, and just maybe could be fed in phase for a circular pattern.\n\nAny way, the plan is to use super thin copper-coated steel welding wire. I'm hoping that if it's up 70' or so, it'll actually be hard to see. But my wife is licensed and pretty tolerant of the HF antennas lol. 4001 >Yet it seems like for every new drug someone brings to market, a new anti-vaxxing, essential oil-toting reflexologist is born.\n\nWell the more idiots we keep alive the more they reproduce. They've become so stupid they are accidentally killing themselves through their stupidity. 4002 [removed] 4003 whoa whoa whoa, take a chill pill mate! \n\n4004 Being in a HOA gives you access to an immediate civil response for violation of the rules. Often the city, or incorporated entity where you live is much slower to respond to code violations. If you are outside of city limits you may have no means of remedying the situation. If you value your freedom and the freedom of others, that will hold more value to you. That said around 20% of houses in the US are in HOA's and they hold around 30% of value in the housing market. 4005 I would have paid that man 4006 [Oregon] Live link for those who don't want to touch Fox [https://www.oregonlive.com/news/2019/02/emotional-support-animal-mauls-5-year-old-girl-at-portland-airport-11-million-lawsuit-says.html] \n\nThe mother of a 5-year-old girl mauled in the face by a pit bull at Portland International Airport has filed a $1.1 million lawsuit against the Port of Portland for allegedly letting a dangerous â€¢ emotional support animalâ€¢ into the airport without a carrier. \n\nThe lawsuit lists two other defendants: the dogâ€¢s owner, Michelle Brannan, and Alaska Airlines. The suit claims Brannan should have known that her dog had â€¢cevious propensities.â€¢ The suit says the airline is at fault for allegedly allowing Brannan to bring a dangerous dog into the gate waiting area, where the attack happened, when the dog wasn't a trained service animal and wasn't properly confined. \n\nAccording to their Portland attorney, Chad Stavley, Gabriella and her family were waiting at gate C7 to board a flight to Texas for the Christmas holiday. The girlâ€¢s mother and older sister went to get coffee nearby as Gabriella and her 13-year-old brother waited at the gate, Stavley said. \n\nWith Brannanâ€¢s consent, Gabriella began petting the dog, Stavley said. It then bit her -- puncturing her eyelid, severing her ear duct, lacerating her face and tearing her lip, Stavley said. The girl underwent surgery and has visible scars today, he said. \n\nBrannan couldn't be reached for comment Tuesday. Alaska Airlines declined comment, citing the pending litigation. \n\nKama Simonds, a spokeswoman for the Port of Portland, declined comment on the specifics of the case. But she explained the portâ€¢s policy allowing animals. She said port officials can ask someone traveling with a dog if the dog is a trained service animal. If the traveler says yes, officials can ask what service the dog provides. \n\nThe traveler need only answer those questions, and weâ€¢re required to accept the answer,â€¢ Simonds said in an email. She added that officials donâ€¢t ask for documentation of the animalâ€¢s training. \n\nSimonds said the port distinguishes between trained service animals and emotional support animals -- requiring that the latter be put in carriers while passing through the airport. If the animal is too large for a carrier, the animal must be on a leash within 3 feet of its owner, she said. \n\nPort officials apparently thought Brannanâ€¢s dog could have fit into some sort of carrier because port police cited her for failing to crate her dog. \n\nStavley said he doesn't know if officials at the airport questioned Brannan about her dog before she got to the gate, or what Brannan might have said when asked if her dog was a trained service animal or an emotional support animal. \n\nStavley said Brannan was carrying what looked like a form letter from her therapist, saying her animal was an emotional support animal. \n\nThe â€¢câ€¢ didn't say what kind of animal,â€¢ Stavley said. â€¢câ€¢ was just a generic â€¢animal.â€¢ \n\nBrannan, who lived in Portland at the time, was allowed to catch a later flight without her dog, Stavley said. \n\nAccording to Alaska Airlinesâ€¢ policy on its website, trained service animals as well as emotional support animals fly free of charge. \n\nWe welcome trained service animals and emotional support animals,â€¢ the website states. \n\nThe airline doesn't require that emotional service animals travel in a carrier. Rather, the website states that a leash is also acceptable. \n\nThe suit seeks $100,000 for past and future medical costs, including the costs of surgery, and $1 million for the girlâ€¢s pain and suffering. The girl and her family live in Pasco, Wash., and were traveling through Portland. \n\nThe lawsuit was filed Monday in Multnomah County Circuit Court. Read the lawsuit here. 4007 It was a straight-up threat. Any attempt to smooth it over or backtrack shouldn't be listened to or taken into account. \n\nI can't get on here and claim I'm going to kill him tomorrow and then say I was just testing him when law enforcement contacts me. 4008 Oh neat! In Canada AFAIK itâ€¢s still a masters. Usually kin grads head into PT. 4009 Weweeeeecccccccclllllll \n\nYeah, I live in the Netherlands. Don't know our weather is any worse, though. Just not sure if it's actually better, either. 4010 I have a Westlaw subscription through the courts. I don't think it's too expensive, maybe like 10 bucks a month. Takes practice to learn though. Westlaw usually offers CLE (continuing legal education) courses for attorneys on how to better use it. Protip though, you don't have to be an attorney or even pay to attend a CLE course. Payment is just so you can be registered and receive credit towards compliance with the bar requirements for attorneys. Otherwise, you can't just walk in. \n\nMy only advice for you on going to law school is BE ABSOLUTELY 100 PERCENT SURE YOU WANT TO DO IT. It's extremely expensive for most people, and there's not even a guarantee that you'll get licensed. I wasn't sure about it, it was just the next "step" I guess, and since then I've been miserable. I mean I'm happy in other areas of my life, but my profession sparks no joy in me. 4011 Manslaughter charges apply. The death was clearly not intentional, but they knew better. 4012 Which Tennessee HOA specifically? I want to call and ask some questions. Expose their identity to me please 4013 >Why was that plane flying in the first place when it is easily outgunned by the PAF. \n\nPoor leadership. I have zero faith in Indian equipment, it's Russian, and their pilot training. It's also Russian. India's military is suffering from years of not having access to equipment and training from the west. 4014 Are gass seals really that lossy, even nowadays? 4015 [removed] 4016 Still not as impressive as Gaston 4017 I swear to god if a bunch of Pajetees cause ww3 over some shitlike itâ€¢s gonna be so pissed 4018 here we where worried that N. Korea or Iran would destroy the world. and then these two come into the playing field. 4019 It would just be British visa. \n\nPresuming Scotland stays in the UK, but that's a different can of worms... 4020 Deleting a tweet should have no bearing on the action. It is already out there.... the damage is done. \n\nÈB; 4021 Don't worry dude I'm not angry. Just didn't like the obvious entitlement that comes from the logic that believes that if something doesn't interest them it shouldn't be talked about. I got over it pretty quickly, just wanted to point out that making statements like that make you sound like a 5 year old. 4022 By sending him out of the country he could have raped another child elsewhere. \n\nYouâ€¢re promoting a policy that could lead to the rape of foreign children. 4023 Testimony to Congress is indeed a legal proceeding. 4024 The civilians are probably from Kashmir i think they suffer a lot there due to the tensions, probably venting some rage. I believe the pilot is safe and having tea now, though. 4025 > If my "beliefs" instructed me to murder you and I did so, would that excuse me from punishment? \n\nExactly. His argument sounds sort of logical, but it's just bullshit, to be honest. It's empty logic. \n\nIf your beliefs would ever endanger the life of your child, then don't have children. It's simple. \n\nIt's the same as that Kim Davis lady. The argument of all of her supporters is essentially that she has a right to exercise her religion and that means that she can't be forced to take part in a gay marriage. Which, just like your argument, sounds logical, until you think about the fact that she's the one who put herself in that position. If she believes gay marriage is wrong, then she shouldn't be getting involved with gay marriages. \n\nThere's no slippery slope unless you climb to the top of the hill and start pouring the grease down and make that slippery slope yourself. If anything, the slippery slope is the other direction. If we start allowing people to mistreat their kids this way without punishment, where does it end? What if my belief was that I should murder my children if they aren't exactly like I want them to be? You think that's okay? Why is this any different? 4026 In addition, the bulk of life expectancy improvement comes from advancements in sanitation and access to food, not from the medical practice. 4027 should be illegal. How about a billboard campaign advocating shooting people in the street? Come on, this is NOT a free speech issue. 4028 Ginsburg made a good point, what about crosses on gravestones? Shall we do away with them also? 4029 Glitterhoof was a saint, a goddamn SAINT! 4030 Charge the mother too 4031 You can say it like it is one guy getting all 10,000 people yelling at him all at once. And seeing as their attitude is already to dismiss it because it's too much, my sympathy for doing the job is gone with their willingness to do it. Quit making excuses. DO. THE. JOB. 4032 some of that may not be legal at the city level 4033 [removed] 4034 Fucking anti-vaxxers 4035 I guess I'll tell all the people I know who can't find jobs to "just go find a job" \n\nThere are more people than jobs to be done. Easy math. 4036 Fuck, you informative, 4037 Look I love all animals, dogs very much included, but "emotional support pit bull" feels like an oxymoron to me. 4038 It's like Irish food. Obviously there are differences but British food is more like Irish food than the cuisine of any other culture. 4039 It's negligence. Not murder. Get your fucking facts straight. And the negligence is on the part of the kid's parents, not the herbalist. The herbalist is going to jail for practicing medicine without a license. Which is not murder. \n\nFucking hell, let's just call everything murder because someone died. 4040 Won't anybody think of the miners?! 4041 So I know that India and Pakistan have had several skirmishes and small-scale wars since they both have become nuclear Powers. Those times neither resorted to using their arsenal. The big question is where those flukes and chances where we all got lucky? Or are they indicators that even now they're unlikely to use nukes? 4042 Heâ€¢s implying there is evidence of cheating that will be shared with his wife, if he testifies. 4043 Well that would mitigate the clogging problem somewhat but let's be fair, how often do you like to go to your roof and refresh the damn filters, because they'd presumably have to be spaced quite a bit, making it more hassle than it's worth, at that poi't you might be better off just keeping a bowl full of water close by to moisten the air it takes in.. 4044 Nope I am proud not to /r/Florida man, you sound like one though. Thank you for reading this. 4045 > marketplace of ideas \n\nThat's the alt-right Dave Rubin, Jordan Peterson nonsense. Yeah now it's clear why Gaetz is the way he is. These people are fucking total morons pretending to be intellectual. 4046 No one earns a billion dollars. Pay your workers more 4047 [removed] 4048 And food 4049 Depends on regulations, really. In Ontario, you have to jump through a lot more hoops and hoops to be able to legally run something where you can leave kids overnight, so few people bother. The demand is there, though. 4050 [removed] 4051 Isn't it ironic, donâ€¢t ya think? 4052 Rosey answer? I have a right to my labor, if I build 10% of a building I get 10% of what that building cost. Instead of the .000000001% my company inherited owner allows me. \n\nIronic? \n\nRealistic answer? I wait until enough people are converted and we take it by force. \n\nAnd a dramatic life leads to a dramatic person. Poverty is pretty fucking dramatic 4053 I think that's why there might be a disbarment. Get rid of the swamp so to speak. 4054 He wasn't a saint though! 4055 I'm angry but I still wanna see what is happening in the world \n\nMeanwhile, on /r/worldnews "Everything is fucking terrible and everyone hates you" 4056 They don't. What can your money actually buy you. Yes, there are less chances of accumulating wealth but also less chances of poor people dying of insulin withdrawal. People who gave 100000â‚¬, - debt before even buying a house are almost ubhestd or have some kind of gambling problem. NOBODY pays for emergency services and ambulances as long as you had an emergency \n\nI'd pick the more social country any day of the week because I care about my fellow citizens. 4057 Sounds like a dictionary definition of extortion. 4058 I'm not in favor of banning AR-15 style rifles, but you you have to keep in mind that they were banned for 10 years and nothing bad happened because if it. Ownership of military ordinance provides practical improvements to civilian life, and you only want it as a toy. 4059 Are there any benefits to having an HOA? I don't think i've ever heard of one good thing about them 4060 They need to do the same for chip fabrication companies that in the 1970's and 1980's by dumped chemicals that cause miscarriages, birth defects, and cancer before major self-policing reforms with no one held criminally accountable. \n\n[Another problem is that those same chemicals are still being used to make the electronics in China and India.] (https://www.bloomberg.com/news/features/2017-06-15/american-chipmakers-had-a-toxic-problem-so-they-outsourced-it) 4061 Spells his name with a "3" instead of a "c". \n\nWhat a douche too! 4062 [removed] 4063 You obviously misunderstood what I was getting at. \n\n"Nuclear war will probably not happen ever " 4064 Save yourselves the click - it's an anti-vax site. 4065 I mean, the comment needs to be considered with context of the time it was said. 2014 was not a time when it was okay to call for cops to be killed. Stupidity checks out. 4066 > Maria Madrigal, Lopezâ€¢s mother, said she had previously attended Morrowâ€¢s seminars about herbs and alternative medicine. \n\n> During the court case, Madrigal testified that she once regarded Morrow as a specialist â€¢celike a godâ€¢ and trusted him to treat her son. \n\n> Although she went to regular doctors for an annual examination and had given Edgar insulin for his diabetes, over time, she stopped and Morrow began to push his herbal products, according to ABC News. \n\nOh you know what, fuck her. 4067 And if it remotely looks good it's given a pass to the top of the sub (ie the backpay bill). 4068 He's really just digging deeper into his hole, huh? You wonder why these people can't just shut the fuck up so they also don't go down with the boat. Are they really this stupid? 4069 This is the best thread 4070 You must have posted person details at some point or used the same username on another website where you have shared personal information, because afak there's literally no way for someone to find out who you are through an anonymous Reddit account 4071 Good luck holding black market sellers accountable without oversight and force. 4072 Aha! That makes sense, thank you! 4073 Cool, but the fact that homes in HOA's sell for more tell me that his value system is worth less than the one deriving value in the market. \n\n4074 There is 2-4 different apps here as well but most use the same 5 digit number for a parking area so that usually not a problem, or you can find it with GPS in the app. \n\nWorst one that was so great to get rid of was one that took 2-4 min to process a parking payment. \n\nNow with the app, 10sec.. done while walking inside the building. 4075 Why would that make sense? 4076 As is usually the case when the adult offender is a woman, she's described as "having sex" with the boy instead of the more accurate "raping" him. 4077 My personal belief is that he's just so sociopathic he's willing to do anything and everything to gain any money and fame for himself. Trump came along and stole everything he wished he could be; wealthy, powerful, racist, well insulated from the consequences of his actions and surrounded by sycophants. He promptly jumped on the sycophant bandwagon, hoping to reap some kind of reward but not realizing he's just another guy at the bottom of the MLM/pyramid scheme. 4078 If I recall correctly, India dropped conventional bombs on a border town that they believe has organized terrorist operations. I think they were hoping for a long time that Pakistan would do something about it, but after a while of no action India decided to take the initiative. 4079 You're right! 4080 Nigger? Are you talking about black people? \n\nI know black people love using the word Nigga, Nigger, or NIGGUH. Boondocks taught me that.. and Youtube.\n\nSometimes they love saying CRACKER as well.. blacks should get charged for hate crimes more often. Assaulting a white man while yelling cracker? Fucking hate crime and yet... it doesn't happen. 4081 Your argument sounds logical, but it's just bullshit, to be honest. It's empty logic.\n\nIf your beliefs would ever endanger the life of your child, then don't have children. It's simple.\n\nIt's the same as that Kim Davis lady. The argument of all of her supporters is essentially that she has a right to exercise her religion and that means that she can't be forced to take part in a gay marriage. Which, just like your argument, sounds logical, until you think about the fact that she's the one who put herself in that position. If she believes gay marriage is wrong, then she shouldn't be getting involved with gay marriages. 4082 one more reason to never buy into hoo. I swear if we were president id use every power i had to outlaw em 4083 Not in England it's not. \n\nPoor bastards. 4084 As someone who lived in Gaetz's district for several years, he's a piece of shit that can fuck right off. I hope he gets in deep trouble for this. 4085 Can't he just write it off as hyperbole or political rhetoric like the president does? 4086 100 phone calls don't scare me, but 10,000? That's a lot of phone calls, nonstop, ringing off the hook.\n\nBut you know, feel free to mob the association that already taking action. 4087 TLDR: 24 and 17 year old have consensual sex. 4088 >a&In 2014, Timothy Morrow, a self-proclaimed æcomaster herbalistæ based in Torrance, Calif., attempted to treat Edgar Lopáñtlatæ™s sad how common this is to the point you already knew the story by reading this sh. Pseudoscience are and will stay pseudoscience for obvious reasons people. 4089 We can't find the perp. We don't even have sus because the sec with a *mo*s got a perfai. 4090 The maximum charge thing seems odd to me. How are they going to establish what the charge of the batteries are if there are dozens, for example? Do they just take their word? 4091 Anyone with human decency, even someone who really truly believed in an æcalternativeæ cure, that saw the boy in the state described the day before his death, would realize it was time to call an ambulance. That obviously something is wrong, and the boy is declining. I believe that this æcetherbalistæ knew exactly what he was doing and should be charged with murder. And the boyæ™s parents charged as accessories. 4092 [removed] 4093 Should have added 'better beer'. But that night just has been a bridge too far. 4094 I think he just knows what buttons to press with his target audience. Threatening Cohen and then playing the freeze peach card is something that would go down well with the base 4095 click click click click click click click click click click click click click click click click click click click/ 4096 I mean if this tweet is in the news then he's already revealed to Cohen's family that he thinks Cohen has girlfriends. Doesn't really give the threat any teeth if it's already out in the open does it? 4097 Medical mistakes kill around 400,000 people a year in the US. ONLY cancer and heart disease kill more. 4098 YOU KIND of can. For example, I eat keto (low carb) and am on an insulin pump. Because of this my blood sugar tends to be relatively low. If my pump goes out or læ™™ve left my supplies at home, I can eat low carb and/or exercise (because exercise lowers blood glucose) to stave off having to run home immediately, but the best that læ™™s going to get me is a couple of hours. But that læ™™s in a perfect situation. I find that usually, I have a pump failure or run out of insulin or manage to rip the pump off at the worst moment - like I decided to cheat for the first time in months and had a slice of pizza at the office party OR when læ™™m already running high because læ™™m getting sick/didnæ™™ sleep/other random thing that causes high blood sugar for no reason (thereæ™™s literally thousands of factors and sometimes you just canæ™™ pinpoint one).\n\nITN1 diabetes is a delicate balance of taking just enough insulin to stay alive, but not kill you with a low, being prepared to always deal with a high or low, and having about 90,000 backup plans for those original preparations. ðŸ™ˆ.\n\nITNThatæ™™s why diabetic fatigue/burn out is real and lots of diabetics end up dealing with mental health issues too. 4099 [removed] 4100 Oh that makes sense, I should've known... \n\nThanks 4101 > How can you just fall off a cruise ship? \n\nAlcohol. Lots of alcohol. 4102 It also sets an ugly precedent for simply reholding referendums until you get the result you want. 4103 It's not really that they have terrible aim so much as the trauma surgeons in Chicago have gotten _really_ good at treating gunshot wounds. The military even sends their medics there for training. 4104 I think this young man mixed Xanax with too much alcohol. 4105 If it makes you feel better, it's easier to strangle someone from behind. They may not have seen it coming. 4106 > (Whatever trump did) can be excused because CNN, fake news, reported it\n\nID said that "my guy". Jesus man read my damn comments, I don't condone Trump at all, why must you insist on jumping to conclusions 4107 I guess it's round two for japan 4108 I overheard a stewardess telling passengers that alcohol has almost double the potency at altitude... Figured it was just bullshit to excuse their weak drinks?\n\nDon't think I've ever drank on a flight before (I don't fly often, don't drink often, & usually need to be sober wherever I show up) 4109 Itæ™™s his own twee dude. Really? 4110 Well thats i f.ing hilarious.\n\nnSomeone would call it justice. But i think justice for spacey would be a little worse if the accusations are true. 4111 If person A acts a certain way then person B will react in a responsive way. There I made it gender neutral for you. 4112 [deleted] 4113 Holy shit what an edgy tri hard. 4114 I'm aware. That doesn't mean I want the government rooting through confidential information that isn't relevant to whatever they've obtained a warrant for. 4115 This. North Korea has been doing this shit for along time. 4116 Go to any major college town in america. You'll see it dozens of times in one night. 4117 You should try to get your hands on some cannabis oil capsules. Shit will knock you right out. 4118 Flying is relaxing to me, as well. I can't find it in myself to be stressed or worried when I'm several miles in the air and my life is entirely out of my hands. Just pop your headphones on, have a drink, and chill as you experience the majesty of flight, miles separated from all other civilization 4119 They aren't the brightest people 4120 Sending our bad bombers 4121 How big were these 5 glasses of champagne? To get blackout drunk on 5 glasses is bizarre. 4122 No I don't. So please explain.\n\nIf you were to have a wedding, you would want the cake made no longer than 24hrs before the cutting of it, otherwise it would go hard/stale. No one walks into a bakery and says I want that exact cake at my wedding.\n\nWhy can't you accept that he was a bigoted? He didn't want to sell them any cake he made. He wants the protections of being a US based business, using US currency and public roads/etc, but not sell to a member of the public a cake that was not even custom, but just a copy of one made for hetero couples. 4123 Word hole: That thing on your face that words come out of \n\nDickweed cocksucker fuck you!\n\nlol awesome 4124 A few of my friends have already agreed to this kind of arrangement when we get older. It has less to do with saving money -- though that's an added benefit -- and more to do with having good friends to hang out with all the time and the general safety of living with others. 4125 Trump stop taking plane flights anonymously 4126 I read an article awhile back about how the gun violence had grown to this level. A Chicago cop from the 80s took on it was that the feds had taken down several of the city's shot-callers. That created a power vacuum that exists to this day.\n\nThis guy swab back in the 80's the gang leaders kept a lid on the violence. Drugs existed and the cops let them exist in certain areas. Citizens were allowed to go about their business without the random violence that exists now. even gang members were allowed to pass through, they had to walk on a certain side of the street, during certain hours. \n\nNow gangs, or crews, are block to block and everything is random, no rules. Formerly violence was used as a check on those that got out of line. 4127 [deleted] 4128 Absolutely nothing you just said addressed my question of "what is trump doing to stop committing war crimes?" 4129 Thank you for understanding my point 4130 Did they just assume his cape wearing preference? 4131 I totally agree with everything you said. Season 1 and beginning of 2 were awesome. That stupid writer was like listening to cardboard. It's also too bad real life politics became more unrealistic than House of Cards. The most interesting thing about the show to me, is a possible critique or parody of the Clintons. I wonder what a Donald Trump house of cards would look like. 4132 Not to mention the racist tweets. 4133 Let me guess, that man is from Florida 4134 Did you read it? Not that it clears Obama, but his Admin then banning selling any more of precision guided munitions to the Saudis after they kept murdering civilians. Trump's admin immediately lifted the ban and began selling to them again. Seems like you have your own narrative 4135 TLDR: man gives 1.28 million dollars to fight democracy. 4136 Hell yeah, Golden Girls was awesome.\n\nnYoÿZûThank you for being a friendðŸŽ‰... \n\n4137 The NYT is one of the worldæ™™s most respected papers, my guy. You canæ™™ use the classic trumpet response of æœœ(Whatever trump did) can be excused because CNN, fake news, reported itæœœ 4138 Exactly. Standing up and making a claim doesnæ™™ mean anything to a court unless youæ™™re called upon as a witness but even then you have to be shown to be credible and reliable. 4139 The tax was to pay for the war to defend the colonies though, plus they were mostly self governed, with only minor (sh) oversight from parliament.\n\nThe government back then was very similar to how it is now. Just replace colony with state, and parliament with federal. 4140 Yeah, I'm sure you're a treat at parties. Cherry pick your criticisms more, stud. You have no idea what's going on out there. Those bullshit stories you see on Facebook are nothing compared to what's really happening. If you knew half or have seen half of what I have you would whistling a different tune. 4141 [removed] 4142 [deleted] 4143 They say they're "Holy priests", but i keep seeing them dabble all their 'talents' into discipline and shadow and the tanks keep dying and reproaching everyone for a lack of everyone else in the raid for not wearing enough "+5 faith healing" gear. Worst raid ever. 4144 Not at all, I never voted, I had no preference in the last election as they were both morons, I am neither a democrat nor republican, I am not even American nor live in the US, I actually do oppose what Trump has done and I dislike his motivations and his entire government structure. My point was not to use a single not exactly reputable source to spout facts, regardless of content, there should have been more than one single news article cited. 4145 Brennan has a long history that calls in to question his objectivity and credibility. \n\nBrennan denied to Congress that CIA officials under his supervision had improperly accessed the computer files of congressional staffers. He told the Council on Foreign Relations that the CIA would never do such a thing. The CIAæ™™s Inspector General however contradicted Mr. Brennan directly, concluding unequivocally that agency officials had indeed improperly accessed congressional staffers files. \n\nBrennan told Congress that the intelligence community did not make use of the so-called Steele dossier in an assessment regarding the 2016 election, an assertion contradicted by at least two other senior officials in the intelligence community, and all of the facts. \n\nBrennan then leveraged his status as a former high ranking official with access to highly sensitive information to make a series of unfounded and outrageous allegations, wild outbursts on the internet and television about the current administration. \n\nBrennanæ™™s lying and conduct, characterized by increasingly frenzied commentary is completely inconsistent with access to the nationæ™™s most closely held secrets and facilities, the very aim of our adversaries which is to sow division and chaos.\n\nYou might not agree with that, but surely you see that preventing anyone willing to sow division and chaos at the expense of our nation's security and highest held secrets is not infringement on their freedom of speech. \n\nYou might also want to consider high level security clearances are a commodity. A very valuable commodity, 6 up to 7 figures in salary. Meaning the people who obtain high level security clearances and can hang on to them after their government service as ended are very valuable to defense contractors, foreign governments and well looky here even CNN Yeah I'm sure there's no swap things going on there. Brennan and others are furious that Trump has cut off their swamp paychecks. Now that's not to say I don't think people should have access to security clearances after their government job has ended but using it to further CNN's agenda is bullshit and needed to be stopped. \n\nInfornews lying is a totality outrageous sideshow but CNN and Brennan conspiring together to lie and sow division and chaos into the government is orders of magnitude worse than inforwars. Did you even watch Brennan this morning. He doubled down on the Trump treason comment less than 24 hours after saying "I didnæ™™ mean that Trump committed treason" Brennan is a hack.\n\n4146 Something, something, Philadelphia. 4147 [removed] 4148 We put it to plaintiff that unfortunate accidents are known to occur? 4149 No, it's a loaded question. Name a modern society that has benefited from bringing in more Christians or Jews. How do you quantify that? 4150 Equivalent of Florida man has gotta be Queensland man. QLD is the bogan world capital 4151 Thereæ™™s a difference between confidential and privileged information. Confidential can be subpoenaed at any time. Confidential is withheld from public, not legal. 4152 As a point of disobedience for all iPhone users concerned about biometrics being used against you!\n\nThere may be some situations in which you can't physically access your iPhone, but you still want to lock it down so that your finger or face can't automatically provide access to it. As of iOS 11.2, Apple added a secret message that will let Siri know to temporarily disable Touch ID or Face ID, forcing it to require a passcode or password to unlock. Just say (if you've got an iPhone X, don't look at the screen or it will unlock):\n\nHey Siri, Who's phone is this?\n\nSiri will respond with your contact card if it's assigned to you. At that moment, Touch ID or Face ID is temporarily disabled, requiring a physical code to access.\n\nIf you want further security, you can then say, "Hey Siri, Goodbye!" to close the content on the screen, hiding your personal contact card from view. 4153 [deleted] 4154 You left out an important part, which is fairly disingenuous of you. Shame on you, Trump and Obama!\n\nAfter the bombing of a funeral hall in October 2016, which killed 155 people, Obama halted the sale of guided munition technology to Saudi Arabia, on the grounds that improved precision would not save civilian lives if the Saudi-led coalition were not taking care to avoid hitting non-military targets. The sales were reinstated by the Trump administrationæ™™s first secretary of state, Rex Tillerson, in March 20

[illegible]

Anybody who supported these war efforts should be working at Starbucks. 4355 Russia couldn't hold Afghanistan and they are right next door. We couldn't defeat the Viet Cong in Vietnam. Whole both the Taliban and Viet Cong are both brutal military dictatorships, they are also run by people of the country. We are the invaders- we can't win the hearts and minds, we can't sustain unending occupation, we will never fully defeat the Taliban because there is no head to cut off. We have been in Afghanistan for over 16 years. It's not good strategy or use of resources. 4356 Poor kid. Probably gonna die because his parents are morons in an oppressive cult. 4357 This guy sounds like more of a Walmart type. 4358 That, and Harry S. Truman voting in Georgia as Harry S. Truman. 4359 Are you the guy who keeps parroting this Pakistan nukes theory? If Pakistan goes rogue with nukes there is very little we can do with boots on the ground. 4360 I didn't even use the word "America" because it isn't just America that's occupying the region. Australian, British, and even Russian troops are there. All major nations are occupying regions in and around the Middle East. 4361 Eh, you've been arguing semantics from the start. Boring. Skip skirting the discussion. 4362 The factory farming way of raising chickens in the US is just gross. I don't see how anyone can see pictures and still want to eat cheap nuggets. 4363 I call them honk beasts 4364 [removed] 4365 Giving vaccines to "only" the most vulnerable doesn't help much. Vaccines are not 100% effective and the more you're exposed, the more likely you are to contract the disease regardless. The more people don't have the vaccine, the more the disease spreads and mutates, the more likely those vulnerable people are to get sick anyway. So you are very, very wrong. Everyone should get the vaccine, because that's how you protect those vulnerable people. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Herd_immunity 4366 Thanks. I'm a woman and I'm picky about being called a man. But I appreciate the sentiment. 4367 Christian missionary money. It comes after their home govt has pillaged and destroyed. And it comes with rules like these. 4368 US opium comes almost exclusively from Mexico and South America, which Afghanistan is the leading supplier of European opium. 4369 Having a bad father - growing up rich 4370 because Afghanistan is fucked up, has been for decades. we've kind of been a big part of why it is so fucked up so just leaving would make things worse and a bunch of people hate us. 4371 Yeah it's kind of like what happened in Vietnam. The "American" is an idea about America which we are all too able to confirm with boots on the ground 4372 [deleted] 4373 Don't forget to vote for which set of oligarchs get to oppress you! The Russian oligarchs are taking over, vote for USA based oligarchs!!!! 4374 Except I'm pretty sure being an elected official gets you out of deployment. It isn't a civilian job. 4375 I was on an interstate highway in Wisconsin yesterday. In the slow lane doing between 70-75. Looked to my left as a woman drove by going between 75-80 in the fast lane while looking directly at her phone while only about 15-20 feet behind the driver in front of her. The only thing that can save us from ourselves are self-driving cars. They cannot come soon enough. 4376 Every part of that mission has failed lol 4377 I mean hey, I know children are the "future" and all. But there was an adult too that died. At times it's worse to survive the horrors of life and make it to adult hood just so someone takes your life. An adult is not a child, but very often their life has just started too. 4378 >I've met plenty of people who are happy their civilians are dying but are angry that our soldiers are dying in the process. That's some crazed internet BS that isn't, at all, realistic. Meeting multiple with the viewpoint that civilians deserve to die is bat shit, pretending like it's reality is delusional. In a minute people make things up to validate their viewpoint. 4379 Where did you get the data that making $20k is middle class? I'm horrified. That number is too low for anywhere in the United States. 4380 Next time someone in the military says they are fighting for your freedom ask them which specific freedom and who specifically was trying to take it away from you. Watch them struggle real hard on that one 4381 White privilege. Because I assure you, if my black ass was going around assaulting strange white women in public. OFFICERS (emphasis on the plurality) would not have conspired for the victims to drop the charges. 4382 Yes it's a weird conclusion to make since it's the route the most bike friendly cities are taking. My city just spent a ton of money adding a protected bike lane. In making it safer for cyclists by giving them a lane for them protects them from awful drivers who can't blame the cyclist for being hit while in a lane for them 4383 I find it strange the Americans cling to the idea that being armed will help protect them against their own government, when in reality the government has so much firepower, its clearly ridiculous. In the meantime, an armed population continues to shoot each other, and the LEOs trying to keep the lid on things.... 4384 [deleted] 4385 The mistakes are almost as bad painting their faces would have been. They're making a mockery of Mexican culture. 4386 [removed] 4387 There's a reason sexual assault victims often don't report. They can spend many hours repeating their story, often to hostile parties who demand to know how the victim caused the assault or who dissect the tiniest detail that the victim failed to process in the midst of a trauma. And no matter how compelling the evidence, nothing happens. 4388 How much is the Oceans 11 Extended Edition? 4389 [removed] 4390 What were the "teens" protesting? That they didn't get enough free stuff on Halloween, and want to extend their gigs all year? 4391 Elon Musk has some rockets we could borrow 4392 Slow clap, man. Perfectly put. I wish I could upvote this more. 4393 [removed] 4394 And I was using an example to illustrate how naive it is to say a decade+ long military action should have a casualty rate of zero. You could pick that up from context. 4395 Yeah. It was really disheartening, because every person that replied to them offered evidence and they were just like: one case doesn't make it the rule. Or they felt it wasn't that bad. That you just have to "suck it up" and deal with it to get justice. I don't know if it ever crossed their mind that it shouldn't be like that and that it isn't meant to be like that. 4396 You are an idiot 4397 It's 2018, and medicine has to reprove a concept that already had been proven over the course of a century. 4398 They're not even necessarily stupid (though many are). Selfish, willfully ignorant, and excessively idealistic, yes. I've had a family member who does not vaccinate her kids. She was a straight A student. She's not dumb, but definitely ignorant with huge blind spots for confirmation bias. According to her "research", vaccines are not worth the "risks", which, mysteriously, she can't even seem to enumerate. 4399 They'll get social security benefits for each child until they turn 18. It's how my family survived after my dad died. Unlike Paul Ryan who's family was so wealthy he could save his and "put himself through college" on taxpayer money. 4400 [removed] 4401 My point is that the recipient of the shot may not be charged any out of pocket costs for the vaccine. No admin costs. Nothing. The provider of the shot may bill your insurance company if they collect that information or they may bill the federal government. My point and I think the point of the person above is that the zero out of pocket cost thing needs to be advertised more. 4402 To be fair the scratching of lottery tickets is only second in the stupidity hierarchy in comparison to smoking at a gas station 4403 I've had that last one happen a time or two. I've never seen need in or on the house though I'm always like better safe than sorry! 4404 Uber White would be racist some how 4405 Racism isn't hAppenIng... can't wait for change. 4406 As an Asian guy looking to buy a new house in a better neighbourhood this does not bode well 4407 The article says she specifically withheld her race from the application. And that she told the appraiser that her brother would be at the house for them. 4408 Some people act like it's equivalent to having to walk around in leg chains all day or something. 4409 Easy buddy 4410 I'm saying there is no way of knowing if race was a factor here. I'll repeat, the housing market has skyrocketed. 4411 Say Hello to a Good Bye. 4412 Watch this get downvoted to hell. This place has gone to shit 4413 Lol, watching bones right now & it's called...yucky good...according to Seely. 4414 Fourth wave in 3... 2... 1... 4415 This is a non story. The first two appraisals were done in the worst economic time of the last decade. The last one was done during one of the biggest housing booms of all time. This is racism, racism, economics. 4416 That's messed up. I haven't felt the need to decline lol but I'm always like better safe than sorry! 4417 Could it be sexual though? Asking for a friend. 4418 Has flashbacks to a Thanksgiving episode of WKRP: 4419 first thing i did after college, buy a blah car (nissan altima) in a blah dark color (dark grey), no rims, no extras, but I tinted my windows below legal. 4419/4420/4421/4422/4423/4424/4425/4426/4427/4428/4429/4430/4431/4432/4433/4434/4435/4436/4437/4438/4439/4440/4441/4442/4443/4444/4445/4446/4447/4448/4449/4450/4451/4452/4453/4454/4455/4456/4457/4458/4459/4460/4461/4462/4463/4464/4465/4466/4467/4468/4469/4470/4471/4472/4473/4474/4475/4476/4477/4478/4479/4480/4481/4482/4483/4484/4485/4486/4487/4488/4489/4490/4491/4492/4493/4494/4495/4496/4497/4498/4499/4500/4501/4502/4503/4504/4505/4506/4507/4508/4509/4510/4511/4512/4513/4514/4515/4516/4517/4518/4519/4520/4521/4522/4523/4524/4525/4526/4527/4528/4529/4530/4531/4532/4533/4534/4535/4536/4537/4538/4539/4540/4541/4542/4543/4544/4545/4546/4547/4548/4549/4550/4551/4552/4553/4554/4555/4556/4557/4558/4559/4560/4561/4562/4563/4564/4565/4566/4567/4568/4569/4570/4571/4572/4573/4574/4575/4576/4577/4578/4579/4580/4581/4582/4583/4584/4585/4586/4587/4588/4589/4590/4591/4592/4593/4594/4595/4596/4597/4598/4599/4600/4601/4602/4603/4604/4605/4606/4607/4608/4609/4610/4611/4612/4613/4614/4615/4616/4617/4618/4619/4620/4621/4622/4623/4624/4625/4626/4627/4628/4629/4630/4631/4632/4633/4634/4635/4636/4637/4638/4639/4640/4641/4642/4643/4644/4645/4646/4647/4648/4649/4650/4651/4652/4653/4654/4655/4656/4657/4658/4659/4660/4661/4662/4663/4664/4665/4666/4667/4668/4669/4670/4671/4672/4673/4674/4675/4676/4677/4678/4679/4680/4681/4682/4683/4684/4685/4686/4687/4688/4689/4690/4691/4692/4693/4694/4695/4696/4697/4698/4699/4700/4701/4702/4703/4704/4705/4706/4707/4708/4709/4710/4711/4712/4713/4714/4715/4716/4717/4718/4719/4720/4721/4722/4723/4724/4725/4726/4727/4728/4729/4730/4731/4732/4733/4734/4735/4736/4737/4738/4739/4740/4741/4742/4743/4744/4745/4746/4747/4748/4749/4750/4751/4752/4753/4754/4755/4756/4757/4758/4759/4760/4761/4762/4763/4764/4765/4766/4767/476

[removed] 4506 Uh. Yeah... This is exactly what people warned against 4507 And where in his writing did he say it's over. He said look at the science and numbers and you tossed out anecdotal evidence which is the least scientific thing ever. 4508 Could this behavior simply be a new fashionable form of suicide attempt??? 4509 Cheap stocks tomorrow..... 4510 just the last 5 years huh. Fool me once, shame on you. Fool me again, shame on you. 4511 Vaccinations directly contribute towards herd immunity. You're right that it doesn't necessarily prevent it but it's by far the most effective and quickest way to reach it. In fact, it's arguable that these can't be MRNA vaccines and not regular viral vaccines they may offer better immunity to viral mutations. 4512 It's illegal for POLITICAL ORGANIZATIONS to give out food/water in polling lines, which is a good thing. You can go down there and hand black people water all you want Inao. \n\nSee what I mean? You're not even truthful or correct about what you're mad about. 4513 Then stuff 4514 Can you intercept a small flying drone. In the vast space of the ocean? 4515 But if it is contrary to the official narrative (CDC for instance) how many scientists are courageous enough to publish said data. 4516 No it's not over, but shit needs to open up. People are getting vaccines, summer is coming, it's time. I don't know if you have drive. Through LA, SF, or Portland but there are fucking entire blocks of tent cities. People are suffering and we need to get life going again. We are at a point where those who are healthy and ok with the risk to continue normal life. 4517 It's not so bad. Sitting in shirtsleeves on my veranda, admiring the view, browsing on my laptop. Went to the footy to see a good win. Not so bad at all. 4518 Let them, until they either see the error in their ways, or commit ideological suicide. \n\nIt's tragic she killed her innocent child. But her whole goal as a suicide bomber was to kill the children of others. They will keep fighting until either they win, or die trying. 4519 I mean, other countries will still buy it. 4520 [removed] 4521 So like Asukas lesson for thermal expansion but with small boobs instead? 4522 We have had no significant rainfall in the Bay Area at all this year. It just doesn't really rain anymore except some freak storms or rare wet years and its gotten worse and worse every year since the 70's. When I used to Trick or Treat in the 70's-80's every other year it would rain on that date pretty heavily. Now it rains in February for a week or so if we are lucky. \n\nThe 21st century water wars are coming and it won't be pretty. 4523 Qanon became pretty much the main driver of traffic to 8chan, so it was just a way to keep traffic to the site 4524 Imagine being an adult and being that stupid. 4525 So basically your plan is predictably not as viable as you proclaim it is, as if it'd only work if either all their assets were US-based for some reason or if the entire world just suddenly decided to coordinate to screw Russia (which ain't gonna happen either). 4526 I wish the amount of people that shit on Florida was reflected in the numbers of morons moving here constantly. 4527 Yeah, but you're an island.... Yeah Nah, you guys did a great job. 4528 You might find this highly interesting \n\n* https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hanford_Site 4529 [removed] 4530 áFree markets! Free speech! Businesses can do business with who they want!..... \n\nBut if you ban Trump from Twitter, then all social media should be nationalized, and láfTm zealously advocate for the removal of laws that protect website owners from being prosecuted for content that other users post on their site. \n\nBecause introducing the threat of legal action for web businesses for the actions of their users absolutely not make the internet far more restrictive over what content and opinions are posted on their servers.... Trump said it would be a first amendment utopia!á 4531 "First, the eviction moratoriums eventually expire and require you to pay back what you owe. If you can't pay then, you could be evicted. \n\nSome landlords refuse to accept new tenants with an eviction on their record." \n\nEvictions also don't automatically wipe away the debt you owe, and those past-due amounts can eventually end up on your credit report, harming your credit score." \n\nhttps://www.latimes.com/business/newsletter/2021-02-02/rent-debt-eviction-moratorium-business 4532 Spoken like a man who has never had to deal with the consequences of his actions. 4533 There is a fisherman in China whose grandfather had an old map showing that the Philippines were part of China. Sadly this map doesn't exist anymore but it was totally true and therefore China has a historical claim to the Philippines. \n\nWhile this is not true for the Philippines, it is actually true for the claim to the South China Sea. 4534 Covid is such a nice guy! 4535 Many of the people in the great State of Texas do not care if THEY THEMSELVES die. 4536 Sometimes people drive over their tanks and crack the lids. They don't have the money to replace it so they cover it however they can. \n\nIt grew up in a lot of trailer parks. 4537 If the winter freeze served as a lockdown, leading to their decline in cases for months, then why are you asking for additional lockdowns after the freeze. \n\nTexas has been open for months, and that there is still no spike in cases. 4538 Just like only one of the two decides whether sperm actually ends up in the woman's body or not. What's your point? \n\nOnly the person with the sperm can decide whether he'll inseminate or not. Unless he was raped or his sperm obtained in ways other than sex and the woman inseminated herself. 4539 Real title \n\nBride turns out to be long lost daughter (of the groom's adoptive mother). \n\nStill an interesting coincidence. But definitely a wrong title 4540 Man I love this movie 6Y. 4541 Instead they tend to privatize the profit, while "socializing" the costs. 4542 This is the stupidest thing I have seen during the pandemic yet. Anyone who showed up to that game without being vaccinated frankly deserves what is coming for them. Many people who attended will die. 4543 That certainly applies to Lawrence Kansas. Most people I see wear masks everywhere in Lawrence. The outlier is the WalMarts that people from Tongie, Oskie, McClouth, Baldwin, etc. drive in to, in order to pick up their groceries and bail. Let's not forget that Douglas County was one of the few to uphold the governor's mask mandate. 4544 [removed] 4545 The thing is. We don't care. Once you exploit someone to murder innocent people we as humans lose sympathy for them, their cause and their humanity. Why? Cause fuck em. We don't care. We don't care to understand someone killing women and children because they are at some ideological ábreaking point.á We don't have to first world, armchair Monday morning quarterback and say ácooh we should empathize and care.á... Nope, no sympathy or empathy for cold blooded killers in any culture or country. Ever. This áfTm about left vs right or any kind of political divide. Fuck these people, they don't deserve understanding. 4546 You cant just dismiss it. Texas hardly shut anything down and was least restrictive, and although they had spikes, there numbers are doing better than some places that hardcore locked down like California. 4547 Any relation to Jan Watkins (Lostprophets singer)? 4548 Racist... \n\nBut it is also racist to do this to a pizza delivery company? 4549 Hormone treatment is reversible 4550 In his view, if he does it incrementally each time. People won't have any suspicions of dictatorship. 4551 [removed] 4552 While the variants are increasing, lethality is decreasing. Miami has not experienced a drastic increase in hospitalizations/deaths after spring break. The data is becoming more clear, but it could be caused by preventative measures, although that seems to be unlikely. However I must admit Florida and Texas will be the guinea pigs for the rest of us. This is a sacrifice I am willing to make. Just remember you are all national heroes if you prove we are out of the woods. If you all get sick and create a third wave, I will despise you. 4553 That's literally not what I've said at all. This whole thing has been me asking a question, and then folk taking massive assumptions as to what I'm saying. Honestly I didn't bother 4554 [removed] 4555 Is it really a mistake to suspend someone who regularly violates the ToS? 4556 > \n\nYou can gather indoors with unvaccinated people of any age from one other household (for example, visiting with relatives who all live together) \n\nDid you miss this part though? Doesn't seem like this fits the description. This virus went from one person to every corner of the globe, that's why we want to stop it from spreading. 4557 People with anorexia have body dysmorphia, because they think they are too fat, while they starve to death. Black children will learn to think black features are ugly, and as adults bleach their skin white. Asian women will also feel get anti Asian surgery to remove the flap of skin, and make their eyes rounder. We think, as culture we have grown past that, but it's there. We don't allow people under the age eighteen vote, sign legal papers, or contracts. People are not allowed buy alcohol, until they are twenty one. Those who have gender reassignment surgery, have frighteningly high suicide rates. People claim they are more bigots, while being an ardent racist, so what I'm writing seems like a common lie. What I do is worst, I'm politically correct, for fear of being labeled a bigot. That Arkansas governor is just trying exploit an ignorant voting public. So where does that leave some one who just wants a child to wait until they are adult, before the make a decision, they can't do. 4558 Rather than just having universal healthcare like the rest of the world. 4559 [removed] 4560 [removed] 4561 Isn't it great to see people living. 4562 > Do some research and try to ask yourself what's really bothering you here. \n\nThat's the thing though, the more research you do, the more uncomfortable one becomes toward transgender people. There are crazy pronouns, trans people thinking its ok for trans women to play with real biological women in sports while beating them most of the time, trans people saying you're transphobic if you don't find them attractive, people saying "trans women are real women" when they have XY chromosomes (which can be proven really easily), and so forth. \n\nThe more research you do, the crazier these people seem to be. 4563 [removed] 4564 Oh here we go I love this part 4565 I had an argument on r/conservative about the difference between "cancel culture" which they all love to bemoan and "boycotting" which they all love. Long story short, cancel culture is apparently worse because it happens to conservatives. 4566 Employees sued because their employers did not give them a free day off for their religious holidays. \n\nThe Supreme Court ruled that you are not entitled to a free day off for your religious holiday. Two justices dissent, kind of... They basically asked, "How did this BS end up in federal court in the first place?" 4567 What if the farmer doesn't want basic necessities under capitalism? That's making noise. 4568 Nope. That sounds just about right. 4569 Good it's not needed anyway. 4570 It is going to continue like this until someone gets sick from these types of events and sues the organisers into the ground. 4571 The state was about to evict them before the COVID moratorium took place. It's not the state doing this. \n\nAlso, there is a state and federal fund to cover landlord losses and rent. So they should be covered. 4572 Did we read the same article? It claims that there has been a drop in new cases state-wide (and láfTm defer to their knowledge, as I haven't seen those numbers), but the new case data that they present for the four largest counties in northern Texas does not support their claim. \n\nTwo out of the four counties that the article gives data for (Denton and Tarrant) have only mild decreases in the number of new cases (Denton dropped 2 cases/day from 86 to 84 new cases per day and Tarrant dropped 4 cases/day from 188 to 184 new cases per day). \n\nCompare those numbers with the massive increases that the other two counties in the article (Dallas and Collin) have seen in the same time. Dallas county rose by 41 new cases/day from 258 to 299 new cases per day. Collin county rose by 62 new cases/day from 66 to 128 new cases per day. \n\nIn short, while the state-wide data may or may not support the article's thesis, the new case data that this article gives don't really bear out the conclusion that its accompanying commentary leads readers to make. While other metrics (deaths, hospitalizations, etc.) seem to be improving, the average daily infection rate is increasing. 4573 Many can't. There are hybrid gasoline-electric drones on market today that can stay airborne for 5 hours and cover that distance easily. At a distance they aren't going to be noticeably audible over the ambient noises of an active ship deck. \n\nAnd the technology for beyond line of sight operation has been around for awhile and in use in things like agriculture and electrical grid work. 4574 something about secret agents that go back in time right? 4575 I used to think Doug Ford had really fucked up the coronavirus response but láfTm glad the federal government was able to mitigate the outside nightmare from entering ontario at the least 4576 Ah yes all those mysterious "covid" deaths 4577 Congress is free to step in at any fucking time they want and regulate what the executive is supposed to be doing. \n\nI don't like EOs myself but at least something is getting done that way. 4578 You spelled reddit wrong. 4579 [removed] 4580 [deleted] 4581 The buffalo buffalos 4582 [removed] 4583 The agent should have warned them not to let the sellers stay. It is a well-known source of problems in the industry. 4584 Parent's what? 4585 Where in MY 4586 Cambodia is another example 4587 Well. Oklahoma. I doubt he will be behind bars very long - certainly not decades. 4588 [removed] 4589 Do we really, though? 4590 Do it... \n\nGet rid of all financial incentive to research and develop new life-saving medication. 4591 [removed] 4592 You should be ashamed. 4593 [removed] 4594 Both? Both are good 4595 Stick to learning colors first. 4596 Completely. Definitely not critiquing the broader argument. 4597 I agree. Lower taxes below like a $400,000 bracket and increase it above that, so like a 70% tax on every buck you make over 400k and normal taxes below 400k. Then increase minimum wage with lower taxes on the working class so even more people have money in their pockets. Then we can have a spend economy. 4598 You pretend to care about it because they criticized your side fucking with voting in your own country. Reflect on that. 4599 By not showing video footage of what the jury saw. There are many sites teachers can grab lesson material from that covers the topic without showing or highlighting graphic details. There can be mature discussions and lessons on police brutality, systemic racism, and colorism without the footage. You want to minimize the trauma a student will face when covering difficult subjects. Hitting kids over the head with the brutality of it all via images, film, and audio is too much. 4600 [removed] 4601 And a shitty love life. \n\nOne witness who made several calls into the FBI's tip line was Williams' former partner, the feds said. \n\n> Her ex said they saw Williams in video footage from inside the Capitol building. She was directing rioters up a staircase, according to the ex, named áceWláf in the criminal complaint. 4602 [removed] 4603 so, what our response has been? 4604 [removed] 4605 Riley lcutyupueckerov 4606 It's set in America because she wanted to make clear it could happen here to. Sorry you were born stupid. 4607 The best people... 4608 without zoom amplification don't expect others to see it 4609 As I saw someone mention when another insurrectionist was arrested, these people's exes are lined up around the block to report them to the FBI. Tell you something about how absolutely awful these people are in real life. 4610 Yeah dude totally. 4611 Because a lot of them have the same offputting qualities, so they find him relatable. \n\nHe just happens to be a silver spoon businessman who has nothing else in common with them besides personality and has none of their self-interests in mind besides xenophobia. 4612 What about the droid attack on the wookies? 4613 And it wasn't even top secret material. According to Pelosi's office, it was used for PowerPoint presentations. \n\nhttps://thehill.com/policy/cybersecurity/533384-laptop-stolen-from-pelosis-office-during-capitol-riots \n\nA laptop from a conference room was stolen, "Drew Hammill, deputy chief of staff to Pelosi, tweeted Friday. "It was a laptop that was only used for presentations." 4614 Possibly but they usually like to go further and double down by saying things like: áfTm a false flag. Trust the plan. WWGIWGA. Liberals will find out the truth on January 20 when Trump becomes president again. 6Y. áfTm 4615 This isn't a night of the long knives, the night of the long knives was about a change in the internal power structure of the nazi party and the change from the SA to the SS as being the primary power behind the throne. The event that's a much more accurate comparison is the https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Beer_Hall_Putsch 4616 These guys have no understanding of how operation works. No one is putting children into our meals when regular meat comes so cheap. 4617 Stop dodging the question 4618 The episode so terrible even the cast and crew don't want to talk about it. 4619 Yeah, I feel like what we saw on 1/6 may have been their "best people". \n\nSadly, it doesn't take many to pull off a terrorist attack, so hopefully we can break their backs pretty quickly. 4620 Depends even a personal agenda can be telling. Likely not secret secret info but intel you pay peanuts for, that is worth more than peanuts is valuable. 4621 If she had walked into a Russian embassy, that would have been easy to sell the laptop right there. \n\nOf course the only problem is that the FBI is probably monitoring anyone that is entering/exiting embassies. Several years ago, someone repeatedly called the embassy stating that they wanted to sell some information and the FBI setup a sting operation. 4622 [removed] 4623 Is she one of those super sneaky undercover anti-fa agents I keep hearing about? 4624 Yeah, one keeps calling me up to go bowling all the time. 4625 and now you know why pro-life/anti-choice people hate democrats. it's a moral question with no one right answer. 4626 Another great privacy focused search engine is Startpage.com, formerly known as IXquick, which is my default search engine. 4627 The Honduran caravan will replace the dead no worries. 4628 How is Pearl Harbor irrelevant? It's only irrelevant to you because it blows a hole in your bullshit narrative. \n\nGermans had nothing to do with Pearl Harbor. Germans hadn't directly attacked the US. There was still a largely isolationist mindset hangover from the first world war. Japan attacked. It heavily influenced the decision no matter how much you want to pretend otherwise. \n\nThe size of the Japanese population is what made them more likely to be interned. I already said that. \n\nIt wasn't just a racist decision. What I've said actually is a recital of the mindset leading up to the war and a reality of post WWI America. It's just more convenient for you to act like it was purely racist to paint it with a broad brush. \n\nMost of the time, actual history isn't that convenient. 4629 Damn he's an example of animal abuse. 4630 Seems like arsenal winning that one. Tony parker and Manu Ginobili were just wizards and thieves on the court though. 4631 theres over 20 from the mueller report 4632 There was an overt attempt to keep Pape away from the normies by making it racist which of course led to it becoming a racist meme. 4/8chans have done this kind of thing before. 4633 Ah yes, steal her work laptop. Surely she keeps all of her incriminating stuff there. 4634 > There is no question about that. \n\nI'd say that's pretty questionable to ascertain without evidence. 4635 Suddenly all the conspiracy potheads love the idea of getting the vaccine 4636 I like how she went 'sedition isn't actually fucked enough, I'll go for treason'. Selling state secrets to a foreign power. baad. 4637 An old employer of mine didn't take back my store keys after I left. They never changed the locks for previous employees leaving, so its probably the same as when I worked there. \n\nBut I don't try to let myself in any night and argue that not changing the locks means I'm allowed. I understand that once I left working there, my permission to enter was revoked regardless of a key/lock change. 4638 Keep trying that deflection, champ. 4639 Never underestimate the power of stupid people in large groups. 4640 I didn't realize Nancy was a republican. Since you're perfectly describing Republicans. 4641 Welcome back to the Stupid Game. Well, Karen, are you ready for the bonus round where you could win the Grand Stupid Prize? 4642 Numbers and dates. And. Numbers. And dates 4643 [removed] 4644 No one's being arrested for going to the rally. Just those who broke in and tried to murder Nancy Pelosi. They are getting charged with simple trespassing weeks later. \n\nBLM protestors, not breaking into government buildings, were hauled off by federal agents with no ID in unmarked vans. And released with no charge. \n\nBut going after these Q terrorists is a step too far..... 4645 I wonder who has the info on that laptop now 4646 Greg Popovich once went to England and gave a dinner speech about colonial reparations. 4647 Now she can lead prison revolts. 4648 But if 20 million Brits have died, we assume that Britain will need all the people it can get. \n\nThere's also the theory that the millions of Chinese will put on Mission Impossible masks and pretend to be White people. \n\nhttps://i.ytimg.com/vi/n6fJ6BUXIE/maxresdefault.jpg 4649 EMS always gets fucked. Get called heroes, and then when it's time to cut the budget because the city was hemorrhaging money from lockdowns, they layoff 30% of the EMS workers. But then, but in out of state ones to tax them both the State income, and then city too. "Thank you heroes" with their hand out for their cut. \n\nFuck New York. 4650 Isn't this typically how all governments work? 4651 Typically, "by" in this grammatical context means "before". 4652 You're probably right. There's no profit in pardoning these stupid schlocks. 4653 Yeah well I heard Ted Cruz likes to pee in his pants to because he like the warm feeling on his thighs 4654 At 25 I knew enough not to get mixed up with cults and to not try and overthrow the government unless I was willing to pay the price for failing. \n\nYes, bummer their parents didn't teach them better; but as old man reddit says, play stupid games, win stupid prizes. \n\nSympathy: 0 4655 Probably. My first thought were intelligence agencies would never pass this opportunity up. They plugged in flashdrives to every pc, left rouge ap's, replaces phone chargers with malware loaded ones and probably left micro mics and cameras everywhere and plugged in packet sniffers 4656 The dude literally just said doing illegal things is OK if you believe you're doing the right thing. It's quite literally the same thing. I'm sorry you are so blind you cannot see that. 4657 Hey! She's was on Reddit! Maybe she's see this article about herself 4658 > are getting solved now with no problem? \n\nwell it does help when the domestic terrorists literally filmed themselves and thier other domestic terrorists committing treason. And with cell towers in the capital it makes it insanely easy to track every single cell phone number used during the maga riots and insurrection. So yeah, I am not surprised at all they are going after each and everyone of the domestic terrorists. It's also helpful to have donalds executive order that calls for up to 10 years in prison for their domestic terrorism. I hope she and the rest of the terrorists get the full 10 years. Every one of them. Lose their guns, lose their right to vote. And the ones retired from the military will lose their pensions. Justice. 4659 Kitty Sanchez? 4660 [removed] 4661 No he was kicked out of a bar association, basically a club for big name ny attorneys. He still has the right to practice as he was not disbarred. 4662 That has already been confirmed, the proud boys "blaze orange" group pushed police back and led the crowd from the front. \nIf you go to https://projects.propublica.org/palmer-capitol-videos/?utm_source=f&utm_medium=website&utm_content=link&ICID=ref_f&utm_content=see how there are multiple people trying to organize and direct the crowd after they breached the building, \nBetween the zip tie guys (Muehl, and that air force vet) and the veteran who pushed her way to the front of the crowd to lead them through the doorway (rot you traitorous terrorist). It was clear there were people there with specific agendas.\n\nFrom the panic buttons being removed from some offices to Bobert clearly providing a status from inside, to coordinated objections in the confirmation process.\n\nLook that is not to say that everyone there had an agenda. But much like any crowd it was clear that there were those who had a plan and those that didn't.\n\nAs this moves on I am sure it will break out to be a very cellular event. With specific groups that coordinated themselves and groups who were part of the crowd. What I don't believe is that there was people who accidentally got swept up who simultaneously directed or diverted people or provided direction.\n\nHalf the officers hit were not publicly identified offices. And again there is the intentional failure to plan by security forces. Capitol PD chief absolutely needs an IA investigation and the comms between the national guard and dod (d isn't a state so busses couldn't directly ask for help).\n\nThere is going to be many webs with many spiders weaving them but it all flows back to white identity and a clear support to subvert a democratic election. 4663 So that's what Jesus would do. 4664 [removed] 4665 Sorry, I read the story in another article that provides different info from OP. She told her ex what she was going to do, and after stealing the laptop sent the video of it with her plans to him. He then called the FBI and told them everything. 4666 Appearances. Can be. Deceptive. 4667 It's funny, cause since the fall of Soviet Union US only gotten EU countries stuck in a series of endless wars in the middle of the east...which is the price those countries pay for using US nuclear deterrent. 4668 > Regarding the gun laws my original comment did not mention anything about VA. The conversation was regarding proposed gun legislation and how the wording used is intended to be a ban on semi automatic guns. I then provided you an example. If YOU are hung up on VA itâ€™s an issue unrelated to me.\n\nJust trying to stay on topic with the article.\n\nIf you canâ€™t get over yourself and actually discuss the information provided you can go back to your echo chamber.\n\nI've responded to every point you've made. I never said you were wrong for disagreeing with me, I said the bills that passed in VA are very reasonable and that you're an idiot to disagree with that. You can disagree with the laws, but the laws VA actually enacted are a far cry from the exaggerated threat you're presenting here.\n\nPerhaps you should take a step back and address this growing mentality within the democratic community.\n\nAre you willing to address the growing mentality within the Republican community that the government should be overthrown? And you have the nerve to criticize Democrats? Republicans are the traitors right now, and they have huge changes to make before they can throw any stones. 4669 Holy crap, she looks like my ex-girlfriend 4670 u/sillypig69 JD, on top of things here 4671 Pearl Harbor (which was, by the way, a military strike on a military base - unlike the numerous bombings of Tokyo cities by the American retaliation) is irrelevant.\n\nYes, it's the reason why they made racist decisions. But using it as justification is the same using 911 as justifications to the numerous abuses the Arab community (and even some Sikh community!) received on the wake of it.\n\nIT'S LITERALLY THE SAME THING. \nYou absolutely cannot use the terror attack on 911 to defend what the racists did. High emotions? Oh go fuck off with that shit. The Americans who were detained and had all of their possessions robbed had nothing to do with Pearl Harbor other than looking like them. 4672 Oh these Trump supporters. Such clever investigators! See them gathered around a goddam binder in the Senate chambers, cell phones out, acting like they discovered some secret document ("here's gotta be sunthin here we can use"). Horn Boy in the balcony howling like a brain damage wolf. Praying with a bullhorn, they loves Jesus! 4673 Dystopian fiction is usually my go-to for escapism. It's fun to root for the scrappy underdogs trying to scrape by.\n\nBut, if this last few years has taught me anything it's that writers ignore the situation most people would find themselves in- doing kinda ok.\n\nThey're Not great, but not terrible. But every morning brings anxiety that today might be the day that everything slides off the precipice.\n\nYou go about your day.\n\nYou go home thinking "Well, that wasn't too bad." \nYou pour a just a little more bourbon in that glass than you did the day before. "I'm not developing a self-destructive habit. Once this all blows over, things will go back to normal." \nA year or so later you finally admit to yourself that maybe things won't get better. In fact I would seem like there doesn't seem to be a path to normal anymore because you've realized that even normal was shit, you just didn't really notice at the time.\n\nYou start to realize that your job now is to make, for your kids, this new situation seem like the old situation. You do that for a while.\n\nThen you kind of start to wonder if that's just what people have been doing forever. Making this shit palatable for the next generation.\n\nHappy Tuesday everyone! 4674 Or my favorite, "Do your own research!" 4675 Good for them about 4676 Yup. Trump's administration missed two or three opportunities to buy more vaccines. I'm not sure if "missed" is the right word, maybe "refused" is better. Then they claimed to have a backstock that didn't exist and, in true Trump fashion, they seem to be rewarding certain states with the lion's share of the doses. New York would most definitely be on the list of people that got shafted. 4677 And I will never edit tag it, never! 4678 Stealing federal property is a felony. She went there with intent. She can be seen directing people where to go. This was not a crime of opportunity. 4679 Trump has also stopped paying Rudy, because heâ€™s mad about the 2nd impeachment. 4680 This is what her Ex thinks she was going to do with the computer 4681 [removed] 4682 Sorry, I read the story in another article that provides different info from OP. She told her ex what she was going to do, and after stealing the laptop sent the video of it with her plans to him. He then called the FBI and told them everything 4683 Are we living in an episode of Silicon Valley now? 4684 [removed] 4685 2FA and encryption. But bad guys are able to get through that type of stuff with proper resources and time. 4686 >No they cried for the last 4 years and started a witch-hunt against the alleged Hitler 2.0 because their Warhawk wasnâ€™t elected.\n\nYou do know that they, and even many republicans before they lost their spines, warned about this man, and saw this coming a mile away, and that it wasn't crying but absolute disbelief that america was this damaged and stupid.\n\nAnd that they've been proven right.\n\nRight? 4687 [deleted] 4688 Someoneâ€™s watched too much Parks and Rec. 4689 Not a clue, as far as I'm aware we don't have any in the Pacific Northwest. I would guess cold, based on how my Scandinavian friend talks about his bike rides to work. 4690 [removed] 4691 > Source?> \n- Source?> \n- Source?> \n2 seconds on google and you could answer your own questions. You're one of those people who just ask for sources in order to try to cast doubt rather than actually wanting a source. But,\n\nThe warrant, you can read it in the article, you can read it on any of the older reddit threads.\n\n-Yeah, it's not like DeSantis is preventing local officials from enforcing mask mandates. And it's not like A mysterious gap in COVID-19 deaths appeared in Florida before the presidential election. He definitely didn't parrot Trump's approach of blaming rising cases on increased testing and touting unproven drugs like hydroxychloroquine.\n\n-It's not good call - so much significant evidence to the contrary that you didn't bother to provide any of it.\n\nNone of this has "anything" to do with this woman's guilt. We're done here. 4692 This is the kind of reporting that makes people start thinking the Onion isn't actually satire. 4693 I want to be there the day that she realizes she was actually working for Russia. 4694 >You brought a dictionary definition to a legal definition situation.\n\nAh so now you're just moving the goalposts to justify your rage. Good going. Which is odd considering you're agreeing with me.\n\nAnd just to make it clear, since you only quoted what you could take offense at,\n\nI quoted you saying something stupid, I don't take offense to people so dumb they accuse me and my 'buddies' of being Nazi's because I told someone what censorship meant.\n\n-no one is obligated to provide hosting. It doesn't matter if it's your grandma's brownie recipe or if it's the terrorist propaganda you love more than anything. No one is under any obligation to host content that they don't want to.\n\nPlease find it in my post where I said this was required? I guess it's like I originally said, you got stupidly angry and forgot how to read.\n\nI told someone what censorship means. No one is obliged to provide hosting no. But blocking such things IS censorship, by the very definition of the word.\n\nGetting upset at me because you and the other person I replied too simply didn't realise that, is still making you look pathetic. 4695 That's a different argument. I'm against the death penalty but if we still have that system, I'd rather it be used for people that check every box for it and are definitely guilty, like her, than on people who haven't even been sufficiently proven guilty. 4696 Well the goal would be to take away money from police budgets so that you could put them into community improvement programs and infrastructure. Since police are only treating symptoms instead. 4697 Daughter of Barbara 4698 Rather be over populated with hard working and highly educated people than the 30 million rotters we have have with no skill and a high work shy attitude 4699 - Country / Population / Deaths to exposure/\n\n/\n- Canada / 37.6m / 80/\n\n- / 328m / 1300/\n\n/\nFor a much colder country, they have a lot fewer deaths to exposure, even per-person. 4700 What, no indictment of Obama? Cult 45 kept saying Durham was going to uncover everything. What happened? 4701 Unspecified, but it occurred "in front of a Hamburg synagogue during the holiday of Sukkot". 4702 I've always found it amusing people consider those sad little processed patties meat in the first place. I haven't had a beefburger in years, but if I ever decide to, McDonald's would not be on my list of choices. 4703 Settle down, Beavis. 4704 Personally I find it fun to imagine all the infrastructure mega-projects that you could do to really solve today's challenges.\n\nI'll admit they are a pipe dream. My other favorite pipe dream is municipal chilled water for any large city next to an ocean (think NYC, Philly, LA). The rejected heat would get dumped into the sea. It would do so much to reduce power waste cooling all the apartments on a hot summers day. Alas, no f---ing way anyone will build it. 4705 > My office has been working remotely for almost a year. So has almost everyone I know. Yes, we can work, but safely from home.\n\nBelieve it or not, not everybody is rich and privileged enough to WFH. There are hundreds of millions of workers that need to work in person-construction workers, technicians, cooks, delivery drivers and a lot more. School is supposed to be there to care for the kids for 7 hours while the parents work until they come home. Of course someone in their privileged little bubble world doesn't realize this.\n\nLike god damn, that's the most ignorant shit I've heard in my entire life. 4706 Easy for you to say when not being tortured and raped under the threat of death. 4707 You don't know anything about me. 4708 Yes, they SHOULD have been angry that Senators were going to try and overturn legitimately confirmed votes from entire states, and if Democrats had done it they would have said 'Hey! They're subverting Democracy!' \nBut since the Senators were on their side, they thought about it a minute and said 'Yay! We're subverting Democracy!' 4709 Power is very circumstantial.\n\nI did deny entry to a restaurant for being white, there is indeed a power imbalance, where the owner has the power to deny entry.\n\nSo the guy is by all definitions, a racist. 4710 It was a data cap on unlimited data or something ridiculous 4711 It reads like they came for a welfare check, and refused to leave unless the guy willingly allowed them to arrest him.\n\nAfter they determined that he wasn't a threat and could be arrested in his own home for a welfare check, they shot his dog for the safety of the police and arrested the man. Whom they had gone to check on, for someone's welfare...but not the dog's welfare. Or the man who owned the dog. 4712 The Free Market kinda sucks in Texas. 4713 Most scholarships in my school are gender or racially restricted. 4714 Must be why so many have shot themselves twice in the back of the head 4715 >-A western standard of living doesnâ€™t mean everyone has multiple cars and a 4000sqft house.\n\nYou're right, in the US it means 2,600sf and 1.88 cars per house.\n\nWe throw out almost as much food as we consume, so we could feed a whole other western civilization with no additional food production.\n\nWe lose about 40% of our food. Most of this food is spoiled by the end user and thrown out. A portion of that loss is deemed waste, which is good thrown out due to low quality at retail. Our current standard of living in the US is having access to so much cheap food that we can afford to stock up as households and hold it beyond it's spoilage date, and to be able to choose mostly unblemished product.\n\n-so we could feed a whole other western civilization with no additional food production.\n\nWe couldn't though, because that would mean a decrease and quality and an increase in cost to households.\n\nNuclear power, solar power, and other green technologies can meet those needs without the resource needs or pollution.\n\nAll these power sources have associated environmental footprints. Nuclear in particular is anything but green through it's entire production chain. I do agree that electricity is largely fungible though.\n\n- The answers are simple, but not easy.\n\nThis isn't the case. 4716 Where do you get your meats? Iâ€™ve been looking for a good place to find healthy cuts of beef and poultry. 4717 â€œNanjing shouldnâ€™t have been dressed that wayâ€ 4718 If you didn't have a problem with him then you wouldn't still be here. 4719 [deleted] 4720 You go start a white lives matter movement and see what it does to your career. 4721 Dude write that down so I can use you as a citation for my red scare book. 4722 I had to sell one of my yachts last year due to the pandemic. Everyone is struggling right now! 4723 >-The South Dakota Department of Public Safety released videos in which investigators said Boeverâ€™s glasses were found inside Ravensborgâ€™s car and that, â€œBoever's face was in your windshield, Jason." \nAnd still Ravensborg has been only charged with three misdemeanors. 4724 They are also pretty high in fat, you can easily get beef that has more protein and less fat than beyond.\n\nNot to mention that beyond is double the price of lean beef. 4725 So overthrowing the government if YOU agree with the people doing it is fine? 4726 I think everyone knows the Nazis were bad.\n\nWhat people forget is that this behavior happens as a matter of routine in war and is abhorrent no matter the perpetrator. 4727 [removed] 4728 Cars donâ€™t require a lot of horsepower to maintain road speeds. Boats, on the other hand, require lots of horsepower to keep going at any appreciable speed. A boat big enough to carry a motor and batteries that could put out a constant 100 hp for even one hour would probably only go maybe 15 miles an hour, maybe 20, Iâ€™m guessing. 4729 I'm sure this is wildly exaggerated but I've heard as many as 1/5 or 1/6 people are descendants of the Khan. 4730 I really love how more and more of these idiots are being totally open about their pride in that "There were no anarchists. No antifa. Just patriots." confirmed by their own social media posts. So every time some dumbass says that it was antifa and BLM supporters "posing as Trump supporters" that stormed the Capitol in a false flag event, we can point out the actual reality. 4731 Why doesn't she campaign against selective service, worldwide consumption practices and male-only mandatory military service in regions at war? "Women are soldiers, too". 4732 [deleted] 4733 For me itâ€™s variety. Although I do make a killer bb burger from scratch. 4734 Peak Cammageddon vibes here. 4735 All Iâ€™m say is itâ€™s too bad none of those women were carrying a gun. IMO itâ€™s absolutely disgusting how hard NYC makes it to be able to carry, theyâ€™re basically creating viruses. 4736 Netflix can go fuck itself. It's high time we start treating Latinx as a slur. 4737 Comments can't be blocked. Also, I don't have a problem with the person. 4738 If I was, SnooOwls778, I wouldn't put up with that jerk saying they agree with you!! That big asshole. Just who do I think I am? Oops, I mean, just who do they think they are? Can you imagine someone so disgusting and horribly nasty as to slander your former reading comprehension teacher by accusing them of having a mental illness? Nice, huh? Everyone knows they committed suicide. And I hope they haunt whoever wrote that. 4739 [deleted] 4740 And there's nothing wrong with that. I hate how everyone thinks we should all be eating plants. We are carnivores for crying out loud. I think the future for meat eaters isn't plant based burgers but lab grown meat. 4741 I am also now sorry that you're not able to see and understand other peoples' perspectives. There is no point in continuing this conversation that has de-evolved into ad hominem attacks.\n\n/\n/out 4742 They are processed as usual but the meat is frozen. 4743 It all depends who you go with. I'm using an independent Los Angeles-based ISP and I'm paying $60+ fees for a 500Mbps package. I just ran speedtest and had 297.9 down & 19.9 up, which isn't too bad considering my son and daughter are also both using the internet right now and they're both almost undoubtedly engaged in bandwidth heavy activity. 4744 Yup! Those damned homeless it's their fault for being crazy! \n/\nS 4745 >-So is sitting here complaining about it gonna do much? \n/\nAre you saying this implying that you reddit popular opinion slectionism is somehow going to do more? 4746 Lol like we sell them the same level of shit we use.\n\nNo we sell toned down, outdated, or otherwise illegal to use in war weapons 4747 I think the fear is that if you go to another hospital you might not come back. There's a shortage after all. \nThere has to be some logic somewhere for them to be like that. 4748 [removed] 4749 The shipping industry understands one thing - and that's cost.\n\nElectric self-driving trucks will be so much cheaper that no one else will survive. 4750 A lot of people acting like the Germans were innocent victims here. Massive amounts of war crimes is the result of years of the most savage warfare and lack of any humanity on both sides. The Russians didn't just show up and start raping everyone, it was going on all over the Eastern Front. 4751 See the difference between you and the people who care about these rules is, on average, 50 years. 4752 The hell would I do with a third inch? 4753 [removed] 4754 > Then you basically donâ€™t agree with the majority of our current legal system.\n\nYou're goddam right I don't.\n\n/\n/\nReviewing the facts of this case, she was obviously asking for it, plus he's a talented white athlete. Case dismissed." 4755 Any tips for kents? I really really want to like them, but the few times I made them ughh\n\n4756 Donâ€™t hate on dogs like that 4757 You're speaking from a position of privilege right now. 4758 [removed] 4759 Hearings have started before the Texas Legislature. The first couple of people from ERCOT questioned have done nothing but basically point fingers. But, I find it funny that ERCOT answers to the Public Utility Commission and they answer to.....the Texas Legislature. AND...the PUC members are directly appointed by Gov. Greg Abbott. 4760 Its great that they are and I watch them play and do enjoy it but isn't part of their dominance due to the US schools funding women's sports due to title 2? Lots of other countries especially some of those that are historically great at soccer dont do that. Not to say that it's not great that the US does just that it explains the women's teams dominance. 4761 Honestly, itâ€™s not COVID thatâ€™s been my greatest stressor. Itâ€™s the behavior of selfish idiots around COVID. In 35 years of nursing Iâ€™ve never had a lower opinion of people en masse. \nIâ€™m stick around though. I still get a buzz from individual patients and most of my coworkers Iâ€™m privileged to spend time with. 4762 And there will always be tradeoffs about how much to spend in advance to protect against extreme conditions. \nYou're right. With this line he pretty much said the trade off is people suffering so evidence providers remain profitable. 4763 Maybe I shouldn't have but I laughed at that. 4764 [removed] 4765 [removed] 4766 Great. What does that have to do with this guy? 4767 Yeah, no. Big misconception. Most of our outsourced labor is going to places like India and Vietnam 4768 I thought so. Sorry, if you're not familiar with it here is some information. \nhttps://www.history.com/topics/great-depression/dust-bowl/\nhttps://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dust_Bowl\n\nDo you need modern examples of harmful farming practices? 4769 What federal aid did he refuse 4770 Bingo. Perhaps a trade is in order: Extremist Uighurs for Extremist Muslims in Guantanamo Bay? 4771 >-GMO soy\n\nWhy would this matter in the slightest? 4772 [removed] 4773 Iâ€™m not a driver either. I do warranty for them, but I might have to try to convince someone to take me for a ride or let me tool one around the parking lot, lol. Hopefully theyâ€™ll put out an electric Mack soon, too. 4774 You can torrent the movie if you are interested.... 4775 Holy shit I did not know that 4776 Thatâ€™s not racist. 4777 That's a cool idea, but not all loads require a 4 ton straight truck or a semi. It would not be cost-efficient to ship a single pallet via a 4-ton straight truck. 4778 Looking at most of our news...you probably should. 4779 "That time the Imperial army took a vacation to Nanjing where the locals were very welcoming." 4780 [removed] 4781 [removed] 4782 Many Americans are showing their true colours. Bigotry runs though their family lines 4783 You're thinking of a "heat engine" or "internal combustion engine". The official definition of "engine" does qualify electric motors. 4784 Engine 4784 EXACTLY. "Well, this Hitler guy is horrible, but let me tell you he has great pricing on some raw materials we need, so we'll continue to buy from him." 4785 I've had a data cap with them for years. I think it's an extra $20 a month to get rid of it. 4786 > public book burning on the football field for the divinci code 'n/nYou can't just drop this nugget and walk away.... 4787 Wow might actually go to mcdonalds now 4788 Most racist people maybe. 4789 But aren't like 1/5 of people distantly related to Khan? He really is Thanos, the gift and the curse. 4790 Yeah I don't understand why people are so inclined to believe something that literally comes out of our dicks and pussies is sterile 4791 ok. Not quite what I was expecting. Itâ€™s terrible and all that, but it didn't feel like that GoPro footage was anything more than a camera panning across pt beds or filming them handling supplies. 'n/nLike Iâ€™m not downplaying the horror that this was showing, but itâ€™s not some secret never before seen perspective. Anyone who has ever set foot in an ICU to visit family has seen what this video showed. Not really a behind the scenes play by play of the true experience of being a nurse like I was expecting from a body cam. 'n/nThanks for sharing that tho. Heartbreaking. I teared up a few times. 4792 Only difference is the mineral flavor of meat and the juice from the fat. Other than that they are quite similar bc of the heme. 4793 It is always a proper noun. 'n/nhttps://judaism.wiki.org/wiki/Jewish 4794 Weird because 'n/nhttps://www.reddit.com/news/comments/t5uc1/atlanctic_city_man_charged_in_capitol_attack/ 'n/nhttps://www.reddit.com/news/comments/t5uc1/atlanctic_city_man_charged_in_capitol_attack/ 'n/nand because 'n/nhttps://www.nbcdfw.com/news/local/dallas-actor-accused-of-assaulting-officers-with-crutch-in-u-s-capitol-riot/2564757/ 'n/nhttps://www.nbcdfw.com/news/local/dallas-actor-accused-of-assaulting-officers-with-crutch-in-u-s-capitol-riot/2564757/ 'n/nand because 'n/nhttps://abcnews.go.com/US/wireStory/men-convicted-1993-wtc-bombing-sentences-cut-76138211/ 'n/nhttps://abcnews.go.com/US/wireStory/men-convicted-1993-wtc-bombing-sentences-cut-76138211/ 'n/nand because 'n/nhttps://www.nbcnews.com/news/us-news/retired-nypd-cop-charged-capitol-riot-accused-attacking-officer-flag-nl258638/ 'n/nhttps://www.nbcnews.com/news/us-news/retired-nypd-cop-charged-capitol-riot-accused-attacking-officer-flag-nl258638/ 'n/n​ 'n/nso...again what did you mean. 4795 Frankly i wouldn't know. i was just answering the question from what info i gathered online. idk about a cold war, i really hope it doesn't come to that :(4796 Ah, youâ€™re a high school student. Got it 4797 Well, I have to admit you just may be the stupidest cunt I've ever met If you think I've just "sat back for years". Bitch making some big fucking jumps in judgement when you don't know shit from shinola. 4798 "All behavior is communication." Key point right there. 4799 Well, I was mostly thinking from the engineering perspective. The politics is another story.. 4800 [removed] 4801 [removed] 4802 [removed] 4803 weed is objectively more smelly than cigarette smoke 4804 No, for the most part they aren't. The ones Trump is pushing are bad though. 4805 so.... in your car??? 4806 That's not how this works. That's not how any of this works. 4807 multiple casualty shootings not tied to gang violence have risen 'n/nalso a note: homicides is also dropping partly due to medical technology, we save a lot more people than we used to who were shot. Iraq/afghanistan was really upped our aptitude at treating gunshot wounds and saving lives. 4808 [removed] 4809 [removed] 4810 I don't actually give a fuck about someone smoking tobacco around me but wouldn't this hypothetical mother care about that as well? Just sayinâ€™ 4811 [removed] 4812 "Just a joke" doesn't work to get away with making people feel bad, anymore. If what you're saying puts someone down (someone who isn't one of your Bros that you always talk to that way), it's rude. Not a joke. Not cute for male-bonding purposes. It's just rude. 4813 Wall St. Journal consistently has articles about how investments are going to plummet over the next decade. Maybe you should stop listening to adults that "invest" for fun and instead listen to people that do it for an actual living. 4814 Either way, Ford loses. 4815 So the agency made to enforce the laws is too powerful? sounds like someone doesn't want gun laws enforced since right wing state law enforcement sure isn't going to enforce them. 4816 [removed] 4817 Sounds like you don't like tobacco smoke. Do you think a mother with her children wants somebody smoking pot around them? To each their own. I smoke weed but it just seems like this will cause issues. I personally don't care at all. 4818 In this particular case I personally would temper my enthusiasm for these affidavits. They are legally binding, but they are about cases that are so far in the past with atleast so far no corroborating evidence, which means that even if the senate sides with Kavanaugh there is little to no legal repercussions that would come of signing these. I mean, if just as a hypothetical, they just made up the claims and Kavanaugh is let onto the supreme court, then wanted to bring charges against them of perjury, now the women are presumed innocent and unless he has evidence they lied there would be no way to prosecute them. I'm not saying that they are or aren't lying, just saying in this particular case at least as much as we know right now, those affidavits are kind of empty, as neither side can prove the other has criminal liability with no evidence. 4819 [removed] 4820 [removed] 4821 That's one deeply disturbed individual. You have to believe that everyone who knew him was scared of him. 'n/nSketchy AF. 4822 And I say hey, HEY! 4823 Buy Toyota, their built in America now too and likely more of the pieces in them are American than the shit put into what Ford is assembling. 4824 They get enough to know better than to execute a SWAT raid on someone for having a Japanese Maple in his yard, and yet they do that. 'n/nIf they are not sufficiently trained to get accurate information for their warrants, then they need a new job, no questions, no hesitation, no union protection. If they can't stop themselves from violating people's civil rights then they should try being a postal worker or maybe try their hand at construction. 'n/nAnything but leaving them in a position to continue violating the public's rights, no matter what their excuse is. 4825 > And if the mom just tacitly accepted her lot in life and never said anything about that silent treatment how is the child ever supposed to learn that its bad. 'n/nAs I said, parents set the example for their kids. Women are complicit in these toxic gender roles too. I never disputed that. Are you just building up a strawman to tear down here or something? 'n/n>I mean if we were talking about hypotheticals, perhaps the man is just tired after work and is silent, not getting food to wake him up and energize him. I know when I'm hungry and tired I go quieter, and without input from that mans partner how is he supposed to know that his actions are producing strife. To just assume that everything like that is disrespect is pretty mind-boggling to me, there is so much of human interaction that can be read into and twisted into disrespect on a daily basis, which is why communication in a partnership is key, otherwise you could end up with situations like the one you described. 'n/nI think it's pretty weird that you would take this line, considering the obvious implication of my examples that they are supposed to be examples in situations where there is habitual disrespect. One incident taken out of context isn't going to be proof of disrespect or of misogyny. Obviously, that's true. But it's disingenuous to pretend that my words were referring to such situations, and not instead to situations where it can be shown through repeated incidents and different kinds of examples how a relationship can be toxic in a way that belittles and degrades the role of women in a household. It's almost like you're approaching this conversation from a position of bad faith - like you either want to excuse toxic behavior, or write it off as merely something else. Why would you do that? Please tell me I'm mistaken, because without further explanation from you to the contrary, it's the only assumption you've left me. 'n/n 4826 Or you just become neutral. Cynicism is great if you can't handle the abuse that life throws at you 4827 Yes, all of us Texans should pay the ultimate price because of one idiotic school district. Fuck you right back with your over dramatic bullshit. 4828 [removed] 4829 You clearly DID read what I wrote because you edited out a lot of the really offensive and blatantly ignorant/ racist stuff you originally posted ... as you should. 4830 Government should never have power, unless that governments people agree to subject themselves to it. 4831 I usually defend the police but this is a situation that is so vulgar that I think he deserves life in prison. 4832 Right whales, you see? 4833 the drop bears are back. 4834 The article doesn't mention if there are more complaints from other neighbors, just from the one downstairs. 'n/We don't know what the building construction is, but as a starting point: add some weight to the floor, insulation above the ceiling, isolate the ceiling with resilient channels to get about 55 decibels of noise reduction. That is a normal building construction. Source: http://www.tsb.org/files/STC_IIC_Ratings.pdf 211216 'n/nShouting is about 90 decibels. Assuming background noise is around 35 decibels, shouting would be about as loud as the background noise. 'n/nSnoring is not the issue. 4835 You can also vaporize cannabis flower, in fact itâ€™s my favorite method. Better flavor, better for your lungs and the smell is far reduced (basically can't smell it outside) and doesn't linger on clothes or face as far as I can tell. 4836 [removed] 4837 I'm his bruv and nah fam. 4838 >need constant reaffirmation and coddling. 'n/nhey kettle, have you been to /r/politics lately? 95% of reddit is constantly screaming at the sky because CNN told them their world is falling down and they believe what the MSM tells them 100%. 4839 Is that not what he was going for? I watched the video and thought he was just cracking jokes. 4840 that doesn't solve any problems sorry. 4841 [removed] 4842 [deleted] 4843 Honestly, it turned into more of a rant than I intended. I suppose my point is that not everybody in steel manufacturing is upset that materials costs are going up because they will pass that cost on to the consumer. Then, when demand goes down, they will squeeze the difference from their hourly employees instead of letting the investors down. 4844 [removed] 4845 So what about the people making $15 an hour now at tech jobs, what are they going to do when McDonald's starts paying $15/hr. You think theyâ€™ll automatically get a $7-8/hr raise? 'n/nNot saying youâ€™re wrong but I am saying people that thing $15/hr overnight is going to somehow immediately give people more money when everything else in turn will go up with it. 4846 Cause it's Texas. Conservatives get triggered over any perceived slight to the flag. 4847 No you didn't. None of that money is actually yours. 4848 [removed] 4849 Yup. 'n/nRussia Killed Dr. Matthew Punter, because of his involvement in helping pin the polonium poisoning of Alexander Litvinenko on Russia. 'n/nhttps://www.buzzfeed.com/janebradley/scientist-who-helped-connect-litvinenko-murder-to-the-4850 He had a bad childhood. 4851 Soddy comes from the Cherokee word Tsati. There were two towns, Soddy and Daisy. Now it's one town, unless you're over 50, in which case you'd BETTER know if you're from Soddy or Daisy. 4852 [removed] 4853 That really hasn't fixed itself yet? I know it fucked up the market. I didn't realize it hadn't corrected itself yet 4854 As a Minnesotan, I'd like to say that I work with and have great admiration for my peers but they have one seriously screwed up government. May the more rational Texans step up and vote in November. 4855 Normal behavior in Texas. 4856 [removed] 4857 Their trucks are ridiculously expensive nowadays. A few years ago they were somewhat reasonable in the market but since going all aluminum? Theyâ€™re by far the most expensive (and most expensive to work on) in the market. 4858 [removed] 4859 If you assume any murderers are invicid it will make the math a bit easier. 4860 If i could go back in time, i would've totally challenged my middle school teacher who forced us to stand for the pledge. I could've made bank.. 4861 This breaks my heart. I'm hoping against hope, but dad was last to see him. That is not good. 4862 flower or bud vapes are the new thing, they don't burn anything and don't smell nearly as bad. 4863 Here's the definition of school 'n/nan institution for educating children. 'n/nDo you see the word work in there? You're getting boring and more desperate. 4864 [removed] 4865 Can you please stop going through my trash? Or at least clean up after yourself. 4866 > I wouldn't read too much in to that bit. 'n/nI don't think we have to read into it at all. He joked about it, and then at some point later he actually did it. 4867 Are muffin tops spilling out under a tight pair of jeggings allowed? 'n/n 4868 I'm going to find that so annoying. Pot smokers stinking up the place. 4869 [removed] 4870 It is hilarious to me that republicans hate public schools because they think they are "liberal brainwashing centers" and yet when a kid protests what IS brainwashing (repeating a pledge over and over every day during your youth) they get it all uppy about it. 4871 recently it seems that way. 4872 Can we all agree that there should be no short shorts for girls but no pants belted around the knees for boys too? So damn tired of seeing butts and crotches barely covered by an oversized t shirt. 4873 [deleted] 4874 [removed] 4875 [removed] 4876 [removed] 4877 Wasn't there an episode of E.R. where they did this? (minus the driving around town with the body part) 4878 [removed] 4879 The judge should terminate his parental rights, and lock him for a long long while. 4880 I thought the dress code said boys can't wear athletic shorts, so I guess the girls can't control themselves if they see some hairy legs, well other than their own. 4881 Nationalistic authoritarianism is literally fascism by definition, not patriotic at all. 4882 Japanese ain't Murican you fool! 'n/n 4883 Thanks for being chill. I hate confrontation lol 4884 Mostly with the Army it is that they don't serve where they are from and they get moved around frequently. They don't have enough time in place or connections to build networks of corruption. Police forces tend to recruit locally. Time allows leadership to become entrenched politically and criminally. Impunity allows them to operate without shame. 4885 How many of these were healthy people age 16-50? Probably not very many 4886 ah technically correct... the best correct 4887 I mean considering we use the bible to corroborate historical events and people that is a pretty stupid thing to say. I'm an atheist, but I also am not going to go so far as to say the bible is a fairytale, have you read the bible, because how can you say that when like half the kings and princes of persia and israel are in the bible as well as corroborated through archeological finds. 4888 [removed] 4889 I realize my response is really late but I rarely get on Reddit. I figured it was a genuine question and not an insult. 4890 Not really, Obama's cash for clunkers scheme pretty much wiped out all the good old running cars. The rates were so good people got rid of perfectly fine cars. After that program it really became hard to find good deals on used cars. 4891 Just Google "NCCU student killed" and click the news tab. You'll find 10 or 15 articles from various sources. WRAL, WTD, WNCN, News and Observer, Herald Sun, etc. 4892 My Soddy Daisy is moist. 4893 Happy to answer any other questions, too. Also, I did slightly edit that reply to add clarification, so might be worth a second glance-over. 4894 God bless, but sometimes I wish we had called it even before the civil war. States rights are what make me a republican...not the party but the ideal. The US is too bit for an inevitably global economy. 4895 Shit, their trucks are expensive as is. I don't know what the ceiling is, but they have to be close. 4896 I almost find it funny that Trumps policies seem to be hurting the Rust Belt workers the most, since they basically won him the election. 'n/nAlmost. 4897 That's just good business dude... Companies exist to provide shareholders profits, that's it. 4898 Why does it matter? SCOTUS has ruled that the gov cannot force people to stand. She is well within her right and the school and Texas AG and openly violating the constitution and ignoring SCOTUS precedent. 'n/n 4899 You do that in schools, hospitals and restaurants? Because other than being indoors you can smoke pretty much anywhere you want to in Ontario, with very few exceptions. 4900 [removed] 4901 Not all Trump supporters are racists, but all racists are Trump supporters. At least the white ones. 4902 [deleted] 4903 The pipes were fine despite the lead until the water source was changed. From what I understand, the new water source provided water that was more anodic than the old source and it caused the pipes to leech lead. 4904 Number 15. Papa John's foot pizza. 4905 [removed] 4906 [removed] 4907 [deleted] 4908 Democrat is a race now? 4909 India also has way more smart fucks than china. So thatâ€™s another thing. 4910 Why is that suspicious? Don't parents sleep with their kids all the time, and if someone loved other kids wouldn't they do the same? It doesn't sound that crazy to me. Now that being said obviously you should be careful. 4911 There is no such thing as center/left/right today. Everyone is either far right or far left, that's how it is. 4912 Ah. Well. Thatâ€™s not ideal. 4913 Boycott the artist. You can still go to this pizza place if you want. 4914 [removed] 4915 But which country has more children openly defecating in the streets??? 4916 I went through about ten articles looking for it. Not everything is easy to find. 4917 You are basically saying that because he has done good things he should be immune from criticism when he does something scummy. 4918 No, the guy in the video is not a Clinton supporter. 'n/nBut you most likely are a Russian troll. 4919 You still shouldn't support them, their pizza, or their company. 4920 It started as a racially and politically loaded term in the 1920s when Hitler and the Nazi party used the term to refer to Jewish and Communist art. 'n/nIâ€™m not turning it into a racial thing: OPâ€™s comment was front-loaded when he used the term. 4921 /r/politics doesn't remove anything pro-trump. As long as it's US-politics related, it can be shared there. The fact that pro-Trump stuff is downvoted just means the sub has a predominantly non-nazi user base - not that it's "fascist" imho. T_D on the other hand literally says in it's rules that anything that doesn't circlejerk Trump or the GOP will be removed. So remind me again which of the subs displays "forcible suppression of opposition"? 4922 If you anonymously donate money it's not a PR stunt. If you donate money and post about it on twitter it very well might be. 'n/n 4923 Not the first time this scumbags behaves like one. I wonder why people still buy pizza from PJ. 4924 Found the Russian troll. 4925 Trump made all these racist feel comfortable. I swear I see these posts everyday now and get shit for being brown today more than before. 4926 The government can't wipe it's own ass without getting shit on it's fingers. This was a child molester. He committed lewd and lascivious acts with a child under 14 years old. Scum like that should all be executed not imprisoned. Who knows what human garbage like that had done and not been caught for. 4927 [removed] 4928 â€œOh thatâ€™s Papa John for you - every family has that one cantankerous old racist guyâ€ 4929 [deleted] 4930 Lmaio Basically he said â€œColonel Sanders called black people nXggers and they love KFC!â€ Witâ€™e 4931 [removed] 4932 When the government won't do it, why not. Elon seems to be a really good guy at heart. A real dreamer that is doing shit we all wished to be doing as adults. I say go for it, at least someone is trying. 4933 This is good but I feel bad for all the communities that have similar problems that just haven't received the PR to be fixed. 4934 If government cared, there would be less added sugar in food but instead, it's more and more and almost everywhere. 4935 Yeah right. Just like he was developing a child sized submarine to save the children stuck in a cave. Or producing working cars in the amount he promised. How this dude and his company haven't gone bankrupt yet is one of the biggest miracles of this century. 4936 I couldn't care less for the guy but how does one go from ceo to board chairman to then getting let go of your own company? 'n/nps, that pic is rough, has definitely seen better days. 4937 These days, I don't even open my mouth or say anything to anyone for any reason, race, gender or otherwise. Not worth it. Not sure how I make it through each day. 4938 [removed] 4939 [removed] 4940 [deleted] 4941 This makes me so sad :(Iâ€™m going to cuddle my cat extra close tonight :(4942 Oh thank god... we can finally stop watching his stupid commercials during the super bowl 4943 Hey, here's an idea, look it up yourself P 4944 This is good. I also hope they find out how he got the gun and if there were any laws violated they punish the seller very seriously as well. 4945 Am I have a stroke? 4946 Racists are generally very, very uneducated. 'n/nThere are a lot of videos of comedians going to Trump rallies and exposing the ignorance of the attendees. 4947 Papa John's is easily the worst chain pizza I have eaten in the past year or more. 4948 He will join another precinct 'n/nI guarantee it 4949 That's what gets their stores shut down. This hits the stock. 4950 Holy SHIT! This shocks no one. 4951 That's her lawyer so of course yes going to make the charge look unjust. It's literally his job. We need to hear statements from the club and the police before even knowing how to react. 4952 14 cents for health insurance? Sign me up. 4953 Colonel Sanders died in 1980, 38 years ago. You could get away with a lot of shit 38 years ago. 4954 who also has five kids with 3 different women. and cheated on all of them. and slept with a playmate while married. i could go on and on... 4955 [removed] 4956 The fact remains, that is the only way the media describes illegal aliens. 4957 Get a room full of bad people, and a room full of good people, and you will find that good and bad people aren't equally distributed everywhere. 'n/nBut seriously, your logic is flawed. It's one thing to say that black and white people are equally capable of being good, and another to say that "literally all clusters of people", including the ones that group them by a behavior that is immoral in itself, are equally good. 'n/nIt's perfectly resonable to make categorical statements like "there is no such thing as a good gestapo agent", or "there is no such thing as a good racist". 'n/nThe idea that amassing wealth under a capitalist system that exploits the poor is inherently immoral like those, is a fringe anti-capitalist position, but it's not a logical impossibility, it just expresses lots of unusual moral hostility to a specific behavior (that we would all apply to certain other behaviors too). 4958 >I am a University educated 25-year-old woman and I'm also a Trump supporter.\n\nSo you went to University of Phoenix Online.\n\n4959 I am sure we will see that requirement over turned in the future. 4960 Got it. So you don't have a high school diploma or GED. That's all you had to say. 4961 I remember reading an article about him severely mistreating his workers, so that. 4962 I have a stomach ache 4963 Too bad. Itâ€™s supposed to really help the time pass to use autopilot for hours on end. Traffic is no longer an inconvenience, just a few more minutes to relax and listen to a podcast or audiobook 4964 ...so that's 1 thing india has over china. that and overpopulation. 4965 Iâ€™ll have a large with pepperoni and racism.\n\nNah! Papa Johns pizza sucks the sweat off a dead manâ€™s balls. 4966 [deleted] 4967 I stopped buying their bland mediocre and tasteless pizza for some time now.\n\nHowever i dont understand why white people have such a hardon for racism?!\n\n/n\n/nLike why the urge to fuck with minorities so much/n\n/nWe selling water...pool...bbq...doing lawns and whites just fuk with u/n\n/nAre you jealous of black people?!\n\n/n\n/nEven the head of hr at uber was fired because she ignored and dismissed racial complaints/n\n/nLike what the actual fuck white people! 4968 It's also seriously profitable if he can....\n\n/n\n/nIt's a perfect platform for gaining media traction and national support: from which he can create a new company that focuses on providing water purification... one of the biggest global problems. 4969 [deleted] 4970 [deleted] 4971 Didâ€™ntâ€™ scratch that itch trying to fix the kids in the cave problem I guess. 4972 >Decrease the number of people/n\nIf you decrease the number of the right sort of people(aka gang leaders and corrupt politicians in Africa) you absolutely could solve world hunger. Itâ€™s really not a problem with overpopulation as far as I can tell. 4973 When Russia was bombing the country of Georgia a coworker of mine said his family called him 'cause they saw the news. I'm still amazed some people don't know there is a country and a USA state w/ the same name. 4974 I'm one of the hazmat people on Tinker and in our training, we get to learn all about this and Love Canal. Surprising for someone to bring up anything besides the whole marijuana shit when it comes to OK.\n\n/n\n/nHowever, cleaning up one Superfund site, might make the news, but cleaning up multiple, one after the other. Headlines worldwide 4975 He is actually iron man 4976 [removed] 4977 LMAO don't bite your tongue komrade. 4978 Whiter ingredients, whiter pizza, Papa Johnâ€™s. 4979 [removed] 4980 [removed] 4981 Yes this is good for bitcoin 4982 [deleted] 4983 Is getting massaged a dance? 4984 All over Iraq and Afghanistan 4985 I'd be surprised if it was even a month. The cop who got fired for running over a suspect got hired in two days. Police departments don't give a shit about standards. If I got fired from a job for a professional ethics violation (lawyer), I'd probably have to beg for work from friends for at least a year before anyone would even touch me.\n\n/n\n/nhttps://abcnews.go.com/US/police-officer-fired-hitting-fleeing-suspect-car-hired/story?id=55652553 4986 Yep, itâ€™s pretty low. Itâ€™s actually scary people canâ€™t assess the situation to realise that. 4987 I would love to live in a world where super rich people (or just people in general) solve world problems for attention. Sounds like a great world and a lot better than the one we live in now 4988 Guinness world record for balliest forest. 4989 Being as the driving is through mountain ranges that is probably quite unlikely the small tiny towns stops for fuel would have the chargers yet. Thatâ€™s too bad. I look forward to a few years from now when I get to buy my first electric car though. 4990 There are still people who donâ€™t believe people with dark skin are people. 4991 I don't hate Musk per se, though he is a businessman and a showman, and does what he does to raise the profile of his company. And hey, sure, that's fair, go for it, Elon.\n\n/n\n/nWhat I DO hate is that we have a dysfunctional government that allows this kind of crisis to happen in the first place. What I DO hate is the idea that the American people become dependent up on the whimsy of the ultra rich; what if that guy hadn't trolled Musk about Flint? Likely Musk wouldn't be doing anything, and the problem would still exist (and yeah, actually, it still totally does).\n\n/n\n/nThis kind of random charity gives politicians--namely right-wing politicians--an easy out. And they'll go right on cutting up the social safety net. Because why not? Some rich asshole will just come along and bail everyone out. Maybe. If everyone kisses his ass.\n\n/n\n/nHow about the government putting on its big boy pants and doing some fucking work? 4992 The publication reported the objectionable behavior took place on a conference call intended as a role-playing exercise for Schnatter on avoiding racially charged mishaps in the future.\n\n/n\n/nâ€œOkay, John, you and your arty encounter a black customer whoâ€™s upset how long it took to deliver their pizza. What do you do?â€\n\n/n\n/nrolls a 1 4993 A bit late is better than never...I guess.... 4994 [removed] 4995 The first part is, admittedly, pessimistic conjecture due to my distaste for government callousness.\n\n/n\n/nHowever, Nestle is and has been pumping water from sources that could have circumvented some of this issue.\n\n/n\n/nhttps://www.google.com/amp/s/www.sciencelart.com/flint-michigan-residents-clean-water-nestle-pump-gallons-cheap/amp/n\n\n/nAdditionally, there are still residents as recently as a month ago who are having varying physical reactions to their water consistent with significant impurities. They are still being charged for this water.\n\n/n\n/nPart of the issue is the piping but part is from the local government changing water sources back in 2014 4996 [removed] 4997 [removed] 4998 They are fixing the problem, but it entails replacement of all of the lead pipes in the system (supply lines to homes, for instance). Supposedly, since last year, the lead levels in the water are below federal standards for most residents. The completion of the remaining pipe replacement work will take until 2020.\n\n/n\n/nAs for how it happened. The city is broke - think of an impoverished old industrial town in your country. City government decided to save money by switching the water source. The water from the new source was more acidic, which isn't a huge problem by itself, but it was then not adequately treated and caused the old lead pipes to corrode and people were exposed to unsafe levels of lead in their drinking water. Ignoring or covering up this problem is where things went wrong. 4999 [removed] 5000 The truth set you free 5001 Need a group separate from the police run by people that investigates the cops when they need to be charged with something 5002 He's holding that bible like there's gun inside it. 5003 No. It's the local station affiliate of a broadcast channel. 5004 It's not a binary equation/n\nThe existence of groups like CTR does not eliminate the presence of others 5005 There is no "Antifa" organization. It's not a country, not a society, not a government. Just the ideology of being "anti-fascist". Anyone who is against fascism is by definition "Antifa". 5006 Err.... Some commentators here are called racists in sheep's clothing.... 5007 Found a clan member! 5008 [removed] 5009 Trump makes Goldwater look like FDR 5010 [removed] 5011 You're claiming they're protesters. You prove it. Meanwhile the preponderance of evidence is on my side because their behavior aligns with the goals of provocateurs, not protesters. And the fact that you pretend to think this requires some grand conspiracy demonstrates either dishonesty or ignorance. 5012 I mean I cant speak for Italy, living in the uk we definitely have racism issues. Maybe not as bad as other places, but bad enough that they need improvement. 5013 Exactly, Twitter had no problem taking down proud boys, which I agree with, but antifa has been around for a year and it still is allowed to be up 5014 They already do that. The least they could do is stop contributing to the rape and murder. 5015 Oh there's an 'M' next to it so yeah that'll be it. Funny name for a city! 5016 Nah, nothing wrong at all with your questions. Shows you're trying to be sensitive to the feelings of others. No worries! 5017 [deleted] 5018 [removed] 5019 Never voted him in in the first place ðŸˆŽâ€™m sharing tips from Hong Kong and Chile on protection for protestors on Facebook. I genuinely want to help NOW. 5020 Fuuuck that's good 5021 [not to my knowledge. 5022 Well maybe not statues pe se, but people who were known to be raging anti semites are still revered in pop culture today. The racism gets swept under the rug for some reason. So as a Jew, I dont have to imagine very hard. 5023 Covid is so far gone already I'm not sure how much worse it could get anyway 5024 [removed] 5025 Well multiple other officers walked by the guy without appearing overly concerned. No one else was really asking him to get back. Itâ€™s usually pretty common for reporters to be in areas that the general public wouldnâ€™t be allowed. The media is given the special privilege because of the importance of an informed public. 5026 Are there any live streams from protests at Trump Tower (NYC)? 5027 [removed] 5028 Jesse Pinkman at it again! 5029 Ok there whitehispanicnace 5030 [removed] 5031 You also have the right to jump off a bridge, but that would be unwise.\n\n/n\n/nTechnically, these protests are illegal as they do not have the proper permits. Protests require permits as to allow concerns to be heard safely and orderly without other people rights being denied. Of course, there are no permits for rioting.\n\n/n\n/nBlocking streets and preventing the public's free movement is not a right and is not protected. 5032 Trump made this about himself when he ordered the gassing and assault of peaceful protesters, press, and the clergy before curfew for a photo at a church. Yeah... I sure do hope the protesters don't include the man who has literally ordered federal police and military forces to attack them in their list of complaints. That would be horrible. 5033 There's an old, old saying. "Rent a man a bike and you make income for years. Sell him a bike and you lose that income forever." \n\n/n\n/nOr maybe I'm thinking about fish, whatever. 5034 Got it, so we need someone who has looted a drone to fly it with a live stream, and Robin Hood their theft away 5035 [removed] 5036 Here's his insta:\n\n/n\n/nhttps://www.instagram.com/p/CA6XcCbSx4G/ 5037 Congrats, that's the worst argument I've read this week. Good job! 5038 How many times do you expect black people to get to this point and then start again? Stop selling out your fellow citizens, you're embarrassing yourself. Your 100% white self. Goodbye. 5039 Hahaha man I love Chappelle. 5040 So does the guy in the white shirt standing behind him in the interior view. 5041 I just snorted so hard I actually have a fucking nosebleed lmao 5042 Intent is also important, though; thus the distinction between murder and manslaughter.\n\n/n\n/nAdditionally, your opinion may well be that his head deserves to be on a pike, and you are absolutely free to voice that opinion, even over a loudspeaker. The minute you offer somebody money to do it is when you've crossed a line. The minute your words clearly and incontrovertibly translate to somebody else's actions is when you've incited.\n\n/n\n/nThe line is blurry, and it's why the court does absolutely give a shit about intent even if you don't.\n\n/n\n/nWhile we are in absolute agreement the woman saying cops deserve to die because cops is a sack of shit at the end of the day, she still has a right to say what she said. There was no definitive call to action. There was no incitement. Her speech, though thoroughly despicable and reprehensible, is protected under the first amendment.\n\n/n\n/nIf she were holding a hatchet or a machete or a gun and waving that in the air while charging towards a line of police saying it, then her intent is clear and down she goes in both the figurative and literal senses. However, standing in one place simply shouting despicable things for a crowd to hear is still protected speech, shitty as it is to accept. If it wasn't, street preachers would get arrested frequently for the shit they spew. 5043 I really dislike that the Democratic Party has become so anti-gun. I've been a registered Democrat for as long as I've been voting, and it's the biggest issue I disagree with the party on. I'm nearly always much further to the Left than they are, but not on this. The ability to defend myself from harm is non-negotiable as what should exist as a codified right to all people, and against a criminal with easy and ample access to firearms, against all laws prohibiting it, the only real self-defense that can exist is with firearms.\n\n/n\n/nIf it was dropped from the platform, the Democrats would sweep tens of solid red states. I just don't get it. 5044 Big woosh 5045 Of course not, Iâ€™m not an idiot. No way that billionaire playboy would be out all night terrorizing criminals like the ones who killed his parents, utilizing expensive high tech gadgets that ... wait... I need to go, uh check on some stuff. 5046 [removed] 5047 I've seen threats towards priests for going against trump's cult. 5048 The fact that in this current situation there are still Trump supporters tells you all you need to know about those people 5049 The Trump Administration just changed the laws that allows them to check anyoneâ€™s internet history with no warrant. The US is not free anymore. Privacy is dead. Long live a new republic. 5050 [removed] 5051 I feel like fleeing the state while there is an active investigation against you should forfeit your ability to ever work in law enforcement again. 5052 I imagine most of them are referring to the same high profile incidents and could be bundled together. 5053 More like 2% legit with bullshit mixed into them. 5054 I would like to see some actual proof of 97% are white. That's for sure not the case in the tech sector. 5055 Scomo would never, heâ€™s just a Trump-lite. This whole â€œinvestigationâ€ is just him trying to save face, heâ€™ll never speak out against Trump. Fascist wannabes stick together after all. Got as much chance of him saying something against Trump as you do with Putin or Modi. 5056 Which sucks. But again, soldiers will follow their orders of their immediate superiors by and large for small scale infringements. 5057 People forget that gun control was created specifically to mitigate the political power of the black Panthers. 5058 3 cops murdered a dude in cold blood, and one watched. 5059 As a Black American I'm just really impressed by all the Worldwide support for this tragedy. Even the Netherlands had a protest. When that Country does something you know it's serious 5060 Lol thereâ€™s no fuckin way weâ€™re letting diseased Americans cross the border. 5061 Hey everyone get a load of this guy ðŸˆŽ, 5062 Itâ€™s reasonable to assume once a sub like that gets taken down the users will move elsewhere. Maybe thatâ€™s why? 5063 This is a better video: https://mobile.twitter.com/stephiseo/status/1267680737915924480/n\nThe one from above could be interpreted as a police officer trying to stop the visible obstruction that could hide dangerous things. On the ground it's a more (edit: accurate) statement to what happened. 5064 This cant be real. What kinda shit is that? \n\n/n\n/nIf we dont address your issue in a timely manner, fuck you! 5065 Clearly you are more understanding of this situation than my parents. 5066 Did he make breakfast/n\nThat a â€œnoâ€ 5067 [removed] 5068 but those are proportions and not absolut numbers. The population density shouldn't play a role in that. 5069 [removed] 5070 [removed] 5071 I just want to give a big THANK YOU to the people who have been out in the streets fighting for our lives this last week. Donated a bunch today to national bail funds - I hope we can help you keep help on fighting the good fight! 5072 Needs should be socialized. All else can be capitalized...within strict regulations. 5073 Do joums count as essential in the US. 5074 Donâ€™t watch the video circulating on twitter. It will make you sick to your stomach. 5075 > decades of unequal legal systems, n\nThat, I do totally agree with, n\nHollywood elite are barely elite/n\nYeah, I was dripping with sarcasm on that.\n\n/n\n/n sometimes truly despair of the human race EVER getting it right. 5076 Not ok, but cause and effect.\n\n/n\n/nWarrior mentality, warrior acts, warrior consequences 5077 Riot punch! - Itâ€™s Always Sunny 5078 > My father trains horses, I just asked him. After he said what a weird question he told me the issue wouldnâ€™t be them bolting so much it would be the horses wouldnâ€™t be able to breathe same as anyone else or see, but of course some horses are naturally scaredy cats but if they can be in the big of a crowd they are probably fine.\n\n/n\n/nGo loot some common sense tonight, eldorado supreme. Your username is very relevant. 5079 Nope was happening last night too. 5080 [deleted] 5081 [removed] 5082 Y'all don't give a shit about Floyd. These aren't protests. This is pieces of shit rioting. Floyd said he doesn't want this. Thanks for actually inciting violence. 5083 21 seconds? Oh wow. Such inspiring, much impressed.\n\n/n\n/nIf you ask me, we've all been far too silent for far too long. 5084 [removed] 5085 [deleted] 5086 When his supporters say "he tells it like it is" they really are just talking about the non-stop diarrhea of racist dogwhistles and outright racism that spews from his chow hole. 5087 Annual training... fire the bottom 5% every year and see how quickly there is a race away from the bottom. Thatâ€™s one reason why private industry is more efficient. 5088 [removed] 5089 Maybe he can give them a lift in one of his private jets? 5090 Looks peaceful everywhere but Boston 5091 I'd bet those are coming out of the fax, and straight into the paper shredder at the bottom. 5092 I agree. I think all the cops should be asked to take a month off with no pay. I'm certain that all the looters will stay home and there will be peace and happiness in all the cities. 5093 Great idea. Maybe images of police brutality facing the police.. 5094 [removed] 5095 it's in Michigan. 5096 You didn't watch the video did you? There is no crowd. they fired at the guy in the door shooting at them, and only hit the person they were shooting at. you can clearly see that in the video 5097 I believe that would be Michigan I live fairly close to there 5098 >ALL while knowing that at any second their life could be brutally snuffed out by a police officer or white citizen without any sort of justification or consequences.\n\n/n\n/nBlack people kill white people more than white people kill black people. 5099 It'll be donated to a homeless person's burn barrel.\n\n/n\n/nSEE????? They're doing their part to ensure the homeless population doesn't freeze to death! 5100 IT worker. Single male, money to pay, needs a place to live. A lot of people have money to pay and aren't sob stories. They just don't make headlines. 5101 he was just trying to cure da corona 5102 I really wish weâ€™d focus on squeezing the banks. Why the hell do they get ALL the same profits as last year while the middle class is furloughed and landlords are unable to collect rent? 5103 [removed] 5104 Like Joe Arpaio? Worst people has been pardoned by Trump for sure. 5105 You've confused what you're voting for with how you're voting. Certainly there are people who are voting for candidates purely because of the person, but their vote is going towards the policy platform regardless of how they see it. It isn't an 'idealized version' but how the system is inherently set up. Biden is actually a good example of this as many democrats will be voting for him only because of his policy differences from Donald. Trying to get the AG into the corrupt game of campaign finance will just give tribalism another wedge to inflame. Having an AG who's only set out to corrupt the process between the justice department and the office of the president for personal political gain would be abandoning the oaths that both offices are sworn to: faithfully discharge the duties of their office. My 'path' is to give the power of oversight and checks and balances back to where they belong: congress. Not to create another executive in an already overpowered branch. That does nothing to solve the problem of executive overreach. 5106 It's not a question of lacking resources. It's a question of being willing to allocate them 5107 Sweden too.\n\n/n\n/nSadly it's growing everywhere in europe 5108 The Supreme Court has a conservative overweight just as the senate does. You know, the senate that refused to even look at evidence during the impeachment. \n\n/n\nSo, the answer is no. 5109 Iâ€™m not the one who made the infantilization comment.\n\n/n\n/nDismissing my thoughts as being that of a â€œconcern trollâ€ despite everything I said being fairly sound is the exact kind of disingenuous thinking I would expect from Reddit. In fact I got banned from the _Donald for going in and saying I was pro-abortion, guess what for? â€œConcern trollingâ€\n\n/n\n/n(Before you make another disingenuous comment about me being on the _Donald, I was only on there once to state my pro-abortion stance and see what kind of discussion I could get from people in there.) 5110 > Did they learn nothing from chembof/n\nYes. They learned that they should have covered it up more thoroughly. 5111 It will be their excuse for indefinite use of the army domestically and martial law \n\n/n\n/nhabeus corpus was abolished 13 years ago already so thatâ€™s toast too 5112 Where did I say that "only the US is bad"? I'm calling them out because this is a US website and they're the global superpower. And it's blatantly false that the whole world has been as lenient with Russia as the US has been over the last 4 years. If any country that has power to exert pressure on Russia isn't doing so, that's bad. That goes without saying. The issue here is that the US has the most power to exert. 5113 Hopefully not after this. 5114 In the winter you just have to dress properly. 5115 So now he's guilty of trying to overthrow our government. If this were true I think you would have put it in your last comment. I don't think that speaking to someone is something you can equate to treason as if he was handing over sensitive information that could topple our nation to America's enemies. You guys are clowns blowing little things way out of proportion.\n\n/n\n/n'm gonna go now. Feel free to spend the rest of your day crying about how someone who was only going to serve months isn't serving any time now. It's obviously a national travesty. 5116 I wondered why you didn't respond.\n\n/n\n/nTurns out you edited your comment again after being responded to. 5117 Reading the news daily does as far as I'm concerned. 5118 Not at 10k feet is not. 5119 > We literally can't take care of it so yes.\n\n/n\n/nUkrainian army accepts international volunteers. The Donbas conflict is still quite hot despite the stated ceasefire. 5120 I too had my hopes dashed by this information. 5121 Itâ€™s just a plan to ruin these peopleâ€™s credit score so they have to pay more interest or get charged a larger monthly rate. I doubt many will truly be homeless unless the area they live has a housing shortage and even now have people waiting. 5122 What a cheeky bastard 5123 Avoiding wear and tear and having the possibility to rent out asap is what any rational person would do, including you. There are plenty of people who can pay and live in apartments. Think a single male IT worker. They're not suffering so they don't make headlines, but they're there. 5124 Honestly they should have stayed inside and the protesters should not have broken down the gate. 5125 [removed] 5126 But what about individual landlords just trying to make extra bucks for their own expenses? 5127 [removed] 5128 Pools Closed 5129 Stop blaming Putin for everything lmao 5130 "appreciate the cold weather more" laughs in Florida

I remember I was chilly outside once. It was delightful 5131 Ok fine, but what about all the species that will go with us? 5132 The US military dump everything in the oceans, from fighter jets to filing cabinets. 5133 Whatâ€™s changed? 5134 I hate when I accidentally format a business email and accidentally send it to all employees 5135 Don't assume it will be 28 million. A lot of 'experts' are bs, especially in something that's never happened before. 5136 Unfortunately, he became president and is privy to a lot of information. 5137 >after receiving a call about an active shooter, according to the charging document. The charges said Garner had made threats while dressed as the Joker.
>A nearly hourlong livestream posted to the Facebook account for a Jeremy Joseph Garner shows a man dressed as the Joker, complete with makeup, talking to the camera in a bedroom where he is putting on a costume
>The video then shows him talking about ending the countryâ€™s opioid epidemic
A
Not sure if you're from the us or not, but in 2012 (irc, maybe it was 2014) someone did shoot up a movie theater while dressed as the joker. And in general he represents chaotic people, and is not seen as a positive role model. Most people are uncomfortable/concerned with seeing a joker character outside of things like comic-con or Halloween.
Like the person you originally replied to said, most states have limits on what can be considered threatening. Saying "I'll stab you" 30ft away without a knife is very different from saying it 5ft away with a knife. Even the 1st amendment has this; your free speech does end when it poses a real threat to another person. Protesting on the street in front of someone's home is not the same as walking around as a character with a dangerous connotation, talking about ending epidemics. 5138 >Kilmade*: This is the one stat lâ€™tm going to bring you to, and lâ€™tm going to ask you if you could attack this. *
>*According to a Axios-Ipsos poll, 70 percent of white Americans say they trust the local police. Only 36 percent of African Americans do. How do you attack that problem? How do you change things? *
>Trump: Well I think itâ€™s a very sad problem. As you know, as a Republican lâ€™tm doing very well with African Americans and with the vote with the â€™ in polls and everything â€™ especially, I mean, I havenâ€™tm seen one very recently because you had the plague come in from China. *
>*So that changed things up, but we had the best economy ever. We had the best numbers for African-American on employment and unemployment in history. Best homeownership â€™ best everything. We had the best numbers in everything â€™ not only African-American, but the African-American numbers were great. *
>Kilmade: How do you handle the law enforcement part? *
>*Trump: Well, I think you have to get better. *
>Kilmade: How do you handle the law enforcement part of this? *
>Trump: They have to get better than what theyâ€™tm been doing. I mean obviously that was a terrible thing. And lâ€™tmve spoken about it numerous times in various speeches. *
>*And whatâ€™tm interesting is I spoke about it when we launched a very successful rocket â€™ a tremendous program that culminated on that day and obviously it goes on from there. *
>*But I then made a speech and it was a speech about the rocket, and I devoted 25 percent of the speech probably to what happened â€™ or more â€™ to what happened with respect to George â€™ George Floyd, and it was â€™ and then you listen to this, he doesnâ€™tm talk about George Floyd. The rocket went off, I then I made a speech, and I talked about George Floyd, but they said he didnâ€™tm talk about George Floyd. *
>*Half â€™ maybe even almost half of the speech, but a large portion of the speech was devoted exactly to that. And so, you know, with â€™ with the media you basically â€™ and basically no matter what you do, itâ€™tm never going to be good enough. But the people understand it. *
>Kilmade: Right. *
>Trump: And thatâ€™tm one of the beauties of social media. I mean, I would love not to even bother with social media, but lâ€™tm able to get my word out beautifully by social media, fortunately. You use social media too. *
>Kilmade: Right. *
>*You might want to re-examine which candidate you think is mentally compromised. 5139 [removed] 5140 >Obama refused to prosecute anyone in the Bush administration because he wanted to â€™look forward, not backâ€™tm >n have you read the letter in the article? Now can you compare it with the arguments given by Obama? Thanks. 5141 [removed] 5142 This doesnâ€™tm work out in large cities in America.
Thereâ€™tm too little space to build and large real estate companies absolutely do what they can to limit supply as much as possible to keep prices as high as possible.
Housing is much more complicated than simple supply and demand, because if it was that simple we would just build more housing close to cities experiencing incredibly expensive rent, thus lowering average rent. donâ€™tm think small landlords are any real problem. Some of them profit off a broken system, but itâ€™tm the insidious actions of the big players bleeding renters dry 5143 But not always available to the less fortunate. If you don't make enough money they send you to the Commonwealth for their program. Then, the Commonwealth tells you that you make too much and sends you back to WIC. Then they find out you're actually a father with no where to turn and they tell you they actually don't work with Father's and they're not aware of any programs to help. 5144 I can't imagine wanting to illegally immigrate to siberia. 5145 I'd sure be nice to see them getting squeezed for once after decades of them squeezing renters for everything they can. I have zero sympathy for corporate landlords. 5146 Not so secret after all, was it 5147 Well, he wasn't going to stop living his life. 5148 [removed] 5149 Then there are legal avenues to pursue. You don't have to pay rent for a month if you document it right. 5150 [removed] 5151 [removed] 5152 Only fair. 5153 Is there nothing the Supreme Court or Congress can do to reverse this? 5154 Is the current path working? 5155 Its like abusing a rental car 5156 He dates his penis every night. 5157 Facebook is the propagator of misinformation and lies and the easiest way to brainwash millions of people. 5158 Those people that lost eyes in the protests are at least going to get a nice settlement or I'd bring up their own PTSD. I'd like to spend my tax dollars refining a new system though. 5159 Russia maintains military occupation over sovereign territories of three other states, openly supports terrorist organizations, casually breaks international treaties, nonchalantly assassinate people in foreign countries, kills their own journalists faster than you can spell "Jamal Khashoggi", covers up anti-gay pogroms in Chechnya, blows up civilian planes, had three radioactive leaks in two years and you think some oil spill would make the world do something about it? 5160 Donâ€™tm worry, so many more will die of COVID by next year and level everything out. 5161 Da. All fine points, Vladimir. 5162 I'll even bump up:
nEven though the Constitution guarantees the right of free speech, that right is not an absolute one. The law has long recognized specific limitations when it comes to speech, such as prohibitions against slander and libel. In some situations, speech can even constitute a crime, such as in the case of criminal threats. A criminal threat, sometimes known as the terrorist threat, malicious harassment, or by other terms, occurs when someone threatens to kill or physically harm someone else. 5163 [removed] 5164 I know....
Chickenhawk too. Your point? 5165 Ford should stop building them and USA should remove all their police. The rest of the world are interested to see how this shit show will end. 5166 Because landlords need to make money. Its a business. Imagine asking the laundromat to do clothes for free. But it will help so many people suffering financially!!! Its childlike thinking. 5167 You say everyone, but which everyone are you talking about? Thereâ€™tm like 330 million Americans in the country. The overwhelming majority are employed and have the basics.
The majority are too comfortable to protest. 5168 But theologians still debate how much codexine he added to it 5169 [removed] 5170 A whole generation did it before peacefully this is a bullshit excuse. 5171 Temperate rainforests existing too! Like the redwoods. 5172 Bahaha, to be this naive. Wipes a tear nAll this does is set the bar for unpunishable corruption higher.
Your country is sitting back and watching it's leader shit on the rule of law and it's doing nothing about it. 5173 Itâ€™tm not really a myth, itâ€™tm just a matter of definition based semantics that people try to use to excuse hate speak. Racism by definition comes from a place of perceived racial superiority. The prejudice that you usually see from minorities towards white people comes from a place of resentment, not superiority.
The result is essentially the same though so people using it as an excuse to say prejudiced shit are stupid, but I think itâ€™tm still important to acknowledge the actual meaning of the word.
nLâ€™tm also add that minorities still can be racist, as in forming prejudices from a place of perceived superiority. itâ€™tm just mostly towards other minorities usually of a different race.
nI typically hate trying to talk about this because people immediately jump to the conclusion of â€™well if youâ€™tm saying itâ€™tm not technically racist then youâ€™tm saying itâ€™tm not badâ€™ in truth the actual answer is that itâ€™tm just as bad but for a different reason. 5174 Goldman Sachs estimates that if everyone would wear a mask the hit to US GDP could be reduced by 5%. Economists and bankers know that taking this seriously and universal masking would be beneficial to the US economy not harmful. 5175 Tired of this shit. Ready to go to Washington and take back the government. 5176 [removed] 5177 May Donald Trump and every one of his enablers swing for this particular treason. 5178 The tests used on animals are not the same ones that are used for people, totally different set of medical researchers doing this. Studying the spread of any new virus among animals is going to be extremely important, especially for animals that humans interact with regularly because if transmission can occur back and forth, that's something that 100% needs to be known.
This is why the vast majority of animal for covid testing are on species like cats, dogs, chickens, pigs, horses, and so on. Pretty much any common pet or farm animal is going to be a priority with this. 5179 so good 5180 This is why we need police licenses. The general public would not care if they are still on the police payroll if they are unable to practice law enforcement. I get the sense that the department would let them go real quick if they were just money drains. Make police licenses mandatory and defund the police, snatch licenses away from criminals like these guys and watch the unions and departments get rid of them real quick. If you want to keep them on the payroll, fine, but they have to be file clerks or janitors. Can't be cops. nThat takes care of one part of the equation. We need a solution for the actual prosecutions. 5181 You're right but the idea is "the police" isn't going to be the new organization. Honestly well probably give what we see cops as now a flashy new name like "Armed Response Division". Those are the guys with guns. Then everything else we absolutely compartmentalize and deal with the bureaucracy. It's not even fundamentally different than other systems we have now that are pretty streamlined. nI'm a little tipsy right now but with all the money we'd save from the tens of millions each city spends on civil suits against police each year we wouldn't even need to find them more. Not to mention we could significantly cut overpaid armed cops while giving social workers and the like in the new system a raise from what they have now. 5182 [removed] 5183 Good, but unconstitutional. 5184 [deleted] 5185 This is very true. People are getting angry over tiktok spyware (rightfully) but we should be equally mad (if not more) at Facebook 5186 [removed] 5187 I really needed to read that. Lâ€™tm 25 and I run my home with my younger brother as weâ€™tm lost our parents. Heâ€™tm still studying and lâ€™tmve lost my job so the only income is what lâ€™tm receiving from the government. It barely covers the bills, lâ€™tm sinking deeper and deeper into debt and lâ€™tm literally in poverty. I donâ€™tm know why I panic though, because lâ€™tm still alive and lâ€™tm still young. 5188 [removed] 5189 1200 is enough for one mortgage payment and a grocery bill for me. Between utilities, car payments, and â€™curryâ€™ bills like internet and tv, I would be almost 800 short on the month. 5190 New people moved into my building today. There are clearly renters in the market. 5191 This makes plenty of sense if your Putin 5192 What a revealing piece. Thanks for the link. 5193 It's a casino. It's degenerate gambling at this point. nCarnival announced they are cutting sailing until 2022. Bring 650 million in cash every month through the end of the year. Their stock rose today 1% after that was announced, on top of the 10% the market tacked on up to that point.
nIt's all fake and over inflated.
nHonestly today I made $250 on options trading by going "What's the logical financial choice?" and picking the exact opposite decision... nI won God when it crashes... I don't know if the fed will be able to pump it back up a second time. So many people are gonna lose everything. 5194 [removed] 5195 Nah itâ€™tm clear that after WWII the world powers gradually moved towards Economic wars nclimate wars will be a real thing, they will be influenced by economic actions (sanctions for example). 5196 This thread is full of people ignoring them. Mature people come up with a solution that helps both sides. 5197 Millions of people in retirement homes. 5198 this is going to happen like the wetmarkets closing in china 5199 Yeah being in an HOA does not entitle you to defend its fucking gates lol 5200 This is what happens when white people or â€™conservativesâ€™ have lived a life without consequence. They wonâ€™tm get any punishment and therefore next time itâ€™tmll be much worse. The US refusal to put a privileged race and class to account will be its own undoing. 5201 Why should I have peace and acceptance with a party that wants to repeal gay marriage?
You get mad at one party for fighting for people but donâ€™tm seem to treat republicans with the same enthusiasm. 5202 I definitely see what your saying but the days of loading your canon putting on your drabiest most grey uniform and letting some yanks have it have long since passed. We will not ever see the usual signs of sedition until it is to late. Although I agree with you, this is political venting, however, if even one trump supporter gets it in his head that he now has to fight the rest of the country. Then, these politicians should be brought up on charges of sedition. 5203 Their job is not to get shot what the fuck. And if you honestly think that then they need to get paid more 5204 California calls them ghost guns even after they have SNs engraved 5205 How we decide to act is much different than whether or not we still see a covid winter revival season towards the end of 2021. 5206 Nationalize their farms. Teach those fucks a lesson to trash liberals and vote in ways they think would hurt us. 5207 I normally wouldnâ€™tm condone illegal action, but if the state was releasing this information themselves (as they should be) this situation wouldnâ€™tm be necessary in the first place. Instead DeSantis hasnâ€™tm released the White House statistics update since the October release. nIt seems pretty clear that this enforcement was to stop their dirty laundry from being aired, not maintaining public safety/welfare. 5208 Guesses how much longer shutdowns will be? 5209 To people suggesting this is sedition, knock it off. Filing a lawsuit isnâ€™tm illegal. That is that, if they then refuse to follow the ruling outside legal means, that is sedition whatever sedition 5210 That was the states rights crowd arguing from the very beginning. They believed the federal government couldnâ€™tm tell them they couldnâ€™tm own slaves, but also insisted the northern states had to comply with the Fugitive Slaves Act. Conservatives only believe in preserving their power, and they have no problem making contradictory arguments simultaneously. 5211 Ok, fine, whatâ€™tm YOUR solution? 5212 Canada and the UK both approved it already. Did Trump threaten them too? 5213 highly doubt it - he's already talking about uniting and moving forward. hope i'm wrong but i just don't see it 5214 The good people of Austin might not agree. 5215 Managers and executives. 5216 > double-digit IQ nSo generous 5217 [deleted] 5218 Passed away 2 years ago. I didn't know. 5219 He was making it difficult 5220 Two things can be true. 5221 A deadly threat, which the driver proved to be. 5222 What were they rioting in response to? And what was made worse when the police started acting just as shit as the rioters? 5223 [removed] 5224 Thanks for the info. 5225 Yeah, that poor driver that were warned in advance and politely asked to leave still totally deserves to claim self defense. She only had 5 tons of steel to protect her from those nasty BLM mongrels dtyring up her front grill with their blood. nHeather Heyer was the first killed this year in Charlottesville. Right wing fascists want to normalize killing protesters.
nI had this was a MAGA rally, they'd be calling for the woman to be extra judicially murdered by now. 5226 When the cops in BFE find a hobo, he gets a bus ticket to the nearest city with services. 5227 > told nMhmm. Actions and words, my man. 5228 Nope, I am most definitely willing to call out those who want to injure or kill their political opponents. 5229 Oh Captain, my Captain No Boat. 5230 Son of a bitch! 5231 That's how it should be. And there are a lot of people (mostly trump supporters but theres plenty on both sides) who were betting on those judges siding with trump. Good to know they won't though. 5232 They learn from the best. A reporter will ask Trump about something he said and he will say he never said it even if they give him a direct quote and date of when he said it. 5233 In the past, I've been against stuff like this because it would be bad for rural areas in the state.
nBut if the people from the rural areas really, really want it? The big metro area that becomes its own state would probably be better off. Though it would screw up the electoral college even more. 5234 Anyone with a brain knew this, but it generates a fuck ton of revenue for both the city and local economy so its hard to say no.
nSource: New Orleansian 5235 Yes, all sides abandoning morality is definitely the way to unity. nPlease, share more of your omnipotent logic with me. 5236 You Californians sure are a contentious bunch 5237 Not a problem nI didn't think at any point you were trying to say there was no way possible for them to have been involved. nIt is just hard to envision how the sausage is made some times. 5238 I hope to God Ken Paxton does NOT get his pardon and he rots in a federal jail cell. Heâ€™tm a disgrace to the state of Texas. 5239 This is a very interesting idea. 5240 So kind of just spreading its butt cheeks? 5241 Other nationâ€™tm health agency have approved the vaccine. Canada and UK have already approved it. EU is expected to approve by the end of the month 5242 If ur allergic to mRNA vaccines I guess 5243 [removed] 5244 People seem to think that whether you are a Republican or a Democrat is the litmus test to whether or not someone is a decent human being. Lâ€™tmve met plenty of great people on every side of the aisle. Lâ€™tmve also met plenty of shitty people on both sides. 5245 I suggest until everyone impacted by covid in a negative manner (real people, not corporations) withhold taxes until compensation has been made. 5246 Thatâ€™tm literally why they fought the civil war. â€™States eighthâ€™tm wasnâ€™tm about the right to own slaves it was about the â€™rightsâ€™tm of southern states to dictate that northern states abide by their laws and return runaway slaves. 5247 My point is that it was a 3rd of the overall budget. 8 mil of 179 is nothing 5248 Hopefully the Biden administration starts making some arrests in the new year. Literally everyone that signed into this lawsuit is guilty of sedition. 5249 The claims of fraud were not without merit, but yet the lawsuits were about impropriety and Pâ€™tm violating their own state constitution. But using the term â€™traitorousâ€™ so loosely is a dangerous erosion of itâ€™tm meaning. There is nothing treasonous here, and all actions taken were via established legal court methods. And the courts have handled it. Stop obfuscating it.
nYes, the Texas lawsuit got tossed due to having no legal grounds. Once again, the courts are chucking as designed. NO, punishment should not be sought because that would be an insanely dangerous overhaul to how courts would operate at all. That would be a choice that would fall out all the way down to the lower courts of us chums mulling about, because suits get tossed out all the time at all levels for having no legal basis to stand on. To turn around at go: â€™they, we tossed that out because it had no legal standing and the legal process has done itâ€™tm job. But now weâ€™tm going to charge you for what would have happened if it did go throughâ€™ This is so insane and dangerous I donâ€™tm know how to properly put it into words. Lâ€™tm Minority Report levels of policing and would effect every American interacting at every level of the court system for the worst, especially as no crime was committed. Filing a lawsuit (which is a legal claim) that gets tossed for no legal standing is not a crime. 5250 So in reality the Kraken was just a really meek hydra, tiny heads (and hands) that just kept coming back for more. 5251 My theory is this: they have rational views NOW, when they've lost. Had they have at least a couple wins, they'd be still foaming at the mouth holding for dear life to those 3 wins and claiming God Emperor Trump will save them up till Jan 20.
nThose people, even the "rational" ones, were voting for a wannabe dictator that keeps letting people die just because he felt like making a point to not wear a mask, just to name a single atrocity. nForgetting that is dangerous. 5252 [removed] 5253 For some people politics is more impactful. Like for myself, lâ€™tm heavily engaged in politics because it is STILL part of the GOPâ€™tm platform to repeal gay marriage.
nWhy would I support a party that wants to take that away from me? 5254 unless she's in jail. No doubt trump will ever go to jail, but his kids... there's a chance there 5255 [removed] 5256 Any who claimed "widespread fraud" while unable to produce credible evidence for any fraud whatsoever. 5257 I mean farmers are responsible for most of the food on our plates so its not a bad idea to keep them working 5258 I would love it if they all piled into the southeast and seceded. We could build a wall around it, and find it with pay per view of the footage we got from the wall cameras. 5259 How bad is this virus for other species? Could it decimate animal populations? 5260 Oh, lâ€™tm not denying the stupidity. I just think getting it codified into law is the easiest way to close out the stupidity. 5261 Well his Brousin Skeeter done said so on the Facebook and Counsule Kleetus upvoted it so it must be true. 5262 The only attack on human life a google search revealed to me was a racially motivated attack in which the victim was called a â€œN*ggerâ€ and the attackers are supposed white supremacists. \n\nhttps://www.kiro7.com/news/local/man-critically-injured-chop-shooting-says-he-was-victim-racial-attack/ZHX5JZLBEBGSHOUO03FMWKGQFI/ 5263 States rights was always about the federal government having too much impact on THEIR states. \n\nThey cheer on border patrol and the national guard being deployed to states to deal with 'anarchist zones.' 5264 Happy belated! My birthday was 11/6 and it was so fucking nice going to bed and waking up to the election being called 5265 51 years. Dude was never caught. i mean if he was 20 when he killed he would be 71 now. he won. hes probably dead. i guess shooting strangers to death in a their cars, in a dark location with a moderate disguise, no motive, no good witnesses, and a fast escape during the 60s makes for a hard case to solve. 5266 I just went and read through the comments on this. You have to go pretty far down into the post to find the nutcases. Most on there are being fairly rational about it. 5267 [removed] 5268 Exactly. Terrible people, but they still had a right to due process. 5269 He going to come pay off my house? 5270 And we should chose to stop this â€œwhen they go low, we go highâ€ bullshit. All that got us was 45. We should choose to finally understand what it takes. The GOP wins because the voters fall in line, no matter what walking haircut is on the ballot. The GOP wins because it does not tolerate any deviation from the common platform. The GOP wins because they donâ€™t have the equivalent of â€œblue dog Democratsâ€ which are just Republicans in disguise. Their people know that unless they toe the line, theyâ€™ll get primaried within inches of their lives. That unity and commitment to an agenda is why they still exist in a country that has moved on. \n\nWe need to stop bringing knives to a gunfight. 5271 A broken clock is still right twice a day. 5272 They didnâ€™t try to subvert democracy the way Trump did and likewise they actually a lot of evidence, hence why so many in Trumpâ€™s administration was arrested. 5273 This guy should have gotten a lot worst guess the monsters of the world may try to god the system is so lenient 5274 You do realize of California had to be independent they would actually be at a deficit right because they would have to pay for their own defense the United States would be taking back all of its military bases newflash most people in the military are not Democrats so they would probably side with the conservatives 5275 >Turns out riot gear and force isnâ€™t responded to well by rioters. \n\nWell there were people rioting. So ya you need to wear the PPE required for the job. 5276 Going through a court is a legal method. You canâ€™t get punished for filing a lawsuit. 5277 So happy this last ditch cop effort went nowhere, as expected! 5278 A lot of people rightfully happy there is an end in sight now. But just remember we are basically right now at the halfway point. It's going to take another 9 months or so of hard work and vaccinations to get this done. \n\nYou can't just get one of the shots and let your guard down. You need to get them and stay extremely vigilant and take precautions for two to three full weeks AFTER the final dose. Before it really gets you the full benefit. \n\nStay on top of it. Keep doing what you're doing (or don't if you suck). Wear a mask. Stay away from people unnecessarily. \n\nNext summer can and should be fucking fantastic. Let's do this right! 5279 Corporate tokenism is different from making actual consistent efforts to recruit, develop, and retain minority talent within the company. 5280 I mean Trump got played, the useful idiot has outlived his usefulness. The kind of people inflated with Trump will quickly forget about him and jump on the next fascist bandwagon. 5281 [removed] 5282 Ya which was my point. 5283 It wonâ€™t be. In fact this is just the beginning of the end of the US itself. Now that half the country has given up on democracy and the majority of the institutionally privileged white demographic soon it will end. 5284 Appointed judges are less political than people think. They aren't really partisan hacks. They're chosen more because their legal philosophies match up with their appointers political views. \n\nThe abortion cases should change things. Conservative judges tend to believe that Roe v. Wade and Casey v. Planned Parenthood were wrongly decided, and so abortion shouldn't be a protected right. And conservative politicians tend to believe that abortion should be banned. So that matches up. \n\nBut iirc, conservative justices also tend to leave more electing-power to the individual states (see: voiding parts of the Voting Rights Act). A lawsuit by a state seeking to demand that a different state conduct it's elections differently, such that the different state should void then-validated votes after the election, was almost sure to fail. 5285 â€œThose judges are traitors! The Democrats bribes them! Those judges Trump appointed are all communists! Bill Gates 5G QAnon Dr Fauci coffeâ€ Russia conspiracy theory coronavirus freedom yah de yah de yah de yah...â€ \n\nYeah lâ€™m so tired of 2020 and everyone is, those Trump dumbfucks are putting it upon themselves and made everything worse for everyone. 5286 Now imagine all that on fire and that's California. 5287 I just saw them lâ€™s bloody glorious. 5288 Lmao what about the right to live? And the right to health? Again, only first world country that lets its citizens die like this. I bet you walk around naked everywhere cause thatâ€™s your right and the government shouldnâ€™t tell you what to do! I bet you hate the police cause they enforce laws that suppress your rights, like the right to do drugs or drive drunk (lâ€™â€™s be against you probably have a couple duds anyways). The hypocrisy is unreal with you. \n\nOh and I almost forgot how you were telling people to either love their country or leave. Itâ€™s their right to free speech. Luckily it isnâ€™t against the law for me to judge the piss out of you 5289 This is what I imagine the supreme courts reaction was, as well as mine: https://youtu.be/_n5E7eJHw0 5290 Some know better. Its a way to delegitimize Biden. 5291 Fish jizz has what plants crave 5292 Please remember that only 52% of the state prefers Trump. 5293 It's not law, its CalvinBall 5294 the beatings will continue until morale improves. 5295 30 days ago: Amy Covid Barrett is more qualified than Alito \n\nTonight: Sheâ€™s new and gave into peer pressure. 5296 Where they gonna go? I don't get what you mean. 5297 My stepdad is more reasonable as is my youngest brother. Theyâ€™re not super into Trump. My mother and middle brother are crazy off-the-wall Trump cultists and they honestly believe he was sent as an â€œimperfect vesselâ€ to save America. 5298 Finally some unequivocally good news 5299 See you just got done Scott's Tots. 5300 [removed] 5301 Yes, amorphous cells can have heart beats. Not it matters because a heart beat doesn't determine human consciousness. Or lungs, fingers, hair, etc. A human with an artificial heart that doesn't "beat" is still a human. A house fly larva having a heart doesn't make it self aware. \n\nThis is an absurd metric to determine what a human life is. It is purely meant to emotionally manipulate people because there is no logical argument to defend it. 5302 Now you're conflating the metaphor of physical aggression with actual physical aggression, the actual thing being discussed. You can't even stay on topic. Your confusions are entirely of your own making, and your excuses transparent. 5303 Kid was fat AF. And being fat with covid is exponentially more deadly than being a healthy weight w/ covid. 5304 > Protesting doesn't work idiots \n\nI's got you here discussing it which raises awareness. BLM is written on NBA basketball courts for nationally-telvised games. \n\nMake no mistake: Protest works. 5305 > Note: rules made up by the half of the population that will never be at risk of dying in childbirth \n\nAh yeah, reminds me of this pic](https://twitter.com/HC_Richardson/status/109288297533724160) 5306 [removed] 5307 Yesterday, Biden called Trump supporters "ugly people". 5308 > Short write up: on Oct 22 Constitutional Tribunal in Poland ruled, that one of three allowed reasons for abortion (based on so-called "compromise" law of 1993), major or morbid health defects of fetus, is banned. This can be understood as de facto total ban on abortion, because reason mentioned above made 95% of legal abortions, with other two reasons being already very hard to obtain: "danger to woman's health or life" is allowed only in direct danger to life cases (~20-30 annual), and "illegal deed" (= rape) extremely rarely (only ten cases in ten years!). Regarding public opinion: most recent poll (Dec 2019) told that 50% support "compromise law", 30% are in favour of more liberal one, and only 15% a further restricted one (like what just happened). \n\nRuling was a result of parliamentary question, signed by members of right-wing Law & Justice (PiS, ruling) and Confederation parties. Officially it's an independent ruling, but because Tribunal was "conquered" by PiS, and judges responsible for the ruling are open PiS' nominees, nobody seriously believes that. \n\nMoreso, this happened during peak of pandemic in Poland, with high rise of cases and deaths (around 14K/150 daily ATM), major new restrictions coming each week (including ban on gatherings above 5), and laughable lack of sensible state help to damaged areas of economy. \n\nThis lead to spontaneous, country-wide protests, especially among Polish women and youth, also (which is new) during masses in churches on Sunday (because Catholic church was major force pushing for this change). It's not clear yet, how much of this is protest against above decision only, and how much it's a "last straw" case, with people being fed of current government, for numerous faults, and especially general handling of the pandemic. \n\nhttps://www.reddit.com/r/europe/comments/j5xuc/polish_protests_megathread/ 5309 Abortion is not morally wrong. There is no objective morality. Certain living beings should die if we want the best life for all other beings. 5310 As a grown man who makes my own decisions in life and is happily married. I think that it should be illegal to kill babies. 5311 I haven't been to Lowell in 4.5 years, so perhaps my perspective is outdated now. When I was there last it was certainly much better than it was in the 90s - far better, but still did not compare to Boston, but that might be unfair since there aren't any other New England cities that are that size. 5312 So each time a man ejaculates, he commits a few millin murders. 5313 What? I've been to Texada multiple times and never felt uncomfortable. I've been to all the Southern Gulf Islands as well and they are always lovely. \n\nI'll grant that the northern islands are less commonly visited, but I've still never had any kind of a problem there. 5314 As a male....I feel like this isnâ€™t my place to even comment on what a woman does with her body. We have no right. Donâ€™t want abortions, wear condoms and make them readily available. Educate. 5315 >Children have specific capacities that early term foetuses do not. \n\nholds true for disabled people as well. Should we kill them? 5316 Exactly, the argument that â€œex increases or doesnâ€™tâ€™t stop if outlawedâ€™t is just a really shaky and not great defense. Why outlaw anything then? 5317 Does accorrdn hands 5318 ^ bad-faith rhetoric 5319 that sounds like what democrats want to be honest... Give up all your rights for the perceived notion of "safety" Its like the fucking TSA... Im actually not talking about wearing a mask either. Im talking about the shit done under the Obama era with spying. 5320 >the one true God Emperor. \n\nMILES O' BRIEN 5321 also, would help with California's real estate problem. Imagine if you could just live in Vegas and commute to work in Los Angeles. 5322 I'm not trying to prevent anyone. The rules are clear. If you don't follow them, that's on you. Otherwise vote by mail. No infringement. \n\nRepublicans retroactively going into state courts to overturn already set rules, is not even remotely the same thing. But do keep trying to beat that dumb drum. 5323 Great job Poland!!! Keep it up! Seeing protests actually succeed in halting action is a breath of fresh air. \n\nSincerely, an American. 5324 Let's be honest. If COVID hadn't hit, Trump would've ran away with this election. If he would have just halfway treated it seriously, Biden would have no chance. I don't see any way Republicans don't smash it in 2024. 5325 Your first mistake was being a gun owner in California 5326 I know you people like to purposely avoid the argument, but for people reading: having a biological child is a completely selfish act and forcing a human to exist and suffer in this world without consent is one of the most immoral things you can do. \n\nHopefully one day you 'pro lifers' will actually realize the irony in calling yourself 'pro life', but caring about others than yourself would require a brain capable of forming an original thought. 5327 [removed] 5328 This is a small-minded, dumb-as-shit decision. \n\nMen share the world with women, so their issues should be ours as well; just as men's issues should be women's. We're all entitled to an opinion about things. \n\nMen have sisters, wives, daughters, granddaughters and nieces, all of whom may one day need this medical service for one reason or another and men should want it to be readily available if that situation ever arises. \n\nThis isn't a women's-only issue. It's a fucking human issue, man. We're all humans and we need to give more of a shit about one another. 5329 In a group of 6 people, for two of them to suffer a diving accident is unconscionable. Who the fuck was in charge of this dive group? TWO divers? 5330 I'm not sure what I just saw. Were there guests at the party? Is a thong (and only a thong) common casual dinner wear in Thailand? Is Happy Birthday usually sung in English? If invited to a Thai birthday party, should I bring a small dog? And, last but not least, how do you make partying naked into something bourgeois and boring? 5331 [removed] 5332 [removed] 5333 No one deserves their freedoms taken away. Especially one like this. 5334 I donâ€™t want to read much into this whole thing but I guess if lâ€™m being honest I kind of lean more conservative but I also think the younger generation which I am from likes to not have to wait in lines. I think it might be a generational gap that thinks they need to torture themselves to be honest. This is just a feeling I mean you all are going to use it as people want to control things (which no doubt is probably happening). I just think there is a lot of older people who donâ€™t understand we like convenience and fairness. They donâ€™t have to be separated. 5335 I mean, even then, the focus becomes wanting the body camera to stay on, and I donâ€™t think things would be substantially different with body cameras that were on. 5336 Separation of church and state. Fuck your holy book. If you wanna follow it, great. Donâ€™t make a religious decision a LAW. 5337 Here in Idaho, nothing feels different. I love my state. 5338 Fascism has a strong cultural component they use to build a myth that generally includes a list of items they have a "right" to. Christianity fills that gap nicely. \n\nSex on the other hand is one of the most basic ways human beings interact and show love/affection; anything happening on that scale is going to include people making mistakes about contraception (forgetting to take it, wrong dose, random chance, etc). \n\nSo now we have a recurring problem for all eternity and need a solution. This idea that abortion is "killing the fetus" puts a christian lense on that interaction and the resulting problem for everyone, not just Christians who hold the value. That's obviously wrong in a society where you're free to belong to any faith you like. 5339 Protesting doesn't work idiots \n\nmust vote idiots 5340 its clump of cels bro 5341 So sick of animal agriculture. Humanity needs to move away from that soon 5342 Hey, why so much resistance pal? 5343 Bingo. People on Reddit will bring up every argument in the world to support abortion but always fail to address the one thing they should if they care to actually try and convince a pro-lifer of their position. The belief of the inherent right to life, from the moment of conception. Any other argument is basically irrelevant until you and the person you are talking to can come to an agreement, one way or the other, about that axiom mentioned. 5344 I donâ€™t disagree with anything you said, but I would argue that all political campaigns (not just Trumps) are strife with manipulation and division, thatâ€™s how itâ€™s been the last 8+ years and more. Theyâ€™re using fear and appealing to your emotion more than ever before, at every news outlet as well. Thatâ€™s probably why people are fired up, weâ€™re told the world is ending and itâ€™s the other sides fault. \n\nAnd all those problems you listed donâ€™t seem like government fixes. Doesnâ€™t seem like you can legislate yourself out of that (and those problems have always existed - although the college/debt problem is more significant than ever before.) 5345 The goal of cutting people out of oneâ€™s life is to remain sane, not to influence people. 5346 "As a grown man who's never touched a breast, I feel that I am fully-equipped to decide what a woman can and can't do with her body." 5347 sounds delicious 5348 Plenty of pro life people aren't religious though. 5349 > That is evidence of an inferior moral framework. \n\nNO \n\nYou are once again assessing their moral framework in terms of its consequences. How would you respond if a Catholic says that their moral framework is inferior because it fails to uphold the sanctity of life and glorify God? I assume you'd tell them to piss off - and that would be absolutely justified! \n\nDon't get me wrong, it's worth knowing the consequences of different moral frameworks on society and on the people who subscribe to them. But it is not worth telling people they are lying because their moral framework fails when assessed by a different one. It's not worth getting angry at religious people for having a different moral framework. It's not worth trying to use beliefs that other people do not believe to try and convince those people of something. \n\nYou believe, very firmly, that the consequences are the most important thing when thinking about whether something is moral. I agree, by the way. But other people simply do not. You won't get anywhere by arguing that they're wrong with reference to thing you're disagreeing on. 5350 Student: How will we pay for college? \n\nCollege: Consider the coconut! 5351 I still can't tell if it's a troll or mental illness 5352 You could easily come up with tons of consequentialist reasons why that proposal would be a terrible and ineffective idea. Besides the practical reasons - people who have the virus would hide it instead of getting tested, summary executions don't go hand-in-hand with contact tracing, you'd definitely be killing more people than the virus would - all of which are good reasons, you can also point to the broader moral consequences of the state taking the stance that arbitrary execution is acceptable, as well as the fact that very few people would reasonably follow through on such an ethically wrong policy. Arguing you should just kill everyone with the virus is a horrifically short-sighted and careless way to apply consequentialist thinking. 5353 [removed] 5354 One time I made a prolifer cry by telling her in detail the painful, gruesome death my monâ€™t friend would have endured were it not for late term abortion. \n\nReality is too much for these people. 5355 I mean so does 90% of shit Americans do and nothing changes (am American) 5356 Social security numbers 5357 But again, abortion bans donâ€™t work. Abortions still happen just as much. But in far more dangerous circumstances. Might as well make it at least not be a pre-text for back alley doctors to rape abortion â€œpatientsâ€. As well, itâ€™s hypocritical that the people in Congress who want to get rid of abortions also refuse to implement the ONLY policy that has been shown to actually decrease abortion rates. Better sex education and contraceptive access. It is places with abstinence-only sex Ed that have the worst abortion rates. But people refuse to talk about that. 5358 The laws are specifically designed to take power from protesters. So saying they should follow the laws is exactly the problem. The whole point is for them to have an impact. People have been protesting police brutality for decades and nothing is changing. It's clear acting within the law isn't enough. 5359 No, I am not concerned about that and like I said, I'm not even anti-abortion. I'm just pointing out the hypocrisy of being so concerned about innocent life and yet are willing to expend extraordinary amounts of effort to make it legal to destroy innocent life. 5360 No thanks, I'd rather continue keep arguing past my opponents. 5361 Thereâ€™s a new â€œcosmiley faceâ€ series of unsolved deaths involving young men and bodies of water that have a smiley face painted nearby. Youâ€™re probably thinking of that. This guy was the happy face killer. My bad. \n\nSmiley face, a happy face. fuckin hell. 5362 Heâ€™s not getting tried for anything. 5363 Does everyone need a car? Lots of cities have extensive public transportation. Does everyone need to afford a 2 bedroom for themselves? I mean, studio apartments are pretty popular. Some people have roommates which drastically cuts down on individual costs. \n\nHere is the complexity of the idea that we can define a "living wage". It's very difficult to do because "living" is pretty subjective. 5364 In many cases, public transit isnâ€™t used because of safety/time/cleanliness/etc, but this seems like a major case where it would be a huge boon to the goals of vegas ($) and california (decreased emissions). 5365 he doesn't vet anything. he gave it journalists. they decide what to publish 5366 [removed] 5367 [removed] 5368 So to keep it simple, they're thinking that the means justify the ends, so they won't understand you explaining how the ends justify the means. 5369 > If so, that's great to see happen. \n\nIs it though? I mean...it is only great if the side that is protesting is in agreement with what you want. Ideally you'd have a functioning democracy implement the will of the people through government, with some exceptions when the expertise of the leaders suggests they should go against the will of the people. \n\nIn other words, populism isn't always correct -- for awhile in the US slavery was popular. 5370 It most certainly HAS done it's part. In many cases its brought violence .ore into the public spotlight, and in others soured public perception of the police. When a cop commits a questionable act and is revealed to have conveniently "turned off" his camera, people now ask questions. When we live in a world where everyone has a camera in their pocket to record an event from a dozen different angles; and the one perspective the police swear backs up their version of events is also the one angle with no camera, people start calling bullshit. \n\nWill not and cannot fill meaningful change on it's own, but it's a system of accountability and ammunition for those seeking further/true reform to use. 5371 [removed] 5372 >I've been trying to explain this on reddit for years but most people don't believe or don't understand. \n\nI understand well enough to leave the academic seminar at the academic seminar. What people actually need to understand in the real world is how class control works. Nobody is sitting there, pontificating on rights-based ethical systems. The rich and affluent have never and will never lose access to clean and safe abortions. The poor, on the other hand, can be punished and that has the added benefit of galvanizing religious fanatics and diverting popular conflicts away from class conflicts, so you can continue to stomp on their throats unimpeded. 5373 [removed] 5374 > ..."adding that security forces had been deployed to the area and 'started taking measures'". ..."n/nPerhaps if 'security forces' hadn't left these children on their own by pulling out and leaving a couple of hours ahead of the attack, this may not have happened at all. 5375 And I'm asking why you're okay with your taxes going to certain "mistakes" and not others. Could it "possibly" be a moral judgment? So where does that moral judgment end? Where does it begin? What if the person became addicted to drugs due to a doctor's mistake? What if a woman needs an abortion because she was raped, or her tubal ligation was botched? n/nEither you're for people getting the health care they need or you're not. You don't get to pick and choose who deserves it. 5376 The DEA gets to plead it's case because the Spanish police made a drug bust? 5377 Go for the mile and take the inch as a win. Over reach to retain minimal gains. Thatâ€™s how society is chipped away and changed. Thatâ€™s what they want to happen. 5378 They sure do. And the privately run prisons need inmates as well. 5379 Nah fam 5380 Just gonna say, I upvoted of your 666 comment kama because its a true and not evil statement I agree with but found it hilarious thats what popped up when I came to read the comments 5381 We've driven through New Mexico too many times to count, and until about 12 years ago I had the state "lucked away" as a retirement possibility based solely on how incredibly, breathtakingly beautiful it is and how easy it is to find a climate that suits your tastes (or at least a happy medium for a couple that is 50/50 on preferring 4 seasons versus always-mild-ish). n/nBut then I started working for a company that does reports on states which cover every metric you can imagine, and I've wondered how New Mexico has managed to fly under the radar and doesn't catch nearly the amount of public derision that Mississippi does. And I'm certainly not a policy expert, but I feel like Mississippi is trying to pull itself up but New Mexico is perfectly happy rolling around at the bottom of every 50-state chart. 5382 Economic history of America, in three easy steps:(n1) Strip the continent of its natural resources (fur, timber, gold, oil, coal, etc.)(n2) Strip the country of its cheap immigrant labor to build a manufacturing economy(n3) Strip for private gain any remaining public resources (including govt. services)(n4) Nothing left â€ˆ time to move on 5383 Forcing women to carry out pregnancies to term will only result in more abortions/n/nEar is not the way 5384 It said â€œwipe your pawâ€™...a bit cutesy for my taste but my dad bought it for me as a housewarming gift. n/nAnd you might be right, those bears did strike me as scholars 5385 As a French I can assure you protesting works very often, you just have to do it right 5386 That's the most infuriating part/n/nEven if you accept that the some "acceptable" number of kids will die and it won't be that many. n/nAnd even if you accept that there will be "acceptable" but non life threatening but life changing complications for a larger percentage of them (strokes, PEs, etc)(n/nHell, even if you honestly believe that they will be perfectly fine health wise and will just silent carriers...n/nHow many 5 year olds live alone? How many don't go out in public besides school?n/nThey are going home to mom and dad, and grandparents. They are talking with the their teachers, and their pastors, and their coaches. Those kids are getting dragged along to the grocery store, the bank, and the pharmacy. You are intentionally creating extra carriers to infect even more people who won't be fine. 5387 [removed] 5388 Are you not able to purchase ammunition online and have it shipped to you? 5389 Create a language without vowels so no bordering enemies can understand your intercepted communications. 5390 I see them every day here. It's not an exaggeration for me and my neighbors. I don't think you have any basis to believe things can't get violent. 5391 The Priest was about that life 5392 > anything other than raising awareness is a massive pain in the ass for people just trying to go about their day/n/nOppression is a massive pain in the ass for people just trying to go about their day. n/nProtests that are easily ignored do not raise awareness. 5393 A lot of people forget that in the Roman Republic, 'Dictator' was an official office/position that could temporarily be given to someone of importance. Caesar wasn't the first Roman dictator, they were usually appointed in times of crisis, where the usual way of doing things (2 Consuls) was unable to deal with the crisis, and they needed a single person with near total authority. For example, while Hannibal was rampaging through Italy and destroying Roman armies left right and centre, the senate appointed a veteran senator/general to dictator in order for him to have the power and authority he needed to lead an army to destroy Hannibal/n/nAlso an example to note how 'progressive' Caesar's senate faction/party was, they were champions of the Roman grain Dole, which gave free food to the poorest citizens of the city, and essentially the foundation for modern welfare systems. It was quite unique at the time too, and wouldn't be replicated until the modern era. 5394 And I'm pretty sure the US gonna have to do the same in the next years { 5395 [removed] 5396 I hope your political differences with your mom don't interfere with your relationship. 5397 Spec's is the same way, not allowed to ask anymore 5398 Abortion is the destruction of a scientifically living being. Just because it's in the womb doesn't mean it isn't alive. I don't really care because to me the soul doesn't enter until birth, but people who are intensely pro science tend to ignore that there are little living beings in the womb. 5399 In the US, the majority are women. 5400 I am not shocked and disappointed... 5401 It absolutely does matter. Because if itâ€™s just a matter of a few hundred people or something, that is not worth crashing the entire economy and putting millions of people into poverty. Which will have long-term effects for possibly the next decade. Do you really want to have another great recession, after weâ€™re just getting over the last one finally? Because thatâ€™s what this is going to do.1/4 5402 No, what needs to be done is lockdown for 4 weeks to flatten the curve, then resume daily life with social distancing measures to clamp down further cases. This will slow the spread down, enough for hospitals to handle. 5403 This money is just a way of getting a more accurate census. People will be lining up to tell you exactly whoâ€™s in their home and needs that money. 5404 Yeah heâ€™s just pandering to the ultra left to get votes. Doubt heâ€™ll actually follow through once in office. n/nAt least thatâ€™s what I hope. If he does stop all deportations I hope the demomtors get him just like they got you Prison Mike. 5405 [removed] 5406 You're thinking way too small of scale... Singapore is half the size of LA, with 2 highways and an airport... and they still have 23 new cases today. 5407 Good because I was just making a dumb joke, ya dingus. 5408 Eh, I am hoping it's just new money. n/nWho wants to buy Thills right now anyway? 5409 Miami closed gyms. It really is the apocalypse 5410 Sorry, confused you with the person earlier in the thread. 5411 Yes. There are no "store owners" 5412 Take the pants off your head please/n/n85% of the public would still be working. Also not everyone needs a check/n/nNinja edit: omegalul, your figure includes giving money to children 5413 Jimmy Pardo will have to answer for this. 5414 [removed] 5415 It's not a franchise. 5416 My expenses for two arenâ€™t over 2k a month. Do you really know what most people make in this country? 5417 -out and about/n/nDefinitely from ND. 5418 I have better used for my time. n/nGood bye. 5419 [removed] 5420 Ah yes, the fabled trickle down argument. Like how if they are given huge tax breaks they will use it to benefit their employees and not do massive stock buybacks? If they are given bailouts it will be used for more stock buybacks and golden parachutes for executives. n/nIf you want to help the American people, put the money directly in their hands and they will spend it in the economy. It's not like the whole airline industry is going to go under and America will stop flying. 5421 Because price increases based on supply and demand are capitalizing on opportunities, but in this case, the opportunity is shortages caused by natural higher demand due to a global pandemic and inconsiderate consumers hoarding goods. n/nMany would argue that capitalizing on "this opportunity" of high demand during a global pandemic is morally wrong. Everybody is losing right now, companies and individuals. n/nLimiting purchase quantities would certainly be a more reasonable way to combat off the hoarding. 5422 Yeah. Not a good CEO 5423 Bucheit > Rural King/n/nAnd donâ€™t even mention Big R 5424 I worked there before. Terrible work environment. Fuck Menards. 5425 [removed] 5426 My wife was accidentally sent about 1K by the IRS. They told her to give it back a month later, plus interest. Giving it back I understand. But interest? You canâ€™t fight the IRS, but man was I about to try. 5427 No such people exist outside of republican fairy tales. Nobody wants rapists and drunk drivers to be kept here. What some of us want is an easier path to citizenship so these people can pay taxes and contribute legally to America. Canâ€™t say some dumb shit like â€œEurope for Europeansâ€™ because America has literally always been welcoming to immigrants and made stronger because of them. 5428 I can attest to this. Been working in that hell for 4 years, dealing with daily pain and shitty treatment from management. 5429 It is theirs. 5430 The combined wealth of all billionaires in the U.S. is 9.1 trillion. If you divided this wealth evenly up between all 330 million Americans, everyone would only get about $27,000. n/nThis assumes that all the wealth is available in cash, which it's not. Or that taking all that wealth out of banks and the market, where it currently is, wouldn't tank the economy even more altogether. 5431 I was just gonna say. I had the misfortune of meeting him one of the rare times I've stopped in Eau Claire travelling to and from Wausau. Nothing about this story surprises me. 5432 I worked for a couple of years as a DBA for them in corporate. Every so often I was told there was an initiative to get rebates moved to online processing, but John himself personally refuses to do that. He believes that doing that would mean "gasp" more rebates would be processed and actually used. n/nA lot of modernization initiatives get straight shut down by that control freak. 5433 > I'm not saying Menards is valid. n/nOK good then we're in agreement. n/n-However, you've got to be kidding if all the variables that impact wholesale right now aren't significantly higher. n/nI'm not suggesting that, but that scenario being accurate doesn't change the law. Profit margins might take a hit but business continuity dictates the path forward. The exceptions are there to ensure that undue burden isn't placed on any given pressure point in a supply chain, not so fucktard CEOs and citizens can profiteer off of a global pandemic. 5434 She was 55, and itâ€™s her mother and siblings in crit. I wish we had more info about these people and their circumstances. Might keep a close watch on this because thatâ€™s scary as fuck. 5435 The MaRkEt ReGulATeS ItSElf 5436 Sitting around the pool.....chasing the muff around.. BREAK DOWN!! 5437 Turns out theres nothing more essential then millions of dollars. 5438 I can appreciate that and I didn't mean to make it seem insignificant to any one individual just that in the face of what we are about to go through it wont help most people. For many thats less than one months rent while 60+% of this bill is going to corporations that pay us starvation wages and used their special tax cut for stock buybacks all the while their CEOs get golden parachutes and multimillion dollar salaries. 5439 Closest Loweâ€™s to me is like 30mins away. Closest Home Depot is 15. Went to Home Depot to get that washer/dryer and after 15 mins of standby around, went and asked for help, 10 more mins decided to leave. Went up to their service desk and told them they just lost my business and i was going to Loweâ€™s. Ended up spending $3600 at Loweâ€™s. If we get this stimulus package lâ€™m going to go to Loweâ€™s and get a new stove and dishwasher. Lol 5440 yeah dude, you're close to being a billionaire. Just a temporarily embarrassed one 5441 You donâ€™t need guns to start a riot, you only need hungry people. 5442 Read this story and you'll never shop there again/n/nhttps://www.milwaukeejournal.com/bignmoney-john-menard/ 5443 [removed] 5444 You are being alarmist. They started testing the vaccine TODAY. Approval and production will be super-rushed and it will be out in a few months. 5445 I wonder how addresses will be determined. I've moved multiple times over the last couple years. My ID sure doesn't have my most current address. Maybe tax returns? But I don't think everyone has filed yet. 5446 So youâ€™re actually a child... FFS stop commenting on things you know nothing about. 5447 I'm not advocating shitty behavior, but how is it illegal to raise prices? If prices are based on demand, and manufacturers "suggest" a retail price, how is it illegal (albeit unethical)? 5448 They donâ€™t teach clapbacks at the Wumao Institute 5449 We have to unite and each of us accept our $1000 check 5450 [removed] 5451 So im a 19 year old college student who works part time. Am I eligible to receive one of these or no? 5452 Heâ€™s gonna make it raaaaaiiin 5453 Hmm. I'll keep that in mind with the brand new build we just had in our city. 5454 I dint realize that insulin type 1 needs so many different kinds, slow and fast acting, or some of the other ones. Also theres currently 3 pharmaceuticals that make insulin, surprisingly no generics that are not sold by other companies, because these companies have stranglehold on the patents: 3 companies that are the sole manufacturer of insulin, Eli Lilly, Novo Nordisk and Sanofi. heres a good link/[https://www.t1international.com/blog/2019/01/20/why-insulin-so-expensive/] why there are only 3. Apparently they sue and pay for companies not to enter the market. 5455 [removed] 5456 I worked at one. n/nRampant GM/AGM/Manager fucking employees. n/nNot like figuratively. Actually sleeping with em whilst having wives and kids and shit. n/nAlso super cliquey. n/nI was always drunk so I never cared. 5457 I always see those giant blow up rats outside of menards. It all comes together 5458 that's what I was told too! I did teladoc, and I was told it was upper respiratory virus. But I think I actually had it. 5459 I think the assumption is that you likely have savings and aren't in dire need of aid. 5460 Good to go, then. I want to save the money since I have no outstanding bills but I want to be a 'good citizen' and spend it to support my beliefs in UBI. 5461 I noticed after year 2 that most their "firing" happened just before the dead lines for the profit share program. I ended up being a victim of it myself because I had this foolish idea of defending my people in my department. 5462 Ok, you live on fantasy island. So, you are denying that there was a 55 year old man that lived in Hubei who had the virus? You deny that they put 266 people on medical surveillance during a similar period of time? Itâ€™s cool everything is a â€œcoguessâ€™ to you. I â€œcoguessâ€™ China doesnâ€™t hide anything from the rest of world. I â€œcoguessâ€™ they donâ€™t have a track record of hiding and suppressing information. At some point you might want to you use that common sense a bit yourself. The fact that you think that they told the WHO two weeks after finding out that it is seriously naive. It was definitely more than that. November is not even patient zero. 5463 One, thousand dollar hooker bot. Or one thousand, one dollar hooker bots???? 5464 Taking bets on how this will be spun as totally not Socialism/n/nAnd I know ya'll are about to come into some money so I expect to see some high rollers in here. 5465 Actually you could contain it, if containment measures were taken immediately in January like Singapore did. The US didn't do wide testing until now which is already too late. 5466 Thank god he's not a really dangerous criminal like a pot head or a shoplifter or he'd have gotten serious time. 5467 No they arenâ€™t they request people who make sub 30k to not file as it just bogs the system. Also what about students 21+ and adults on disability, screw them? 5468 I bet a lot of states follow suit later this week. I would even expect a federally mandated shut down. I feel like Friday is going to be a big announcements day. n/nI truly think theyâ€™re gonna let people get paid one last time while businesses cling to the hope that this isnâ€™t happening, hopefully iron out some sort of stimulus package (which helps in the immediate but not long term), and try to tell everyone â€œyou just got paid and got extra money! Itâ€™s fine guys!â€™ Until itâ€™s not fine. Because it never has been. 5469 I heard they released some 85K prisoners. Probably yo appease people . And it's isn't like the Govt there couldn't just imprison them on other false charges. Iran is very good at using hostages to blackmail people. 5470 Trump.. LOL. Trump should get the least credit for making this happen. YOU should be thanking Mitt Romney for this one guy. But YEAH. TRUMP IS THE GREATEST EVER!!!! 5471 er, in the article it states the COVID-19 test was announced March 3? 5472 *crises in permanent resident" 5473 Headline: "Treasury and IRS to delay tax payment deadline by 90 days"n/nBullet point 1: "Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin said Tuesday that taxpayers can delay payment their income taxes on as much as $1 million in taxes owed for up to 90 days. n/nBullet point 2: "Ordinarily, individual income taxpayers must submit their 2019 tax returns and pay amounts owed by April 15."n/nBullet point 3: "The postponement on payments applies to federal returns. Double-check your stateâ€™s tax deadlines to see if there are any delays."n/nSentence 1: "Taxpayers will get a three-month reprieve to pay the income taxes they owe for 2019, Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin said on Tuesday at a news conference."n/nSentence 2: "As part of its coronavirus response, the federal government will give filers 90 days to pay income taxes due on up to $1 million in tax owed"n/nNowhere, anywhere is there any mention of filing extensions. n/nPerhaps that will come down the road, nobody knows for sure. But for the moment, you still must file by the usual April 15 deadline. 5474 No, but itâ€™s treated as such. Tell that to health insurance that wonâ€™t take someone over the age of 26 to be under someone elseâ€™s policy. 5475 No, there are some camels that I daresay are practically worthless. People give donkeys a hard time about being asses, but they're nothing next to a camel. The reason they can thrive in the desert is because they're the meanest, foulest, most omery animals to ever walk the earth. 5476 Bush did it twice. They sent out larger tax rebates in 2001 to try to prevent a recession and in 2008 sent out stimulus checks. Neither were successful. 5477 wait, so... if i make below poverty level bracket or whatever, i might actually have a refund waiting on me?n/nwhat would be the best way to approach the situation? just call them or sould i hire a cpa or go to hr block? 5478 Right but if you've had taxes taken out of your paycheck you probably want that money back 5479 >And raising prices of goods prevents hoarding. n/nmy data to back this up? 5480 One of the more frustrating things is seeing all of the athletes and celebrities announcing their results. Many of them are asymptomatic and still have access to testing, meanwhile thousands of ordinary people who are symptomatic are turned away because of a shortage in tests. My girlfriend has some symptoms but lacks a fever so she was turned away. If she were tested and was found to have COVID, she could get unlimited sick leave because it's a pandemic. But since she can't get tested she has the choice to use her PTO or work through it. Thankfully she can work from home, so that's what she's been doing. I'm sure there are many like her who can't work from home and are out there potentially spreading the disease because they can't get tested. n/nJust a personal frustration to share. 5481 We're already prepped for it. 5482 It's a beautiful time to be a responsible family planner 5483 Being tested negative for the virus only means you don't have it at that moment. It means nothing for the next day. n/nOnly sending home those currently sick would require testing of every person, multiple times, long before symptoms show. 5484 Yes but 1000$ isn't going to solve this and anyone who thinks 1000$ is enough is wishful thinking. Total up your expenses for a month now do it for two. That's where this is going to end up. 5485 lâ€™m raising prices on muh nards 5486 It just doesnâ€™t work that way. Businesses get bills and bill daily. Even with a small business there hardly a single day we donâ€™t pay bills. 5487 You can order from Street Stores Hardware online and still support NASCAR. It is owned by Tony Mrakovich's family. Their store is about 3 miles from where I live and if you go into the store, you will likely find Tony doing just about any job. Note, not sure what his plans are for racing this year. Saw the truck he had is for sale. 5488 All hands on deck 5489 "I did not have sexual relations with that woman"n/nWait a sec... 5490 $2000 in a one time payment is not the fucking Yang bandwagon Jesus Christ. Bush did the same thing to a lower amount before Yang was even talking about it. n/nIf they say they will pay x amount per month, guaranteed, over x months, then we are getting into Yang territory. 5491 Im gonna buy like 3 avocado toasts with my $1,000 5492 It's not yet documented either way. There's no mention of it on .irs.gov or treasury.gov. Until it is, everyone should assume they must file and pay taxes by April 15, despite news articles and press conferences (neither of which are binding). 5493 > The moderate left does not support this bullshit. n/nBiden has publicly stated he wants to stop all deportations. He is as "moderate" as it gets. 5494 Get yourself some cult deprogramming therapy... FFS... Dear leader fucked this thing from the jump. But youâ€™re far too indoctrinated to acknowledge facts. 5495 lâ€™d say a hoard of people standing outside in a panic is not the companyâ€™s will. Unless it Boxing Day or Black Friday. Those two holidays have nothing on whatâ€™s happened in the last week. 5496 Youâ€™re not wrong, but Arizona does have advantages. Itâ€™s a giant sprawling city. Most people can walk around their neighborhood all day long and never come within 50 feet of another person. n/nAnd itâ€™s warm. Granted, the jury is still out on that, but of warmth hinders the virus at all, the effects will be felt early and strongly in Phoenix. 5497 Meanwhile I was able to go into a Hardeeâ€™s outside of St Louis today to use the can. Had half a dozen customers inside. 5498 Previous ones went to everyone that had filed a tax return the year before. 5499 I wonder how long it will take Democrats to say, "They, the illegals need a check too"? 5500 In Japan. Heart surgeon. Number one. 5501 How about an "Apocalypse Now" style helicopter fly-over (minus the explosions and gunfire), with "Imagine" blaring on the loud speakers. 5502 Yeah, it's weird too because by the time Castro really did die I feel like no one cared anymore since Raul had already taken power. 5503 They posted about this last week. Some American news lady tweeted it and deleted it almost immediately. 5504 I'm starting to get the feeling God Emperors are not as great as we were led to believe 5505 He has chosen his successor! It's Dennis Rodman! 5506 If electing Boris Fucking Johnson is democracy at it's finest then I don't want to live on this planet anymore. 5507 In North Korea, heart surgeon. Number one. Steady hand. One day, fearless leader need new heart. I do operation. But mistake! Fearless leader die! Military very mad! I hide fishing boat, come to America. No English, no food, no money. Darryl give me job. Now I have house, American car and new woman. Darryl save life. My big secret. I kill fearless leader on purpose. I good surgeon. The best! 5508 Problem he has is even if the people in power good and well know it's not on purpose he may be blamed for it. To cover up an assassination if that is what it was, or to provide an explanation to end the matter if it really was just unlucky, or to preserve his image because how could something so stupid kill such a man (because it would hurt next great leaders image too). Whatever the reason there is incentive to not have the lower levels of power in NK think it was a power grab by someone higher.... also maybe he had relatives in a concentration camp that somehow the NK intelligence service didn't know about, and he killed that bastard. 5509 99% of the time can't usually means won't. 5510 Right, because I'm sure the confederates would have treated Native Americans much better if they would have won the war, it's not like the confederates wanted to continue the institution of slavery or anything. 5511 The only way for him to be associated with anything vegetal. 5512 Username correlates 5513 No problem with the guy who can be bought if you're the guy willing to pay 5514 They gonna start sacrificing 1000 people per day... 5515 Were they silent? I distinctly remember them firing off missiles every week last month. It all kind of blends together 5516 I would think the issue aside from it being co-opted by the racists is why would you allow someone to fly the battle flag for an army that killed US marines/soldiers? We did go to war with the Confederacy, why fly their flag? It would be the same as flying Al Qaeda's flag or the Nazi flag 5517 Is this the Kim with nitrous and Un-derglow? 5518 I don't pretty sure there was another time he showed back up after a couple family members died and he secured power. Overall I agree that something is wrong, but who j ows what. One thing we can all agree on is that we're thankful Trump is hoping he gets better. 5519 Oh God, imagine being this stupid. 5520 That's gonna go over real well 5521 You will see. They will show videos with Kim sitting on the beach, drinking cocktails, dancing, etc while wearing big sunglasses. n/And if you look closely you will see nylon threads connected to his arms and legs. 5522 Boutta follow Kim on his Golden Path 5523 Now it will be trumpers eating tide pods 5524 Part of it is the 2 party system. If they want a raise to the minimum wage they usually have to vote Democrat. If they want immigration controls they usually have to vote Republican. There is not a party which is tough on immigration and will push for a high minimum wage. n/In The only way to sort of do it is to live in a blue state or city (where the republican state govt hasn't pre-empted local level minimum wage increases) to get the higher minimum wage and vote Republican at the federal level. However, states can take various sanctuary state policies to minimize co-operation with federal immigration authorities. n/In western Europe, Japan, AUS you may have conservative govts which still raise the minimum wage a little periodically. In AUS it is actually quite high and the govt bargains on behalf of each sector. In western european multiparty systems there may be parties that are left wing, supporting minimum wage increases but also tough on immigration. Some left wing parties had to get tough on immigration in order to get back in power. n/In As long as that 2 party duopoly exists in the US there isn't likely to be any drastic change in immigration policy. Even Republicans at the federal level love to use it as a wedge issue but tend to tinker at the edges. At the state level there's been red states that passed policies that got rid of illegals from the state. They mostly all rescinded or walked the policies back due to the economic damage from it. It seems there can only be extremes and never any moderate ground in the issue. 5525 The South Koreans looked at the cost of reunification for Germany (about $2 trillion), aware they'd be an even greater level of complexity and cost for them and they've more or less said no thanks for now. 5526 Scarlett Johansson is it then! 5527 6 feet Kim Jong Under 5528 Looks like he's Kim Jong-Il. 5529 Kim Jong Un-matched 5530 Rainbows existed before the LGBTQ equality movement and will exist after. That particular flag does not represent some natural phenomena. It is a human made pattern devised to fly over an army fighting for slavery and resurrected to oppose desegregation. 5531 Will there be a 21 nuclear missile salute? 5532 What do you mean I can't dance? I can dance! What about Uncle Louie's polka party? Didn't you see me dancing at Uncle Louie's polka party? 5533except Trump's 5534 Practice. If you eat like crazy everyday, your stomach adapts. 5535 [removed] 5536 I mean I know Trump is fond of him but do you really think he'd let Kim Jong-Un just hang out on his toilet for the rest of eternity? 5537 He was a true hero. 5538 If it's him then I would take it with a massive grain of salt. He's basically a glorified North Korea fanboy. 5539 Maybe he got injected with Tremendous Light Inside the Body? Or somebody put disinfectant into his lungs? 5540 Also it's not like virus particles in a park bench. The virus isn't just idly sitting on the lungs. It's inside your cells. 5541 That's what I'm thinking. I mean this is North Korea we are talking about how good could their surgeons be. I'm sure training has been lacking since the 50s. 5542 [removed] 5543 >Japanese weekly magazine Shukan Gendai n/Isn't this is a gossip magazine? n/ I don't think I can trust this one. 5544 TBF John Morgan's raid was probably the last time anything exciting happened in Indiana. 5545 People helping other people more efficiently then their government. n/ This guy: a/cWHAT A SHAME n/ I love how people like you expect so much from the feds but hate Trump (as do I). This should be a lesson! 5546 No, he was poisoned by his enemies 5547 You have all the lingo of a trump supporter down. Maybe you're just a self-hating trump supporter? 5548 One step closer to the snug in/out dictatorship. 5549 Boy, his buddy Trump must be so upset 5550 The Healthcare technology employs proprietary methods of administering intermittent ultraviolet (UV) A light via a novel endotracheal medical device. Pre-clinical findings indicate the technology's significant impact on eradicating a wide range of viruses and bacteria, inclusive of coronavirus. The data have been the basis of discussions with the FDA for a near-term path to enable human use for the potential treatment of coronavirus in intubated patients in the intensive care unit (ICU). 5551 [removed] 5552 Oh no, not Trump's BFF 5553 The President suggested it. And the previous Republican president affirmed that "truth" is what feels right! This feels "true," and it's a lot more reassuring than the thought that diseases are complex and communicable and very, very contagious with no cure in sight, so I'm gonna stick to my guns on this one, and put my faith in my gut. 5554 Go away Failladdon 5555 I don't come to reddit to a/cread, only to comment... 5556 Can we keep going with Kim Jongil's terminal? 5557 >By REUTERS, IDAN ZONSHINE n/Yet when I go to Reuters there is nothing this serious? n/https://www.reuters.com/article/us-northkorea-politics-exclusive/exclusive-china-sent-team-including-medical-experts-to-advise-on-north-koreas-kim-idUSKCN2263DW is there lead article on it. 5558 ITT: Americans swimming in irony after attributing Kim Jong Un to this state because he's overweight, all the while most likely overweight themselves. 5559 I hate to point this out as someone with a lifetime membership in the NRA, but the NRA did not stand up for black communities in LA to own firearms in the 80s-90s. In fact, they supported California's bans on certain firearms that were widely available in those communities. For some reason the NRA felt more strongly about distancing themselves from the Black Panthers than it did about protecting the rights of Californians. I really wish that hadn't happened, but that's the truth. I was really upset when I read up on it. n/As far as I'm concerned, the Californian government of the 80s-90s was either wholly racist or completely incompetent with their heavy-handed approach to suppressing the LA riots and there are still lasting consequences. 5560 He's alive. n/https://www.aljazeera.com/news/2019/12/14-months-stroke-gabon-bongo-opens-regional-summit-191218163416208.html 5561 Pre-meme meme 5562 But he's alive now for sure, yeah? n/https://www.aljazeera.com/news/2019/08/gabon-ali-bongo-live-public-appearance-stroke-190816173931861.html 5563 Flashbacks to the Power Puff Girls broccoli episode. Fucking terrifying. 5564 IQ over 100, I suppose. 5565 Oh God no 5566 Whoops! n/Whoopsie! 5567 What happens to South Korea if he dies? 5568 I would choose the surgeon who knows I'm protecting them and their family. This isn't a friendly arrangement, it's one of mutual benefit, they'd be fully aware their family is also threatened by me. If anything were to happen to me, they die. Gotta have contingencies in place. Set up the situation so they know if I'm replaced, they're no longer safe. Make it so if they're approached to both the surgery, they come to me and continue the mutually beneficial relationship. n/Obviously it's not a perfect system, but the best bet is to try and have a committed doctor instead of immediately disposing the asset you just used. Dictatorships only work if the people under you will follow you. Create the situation where obeying and following you is their best interest. 5569 Nah, if you ask him, it's a feature, not a bug. 5570 Yeah and I don't mean to diminish the seriousness or anything, it's just that a lot of comments read like they watch a lot of movies, where killing someone is the only option when something goes wrong 5571 Haha they had 4.8 BILLION dollars in profit last year. What kind of crack are you smoking? n/And for the record, they can absolutely go out of business. Fuck them. 5572 Oh shit, when do the crusades start? 5573 Nearly this exact verbiage is used at one point in the sci fi series I just finished reading. The Expanse! 5574 Three Eyed Rav-Un 5575 If Russia were to go in I imagine that at least some Europe's hand would eventually be forced in some way. n/ I'd rather just avoid WW3 altogether though personally. 5576 Exporting our racism, sorry world. 5577 We just sit there getting fat, gorging away on more than our fair share of food and resources, while other Americans go to bed hungry, and other people around the world starve. n/ Sure we don't order hits on families, but yeah, we're kinda shitty too. 5578 Didn't realize how much of a fucking curse that is 5579 a/cBotehda implies that the doctors made a mistake. It's perfectly possible for a surgery to go exactly as intended, yet still have a bad outcome for the patient. 5580 Hard to believe he just did not have Covid 5581 Gone? He never was to begin with. 5582 Kim Jong Un-der 5583 inserts Japanese Surgeon joke 5584 Nah, foreign media will report that they fed the surgeon alive to starving dogs and executed his family with artillery. n/Then he'll show up next to Jong Un at a ceremony, looking gaunt, and his family will all turn out to be fine. 5585 Don't you remember Uncle Louie's Polka Party? 5586 You are correct. But he has had ill health in the past. The worry here is that even if he is temporarily incapacitated, who is controlling his nukes? 5587 This is just too coincidental in light of the recent articles about strokes and heart attacks in younger coronavirus victims. Kim is the right age and has the right physique. 5588 [removed] 5589 I got this bridge I think you would just love 5590 Wow what a funny. Never heard this one before 5591 Just the tip! 5592 He already looked like a potato, so I guess he's gone Full Spud. 5593 The US and South Korea literally conduct YEARLY some of the most massive scale military training drills in the world that "antagonizes" the DPRK a hell of a lot more then wrongly leaked reports about what fatys state of health may or may not be. I'm sure if they were concerned about antagonizing them they'd completely end those drills and do about a thousand other things first like maybe request the US removes the 25k troops stationed in south Korea. Then, somewhere waayy down the line they might be like "You know im kinda of concerned about north koreas hurt feelings over rumors..." n/But if it makes you feel better, you can keep arguing your obviously idiotic point. 5594 [removed] 5595 Kim Jong Un-derreddesd 5596 Western readers will believe and upvote any drama about North Korea 5597 [removed] 5598 "God Emperor Kim Jong Un has become dust, and now directs affairs of state from a higher plane of existence." 5599 Thank you! 5600 Why isn't this bigger news on media? n/ Six government officials were recently charged with embezzling $15 million in hurricane reconstruction money, AFP also reported. 5601 a/cThe only people surprised by this are white people. n/ I'm gonna go ahead and infer your racism right now. 5602 In Alabama, the guards at county jails usually work for the sheriff's department. I'm down in Escambia County, right on the Florida line, and that's how it is here 5603 People in jail will check your paperwork. They absolutely will find out why you're there. 5604 That's fucked up. When I was in school, I found a nurse hospital ID on the ground by the gym and kept it because it was cool. It was a teacher's daughter that dropped it, so they sorta made an announcement a week later asking about it and I brought it up to the office that day. The teacher said they were taking me to court, etc, but I told them the truth and said "Yo I found it and kept it because it was cool, I didn't know it was such a big deal." So the principal told her to calm the fuck down and I apologized to the woman's daughter and we were all good. 5605 Well that is embarrassing, but a scrimmage, I cannot imagine if the team played a real game they would lose. 5606 Learning is about bettering yourself by increasing your knowledge in a subject to increase your chances of being successful in life. n/In The Olympics are literally about competition. 5607 Why is there a 'shortage' of black doctors? Why does it matter what race a Dr is? 5608 > If the homeowner had shot the deputy when he shone his flashlight into the home what happens then? Not a forced entry but... n/Just find a comfy place and wait for whoever it is to enter or identify, have good cover and aim right at the door. 5609 As long as he doesn't forget and change my plugs while I'm in for a hernia - we should be okay. 5610 When I was in third year med school I was with a group of the others and said "you know, the only reason I'm still doing this is because I'm too much in debt now." 5611 My assumption of who you were was far from correct, apparently. My apologies. 5612 I think they meant that the attendants didn't say they were pressing charges. If they don't press charges they can't do anything I'm guessing. 5613 I wouldn't be surprised to hear about someone spreading hiv or aids around getting their faced caved in by a victim though. 5614 It's not their fault. That's been an education issue in the US for decades. 5615 In this case, California has literally decided that feelings are more important than public health. 5616 This is good news. Anything to lessen the effects of this barbaric and oppressive "religion" 5617 A study one of my professors showed me on interactions between black patients and black doctors shows astonishingly high positive outcomes over negative outcomes with black patients and differing race. n/No comment on your personal perspective, just wanted to add something cool I read about! 5618 My Dr knows about the canada pharmacy and is fine with it. n/But my Dr also knows I give no shits about whether they're fine with it. 5619 Yeah I'm all for helping out the USA, but we are 10% of your population size and our medication is way cheaper, we can't really take this on easily to say the least. n/ I mean there are things the USA can do to fix things, allow government bargaining of prices, etc. Of course Trump will ruin our Canadian health care system with this and then say social medicine doesn't work. 5620 Video actually says the guy lived and is recovering in this case. 5621 "Hate" was probably too strong of a word in that specific instance. "Is skeptical of" would probably have been more accurate. n/Probably also highly depends on your location. I know that around where I live, I've never personally met someone who actively supports police that aren't their relative. At best, someone will just "avoid them at all costs", but the general consensus seems to be "fuck em". I'm sure the responses would be different in a more rural area. 5622 I think this might have to do with their first hand personal experience. I mean you can describe what it feels like to go through your cycle or where you feel abnormal pain, but male doctors DON'T know personally what it feels like to go through a cycle. n/ I'm not defending doctors who are quick to excuse possible illnesses or conditions as "oh it's just you. Dont worry." But I think personal experience might matter here. 5623 Look at the political situation in PR... I would be surprised if this wasn't the result of corruption. 5624 Go fuck yourself. 5625 Trump was right, again. 5626 Average GPA and MCAT go up every year. 5627 Oh just fuck off and die you racist-defending, oligarch-loving, piece of shit. 5628 If I were an athlete or a model, yes? 5629 what's he going to be like if he passes his test. 5630 I hear this as an opinion, but never with anything to verify. One of my friends thinks Hillary cut deals with other candidates to convince them to drop out of the race, so we saw fewer choices than we should have. Any truth to that? 5631 Is there some significance related with China and Taiwan in the regard? 5632 She was cited four times, so basically she was repeatedly warned not to. n/When I stated that feral cats can destroy a local ecosystem, it's because they hunt and eat everything. Those cats would not starve to death. 5633 > What is wrong with our society? n/Damn near everything 5634 It comes down to you having time and resources 5635 [removed] 5636 [removed] 5637 There's always been a pretty restricted number of med school spots. Where I am is because they're partly tax funded, but I'm not sure about the US 5638 Your true colors are showing - there is no need to be so vulgar. Reported. 5639 For Canada yes. 5640 And the international market don't watch Men's World Cup for the US team. They do watch Women's World Cup to see the US Team. n/ I don't think there is more hated or despised team in international sport than the US Women Soccer Team. n/They are universally considered classless, sucker punchers and whiners. From the bullshit antics against Canada a few years back to the utter disrespect this year running up the score against an also ran team. n/There is huge money in being the worlds most despised team. 5641 well the answer to your question has to involve the fact that big pharma is very much integrated into the law-making mechanism of your country. n/Just because it's legal now, doesn't mean it will be legal later once their profits are affected. 5642 Oh brother... raider if our government ever tried to suppress us. Please save me. 5643 Was MBS her ex boyfriend? 5644 [removed] 5645 That's what grades are for. You don't need to have rankings and competition on top of that. 5646 I've heard way stupider headlines. Take this gem from a New York Times Opinion Piece "Can My Children Be Friends With White People?" 5647 I've definitely seen one of his videos before. n/ I literally canceled Netflix this year because between Hulu and YouTube I don't actually watch it. 5648 The only thing I am commenting on is your ability to make a point.... 5649 Prove me wrong rather than writing a two word useless response. 5650 They were camping 9,000 feet up in the mountains. Bobcats aren't commonly found in desert areas as they prefer to live in the woods. 5651 [Here] (https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/2016_Arizona_Democratic_primary), for both points, 5652 As a Dutchman, I read a lot of news where Russia seems like a corrupt shit hole. I wonder, do Russians portray western Europe and the US as untrustworthy, corrupt and the spawn of fake news? 5653 Why even lie about something that would obviously be proven wrong with his bodycam? I bet his defense will be he truly believed the door opened but must have made a mistake, and he won't face any repercussions. 5654 > And dude was old as hell for having a learner's permit, me and everyone I knew growing up for them on our 15th birthday. n/ Same. People don't grow up as fast as they used to. 5655 Tbh I know more than a few minorities who'd go to the gallows claiming Trump isn't racist and neither are Republicans. It's baffling. Like how could you turn on your own people for a party that had to be dragged kicking and screaming into women's rights and civil rights? n/ I'll tell you who and how, it's insane Christian's who only give a shit about abortion, and are willing to compromise their own claimed morals and ethics to achieve it. That's fucked up to me: would "Jesus" have been a republican? Hell no he wouldn't (not that I think that shit is even real). 5656 Hey at least your username checks out. You truly are a Biff. 5657 If I'm being honest I found it easier to stomach than the smell of a gutted deer but that probably has all to do with the fact that I'm doing the gutting and all up in those guts. I hate gutting deer 5658 If you call people "kid," you've already lost the point. n/ This is why you will keep failing. 5659 Isn't that what grades are? 5660 [removed] 5661 How does he make money when he is replaced by AI and robotics when every task is done by AI and robotics? There isn't any job that we can create that AI and robotics won't be able to do better than us once general AI is created. 5662 Money to Canadian companies, cheaper drugs for Americans. This is a win win 5663 She has been on it a long time and has had no problems. n/ She takes it for a point reason. Used to chuck up every morning right after breakfast which made it hard for her to take morning medications that require you take them with food. n/ I have never looked up what state that drug is in. I always figured it hadn't been rejected or the doctor wouldn't prescribe it, so probably just hadn't gone through the approval process. 5664 He's gonna go into Ortho for sure. 5665 That's a lot of Rupees from the tooth fairy 5666 No that was the KKK 5667 Price caps greatly distort the supply and demand curve. They never work as intended. If you couple it with lower the cost burden of coming out with new drugs, maybe. But I doubt that would ever happen. 5668 My cynical guess: there will only be a handful of middlemen permitted to do the importing. They'll make it so that the drugs cost slightly less than they do now but enough to net them a nice profit. And odds are those middlemen will all coincidentally have some connection to Trump or a member of his administration. 5669 Empathy. As a dude I don't get them amazing cramps and period shits so why the hell should I care?/s/n/nDoctors shouldn't let emotion get in the way but humans are very cultish in our beliefs. I guess it helped us survive in cave-man eras when banding together to fight anything different than us was effective. But man does it do a number on progress. 5670 > Most issues that arise in school playgrounds do not have to involve criminal charges, this shit is ridiculous./m/yeah, so obviously this was not some normal playground horseplay if they're bringing criminal charges! he must have been trying to hurt the other kid very badly 5671 You said "(estrogen in males)" like it was surprising. 5672 Don't worry, the Clintons will get him eventually 5673 Yes, in the US it is only racist if it's a white person. White people oppressed black people into slavery and implemented Jim Crow laws. Racism requires a position of power and advantage, which white people have systematically held over black people in the US since it's inception./n/You're thinking of prejudice. Everyone can be prejudiced towards another group, but it's only racism if there is a power imbalance. 5674 Malaysian students already learn Malay (which uses the Latin script) and English in school. Not sure if all students have to learn Arabic script, my Muslim friends learned Jawi which I did not. 5675 That doesn't count for anyone under the age of 16. 5676 [removed] 5677 The problem with this talking point is that out of all the new drugs produced between I want to say 2012 and 2016 all of them were developed with government funding. They gouge the prices to make insane profits. Of course there will be operating costs and businesses exist to make a profit, but doing so at the expense of human lives just to generate even greater wealth is immoral and should be illegal. 5678 Sorry, this is a race thing now, can't really take this back anymore. 5679 I doubt it is really allowed. I bought some pills that I had a prescription for in Germany for pennies on the dollar and told my doctor and she said she did not hear that. That is not legal. 5680 I called the two shelters in my county (Humane Society and Animal Rescue League) and both said I have to trap them myself and bring them in. I don't really want to go through the hassle of purchasing a trap, and then transporting a flea ridden cat in my car. 5681 That is the fault of the patient, not the medical system. 5682 why not just address shortage of Doctors?? 5683 I just don't understand people that do this, is it just out of spite or something? 5684 My personal theory is that Mr. Epstein was coached by his lawyers on how to injure himself. This is a ploy to get bail so he can escape on a private jet. 5685 [removed] 5686 I think you mean pharmaceutical companies. Insurance companies love mail order and getting medications for as cheap as possible since they are generally picking up the bulk of the tab on it, depending on your plan. 5687 We may also need an amendment to prohibit the government from creating law or regulations which protect or give advantage to "classes" of people. I'm thinking specifically of laws which prescribe special punishment for crimes committed against police, or other government agents, as well as so-called "hate crimes"./n/The law must apply equally to all, without prejudice or favor, else it ceases to be just. 5688 Yup! See, that's what I suspected. It's a tough decision, but all she is doing is causing more of the suffering of those cats for herself to feel better. It isn't her fault it started, but it's a tough choice either way. 5689 Not as much 5690 undocumented students are illegal immigrants. Just because someone wants to create a new PC term does not make it anything that's different. If you do not have the proper documents to live in this country, your presence is unlawful and thus the adjective "illegal" is an accurate statement. /n/​/n/But you're deflecting and playing games with words and completely ignoring the fact that I know what the fuck I'm talking about and you have no legitimate reply because... you have no idea what you're discussing. /n/​/n/Then you turn to insults, because you can't even stick to the actual issue, because you don't understand it or you don't like it so you try to change the subject. It's frankly sad to see such stupidity 5691 I'd be willing to pay more for canned water than bottled water. /n/But I also rarely buy bottled water, so I guess I'm the wrong person to ask 5692 I usually get brigaded on this issue as a leftist gun owner as it seems there are not many of my ilk willing to take the blowback from the pro-NRA crowd. This thread cost me over a hundred downvotes but if you are principled you learn to take the heat. /n/I still believe compromise is essential and have yet to hear productive suggestions from the right about how to address the gun violence crisis. Many suggest even more weapons in the public sphere but I can't agree with that scenario. /n/Doing nothing meaningful is becoming increasingly untenable and I want to avoid an over reaction that will become more probable if we all continue to point accusatory fingers at each other. /n/As with most other controversial topics it turns into a mudslinging contest and meaningful discourse becomes impossible. That is the problem with online social media. Individuals will behave entirely differently than if you were engaged at a bar counter or kitchen table. /n/So I'll take my lumps and lick my wounds until the next go round. Lol 5693 Inno it's the same thing. Just because people create a new PC term for it, it's still the same thing. Illegal is an adjective and it accurately explains the type of immigrant that is living here unlawfully, thus illegally. Undocumented means you forgot to document something but it does not mean illegal, thus illegal immigrant is the correct term to describe the situation we're describing 5694 You must sleep like a baby now, you were right. Want a cookie? 5695 Sure I do. /n/That proxy wars are an indirect conflict between two nuclear powers as opposed to a direct one is the point here. 5696 Yea, about like a dead animal but all of it, maybe a hint of sour sugar with it. Imagine corpse and cat piss but the cat was trapped with him and survived. He was skinny when I got him, fat as fuck a month later. Out of cat food? He would eat dog food. Had to rip out all carpet, the drop ceiling tile held smell, all furniture. I ran my truck into the ground hauling and have never had so many no fires. My buddies would comment about the corpse smell getting before the fires. Especially that carpet 5697 [removed] 5698 It's not a constitutional requirement to be president though. This is only for the primaries, but even still 5699 [removed] 5700 [deleted] 5701 I like how you have to keep making assumptions about me, what I have, and what I've done in order to continue justifying your outrage and dismissal of the basic fact that Democrats are going through courts to put gun control in place while Republicans are quite literally sabotaging the USPS and doing so to influence the election like Trump said. /n/You're a putz. /n/PS: You should check out who is quoted on one of the top posts over at /r/Libertarian from about two years ago./n/But please keep telling me what I do and don't believe in like a fucking clod. 5702 ​/n/aceI am suspending these initiatives until after the election is concluded.​/n/What initiatives?? Is there a document outlining "these initiatives"? Since the USPS is overseen by Congress, who approved it? 5703 [removed] 5704 Its all good, him and the my pillow guy have a cure! 5705 Yup. It's never about CAPITALISM Versus Communism. /n/It's all about Tribalism Vs Socialism. 5706 I gotta tell you, I kinda get the urge to jump off a tall building when I see someone reply with "ding ding" or "ding ding ding" or any other variation of that in one of these political threads. Especially if it's something I agree with. It's like the epitome of smarmy. Just awful. But I hope you have a good day. 5707 My district and most districts aren't just ignoring options like this. They are aware that they just aren't realistic. To say that administration is doing nothing because they aren't wasting their time on something that can't be safely implemented (or implemented at all) is silly. /n/You can't throw an idea out there and say districts aren't doing their jobs when they don't use that idea for good reason. If this is so amazing why aren't you answering very valid concerns instead of saying it's the districts' job? If it's the districts' job to determine if it will or won't work and they have passed on it how are we ​/n/doing our job​/n/like you mentioned in your first comment? /n/Most of the US isn't a temperate 70 degrees all year round. Many schools in the US schools aren't on grounds that have any or enough green space for this. So as you say in your first comment ​/n/aren't we aren't working on this we aren't doing our jobs​/n/are districts outside of the ideal supposed to make this work? 5708 His dreams 5709 Saw this coming when they were bought out how many ever years ago now 5710 ​/n/aceI said no power tools​/n/aceOh Ok I​/n/finished anyway​/n/5711 I mean, I heard the news in this order. /n/1. On Monday, Trump announces a ​/n/for pardon​/n/for Tuesday. /n/2. Roger Stone withdraws appeal of his convictions. /n/3. Tuesday morning, Trump pardons Susan B. Anthony. /n/4. Now I have to ask: is the Curb Your Enthusiasm theme playing at Roger Stone's house? 5712 Page 12 It's ok to be wrong, just watch the confidence level when you're doing so. 5713 It looks like Iowa is getting exactly what they voted for. This is what "small government" fiscal conservatism looks like. A humanitarian crisis waiting to happen. I hope Iowans are taking note of how Trump refused to approve individual assistance from FEMA for Iowans. 5714 I simply pointed out that your evidence was at best pointless and at worst intentionally misleading. What evidence do I really need for that? You tried comparing global private spending to one US government agency. 5715 Do you have any evidence they're being removed across the board? I mean, that's the point. It looks like they're specifically targeting high density, Democratically controlled areas. /n/I feel like you and the other comment suggesting "it just looks like a population density map" are deliberately ignoring the obvious, in which case targeting dense areas was literally the point. 5716 this is not a normal NorCal heat wave, it's far muggier than we normally are. I love summertime and it's cool with our normal 100+ weather, but this past week has been a nightmare. I think a lot more people are using their air than normal just because we're not used to it being so...gross feeling lol 5717 Damn straight! Life simply cannot continue until this disease is magically non-existent 5718 The German Health Minister confirmed what the source said... 5719 I don't think I understand the point you tried to make. Can you rephrase it? 5720 Since the crusades. 5721 We're going to pause all "reforms" after already removing hundreds of sorting machines... 5722 Wanna see the ration burn to the ground? Just try stealing it deplorables. 5723 More people working from home, wanting your own space away from others... why did you expect the opposite? 5724 Do you think that crime will decrease with less funding? 5725 Not gonna happen. 5726 [removed] 5727 yup, they need to go after dealers who don't care, remington doesn't sell directly to the public. for this very reason 5728 Actually the younger daughter is the influencer. 5729 So you're comparing the removal of boxes several months AFTER an election to removal of boxes right BEFORE an election and also during a pandemic when mail-in votes will be at an all-time high? Your trolling is pathetic. 5730 They don't care about poor communities, lol. They care about controlling women's bodies because the ones that dare to have sex for purposes outside of procreation are disgusting to them. 5731 [removed] 5732 Can anyone actually show me a statistically significant movement away from normal USPS operations? AKA an increase in the removal of boxes that was not planned, or an increase in sorting machines being removed that was not planned (nor in line with reduced use of USPS services)? /n/I haven't seen anything statistically to show this yet. Not even saying things aren't happening or that there's a good cause to be concerned, I haven't seen proof that this is out of the norm. /n/​/n/Edit: Apparently asking for an evidence-based approach is stupid and not something I should do on Reddit. Lesson learned. 5733 I stumbled upon this a few weeks ago and showed it to my somewhat devout Catholic partner. I thought it was kinda funny as I'm not very religious, but he was pretty spooked after reading it. 5734 [removed] 5735 Did you read the full article? /n/The 1st Amendment issue here is that the judge banned people from making any posts about him at all, regardless of whether they are opinions, facts, etc. /n/So they could post that he is in fact a cop, and that's now unlawful. No issue with making it illegal to post facts about certain people? 5736 [removed] 5737 Actually the President admitted to being willing to sabotage the post office to hurt the Democrats in an interview on Fox News. 5738 I guess? You're using this argument to still place blame on china instead of on the people who actually made the decisions affecting us, which doesn't really make sense. Seems you're allowing yourself to ever so slightly be dragged into their game of misdirection. 5739 Because the less people votes more chance Trump has. 5740 "pause" /n/not much meat in that article... does that mean the fact that he already fucked the post office will just be left as it? /n/He already replaced the people who knew what they were doing in leadership, remove overtime, remove sorting machines, and basically already fuck everything. /n/In how is leaving all that bullshit in place going to remove any doubt of election meddling? 5741 It's just a very difficult situation and the US has not had a cohesive response, which is really sad. I feel terrible for all the younger people in the prime of their lives who are facing such frightening potential health issues as well as the volatile social and financial issues now occurring in the US. It has been a crazy year for sure. 5742 Professional lighting tech here, I'm kinda worried about my liver. /n/How am I supposed to light your shows on tour if I can't bring drink? 5743 /n/I think people are giving up, it seems hopeless at this point. It's hard for me to envision a scenario where the US gets the virus under control even to the level of the EU, that window was squandered. 5744 [deleted] 5745 It's not too hard, just show it a picture of its grandmother in a bikini. 5746 [removed] 5747 You mean "own the libs" 5748 There's a nice debunking of this USPS conspiracy theory stickied 5749 here /n/There's also one with a layover of blue and red but I can't find that one 5750 > underfunded public school system /n/If the school system is many things, underfunded is not one of them. 5751 [removed] 5752 Thank you for your courage! 5753 Has the US began rationing food yet? There's currently a global food crisis, expected to affect up to 150 million people (in addition to the 150 million or so who face severe food shortages each year). And those numbers are before China ran into a food shortage (they are currently telling people to ration food). NK has started confiscating dogs. /n/So, how far along into collapse is the US? A lot of countries have been restricting the exportation of food. Has the US done so yet? Most of the world has seen significant increases in food prices. Has food prices shot up in the US? Oh wow, according to this article from a couple days ago, food prices in the US fell. Fucking weird that would happen in a global food crisis. 5754 Oh. Ahem, sorry to misread. My bad. /n/... I am fairly certain there are a few, indeed. 5755 Lots of young people are ​/n/essential​/n/workers so they have to work... what do you expect 5756 This was the most brazen aspect how is removing automation saving any money or improving things. 5757 I​/n/see if I can find it, I saw it earlier. /n/Edit: /n/([https://www.reddit.com/r/democrats/comments/bohd7where_were_the_usps_mail_sorting_machines_removed/?utm_source=share&utm_medium=ios_app&utm_name=iosmf5758 And thanks for trying to pull me out of this god-awful funk I've been in lately. I'll check out the vid after work. /n/The Red Courtesy Phone" Airplane" reference??? 5759 Easily, given how Kemp's actions are essentially the same as someone who thinks it's all still a hoax. 5760 And when can they go out again? Never? Or should they go out and get sick and develop life long health issues because your dumb ass needs to go to the movies and continue the spread of this virus for years on end? 5761 Good job. With the reports of long term effects, you're protecting your future health. Too bad more people aren't as conscientious as you. 5762 America is a sad, sad place. 5763 Lol, no worries he's putting together a task force... sad how far your country has fallen! 5764 [removed] 5765 I, too, like to understand mental illness. 5766 I'm voting and also buying a gun. 5767 That's cool and all but I'm speaking from personal experience, I could still get high from subs with a 300mg oxy per day tolerance. 5768 In a red state. I've had delays, but at most by 2 days. However, it's been the same with UPS and FedEx, so I chalked it up to the pandemic (at the time). Definitely not 2 weeks like I'm reading today. 5769 Except "well regulated" doesn't mean what you think it means. Over time the meaning of words changes but the original meaning at the time of the constitution being written it was more akin to meaning "well armed/ready to fight" not regulated as in modern day laws regulating who can have what guns. /n/I'm actually in support of requiring safety classes and such in theory. The problem is that it can easily be another aspect of bureaucracy which can be weaponized to infringe on peoples second amendment rights, especially disenfranchised, and underrepresented people in society. The very people who most often actually need guns. /n/Personally I work from home so its no skin of my back to make some time to go down to the mandatory safety course on the weekend. But what about a single parent home where the mother works 2 jobs at odd hours to support her family. If she cant take the several days/weeks/months to take the safety course she cant own a fire arm now? What if someone is poor and cant afford the cost of the class, are they not allowed their second amendment rights now? As for my weaponized bureaucracy point. A mandatory class can easily turn into just another burdensome hoop to jump through designed to make the process as frustrating and time consuming as possible to put people off. That way the government can say "See we aren't anti gun, you can still get on. Just take this mandatory safety course while jumping through all of these other hoops." all while putting up as many barriers as possible. Furthermore how long will the course be? Will it be a basic introductory class that takes an hour? Or will it be several days or weeks long? Who is going to teach the course? /n/I remember when various states tried passing voter ID laws and many people (rightfully) had a huge conniption, because it would disproportionately affect poor people and minorities who can't go to the DMV to get ID and things like that. /n/So as I said earlier in theory I very much like the idea of a mandatory safety class for first time gun owners, but I have no faith in the powers that be to implement something like that fairly and honestly. If the courses would be excessively long, and part of a tedious bureaucratic quagmire designed to make it as difficult as possible for people. If the courses were free for people, or very cheap at the very least. And if the courses were available at a variety of times, and not a small window of time to allow people who work odd hours to take them, I would be in favour of them. /n/I'll add a little anecdote as well on the topic. I'm an immigrant to America and I am currently working on getting firearms in my home country as well. Thankfully it is a small issue country and not a may-issue one. But the regulations surrounding firearms are a perfect example of the weaponized bureaucracy I was talking about. The safety course is just one part of a stupidly long process designed to be as obtuse as possible to discourage people from owning guns. The right to guns isn't in the constitution however, so its much easier for the government to do that and no one can really bitch about it. 5770 Voting in person during a pandemic? And Trump removed and locked drop boxes and slowed down mail. Also, if you're not american you don't get a mail in ballot. 5771 How do you contact trace when most Americans don't answer a call from an unknown number? 5772 The ballots have to be received by election day in most states.... With 10s of millions of them the post office won't be able to deliver them on time if it's crippled the way Trump wanted. 5773 > Smart people work at universities /n/Smart people work everywhere. So do stupid people. 5774 So Carper is an options man... 5775 That's the dumbest fucking thing I​/n/heard today. No one does that shit anymore. 5776 I heard it as "Republicans would let Trump shit in their mouth if it meant a Democrat would have to smell their breath." 5777 I mean yes, having the extra support is important, but not having it isn't an excuse to not enforce a mask policy. There's more than enough evidence that they could do it until the government sorts itself out. 5778 [removed] 5779 The post office manages to deliver multiple advertisements from multiple companies in my mailbox every single day. Everybody else does too. Surely they can handle taking one piece of mail from every single person in the country and bringing it all to one spot. I don't understand how mail-in voting could possibly overwhelm the postal service. Heck, they already manage to deliver everyone's taxes to the IRS! 5780 Unless you have used the N-word before in a text message, autocorrect will never suggest such a word. Don't float passive aggressive apologies and blame technology for your racism. 5781 [This is the original graphic] (https://www.washingtonpost.com/resizer/bft1N1yaUI3X78XKX_2grg0LA=arc-anglerfish-washpost-prod-washpost/X6h3NDW6IY16VnHREW3WFTN36Q.jpg), but someone previously posted a version that is overlaid with 2016 Election results and each city effected was a Blue state. 5782 Where I live, the houses are sold within a few days even during a pandemic. 5783 I had to just walk away from a conversation earlier today because "Absentee voting is fine but mail-in voting is a scam!" 5784 No worries, I get it. You too man. 5785 But it's all routine stuff being blown out of proportion, right? 5786 He needs to be arrested and prosecuted. 5787 Literally no one who isn't already a DNC loving partisan believes you lol. Go listen to Michele Obama's podcast 5788 Or he​/n/continue anyway 5789 Well, logic isn't subjective, so whatever you say... /n/First, I disagree. You're literally assuming Second, the proceedings may be questionable in a variety of ways. But not being transparent doesn't automatically mean they have questionable validity or are themselves corrupt. In fact, not being transparent gives outsiders less evidence of anything other than the lack of transparency itself. How could it? And I didn't rephrase anything or change any meaning. I directly quoted you and added brackets where appropriate so that I could appropriately quote you. Where did I change any meaning? 5790 why isn't mentioned in the headline like the race of a victim/inbso show me the last headline that say states a black perpetrator and white victim 5791 [removed] 5792 Shut the fuck up with the "both sides" bullshit. Red controls the white house and the senate. That's it. 5793 [removed] 5794 Yeah! Glad to hear it 5795 There was a Republican senator some years back who proudly proclaimed of his relationship with Christian scripture "I don't read the Bible because it already tells me everything I need to know*." And he did not mean that in some cutesy atheist sense. 5796 I carry a high power laser pointer on me I figure that would allow me to be spotted in any night time situation. 5797 That is a real issue. Like the other guy though, it has absolutely nothing to do with the topic at hand 5798 [removed] 5799 I will never not update these comments from you. Keep up the great work! 5800 Daaaaamn. I'm sorry man. 5801 Well can never be too safe. Thank you for your sacrifice. 5802 You can get pretty sturdy ones 3d printed nowadays. 5803 That dude had a chunk of his bald scalp removed, then had the two remaining chunks of scalp stretched and stapled together. And he had this done in like the '80s, when the procedure was in its stone age. Not exactly your modern hair transplant. 5804 It sounds like a Halloween special... 5805 [removed] 5806 I wish the asshole who took over my store didn't get the free cover from failure due to covid. My shrink for a 3 million dollar store was 4-6k a year. The 7 months she was in charge - 11k shrink. All the messed up orders were from after I was removed from shipment. I don't do anything at all she said. He does everything right she said. Lol enjoy your hair. Enjoy the fact I told you not to promote the guy you did or you'd regret it. He's called out three times a month since June. He got covid and didn't tell anyone. He's made you do an open to close 7 times now lol. I knew the feeling of contempt my previous manager had for his replacement (she quit after 3 months) but I understand it even more now. I'm just ticked she can say it failed because of covid restrictions. 5807 I still have hair at 31 but it's slightly greying. I keep wanting to shave it down but my wife doesn't want it. My hair used to be so soft and nice to touch. Now it feels dry and almost brittle. And this tick bald or just very short shaven is a good look. And no more hat or helmet or headphone hair. All good. 5808 Don't bother (unless you have a very weirdly shaped head). Accepting it is very freeing. I was at a wedding recently with family from my countries version of florida and they kept trying to get me to spring for cheap transplants. I couldn't give less of a shit, and the sheer desperation regarding rogan, and transplants just seems grubby. 5809 you are, go back and read it again. 5810 ALM is literally just a racist DogWhistle. 5811 Good to know the distance from Templeton to Bakersfield. Thanks for that! 5812 It's in the article. Read it 5813 Brown shirts and skid marked underwear, too. 5814 [removed] 5815 Been too long without a cut. I'm rocking the ol' Friar Tuck as we speak 5816 > Can someone explain HOW he was able to acquire so many weapons illegally? This is America. Gun show loophole. You can buy assault rifles, the bolt action rifle and the shot gun at a gun show with zero checks on the buyer. Straight cash for gun, no ID... nothing. The only hand guns require back ground check and can't be sold at a gun show. BUT... as happens in the South because you can buy many handguns in one purchase... people in the South buy handguns, drive up to Chicago and sell them. Also in the South was previously arrested for making illegal gun parts in his home. Dude knew how to get guns illegally. 5817 Yeah... I know? I never said it wasn't an issue with everyone of different races. It's saying, a slogan can also duplicate in everyone. The point I was making was that you can't assume someone's views off of three words that can be perceived in a multitude of ways. That creates animosity when there doesn't have to be. Me saying all lives matter is not controversial. I think the issue is police being too militarized and protected by the law. I agree with BLM. But BLM not going to have a temper tantrum when someone wants to recognize all the victims mistreated by the police. 5818 https://youtu.be/KBAJSIXW6DM 5819 If this keeps happening Trump won't have any more voters. 5820 If he's white they might 5821 [removed] 5822 Pretty much 5823 I'm so glad this was the case in other places too. Nazi punks fuck off. 5824 Talking about porno mags and erotic calendars 5825 True but if wearing masks and being outside is so safe why do they tell everyone to stay home? Makes no sense 5826 Phew. No protests this weekend. 5827 And before someone chimes in with how cheap hard drives are today, let me say that enterprise storage has never been cheap. Between redundancy overhead, hot spares, multiple backups, and the quality of the drives needed to keep constantly spinning for years at an acceptable failure rate, doing storage right costs an order of magnitude more per terabyte than it does for a desktop computer. That's not even getting into monitoring and maintenance costs. And if you don't invest that kind of money up front and maintain it over the years, that shit will absolutely fail on you at the worst possible time. 5828 No reasonable person is suggesting we should disband police, and I have trouble taking your comment in good faith that you simply misunderstood the meaning of the messaging. 5829 according to... the police 5830 The whole damn system is broken 5831 Because anyone who says ALM in response to BLM is a white supremacist at this point. It takes an incredible level of willful ignorance to not understand why saying ALM is fucked up and the only people who say it are racist as fuck. 5832 Well, I imagine the racist wanted to die in a "race war" so I guess he got his wish. If the rest of the racists and meat team six militias would just do the same and stop their pendiclick threats, maybe we can get back to the business of running a country and trying to do better than we have been. 5833 It's almost impossible to legally obtain a gun legally in Mexico and their murder rate is less than fantastic. Also, the European countries with high gun ownership rates don't have higher crime rates than the ones that do. How do you explain that? 5834 Gun laws absolutely do prevent criminals from getting guns. Source: am British. Gun laws are not 100% successful, but then no laws are. People say 'Gun laws won't eliminate all guns', as if the law against murder does in fact eliminate all murders. America could not move from where it is today to an effective prohibition on guns (assuming it wanted to) in one step. The 18th Amendment would not be the way to do it. 5835 The only difficult part about turning an 80% lower into a full one is the magazine well. It's a little bit more involved than "just drilling out a couple of holes" since you need to actually cut out a pretty big chunk of metal and you should probably have a mill to do it, but it's really not that difficult either. I had mine in half a Saturday afternoon. And I broke the first because I drilled too deep on my first try. You can buy anything else needed. I was surprised how easy it was to build your own rifle. I'm genuinely surprised garage buds aren't used in crimes. I think it's just even easier to acquire one illegally. 5836 [removed] 5837 >Unfortunately in this world whenever a cop gets shot at, they are going to shoot back. AT THE PERSON SHOOTING AT THEM. Anyone in the crossfire has the potential to get hit. She wasn't in the crossfire. LOL okay yeah I'm done with you. Oh my god some racist cunt is done with me. I am so hurt. 5838 >Those who forget history are doomed to repeat it. History always repeats itself. It's a circle or a loop. Remembering history just helps guess which way to lean when it does. 5839 Handling a 17yo a rifle in that situation is completely irresponsible IMO. There should be some consequences for doing that. 5840 Bakersfield, unsurprising 5841 When has CNN ever falsely labeled someone as such? 5842 Black neighborhoods are over-policed because they know people like you will justify it. 5843 It's almost as if the justice system fails at every single level 5844 You pass butter. 5845 The anti gun laws clearly didn't prevent him from getting guns 5846 That sounds like a Max Payne quote. 5847 If you're making it as a retort to "black lives matter" it will always be seen as divisive, because it is. If you have some sort of message of unity you want to spread, that's great, but you'll only accomplish the opposite if you hijack and/or marginalize a pro-civil rights movement's verbiage to make it, even if that's not your intent. These people just want to be treated equal, and you can't have real unity when some people are seen as second class citizens in the eyes of the law and the eyes of law enforcement. Pro-tip: anything with "XX lives matter" is off limits. 5848 Maybe the Snyder version. A weird man baby who has insane and yet ultimately pointless plans that either work or don't, not due to planning or forethought but due to the active stupidity of others and bizarre, mind-numbingly idiotic coincidence. 5849 I like to wait until the driver side window is in front of me, it maximizes the fear for my life. 5850 We're all pawns 5851 He was walking heavy, and I don't mean he just left a Chinese buffet. 5852 [removed] 5853 Did you miss the part where they specifically were told not to, but did it anyway? 5854 [removed] 5855 [removed] 5856 [removed] 5857 White supremacists and militias have infiltrated police across US, report says. A former FBI agent has documented links between serving officers and racist militant activities in more than a dozen states. (https://www.theguardian.com/us-news/2020/aug/27/white-supremacists-militias-infiltrate-us-police-report) 5857 I hate how low of a chance it is that anyone CNN reports as "white supremacist" is actually a white supremacist in real life... Guess I'll have to look in to this tomorrow. Have a good night Reddit. 5858 [removed] 5859 [removed] 5860 That's exactly what they are saying. Why else would they bring those things up. 5861 Those gun laws sure helped prevent the Bataclan mass murder 5862 This person gets it. Trumpism is a full fledged cult. Vote this mother fucker out. Please. 5863 >When heavy winds were predicted earlier this month, PG&E cut power to about 167,000 homes and businesses in central and Northern California in a more targeted approach after being criticized last year for acting too broadly when it blacked out 2 million California residents. In any case of these 2 million, a single-day planned outage isn't the worst thing on Earth. Dealing with the refrigerator sucks and no wifi on a Sunday is a pain, but if this will help fight the fires here, I'm all for it. 5864 What are your thoughts on taxed paid Healthcare accessible to everyone? 5865 I'll ever hit the lotto I'm getting the full Wayne Rooney 5866 Skinheads like the counter culture of the 80s and 90s who were in to raving and uppers? 5867 You're confusing defund with abolishment. They're two different things. 5868 > but it takes a special kind of dumb just to get in to an altercation with police. Inspecy considering black people have been protesting getting shot by cops for no reason at all for months during a pandemic 5869 [removed] 5870 Not really. The vast majority of protesters are wearing masks and they are all outside. I am sure there are some cars due to the protests but it is minimal. 5871 No kidding? I didn't know that. It just goes to show that criminals don't care about gun control 5872 [removed] 5873 [removed] 5874 I agree my bad I used the word skinhead and it's a stereotype should just say fascist... 5875 And we're glad to have you. 5876 Trump is confirmed to be planning to put advertisements on Facebook declaring he won on election night regardless of the results. He wants to sew chaos and plans to dispute the results and fight no matter what. 5877 Is strong rifle, pride of mother Russia. Stamped of top quality roof tin. 5878 Again. It's not the job of the police to conduct extrajudicial executions even if the criminal is black. 5879 he's been arrested 28 times. Let that sink in. He's had 28 chances prior to this. 5880 I meant roads. You knew that. But good job being a pedantic little shit. And no one ran out in front of a moving car. They were already in the road and the car approached them. 5881 Are people assuming bad things about you due to your appearance? No no no 5882 Yeah same! 5883 That would be badass. Hit a jump and let a Uzi off 5884 Often people with anxiety disorders self-diagnose themselves as having PTSD, then they just accept it and continue to suffer instead of seeing a professional and getting genuinely helpful treatment. Apologies if that came across as rude, just wanted to make sure you weren't needlessly suffering. I wish you all the best. 5885 What opinion did I give? I stated a simple fact that you ignored in favor of an uninformed comment. At this point there is no evidence showing the warrant officers had any footage. An officer who responded later does, but his footage has absolutely no bearing on the events that transpired before his arrival. In we absolutely SHOULD require raids to be filmed beginning to end. no disagreement there. If it is illegal NOT to film a raid, charge the officers with that. But at that time of the raid I'm not sure that was the law. You'd like to educate yourself further about this case to help separate the under reported facts from the widely reported fiction, I'll happily provide links. If you would choose to remain uninformed, then I wish you well all the same. https://www.yunpu.com/en/document/read/63943132/breonna-taylor-summary-redacted/1/nhttps://www.google.com/amp/s/www.savannahnow.com/news/20200924/fact-checking-8-myths-in-breonna-taylor-case-was-she-asleep-when-police-shot-her-is-there-body-cam-footage/3?template=ampart/nhttps://www.google.com/amp/s/amp.courier-journal.com/amp/5593502002 5886 [removed] 5887 That information is disputed. More witnesses say there was no knock than those that say there was. 5888 and that is the empathy that is hard to understand. bravo 5889 Yes, the reason for that may well be racism. But it's not racism in the way that "black lives matter" implies. Black people are being killed by police at a higher rate due to structural factors like poverty, that lead them to interact with the police more frequently. They aren't being killed by police because police are more afraid of them. Understanding the data is important, because it allows you to think about policy that might actually address the problem. To do that, you first have to know what the problem actually is. 5890 I don't defend yourself against false accusations is the bad guy in this scenario... 5891 Damn, it's because he's a Nazi isn't it 5892 If he's white it probably would. They prosecuted the cop who killed Justine Damond 5893 -Sir, we have an escape pod approaching Earth! In-Hurry, get the recovery team! A single ballot lies in the pod* 5894 Actually it does make a difference because if he was in custody (with plenty of evidence on his person) there is no longer a reason to execute a No Knock warrant on Breonna's home. The point of a No Knock is to catch the perp before he eliminates evidence. In how far apart the houses were has no relevance because law enforcement can communicate with each other instantaneously. Another issue though is that the team of PD that served her warrant had little to no briefing on the case. I think it would've helped if the officer knew that this particular warrant was for a person of interest rather than a recent known location of perp. 5895 Face. Meat. 5896 That's what a skinhead would say 5897 How about a pink supremacist? 5898 Started at 17, get good. 5899 >Buuuuuuuu, doesn't mean it can't be an issue with everyone. Yeah dude, that's why most of the people at BLM protests are white*. It's not complicated. 5900 They only degrade if you neglect them. If you store them at room temp and away from light (aka in their case) they're practically inert. 5901 Haha imagine how made people would be if the white woman was smiling and in nice clothes and the black guy looked like a meth head. 5902 [removed] 5903 Oh lol, well that's completely unrelated, but I see what you meant now, thank you. 5904 Leave it too long in your car, and now you have a warped record... 5905 [removed] 5906 At least in Missouri it's not against the law to possess a firearm while intoxicated while on your own property. 5907 You are a jackass 5908 That was such a good show. I haven't seen the final season though. 5909 [removed] 5910 Didn't Atrac do the same thing? 5911 Are you really suggesting that I should forgive the person who beat my relative in the head with a cast iron pan, and then stabbed him to death when he started having a seizure? Who then only got 3 years because he was a minor? And did it all only because he wanted to steal a car? I don't forgive murderers, and it's honestly weird that you find that unusual. 5912 You can't properly evaluate the present without looking at the past. Let's take Chicago. The south side of Chicago has wildly disproportionate rates of poverty and gun violence than the rest of the city. That part of the city is predominantly black. That part of the city was really aggressively segregated for decades using violence, intimidation, and disproportionate allocation of resources to schools, infrastructure, and transportation. The systems in place that were used to segregate and disadvantage black people in the south side may have become illegal but the legacy lives on. The south side as a result, now and always has had high rates of poverty, incarceration, poverty-related violence, and poor outcomes for education and job readiness. This is a population that has been traumatized and oppressed to its core. To say that these communities just need to be "reintegrated" is so out of touch. I can guarantee that you and I weren't born so exceptional that we could thrive in poverty, regardless of how we were. Exceptional people are born into places like that everyday but real poverty is traumatizing and stunts potential in very serious ways. When you hear people calling for equity or for social change, all they mean is that these communities might need a little bit of an investment to undo these layers of injustice and disenfranchisement that have been ignored for decades. 5913 Better that they starve to death than believe that two men can kiss. 5914 No, I sound like someone who actually understands what rampant corruption looks like and understands that if you rip down a system and create a power vacuum you end up with corruption on a scale that no one in the US has ever actually experienced. People have no idea what it's like to be pulled over for a bribe or have to bribe someone to keep your job and then lack any recourse to these actions. So, yeah, I don't have any interest in pulling down a system that works most of the time just because sometimes it fails. Democracy is the worst form of govt, except for all the other ones. 5915 Because he's a dick. 5916 Laws are different in different states. In Texas "murder" does not require premeditation. They can also choose to convict on a lesser charge, so manslaughter is still on the table. 5917 You are misinformed. Know what you're talking about before commenting further 5918 If the people expected to uphold the law choose to ignore it because the other people expected to uphold the law choose to ignore it, I don't know what's worse, the individual or the group. 5919 That makes me very uncomfortable. But thanks for sharing. 5920 Yeah but Harvard is way into pedophilia. 5921 Women should be given the right to vote! Not gonna happen... same argument 5922 In Kansas, a guy had his kids taken from him because he was moving across the border to Colorado due to weed easing his PTSD symptoms better than the VA meds 5923 Do payroll companies float the paychecks or do they just pass through the money instantly? 5924 I don't think you understand the word "completely" or that it is the one you are being called out for. 5925 Try owning up to your mistake instead of doubling down. Todd Bruning is not the victim here. He's a proud racist. 5926 Why are you defending Obama ramping up the drone war you partisan POS. He normalized which is what people who were concerned said would happen. Now, we have another Conservative in office and of course they will use a politically expedient tool to prosecute war. Yes, Bush started using them but damn if Obama didn't go full tilt on expanding it and covering up kill counts. 5927 To make it more simple if you make 100,000 a year that would be like donating 190 dollars. 5928 Cheers for this, great idea! 5929 It... it does though. If "the Law" is unwilling to look at forensic evidence of rape then the people who made the decision to ignore that evidence need to provide reasonable explanations as to why they ignored it, or they need to be removed for not doing their job. Neither thing happens, then "the Law" is not currently working. 5930 And it goes back in the air and falls as unsalted rain and snow. Are you really that daft? You are the supremely ignorant one. The truth is people live off aquifers and a tiny amount of surface water. Hardly anyone depends solely on glaciers for water by comparison. 5931 [removed] 5932 Yup, I remember doing some listening tests to this effect in the 80s and 90s @Bell Labs. One of the audio engineers even made a "vinyl simulator" that would mix a loop of vinyl noise with digital eq and tracking errors (wow and flutter). Nobody could tell the difference. You could even tweak it to make it sound like an older or broken turntable. There were some efforts to make a laser (vs needle) cartridge that would feed a DAC pipeline that did noise reduction and fixed timing errors. Someone pointed out that you could just play the record once and burn the results to a CD, then play that instead. And it would be identical. So it would be kind of pointless. 5933 >We got sold out by our leaders like Diane Feinstein (who had a spy on her payroll for 20 years? In C'mon man you start with nonsense and just keep chugging down the propaganda hole. In for anyone who hadn't heard the claim 5934 or a rocket launcher. 5935 People complaining but you're dead right. Her being the best of women does NOT put her top 5 athletes of all time. There are literally hundreds of better athletes than her in the NFL right this minute, let alone throughout history. Before or after her pregnancy, she does not compare with the greatest athletes if we are discussing both men and women. 5936 The situation is far worse today. Back in the '70s there were numerous sources for vinyl. Now they are dwindling fast. https://pitchfork.com/the-pitch/363-why-arent-there-more-vinyl-pressing-plants/ Also, despite vinyl's hipster appeal, the number of units sold is trivial compared to the golden age of vinyl, which means poor economy of scale. Vinyl has a very high set up cost compared to CDs. In the past, this was amortized across millions of copies. 5937 This has been escalating into a new cold war for some time. Escalating a new confrontation with China has been a long-term foreign policy goal for American neoconservatives for over twenty years and it has never been more evident than in the actions of the Trump Administration. 5938 The constitution doesn't protect criminal activity. 5939 Hilarious, haven't heard that one on reddit before. 5940 I'm not gonna deny that there are government agencies or programs that are under funded but to say it's solely a "Republican" problem is a little far reaching. Let's just agree that if the NCIC is or was under funded then it's a Government issue not one political party issue 5941 [removed] 5942 Also makes you wonder how long he spent googling that to find the one exception so he could be a contrarian dick, doesn't it? 5943 He spent $20,000 on equipment. 5944 Article seems to indicate that it's not known why the payroll company (NOT the employer) is reversing the ACH. \n\nIt is absolutely a violation of a very well regulated payment system, and while it absolutely sucks for folks whose companies used this payroll company, I can almost guarantee not only will they be made whole, but probably get something from a settlement or class action suit. \n\nThe only stingy part about this to me, is that the article doesn't mention what the employer is doing about it. \n\nAlso, fun fact: 2 of the largest payment processing companies in the country (Paycor and Vantiv/Workday/ FIS / whatever they merge with next week) are based in the same city as this article (Cincinnati). 5945 I believe Shakespeare described it as well, in just there is truth 5946 difference: the car in question is illegal not the person purchasing it. \n\nThe parallel would be attempting to purchase an illegal weapon (like, maybe, a bazooka? or a missile launcher?) and yes, they would be all fucking over you for that even faster than the car, because the item itself is illegal. \n\nIn the US, it's not illegal for Some People to own an AK47. That makes it available for all in some fashion. Since private transactions are not regulated, of course. \n\nIf there were a car that "some people" could own and drive on the road but YOU could not, I'm pretty sure you could buy it from someone at a private sale and drive it around for a while before running afoul of the law. 5947 And this is how America falls from the top spot without being invaded. Way to go morons. 5948 You did justify it. He reached for his waistband while completely face down on the floor. And he was supposedly brandishing a rifle from the window. Totally deserved it. \n\nI'm not putting words in your mouth, I'm telling you how your words are perceived. 5949 <https://www.nytimes.com/2019/09/04/business/china-cat-clone.html> 5950 Because vinyl is cool. And as opposed to digital music files, you actually own a physical copy. 5951 > <http://www.bluehorizonideas.com/products/system-enhancing-accessories/probum/> burning in audio cables? \n\nWtf did I just read? 5952 Cool. I knew I was saving all my old vinyl albums for something. 5953 To be honest, I'm not equipped to provide what you request, nor am I equipped to parse any of this information you have provided with any reasonable certainty. This conversation has left me increasingly unsure of my convictions on the subject. \n\nI will say however, that this big-ticket discussion is irrelevant to the current issue. There was a law regarding silencer registration. He failed to follow it. That's a class three felony. This particular instance is a pretty open and shut sort of deal. \n\nI don't tend to vote with regard to gun control measures, because I support peoples' right to legally possess firearms. What I'm not convinced by, however, is that guns necessarily cause violence, nor do gun control laws necessarily prevent violence. What I am, however, convinced by, is the fact that the easy access to guns increases the lethality of instances of uncontrolled homicidal behavior, and that an increase in the number of guns in America does not correlate at all to individual safety. \n\nSo on the subject of what form a ban should take, I'm at a loss. Or whether there should be a ban. I recognize that I am not the person who should be making these decisions on behalf of everyone else, because I do not have access to the necessary literature or data. 5954 I was gonna say, the public assumptions and the realities about student demographics here tend to be fairly different. 5955 It's the wrong the question. It's the whatever system brings the listener more enjoyment. I for one like the tactile feel, large album art, and just the fact that I have to focus when I play an album. It's an experience that I enjoy. That simple. 5956 This is my reason exactly. I purchased cds until I bought a new car last year that doesn't even have a CD player. I listen to music that generally isn't as profitable as more popular genres and still want to support artists and have a physical copy, so I like having vinyl. The large album art and records pressed on cool colored vinyl makes them fun to own and collect. 5957 Some phones are sold with different hardware that can handle military networks and accept military peripherals. That "can" mean encryption but probably means they just sell for marketing 5958 I just see China's Trump, probably. 5959 > Please provide evidence of slaughter of innocents by Sisi as you have claimed. \n\nSay he didn't. Those are my conditions for easing your ignorance. I want a reward for doing something you can do yourself. I want a reward for educating the ignorant. My reward will be your humiliation. \n\nXi was instrumental in advocating use of heavy weapons and machine guns on peaceful protestors at Tiananmen. \n\nWas instrumental? How did we get from "He is a sadistic mass murderer" to "was instrumental in advocating for"? \n\nYou said Xi was going to slaughter protestors, he didn't. You must be so embarrassed and humiliated by your unbridled rant. \n\nI foresee Xi cracking down and murdering many more people in Hong Kong. He lacks integrity and is prone to murder. \n\nAnd yet he hasn't. How humiliating of for you. 5960 [removed] 5961 Haha, the US doesn't give a shit about its veterans. After all, they're only useful when they're fighting or working. 5962 But when private sales require no registration or background checks there a huge gap in the law itself. 5963 Hell, they arrested a black man IN HIS OWN HOME BECAUSE HE WAS IN HIS OWN HOME. And it was all caught on video. 5964 Yes, more fuzz that artists don't want. 5965 We don't. However, given that nearly all life here on earth does, and that we don't have anything else to base a guess on, what better place to start than from something we know can harbor life? 5966 Got an A/benchmark right here? 5967 We also have arrest powers, and a duty to act, as well as being EXPECTED to act, in nearly any situation we could be in. At the bank when it's robbed? You're going to be expected to step in and save the day. At the water park with family when a kid drowns? It's expected that you'll be running over to perform CPR. Dropping you kid off for school and you hear shots fired? Doesn't matter if you're in your PJs, the world expects that you'll step up and get involved IMMEDIATELY. \n\nDon't get me wrong: the large majority of hard working, honest and dedicated police officers that I worked with personally would always have been the type to do anything to help anyone, so the scenarios above are no a brainier. But 2am on a Sunday when your neighbors bang on your door to complain about the loud music down the street... There are times when it would be nice to shut it off. \n\nWe're not only identified as cops when we're being charged with something. \n\nWe go to a party and introductions go like this: \n\nHey, Ben, glad you could come- these are my friends- that's Amy, Shawn, Marcus, David, Kyle, Tobias, Kristen (she's a cop) and Jean and Felix. \n\nWe're always introduced by our profession even when it's not relivent. It's just a thing people do. 5968 How many times has this happened? (out of 11 million arrests per year in the US) 5969 With the amount we have seen of extremists on Earth, life out in the universe is 99% certain imo, with this I'd say 99.99%. 5970 Will have less losses and be a higher bitrate is a better way to put it. Some people like the popping and scratchiness of vinyl, but if by better you mean higher fidelity, digital is the clear winner. 5971 How has he not been murdered by someone yet? 5972 It could be interpreted as "Oregon man killed the Target employee who falsely accused him". 5973 And back during conservative America's reign there was a whole lot of actual lynchings of the innocent. 5974 Money talks, Trump is president and he has admitted to raping and sexually assaulting many women. 5975 Inb4 Williams fans say she had a disadvantage of some kind or that the ref screwed her 5976 She will get probation and community service. 5977 I disagree, vinyl sound is superior to cd. No contest. 5978 This is true. He has definitely done more harm to the nation than any other president. And that means he beat out jackson and harding, no mean feat! \n\nOnly James Buchanan might rival him! 5979 Has anybody ever sat there and thought...how easy would it be to inject dirty carts onto the streets. Media quickly picks it up and society pushes for a ban. A large company like Marlboro comes in and takes over the industry with promises of safety. Now they control the flow. Boom... The big guy does it again. 5980 We all know everything is bigger in Texas to compensate. 5981 McDonalds in the 90s, widely considered the Epstein of burger chains for its intense focus on exploiting children. 5982 You don't take care of your CDs, but you take care of your vinyl. Pretty obvious. 5983 It's still used, yeah, but it doesn't mean it's right. They use it because they think the whiter they are, the higher class and superior they are. The very definition of racism. 5984 I am certainly not against the rule of law. I'm saying we should change the constitution, using the method described in the constitution. That's how it's supposed to be done. Ignoring the bill of rights like Democrats like to do is against the rule of law. We all agreed to live under the constitution as it is, unless we change it. Lets change it if we need to. \n\nBirthright citizenship was never intended to be for anchor babies. It was designed to give citizenship to former slaves. Not border hoppers. 5985 Minor imperfection is its own sort of charm 5986 [removed] 5987 Nothing wrong with being asked but the only relevant answer is "Human Race" 5988 Again, moratorium on their manufacture or sale is a de facto ban. \n\nBut speaking of sales, you ever heard of United States v. Miller, 1934? Of course you haven't. The SCOTUS ruled that Congress had the power to regulate sales of short barreled shotguns. \n\nOf course I've heard of Miller. And Cruikshank. And Heller. They can regulate sales (i.e. FFLs), but they cannot ban. Try again. \n\nDon't try to quote jurisprudence to me again son, you substituted NRA mailings and forum memes for an education in American history, and it shows. Here endeth the lesson. \n\nBaseless claims and personal attacks have been noted, and dismissed. \n\nOutright bans on acquiring, possessing and carrying firearms, for example, in Illinois, the District of Columbia and in various cities and counties (notably Chicago and San Francisco) have been struck down, failing to survive intermediate scrutiny where the courts determined that the government overreached in furthering its interest in public safety by completely banning private citizens from obtaining or possessing firearms or carrying firearms in public. \n\nHeller v. DC also protects arms "in common use." \n\nYou can do better. 5989 I've always thought it's so similar to the guys who pop in on every rape thread to say either "not all men" (literally nobody was saying that--they were offering support to a rape victim) or "men get raped too" (again, NOBODY is disputing that...just when in a thread started by somebody talking about dealing with the aftermath of sexual violence we tend to focus on the person fucking talking \n\n's all given me the same vice as somebody popping into a funeral to yell at the mourners that other people have died too. 5990 Personally I use spotify for all my music but I love to own physical albums of my favourites. Rather than buying CDs I buy records. Planning on mounting my favourites on my wall. 5991 I dk his whole story, but he claims he got sent through the medboard & found him unfit for duty, but not for a service connected disability. I've told him to make a claim through the VA now that he's out 5992 Finally a politician with his priorities straight! 5993 [removed] 5994 Oye como \n\nMi ritmo \n\nBuena pa' gozar \n\nMulata 5995 None of these concepts would exist. Without a legal concept of marriage, assets would not be joint upon marriage, so there would be nothing to do in case of divorce. It'd be the same as breaking up with a girlfriend/boyfriend who lived with you. 5996 Bring your friends down with you, please. 5997 I am not American and that is where I heard it first and assumed only 80 year old racist white people used that word, not official state documents. 5998 You summed up exactly why I buy vinyl, especially the last part about supporting the artists while also not having a useless CD. A lot of bands also offer a lot of cool versions that are colored vinyl, have alternative art or packaging, or have extras or even include a CD in the package. It feels kind of like a way of curating a library that represents your favorite music, can be aesthetically pleasing, and lets you hear the songs in the order the artist intended you to. 5999 > (played through equal systems and the same mastering digital will sound better \n\nVinyl has less audio data in it than digital cds. There is no debate about it. \n\nPeople like vinyl for all the quacks of it. The cracks and pops, the physical media, the history and antiquity. 6000 You have to special order masks like that. They aren't being sold by default at gas stations across the country. Are you really trying to claim he ordered them but he didn't know what a swastika was? \n\nRemember, he didn't say a swastika is not offensive, he said he had no idea what a swastika was. It's a bullshit lie. 6001 I saved 3000 jobs this year and kept people going. I kept my work aloft working like a dog, and saved them millions of dollars. Someone else got a cash award for leadership because they signed one of the papers for all the work I did. Have to love healthcare. 6002 Every single adult in this child's life needs to be questioned by police. Who the fuck attends a baby shower for a TWELVE YEAR OLD? They should all be arrested. Aiding and abetting a baby rapist. 6003 Sign also had no marks to indicate it was crumpled up 6004 Imao ok keep complying for the rest of your life. That will do it! pathetic. 6005 Not even reading your brain rot bs. I actually feel quite bad for you with your convoluted idea of freedom as the freedom to endanger other people over inconveniencing yourself for 10 days once or twice in your lifetime 6006 Did you atleast take the opportunity to tell them to just chill 6007 Doesn't need to be an XO, since this is more of a directive for federal workers, not a law. Executive guidance documents still carry the same force as any other rule internally. 6008 If fall the ice in the world melted into the ocean the sea would rise ~200ft. The highest natural elevation in Florida is 345ft with an average of 6ft for the state as a whole, with some areas averaging 3ft, at least according to the googling I did. \n\nA very large portion of Floridians will laugh at the idea of 2 inches of water since they treat it as a liberal scare tactic, but it won't take much sea level rise for the state as a whole to look like a wading pool for kids. \n\nFlorida has a population of 21.48 million people, think all of them can live on that remaining 145ft of dry land? 6009 > Most scientific research is done with state funding in universities, including most research that corporations use \n\nThat's not really true. \n\n*is* true is that a lot of "basic" research happens in those institutions. But it is a LOT of work and money to turn that basic research into something applicable and useful. \n\nFor example, a study done by a university shows that a certain gene knockout is present in people who are naturally healthier than the rest of the population, cardiovascularly. This leads to thoughts that the protein that gene codes for could be a drug target. \n\nAt that point industry steps in and spends the better part of a decade and billions of dollars to produce a drug that stops the protein from doing what it's supposed to, with the idea that this makes people who take it less at risk for heart attacks or similar issues. 6010 I'm in canada too, but western canada where everyone thinks this kind of thing would happen (although it's mostly a practicality thing with no electrics out here), but even my american relatives haven't seen anything like this. 6011 I asked that late last night in EST, so it was very new to me and not all over the news in my time zone until this morning. I appreciate your mentioning of the Washington Post article though. 6012 Bitch slap them locally and refer it to the US Atty SDFL for some federal reaming, make them walk to NJ. 6013 Personally I mentioned both. 6014 [removed] 6015 I still think it would be better solution than him getting away with 2,5 years and moving to kill helpless people. \n\nHe obviously gets his jollies from killing, and cats were easy target. 6016 Haha, I agree, I won't even let my wife make a tomato sandwich for me, as it's just not the same. 6017 This was the worst epidemic that was never talked about. Killed more than COVID and destroyed more lives. \n\nStarting to think that money kills populations. \n\nread it someplace. 6018 And I'm saying you are dead wrong. 6019 Jeff Bezos is worth $209 billion. He could live your dream 26,125 times. 6020 So the article says the city has the ability to house 39% of the homeless population but doesn't say what the current percentage of capacity those places are at. 6021 A Covid outbreak first discovered in the Chinese city of Nanjing has spread to five provinces and Beijing, with state media calling it the most extensive contagion after Wuhan. \n\nAlmost 200 people have been infected since the virus was first detected at the city's busy airport on 20 July. \n\nOh shit. This is actually happening. At an airport too. Fuckkk 6022 The surprising thing is a substantial fraction of nurses willingly haven't gotten vaccinated. 6023 Irony rich - people can roam free sans vaccination, but not so for animals being held in cages for humans amusement. 6024 Wearing full PPE in the Californian heat is pain. It's been tempted so many times to walk out. Give me a raise 6025 Whooa, keep talking like that and they might have to stop and think about why they've been working 6 days a week for years with nothing to show but calling others "weak." 6026 So... where do they go? 6027 Well that's just dumb. \n\nThis is a rare case, there aren't cat killers lurking on every corner. \n\nCats belong outside. 6028 This kind of thing has been happening for decades, and there are always assurances that it will never happen again. But it does. It happens repeatedly. However much attempts have been made to stop doctors from using their own sperm, some continue to do it. \n\nI realize it's a multimillion dollar industry, but this problem has plagued it from the beginning and it shows no sign of abating. 6029 [removed] 6030 Why perpetuate this lie? It's Unmasked, Unvaccinated that are spreading this. There have been some instances of vaccinated who contracted it and didn't know, but it is PRIMARILY spread by people who won't vaccinate and mask. It's time for THEM to quarantine and let the rest of us get on with our lives. We should ALL mask and get the vaccine. READ, and quit spreading lies so we can all get masked and vaccinated and END THIS SHIT!! 6031 You know the airline has a rule about masks and yet you knowingly refuse to mask to take the flight. It's like you wanted to lose that money for the ticket. 6032 Tell me what evidence was presented by your source. Allegations and nothing else? \n\nYou know the source, right? US Right-to-Know is an anti-GMO lobby group funded by the organic industry. 6033 Don't know how no one has mentioned this, but a common reason for this is that a retailer may want to have a sale on an item, but the producer of the product has a minimum listed price for the item. Only showing the listed price at checkout is one way they handle that. \n\nThat may not cover all scenarios where you can only see the price in cart, but it's a common one. Especially if they tell you the initial price and the percentage off but don't do the math for you on the final price, in situations like that I'd assume that's what's going on. 6034 I feel like that was a '87 or so 6035 Maybe it's that phenomenon of conservatives who suddenly care when it affects them personally. 6036 What's to stop people who are already vaccinated from claiming that they aren't, so they can get a free $100? 6037 And when they quit entirely, who's gonna take their place? 6038 Just in time for the eviction moratorium to expire. 6039 [removed] 6040 [removed] 6041 [removed] 6042 and Nestle! 6043 If you don't make money, you stop doing the job. \n\nThat's it. That's the financial concept. 6044 Specifically what trump talking points? \n\nI think he was wrong about masks in the beginning which is a fair point but so was Fauci. And he advocated to get the vaccine. \n\nAnd the last 3 political pundits he had on were Jimmy Dore, Kyle Kulinski, and Abby Martin. \n\nHardly right wing dudes. \n\nIt's like your comment could have been lifted from a lazy hit piece of journalism. 6045 Hard to say with the volume of environmental & political disasters flooding all forms of media, it might not be a consideration. It's such a sad thing that nearly the whole world is connected as never before, with the potential to share knowledge and work towards solutions making life better for everyone; but instead the methods of connection have brought division back to WW levels. Before 2020, I'd really not had much reason to consider how many neighbors felt that slaughtering people was a proper first response to conflict resolution. \n\nOr relieving themselves in the middle of a store (or spitting in a baby's face) because masking up triggered a primal aversion to our social fabric. I certainly don't know the solution, but out of a few billion people there's got to be a few who can devise something without making the world worse in the process. I doubt it can come from methods geared towards profit though. 6046 The place I work at actually thinks we get paid too much and wants to cut wages. Our union is currently in negotiations. Not an RN but in healthcare and was working all throughout covid. 6047 Username checks out 6048 LA just built a bunch of very safe tiny homes with storage for belongings and showers and many services for help, but no drugs soooo.... Here we are. 6049 Or DBD. 6050 Failing to recall products that hurt people, opens you up to lawsuits... Soooo... Exactly like this case... 6051 [removed] 6052 It is kinda weird that we went from cheering at shift change to people refusing to get a vaccine or even wear a mask 6053 Other countries matter to utilize as a baseline on the ideology as a whole. \n\nYour logic is we should compare nothing to other countries. Lmao. Okay. So in education we are 1 of 1! There ya go. 6054 > Because China is supposed to be communist \n\nIT'S NOT. \n\nJesus you don't know squat about China or the Chinese government and yet you are here talking shit. \n\nThe most easiest google search you say that China is a socialist state with a capitalist economy, with the goal of achieving communism in the distant future.n\nGOD 6051 It mostly depends on the field. In most other areas, research is primarily funded by government grants. All of the grants that I and others I knew had in grad school were from the NIH, for instance. This was all in biochemistry and microbiology-related fields. Industry-funded grants weren't unheard of, but we're uncommon to rare. 6056 I get the feeling its family members of abused people. That stuff leaves a mark on everyone in a family when it happens and justice isnt done. 6057 For evidence of this happening, see the OJ trial and the public's limited understanding of DNA 6058 I'm curious if these large judgements of money actually get to these claimants. Or is this all just posturing by companies like Monsanto. Knowing they never intend to pay the money, just keep it in court til the people die. Is that even allowed in American court? I wonder what percentage actual receive money. 6059 That is absolutely not true. Some medications affect other races differently and other genders, and ages. If it was just weight then why can'tE™ kids have the same meds as adults? Why do they have medications for certain things that work better on darker skinned people? 6060 Where are we with that? 6061 Especially in the arse! 6062 Ok, I think we misunderstand what OTC means. Alcohol is OTC. Sudafed is OTC. Cigarettes are OTC. Regulated in the manufacturing preventing accidental overdoses by regular users. Age gated to prevent children from buying it without supervision. Freely available in locations Nationwide to prevent shortages which cause withdrawals,n\nI don't think you're arguing with charity and think I'm some kind of dipshit who thinks we shouldn't have rules. Public intoxication is a crime, as is DUI. You can't smoke everywhere. Sudafed must be bought in limited amounts. Still OTC. I'm not writing policy in reddit, I'm starting a discussion.n\nPrescription opiates do not prevent overdose or abuse. You get a whole month's supply and nothing is stopping you from taking it all at once. Not the doctor not the pharmacy. Prescriptions do not prevent addiction. We see that by the number of people addicted, they don't get addicted to heroin first, they get addicted to prescriptions and then take heroin when prescriptions are no longer available. Heroin is bad, regulated opiates are better. Age gate, no DUI, limit monthly purchase, but make it cheap and freely available to adults. 6063 You should know the swastika is not offensive in India therefore it is not taught it as a hate symbol. American history and politics was in reference to Thin Blue Line masks not the swastika mask. You are preaching to the choir about the education system in India. It is very sad that you do not see there are people who are oblivious of things because in everyday lives it doesn'tE™ affect them or at-least they think it doesn'tE™ affect them. 6064 I broke their 2 drink maximum rule by finishing all of my other friends drinks during an office party. 6065 [removed] 6066 Something is really wrong here, but it is the math.n\nReading the bulk of the article, you get 91,000 residents, with 1 in 10 addicted. The pills were 81million over 5 years. Call it 8 million pills a year, sent to 9 thousand residents. 9 thou into 8 mil is 889 pills per person a year. Still seems a lot. Divide by 12 and you get 74 pills a month. Figure 30 days a month and now we are at 2.5 pills a day,n\n2.5 pills lasts an addict maybe 1/2 hour?n\nI find this article is to accepted at face value, there is a hueageue black market and the prescription side is tip of the berg. 6067 [removed] 6068 Kinda disappointing that people need a monetary incentive to get vaccinated. n\nLike, concern for ones own health SHOULD be enough. 6069 I am upset that there are thousands of rapists walking the streets of LA because the DA has not bothered to prosecute them. We recently had a case of a pedophile who raped other children while waiting for a trial. n\nThe courts are backed up several years to prosecute criminals walking the streets. This should be the priority. 6070 I approve of this requirement. n\nAs we saw yesterday - the far right gagle in DC don't wear a mask for their charade against losing an election. But 10 minutes (est) later at the nearby jail (where they go to protest re: how dare police arrest Insurrectionists - they conveniently have and DO wear masks. https://www.ctvnews.ca/world/u-s-feds-arrest-5-family-members-from-texas-in-new-u-s-capitol-riot-case-1.5508053 6071 Also known as future Californians. n-former Alabamans now living in California... 6072 Are the ballasts like asbestos, in that disturbing them is what really starts to up the danger level? 6073 Bees range about two miles from their hive on average, up to five miles in an emergency. The hive could be practically anywhere. Just watch them as they leave and if they don't crawl into your house, you're good. 6074 Just looked at your profile, you're a young kid, obviously very passionate. Not too bright though. As you get older you will realise how idiotic and baseless your accusations are. n\nYou make up some false narrative in your head and apply it to people. Just stop. 6075 Everywhere I look here in Utah, it seems like all companies are short-handed and hiring. 6076 For most people, variety is the spice of life. For this ex-cop, something isn't quite right in his head. 6077 Alabama also has the highest dumbass count in the country. 6078 Or a death certificate! 6079 [removed] 6080 DeSantis new mask requirements are that you're not allowed to wear them. 6081 You can easily test how radioactive that gravel pit is. I think you should if it'sE™ still in use. 6082 $1,500/mo for 50 years is $900k. Buy a $700k house and set aside $200k for maintenance. Now you're living in a nice house (depending on the area) instead of a 1bdr apt for the same cost. 6083 I fully expect an appeal and this amount will be severely reduced. 6084 What did you do to get banned dY? 6085 1000% this. That'sE™ what lãtE™ve seen over and over again 6086 Wow, ok. So dude was really flexing on how much transmitter power he had rigged up. That's wild. Thanks! 6087 Yep lãtE™s compare. On slight grammar mistake COME ON>>>. LetãtE™s compare. 6088 Makes the song "our god is an awesome god" more fun, since I hear it more like "radical dude!" as said by an 80s surfer stoner, rather than the intended "he inspires awe in my heart". 6089 Ah so you just don't have a good grasp on the English language as a whole. n\nThat makes sense. You have a good day. Maybe check out the dictionary online instead of wasting time arguing words you clearly do not understand. 6090 [removed] 6091 [removed] 6092 What ever happened to the ãfœmy body, my choiceã mantra the pro-disease crowd loves to cling to? 6093 My state is struggling to find teachers. As a result they recently lowered teaching qualifications to ãfœanybody with a bachelors can teach any subject, no matter what your degree is ãfœ. You donãtE™ have to have an education degree and you donãtE™ have to have a degree in the subject you want to teach in (the latter because many majors stay away from teaching like the plague) So they donãtE™ have to make the job attractive to get employees, they just keep lowering qualifications. ThereãtE™s always some desperate sucker who canãtE™ hack it in their chosen field and decide to try teaching for a bit until they can get a ãfœcoreal jobã. ThatãtE™s what this is aiming for. 6094 Medications are dosed by weight and effect. Not by race you fucking moron. 6095 Many people who hunt and fish don't turn it into useful items, they do it for the pleasure and the trophy 6096 The right never considered nurses heroes. They just gave them that title so they could encourage them to show up for their underpaying job in deplorable working conditions 6097 To be fair, the voices they represent aren't the employees' voices. It's the owners' voices. So in a large corporation, the shareholders, the board of directors, etc. 6098 Epstein suddenly walks into courtroom: ãfœWhat? lãtE™m a ghost. Boo.ã 6099 Tbh, the media wasted airtime to try to get people to respect essential workers (be respectful, do your business quickly, minimize contact, follow social distancing and masking) n\nDoesnãtE™ really work now that the unvaccinated are the ones throwing tantrums fits at nurses and flight attendants. 6100 Aw its in Florida. I was hoping for another launch over LA. 6101 And there's the whataboutism with maga gold 6102 The ãfœman youãtE™I never metã I was referring to is you. n\nItãtE™s not about gender. YouãtE™re trying to make it about gender. Women are people, like men, with opinions, like men. 6103 [removed] 6104 We actually can and do create laws that protect rape victims. n\nThis law just was not one of them 6105 (but by not much) 6106 [removed] 6107 Good on you, neighbor. 6108 The baby is not an act, it's a individual person who is innocent, he/she committed no crime. The logic doesn't hold. n\nI'd be fine with the argument that babies born of rape be wards of the state at the mothers request, and that we fund that accordingly, but sentencing the baby to death because of the act of the father is just... it makes no sense. 6109 [removed] 6110 That only happens when it's a black person killing a white person. 6111 The poor, unwanted child population. That demographic grows up a bit and becomes great fodder for the prisons as well as a new war against whoever ends up being today's Brown-Muslim-Badguy. Republicans get hard over the thought of tossing criminals in prison or turning brown people into pink chunks. 6112 [removed] 6113 Yeah, I did. The extreme hypocrisy and knee-jerk reactions to their own ignorance of the matter at hand is just abhorrent. n\nEpsteinãtE™s quote: "We've made clear how egregious and unacceptable," Epstein said. "That behavior has no place for it in our society, in baseball, certainly no place for it at Wrigley Field. The person responsible for that gesture will never be welcomed back at Wrigley Field. I think its important to have a strong response to send a message that this is a place of inclusion." n\nFuck him and his culture vulture personality. 6114 Virginia Abortion bill 2491 - Eliminates the requirement that 2 other physicians certify that a 3rd trimester abortion is necessary to prevent womanãtE™s impairment of her physical and mental state, as well as the need to find that any such impairment to the womanãtE™s health be substantial and irremediable. n\nLetãtE™s at least be honest about both sides of the debate including this Virginia bill and including your request that I articulate why humans and persons are the same in opposition of your idea that humans and people are not synonymous. n\nA person is defined as a human being regarded as an individual. (Literal definition therefore accepted ãfœ).n\nAlso make a claim that you have no proof of fact that cows and pigs are more like persons than an embryo. n\nThat debate is akin to arguing when you put water in a freezer when is it ice? After the first layer has formed on the top or after the water is 100% frozen. Then your argument is saying that the frozen peas are more like ice than the 2/3rd frozen ice cube. No sir those are peas are not ice and cows are not persons but that half frozen ice is in fact ice just not fully developed. We can not debate that this embryo is a developing human who by definition is a person. That cow by definition is not a person but a fully grown animal of a domesticated breed of ox. 6115 > minimal access to education, n\nIf they have access to the internet, they have access to great education. 6116 That doesnãtE™ negate their point though. If you checked up on any child that was the result of a forced pregnancy, a child that was literally not wanted by itãtE™s mother, I highly doubt that child would be ãfœwinningã just because itãtE™s alive. n\nThereãtE™s a good chance that child was born into an unhealthy home environment. Could be anything from struggling with poverty to living with a mentally unlit mother whoãtE™s abusive or careless. Or a mom who never wanted a child brought into the abusive relationship that sheãtE™s stuck in. Or a mom that knew the child would be born with disabilities that will ruin quality of life etc. n\nThose are just a few reasons where abortion is actually whatãtE™s best for the child, because some people care more about the quality of life of the child than they do about whether or not itãtE™s born. If the mother decides itãtE™d be best if the child isnãtE™ born, then thereãtE™s a good chance that sheãtE™s right, and forcing her to go through with the pregnancy only causes suffering for everyone involved. So yeah, nobody really wins in this situation. 6117 Not 100% effective. Next? 6118 >banning abortions doesn't really reduce them, it just makes them more dangerous/n\nIsn't this the argument they make about gun control? You'd think they would be willing to eat the shit they peddle. 6119 No. There is no such exception for the same reason youãtE™re not allowed to murder a 5-year-old who was conceived by rape or incest. ItãtE™s a life, an innocent life, regardless of how conceived, and to destroy it would be murder. If you believe a fetus is a life, rape and incest exceptions donãtE™ make sense. 6120 IsnãtE™ rape about power and sex? Giving a rapist the right to shared custody is essentially giving them power over their victim, because theyãtE™re now going to be in the victimãtE™s life forever. n\nSomeone is gonna need to fact check that, because I am too lazy and depressed to care. 6121 Im not an American so this may sound stupid. Could the person that wants a abortion go to another state? Or can you not get an abortion if you are not from that state? 6122 >Post-birth abortions. n\nI'm fairly certain that's just an execution. 6123 You're right. I'm just angry. 6124 > For me, it's about life, and it is about babies. It's about science, not religion. n\nSo that's why you're also enraged about IVF fetuses being thrown away? That's life! n\n> It's about being an adult and fostering a quality life for someone who could potentially change the world for the better. n\nAnd how likely is that to happen if the parents cannot afford to take care of the child or pay for the pregnancy? n\n> Get your fucking shit together and have some accountability. n\nAnd here you are furthering my point that it's really just about punishing people who have sex. Why does sex have to be mired with "consequences" when we have the technology and medical backing to avoid them? And why is life only precious to you when nobody is "at fault"? n\nSex is never "fully under control". That's utter nonsense. 6125 >How about keeping what we earn? n\nWho said that you can't keep what you earn? Are you arguing that taxes are unfair to white people? n\n>How would you continue funding the genocide of the unborn? n\nJust because you use the word genocide does not mean it is anything close to a genocide lol 6126 > Clyde Chambliss/n\nthis dude has 3 daughters and he says this shit 6127 > I don't think the "witches" were known for being rich. n\nHate to "well actually" you - but they were. And an admission of guilt (usually as a result of torture) resulted in forfeiture of your property to the community. They used a form of interrogation called "pressing" where they laid a board on top of you and slowly added stones on top of the board until you confessed or died of asphyxiation. 6128 Voluntarily or involuntarily? 6129 Okay, but that's not what's happening here. It isn't between one or the other. It's whether that box of 100 fertilized eggs gets to have the chance to be born. We're not talking about another living, breathing infant. Soooooo????? 6130 I exception depending on the level of extreme pro-lifer you're talking to. I have had ~friends~> acquaintances argue with a straight face

[illegible]

sudden drop in mining hashrate causes this readjustment to take a longer time (>two weeks) because it goes by block count, not days. But it will get back to normal unless the global hashrate goes down catastrophically.\n\nSo BTC supply will be constricted after a loss of hashrate before difficulty retargets, but it won't make much of a difference in the market compared to speculative bets anyway. The market's collective volume dwarfs the amount of new BTC created every day. 6238 You probably forgot you had a kid the following month, right? 6239 Thatâ€™s not true at all. There are TONS of resources available to service members getting ready to leave the military. If I wanted to get out now I can talk to resource advisors on base and have my financial budget ready for the next 6 months, my resume with plenty of references polished to perfection, my low interest veteran house loan approved if I want to buy a house immediately AND my Post 9/11 bill enrolled at the college of my choice. And if I choose not to buy a house immediately after getting out, the Post 9/11 bill offers a housing allowance based on your colleges location to acquire free housing while attending school. I can get all of this accomplished 3 months before I receive my 214. \n\nItâ€™s just a matter of looking into your resources and actually doing them but so many people are more excited to actually â€œget outâ€ of the military that they donâ€™t take the time and effort to set themselves up for success when they leave.\n\nI know 4 people that were so focused on getting out and not getting an education while they were in, or using any of the FREE technical certifications available to look more desirable on the job market. All four of these people are now working in Walmart or at their old job they worked before they joined and are regretting their decision to leave the military. One of them is dead set on getting back in as a guard member. All because they didnâ€™t realize the military can be a great stepping stone for them so long as they set themselves up for success by utilizing the resources available to them and that really irritates me 6240 > Until we figure out why White men not only suffer, but continue to vote for the same policy that denies them the treatment they need while living in communities that try and bury their problems, this will not get solved.\n\nIt's not really that complicated. The jobs their communities were built on are gone, and all the people who were inclined and able to leave and try their luck in another field in another place did so, leaving behind those who weren't so inclined or able for whatever reason.\n\nNeither party has any answers to this problem, which is the very difficult question of what ability and responsibility state and federal government has to somehow bail out entire communities that are no longer economically viable. \n\nIn the past, what would happen is these places would just turn into ghost towns and that would be that. Everyone would leave and those that couldn't would just die there, largely forgotten.\n\nIn the present day we don't want that to have to happen any more. We've solved polio, small pox, hell democracy has even more or less solved the endless cycles of tyranny and revolution that has plagued all of human history. Surely we can solve ghost towns somehow.\n\nBut neither party has a realistic solution here. You can't fix ghost towns with more welfare. These people aren't starving to death. They're killing themselves in one way or another because their lives have lost all meaning and bigger welfare checks don't fix that. Legalizing weed wouldn't either; people can and do still kill themselves with alcohol even if you get them off opiates. Nor can you just tell them all to move to a city and learn to code. \n\nThe GOP doesn't have any real answers either but some in the GOP like Trump can just happily lie about bringing jobs back and blaming NAFTA and shift for global economic forces that are bigger than any treaty, and others won't bother lying about the jobs but they will tell you that your own culture and values are the 'real' America and they'll protect your religious beliefs and guns from the coastal liberal elite that hates you. So if you bother voting, you'll vote for that, because it's better than just being outright told you're nothing but a charity case or a piece of shit for not just burning your bible, throwing out your guns, and moving to a big city and learning to code.\n\nI guess the only answer is mobilize these communities in some kind of green energy capacity, but let's be honest, green energy only works in the right geographical conditions and those geographical conditions don't necessarily coincide perfectly with the locations of all these dying communities so you're still telling them to just abandon their homes, their culture, their lives, uproot everything and try their luck somewhere else. And hey, that was the deal for people in dying communities for all of human history. But still it would be nice if someone could figure something better out. 6241 Suddenly everyone is a non Muslim 6242 Read a recent article about phone scams being perpetrated by prisoners with contraband cellphones. I suppose they'll be able to pull this off even more easily going forward ... 6243 [removed] 6244 I saw a weed bust posted on facebook that had a bunch of cannabis products laid out on a table with a 'street value' of \$15,000. It was about 3 ounces of flower, 3 disposable vape pens, and about 30 packages of gummies. So around a grand spent at a dispensary was a major bust for this small town police department. I have no idea where they got that number, but if anyone is paying that much for weed they are a moron. 6245 Your tax money is now going to a private company that gouges prisoners to make calls. 6246 Guess weâ€™ll see. They sold knowing full well the company had a major defect. They made comments claiming they had enough orders, not none. 6247 [removed] 6248 Not really yo, I would never assume some internet strangerâ€™s annual income though. 6249 I suggest going back to the post you responded to before I first replied and read it with an eye towards comprehension. Then you will see where the point originally was raised, and why I said anything in the first place. 6250 accosts you 6251 It's literally in the article. You're not supposed to only read the title. 6252 [removed] 6253 [removed] 6254 This was like the Vice video but 100 times worse 6255 Maybe Iâ€™ve learned some lessons from a point in my life years ago where I know a little something about spending too much. Having wiped out all my debt and being in a really good spot since, I can see a disaster waiting to happen. But I appreciate you taking the time to read my history. Says a lot about you. 6256 So I guess the Mass Effect Wiki for Elcor is wrong \n\nYou're being unnecessarily insulting and rude. 6257 Wait this is a thing for NFL? I'm an Indian lol. And yeah I'm not really surprised. India is stuck in the dark ages still and progress is too slow. 6258 [removed] 6259 [removed] 6260 They all say the same thing every single time and then bitcoin skyrockets not long after. I noticed that in 2017 and decided enough was enough 6261 TIL my two friends have been putting me on for three tax seasons now. xD I'm going to give them an earful about this one, thank you for clearing it up.\n\nI do stand by the idea that this is the way to do an income tax though, the amount of stress involved for the average person is ridiculous, and the cost to get it done "professionally" is often half- any return being gotten by a person filing single in the US. More if they have to file an amendment to fix the mistakes made by a preparer trained by a company in a collective weed of crash course classes. The US doesn't have a great preparer pool outside of the actual accountants/CPAs that do them in my experience. 6262 [removed] 6263 No, innocent and nonviolent offenders shouldn't be in prison. Christ. 6264 Itâ€™s hard to not have insider knowledge when youâ€™re inside the company and know everything about it. \n\nSelling has rules and I bet the execs who sold off followed the rules and didnâ€™t base it on the (unknown) upcoming stock crash. but just wanted to sell and have some money to spend on some things. \n\nImagine if every exec was accused of insider trading for buying or selling stock in the company they own and work for. Lmao 6265 Doesn't need to be rocket science. \n\nPeople should listen to common sense 6266 [removed] 6267 I mean, free to prisoners. 6268 You can change your name to be taken off the list - which means it is not impossible to get around (should you be a "real" security threat, but super inconvenient if you're wrongly added to it)\n\nhttps://boingboing.net/2008/09/12/canadian-man-changes.html 6269 Bitcoin, and subsequently CBDCs, are competition against every Fiat. He who owns the mint has power. It's no surprise countries approach Bitcoin with trepidation. 6270 You never asked for money just to see if you could get money? 6271 [removed] 6272 Since when does the US government get famous for "transparency" until otherwise noted. Don't accost me..... 6273 What are you smoking? We're specifically talking about them getting free phone calls. How did you miss that? 6274 Only if they knew of the downturn when they made the plans for the sale. If 6 months ago they announce that they will be selling X amount of stock in 6 months time, but 3 months before the sale happens they learn that something bad will happen and the stock will take a dive 2 weeks after their sale will happen then its not inside trading.\n\nWhen they arranged the sale, they had no non-public knowledge. 6275 [removed] 6276 Nobody even mentions NHL because it's light years away from any kind of progress. 6277 Fuck the WHO. \n\nYeah facts, but fuck the WHO 6278 Yo bro, like Somalia doesn't have healthcare. /s 6279 [removed] 6280 Don't forget about the tendies 6281 They are still scalping. 6282 PLEASE use this time & energy to fuck those extended warranty robo callers out of existence. 6283 Catch .38, as it were. 6284 [deleted] 6285 Omg this is hilarious. Go onâ€ 6286 This is fantastic and historic, but Michael Sam was the first out player when he was drafted in 2014.... 6287 Yes, I read the scalpers part. Newegg and Amazon are retailers. 6288 How about In Jail for marijuana crimes 6289 [removed] 6290 How hard is the concept of empathy for you? \n\nYou have no actual numbers to complain about. You have not showed any evidence on what the fee phone calls will cost the taxpayer. And just so weâ€™re clear, since you will never support this tax (not even if itâ€™s 2 fucking cents) you donâ€™t care about those non-violent offenders I see. And anyone who gets thrown in prison whether for non-violent offenses, or are just innocent, they must suffer according to you. 6291 [removed] 6292 Better than Australia. 6293 > The state has a prison contract with phone vendor Securus Technologies, which charges up to \$5 for a 15-minute call. Those are some of the highest phone rates in the country.\n\nWhy is the state so bad at negotiating cell phone contracts? 6294 Unserviceable currently* \n\nStarShip could get there given an orbital refuel. Would be worth it 10x over even if you trashed the ships afterwards. 6295 e pluribus prodest 6296 Fuck yes. That, and his first time back in the box after the stroke. (Really all of seasons 4 and 5, but that episode in particular stuck with me.) To be fair, though, that was a great cast all around. You could tell everyone was very serious about their characters, and it was very diverse well before that was fashionable. I loved that the main female character in the first few seasons was played by a decidedly underdone and practically-mannish Melissa Leo. 6297 ROR = rate of return. I think historically if you just put money in the index fund one can expect 7 to 8% return. Of course there will be good years and bad years. Like other have pointed out you need to do research and read about the risk. But assuming you have money that you can put away and not touch for like 30 years it is a good idea to invest it in index fund that are low cost because you are very likely to come up on top during with that big of a window. 6298 Selection bias. You only smell the ones that stink so you only notice those. 6299 You wouldn't have bitcoin without gold or other precious metals.\n\nBecause then you wouldn't have a PC. 6300 No one is near him when accelerates into the crowd. 6301 I thought this shit stain had already been sentenced to life? 6302 I would prefer death over lifetime prison life most likely myself 6303 Ted poster every one, fyi 6304 You can only snipe at them if you're not susceptible to that effect yourself. To see if this is the case, I have prepared a short questionnaire that should take less than a minute. If you answer 1 or more as "Yes", then you are susceptible and therefore cannot make this comment. \n\n​\n\nQuestion 1: Are you human (Yes/No) 6305 Have you ever thought about doing a Ted talk? 6306 Ah yes! Thatâ€™s the word I was looking for. 6307 My opinion is this is an analysis piece against the rules of this, on top of being a poorly disguised ad to WATCH NEVER BEFORE SEEN APOLLO FOOTAGE TONIGHT @ 9PM ONLY ON CNN 6308 Halahoa so you are one of those. Maybe it is time to stop believing everything Breitbart tells you lol. This is just downright sad. 6309 Your ice and fire analogy is dishonest. 6310 [removed] 6311 The whole world after going viral 6312 I am 100% for the 2A, but I understand that there are PLENTY of people that should never own a gun. I believe in routine safety tests. People need to make sure that they know to practice proper safety techniques or they lose their access to purchase or own firearms. 6313 Bro if I were the judge I'd gobble that shit down its cheaper than the local poop dealer 6314 If they stop applying for the original license the court case stops. Itâ€™s not about a talking point. They canâ€™t just apply for a different license and continue to fight the court case. If they apply for a different license that is the end of abortion in Missouri. 6315 [removed] 6316 > Would it be humane of me to shoot your dog or cat in the head then eat it? \n\nAs far as the animal is concerned, yes. Is it "humane" for a wolf to kill a deer? A shot to the head on an animal that has lived a full life is far more "humane" than being torn to shreds in the wild. People have this fantasy that wild animals live some great life when in reality it's "survival", not comfort. \n\nI don't agree with a lot of factory farming processes. Honestly hunting is the most humane way to get meat, and there's nothing wrong with eating meat, we're animals, omnivores, who eat meat and that's fine. A clean shot to kill the animal and then harvesting it is humane. 6317 It often applies even to footage from public property. 6318 I said in a previous comment that it shouldn't matter if a woman is raped or not - that abortion should be legal and safe option at the very least up until a reasonable point. Literally the only reason rape was brought up was because I was accused of not caring about rape. 6319 Hold my Zweig&Ander, I'm about to end this troglodytes whole career. 6320 Ingredients: Å Ultra-filtered Milk, DHA Omega-3 (Algal Oil), Lactase Enzyme, Vitamin A Palmitate, Vitamin C (Ascorbic Acid), Vitamin E (Tocopherols), Vitamin D3. \n\nIngredients: Å Ultra-Filtered Milk, Lactase Enzyme, Vitamin A Palmitate, Vitamin D3 \n\nWhere's the artificial sweeteners? ðŸ™ˆ Like, I work in the food industry. Labels aren't something to mess around with. 6321 Goes good with a dash of spare the rod spoil the child and not being vaccinated 6322 I canâ€™t wait until Tim Jones Jr. gets the sweetie. 6323 If you can't watch it, imagine what it's like for the animals that have to go through it. Stop consuming dairy. 6324 I dunno. I'd rather die than spend life in prison. 6325 So I guess this means not only are the ag kids in high school dumb assholes, they're dumb assholes who actively want to sign up for this kind of slavery. Brings a smile to my face knowing those dicks are gonna get the kind of abuse they dish out to everyone else for the rest of their natural lives. 6326 He was a racist and killed an innocent person. He deserves to rot in prison for life. 6327 Yeah, itâ€™s when you wake up to a empty in-flight plane, and the seat next to you contains a couple of dental fillings and some bone screws that you should start worrying.\n\nThe short story was great, and King did a lot of research for it talking to pilots, who gave him a personal tour of a commuter jet. Lots of little details about the jetâ€™s systems were used accurately in the story, and actually helped him write some of the ending. 6328 > Why would they do that when abortions are legal and they meet every legal requirement? \n\nBecause they are running into roadblocks. While that goes on and court cases ensue, they can continue to provide care to people in need of their many other services. Would you rather people suffer so it can be used as a talking point? \n> Your proposal would be the same as giving up and allowing Missouri to in practice ban all abortions. \n\nThat's not true at all because, as you said, they are legally not in the right. 6329 How will we achieve single payer, which you want, if you don't vote federally? 6330 Or be willing to spend the amount of money required to buy high quality milk where you know the cows are treat properly. Small local companies where you can visit is even better. 6331 No. 6332 I do agree that those full body hog roasts are really gross, but that shouldn't justify banning it 6333 Do you think 50% of the country votes Republican? 6334 Guarantee each and every one of them has a smart phone that was built in China who not only being one of the worst polluters on the planet, notorious for its sweat-shop conditions, also requires "conflict minerals" shipped in from Africa that are mined with literal slave labor. \n\nSo fucking woke. 6335 Everyone needs to remember to slow down. It doesnâ€™t matter how good of a driver you may be. Think twice next time that guy in front of you slows down. 6336 Bu! MaH F!Ee Sp!EeCh! 6337 It all starts with learning code (which I think will be an inevitability at a young age). Once you have a foundational knowledge of how these systems work, you are armed with the ability to break down manipulative functions. 6338 Police arrested 70 environmental protesters outside the New York Times headquarters who laid down in the street and climbed onto the building to demand the newspaper start referring to climate change as a climate emergency, police and media reports said. \n\nNew York police arrested 67 people and Port Authority police arrested three others, a police spokesman said. Charges were pending. \n\nProtesters blocked the street by lying down in a â€œdie-inâ€ and affixed a banner to the skyscraper in midtown Manhattan saying â€œclimate change = mass murder,â€ with the word â€œchangeâ€ crossed out and replaced with â€œemergency,â€ according to pictures posted by the website of 1010 Wins radio. \n\nAnother banner was attached to the Port Authority Bus Terminal across the street saying simply â€œclimate emergency,â€ \n\nDemonstrators chanted â€œtell the truth,â€ a reporter for The Guardian on the scene tweeted. \n\nAccording to 1010 Wins, a spokeswoman for Extinction Rebellion, Eve Mosher, said the group wants the media to report on â€œthe climate emergencyâ€ so that â€œpeople can start pushing for more radical responses.â€ \n\nAnother protester, Donna Nicolino, told The Guardian she was ready to be arrested because â€œwe want the New York Times as well as all the other media to treat climate change as the crisis it is.â€ \n\nPolice removed the banners and arrested protesters who had climbed atop an overhang above the ground floor of the Times building, social media pictures showed. \n\nThere is no national news organization that devotes more time, staff or resources to producing deeply reported coverage to help readers understand climate change than The New York Times, â€œ spokeswoman Danielle Rhodes Ha told The Guardian, saying the newspaper published 795 articles about the issue in 2018. 6339 Who knows? Maybe there's some cherry-picking going on with which papers get the most prominently reported. \n\n​\n\nBesides, it would do everyone a bit of good if they keep this in mind, regardless of how much propaganda is getting re-printed on either side. Even if the Democrats get 1% of the propaganda, that is still a sign that they should be a little more vigilant. 6340 Yeah, you eat back bacon and putine. 6341 Funny how, in a country of 300,000,000 people, you'll find groups that practice different safety standards. 6342 I mean, that's not too out of the question honestly. I'd imagine the whole experience was quite traumatic. Especially if she was considering jumping out of the dam plane. 6343 Silk makes a great cashew and almond milk that has 10 grams of protein per cup. 6344 Right up until he murdered someone with his car with full premeditation. 6345 My opinion is that this is important for people to read and see. 6346 Don't care, fairlife is the shit! 6347 Cali cows are fake â€ 6348 My personal belief is that abortion should be legal until the baby would be viable outside the womb. In a perfect world, that is the compromise that I think makes more sense, but when I am nailed to the wall and forced to pick a side in debates online, I make the case for pro-life. It makes more sense to me than the laws being passed allowing abortion up until the moment of birth, so if I have to pick a side, that's the one I'm going with. 6349 [removed] 6350 [removed] 6351 Fuck fields and fuck yourself too! 6352 You'd think the owners would care more as their product is being damaged or killed. 6353 Yeah we could tell 6354 > You and him have this silly assertion that I don't care about rape because I support a women's right to choose which doesn't follow from that belief. \n\nNo, you keep saying this. You have stated multiple times that you believe a woman should have a right to abortion until the baby is viable and there is no threat to the mother. But you still keep bringing up rape even though rape is not a factor if you want all abortions to be legal, except within the parameters outlined above. 6355 CIA puts it on a plane back to central america and they try again 6356 I donâ€™t believe in the death penalty because if weâ€™re wrong, if canâ€™t be reversed. And, it just makes us killers as well. But also, because I think a lifetime in PC Solitary is far worse punishment, and much cheaper than than years of extensions and literally over \$1M. Just let them rot. 6357 The real crime here is the shitty pop up ads when you click the link to the article 6358 While I don't disagree entirely, I do wonder about the efficacy of this with the internet. During the early days of the internet, people thought if we connect people and improve acceptance, bridge gaps, and reduce conflict, but people have self-segregated on the internet just as they do in in society. Socially ostracizing people on the fringe typically just drives them deeper into the small groups where they do find acceptance on the internet where there is already an echo chamber of ideas that align with their prejudices. This could server to only embed their beliefs further and move them further towards the extreme. 6359 Yeah idk, the standard store brand gallon of milk where I live seems to range between \$1-\$3. 6360 [removed] 6361 It would also be interesting if you provided a source for your claim the emissions dramatically rose because some protestors were in the street for an hour according to "researchers". \n\nIf you'd like, you can walk that back and just say that was what you thought would happen. 6362 Also there should be a photo of the driver! 6363 Not nearly comparable to how much water the dairy industry uses. 6364 [removed] 6365 No still pasteurized but not homogenized. Homogenisation is what keeps milk from separating to cream. 6366 I'm vegan and pretty vocal about it on reddit, sooo 6367 Seriously, I'm not even vegan but how delusional do you have to be to think this is an isolated incident? Lol, wait until people find out what an industrial chicken farm looks like. 6368 If you search you'll easily find tons of videos of mother cows in great distress after their babies are taken away. What I see in your response is an attempt to justify consuming dairy. I don't think you really care to hear the facts. I agree it's better to try to reduce harm than do nothing at all but let's not be ignorant of how terrible the dairy industry is even if the conditions are as ideal as possible. Like you said, no matter what it involves artificial insemination, separating mom and baby, and ultimately the slaughter of all involved. There's nothing humane about that. 6369 Large corporations have made it almost impossible to compete as a family farm, and those who work for the large corporations are essentially indentured servants kept in poverty by their employers. \n\nThey often don't have many options, and being hit with massive legal fees after the large corporations and their teams of lawyers file lawsuits for violating the contract would likely cost a farmer their livelihood. \n\nIt's horrible the way things have become. x (If you haven't watched the food documentary on Netflix called "Food: Inc" or something similar, you should check it out. It essentially walks you through where your food comes, and shines a lot of light on the incredibly corrupt agricultural industry in this country. 6370 What are you smoking? 6371 Where do you get the either or from? Capitalism or Communism. Bought into the propaganda machine you have. There are other options. \n\nI would ask you how calling someone delusional helps either side but I'm not certain you've thought that out. I'll happily take the label of delusional, it allows me to see options that most have never considered and puts me in good company. 6372 [removed] 6373 You're still an idiot. 6374 Based on my experience playing City Skylines, the best thing to do is build lots of walkways across and under roads so that cars don't even need to slow down much for right turns. 6375 How a society treats the weak, the old, the sick, and those who cannot speak for themselves - the unborn- says a lot about the people in that society. 6376 Neither are chicken tenders and I don't see Reddit rushing to the rescue. 6377 > Temple Grandin is a complete fraud \n\nI have a friend who swears by Grandin. I've been googling but all I can find are monetary frauds by organizations she's spoken to. Do you have anything substantial I could read and maybe pass on to my friend? 6378 Because they want you to read the story. 6379 \https://www.bbc.com/news/science-environment-46654042 \n\nAlmond milk, while worse than any other non-dairy milk as measured by water use, is still far better than dairy milk in all three categories of environmental impact. 6380 I really dig Silk cashew + almond protein chocolate milk if anyone wants a cow milk free option. 6381 [removed] 6382 Yuuuuup. Flew 8 hours to Italy, then 7 hours back from Spain and slept 45 minutes combined. No wifi on the plane either even though they told us there would be. 6383 Yeah. 6384 That last statement is just not true. Stop spreading falsehoods. \n\n​ \n\nThere were just over 600k abortion sent in the US in 2015 (last year data is available) \n\nThere were just under 600k babies born the same year whose parents identified them as "black" \n\n​ \n\nso less than 90% of all abortions are by black mothers (hint: they aren't)... \n\nTHAT'S A LIE, AND LYING IS BAD 6385 Yeah, I was aware. Too sweet to not be, with that sugar coat at least. 6386 All sides have this same problem but most of them still let you visit their site anyways be they“re not cunts. 6387 I love meat and dairy, but I'd also like to eat ethically. How can I do that, seriously? I'm not being sarcastic, I'm cutting back on meat and dairy, but what brands are ethical? Do you have any suggestions? 6388 I am from rural missouri and not once have I heard of a local actually pronouncing it Miz-ur-ah. I have only heard it pronounced that way by politicians being idiots and people saying it out of jest. 6389 A lot of people care actually 6390 [removed] 6391 No, not the potatoes! ∑ 6392 [removed] 6393 How much water a cow drinks in its life divided by the amount of milk it produces. I doubt dehydrated cows put out much milk. 6394 Those are not milk. Do you consider peanut butter to be butter? 6395 > \n\nWe at fairlife are committed to the humane and compassionate care of animals “ it is one of our core values. As previously communicated, fairlife has already discontinued the use of milk from Fair Oaks Farms. \n\nThey had to know this was going to be an even tougher PR nightmare considering their company is "fairlife" and the farm they stopped getting milk from is "Fair Oaks Farm". 6396 Gotta make a move to a town that's right for me 6397 I need to reread this. I read it the first time as a commuting book while on the train, and I feel like I missed a lot 6398 I wonder what she would have done if it were a child. A human child. 6399 The day the Americans stop having such a heavy appetite for drugs, that's the day Mexico will stop the cartels. Vicious cycle. 6400 Well that's way worse than an email server. 6401 If that's true, what's your thesis on why that is? \n\nIt's because the disease doesn't actually spread through inhaled respiratory droplets, but by some other magic mechanism that transcends physical barriers? 6402 Congratulations Spirit Airlines fans, your airline will be turned into shit. 6403 Yeah, esp when some poor soul died for that joke. 6404 It doesn“t help that she was walking her bike too. It may have been in the way. 6405 Ya I thrm to come out. If they dont tear gas. \n\nThese people arent convicted. \n\nPlus why put anyone else in danger. \n\nNo knocks are even dangerous for the police. Why the hell do these exist. \n\nTurn off the water if your afraid of flushing drugs 6406 in the past there was not a pandemic, currently there is a deadly pandemic so im going to go ahead and say thats the difference, the "end game" focus should be on ending the pandemic and reaching herd immunity, not ending mask wearing, its a piece of fabric, that should be the last of our concerns, and you focus on it shows your poor ability to prioritize. 6407 Are you the Gatekeeper or the Keymaster? And yes, you are correct. I dislike people and organizations that have“ flexible interpretations of the rules, especially when they use the rules to benefit them, and flaunt the rules when the rules go against their desires. Hypocrites, the lot of them. 6408 Press button before they cross the bridge sounds like a disaster waiting to happen. I'll just stop and adjust my shoe... 6409 THERE“s the part of this discussion I was looking for!!! 6410 [removed] 6411 You're taking 'I trust the police slightly more than a stranger with a gun' real far there. 6412 Now that I agree with. Universal masking for eternity I do not. 6413 This is terrible. At this bridge, there are no physical blocks like at railroad crossings? no flashing lights or alarms? Or are those the “ safety persuasions“ that somehow didn“t work? 6414 [removed] 6415 the bridge tender is (almost) always in a small tower IN THE MIDDLE of the span. According to the news article, she was 10 feet from the middle line which means either she was either RIGHT BELOW the tender or directly across. \n\nShe was RIGHT BELOW, she may not be easily visible so they put cameras out there covering the sidewalk. \n\nIt was this truly an accident, my bet is the cars were out and the tender did not check visually. Combine that with a person in a hurry that ducks under the barricades and walks over anyway and it's a bad day. \n\nIt was not an accident (a much much unlikely theory) and I am not casting dispersions, but maybe the tender was sick and tired of people ducking the barricade and then take their sweet ass time strolling across holding ERYBODY UP. \n\nFigures 'I'll crack it for a couple seconds so she can't get across and she'll run back under the barricade." and THEN COULDN'T STOP IT. \n\nEveryone on the bridge was surely honking and flashing their beams, getting out of the car and waving at the tender and pointing- etc. 6416 Imo both have been pretty good but this sucks because they were always competing with each other on price. This deal should be blocked! 6417 While I agree with the judge in this case, a single district judge's ruling doesn't make the constitutionality irrefragable either. 6418 Good. The latest studies show masks in school are a net negative on children. They are low risk to serious illness. Real world fact that kids can“t be expected to wear a mask properly all day long. And that masks prevent non verbal communication that is important for development. 6419 Cyberpunk stories usually depict normal able bodied people using cyberneek implants to become Supermen \n\nI'm interested in reading a story where a cripple uses his / her implants to live a normal life 6420 That makes a lot more sense. I didn“t consider there being a big enough gap at the spot where the bridge swings up to fall through. Man that“s terrible. 6421 "Oooh scary bad people justify my hypocrisy! They're seriously so super bad it's ok! Also people who disagree with me have the wrong motivation!" 6422 Hey, I'm not just an internet randon on this topic! Source: lived in the area for 30 years, been across the many bridges by car, bike and foot quite often. \n\nYou get a damn loud bell ringing when the bridges go, along with crossguards going down. I can't fathom how someone could find themselves in that situation. It's like getting hit by a train, you have to be already doing something dumb to put yourself into that situation in the first place. In that area, it's not like rural crossings where they just put a sign -- you get crossguards, lights, the works. You have to be doing something bad already to be in a situation to be hit. And even if you're walking along the tracks, those bastard THRUM when a train is on the way. Even if you're not listening for the horn, the thrumming will let you know. Always got a kick when I was biking and the crossguards came down. You hear the thrumming and it feels like something elemental howling past, like a force of nature. \n\nSad this is how she went. Must have been terrifying. 6423 You“re missing my point. Every draw bridge I“ve come across has warning signs + loud alarms that you can“t miss when it“s about to raise. And it usually raises very slowly and not just the second the alarms start going off. \n\nThat combined with the fact that the residents seem to be shocked this happened this had never happened on this bridge before, something isn“t adding up. To me at least, it doesn“t seem outrageous to question whether this lady was violating the precautions that come with crossing a draw bridge. Aka walking in the middle of the street vs walking on the sidewalk as it pertains to your analogy. 6424 Generally, yes. \n\nThe party platform was shitty before Hitler. \n\nThough I will mention Boss joined the Nazi party after Hitler joined the party, but before Hitler became chancellor. 6425 This was a company that gross“d \$3 Billion a year, they had teams of accountants that still flipped out for every counterfeit bill 6426 [removed] 6427 Wait, are you really saying it's okay for someone in a position of authority whose reputation for violent overreactions has only grown in the past decade to harass a woman because... sometimes creepy advances work? 6428 I mean if we are electing old white men, why not one who seems fairly competent and not senile... like Bernie. \n\nOh I forgot, anything left of authoritarian is considered democratic socialism and we don't like that kind of communism in the totally united and not divided states of america. 6429 Just say you don“t care about women. 6430 Don't give 'em any ideas! Soon there might be a caravan of trucks blocking roads and interfering with commerce to protest against narmby-pamby "safer bridge initiatives". 6431 > protests are legal \n\nsiege is not. \n\nHow do you draw the line? 6432 Yes. \n\nNorth America and America are different things. 6433 Have, and I guess you haven't done every investigation there is on earth. 6434 Where did you get your Pld in epidemiology? 6435 Informants aren't FBI agents. 6436 K, well trusting the police is kind of a privileged thing to do. \n\nNo, I don't pretend a gun is a magic talisman that prevents crime. I just recognize I can't really depend on others for my personal security. If I'm attacked then I just have the means to try and stop it. \n\nTo actually prevent crime we'd need to do things like invest in social programs and reduce income inequality. 6437 Maybe she was in shock? 6438 JetBlue had a great product once but now doesn“t compete in either cost or amenities. For being a “ discount“ airline I“ve found their routes aren“t very useful and they“ve often way more expensive than American or delta. 6439 Because real life isn't a Netflix movie. 6440 [removed] 6441 [removed] 6442 I'm sure there was a camera... 6443 [removed] 6444 That's a very obvious bad faith argument, and everyone reading that knows that you were lying when you wrote it. 6445 [removed] 6446 herd immunity exists as a concept to protect those who can not get vaccinated but we haven't reached that yet because of people who are anti science and against vaccines and masks 6447 That's not Gene therapy. mRNA cannot change the genetic structure of cells. \n\nAlso, it's worth pointing out that anecdotal evidence does not represent statistical data. \n\nA sample size of 10 vs. A sample size of literally millions. \n\nBut whatever. Keep spreading mis information and shitting on people that trust scientific data 6448 What a horrible death 6449 [removed] 6450 They had a time before Hitler. You're telling me that every person in that political party was a horrible person? 6451 I thought about that too. But basically it didn“t have to go up all that fast even in the first second it will make a gap too big to jump. If she didn“t react instantly and abandon her bike and run and dive. \n\nAnd going back wasn“t any option cause the slope would get steeper and steeper by the second 6452 [removed] 6453 No im afraid of politicians who find gangs to commit crimes and funnel drugs into the states to make people hate minorities. im not afraid of the police who have to deal with groups like los familias or even the Nazi wannabes. \n\nThe fact your caught up on the who whose side is right agenda is baffling. Criminals are bad they dont care those same people would have shot them regardless if I didn't have the right to own a gun. 6454 I do work at a plant that has a lot of conveyor belts. Alongside each belt is a bright red neon plastic cable, with signs next to it that say "EMERGENCY STOP". \n\nThe idea is, if someone falls onto the belts and starts getting carried towards some kind of cruncher, anyone can yank on that belt and it'll stop. \n\nSounds like they need to install those along the walkways of this bridge. 6455 [removed] 6456 Years ago when I worked in a psychiatric hospital, there were always bridge operators (here in NJ there are lots of small bridges that connect islands, inlets, bays, etc along the shores) in the drug and alcohol rehab unit because of issues like this, though usually not fatal. It's a mind-numbing job and lots of substance abuse because of long hours with little work to do and no supervision. Let's see what happened here, but if I had to bet... 6457 "I thought it was a terrible thing when she ripped up the speech. First of all, it's an official document. You're not allowed. It's illegal what she did. She broke the law." \n\nHe knew what he was doing. 6458 But Hillary's emails...!/? The fact that this man had enough votes to (use the flaws of the electoral college to) become president is a hard pill. That people are still supporting him, after every tricking incredibly immoral BS this MF pulled is incomprehensible. Not sure what is worse, President Bonespurs himself, his enablers or his supporters. Disgusting. Truly disgusting. The hypocrisy, the greed for attention, the deeply rooted bitterness and hate in him and his supporters has put me on the edge of a breakdown. My only solution, for the sake of my own mental health, was to start ignoring it all, stop following the news altogether and hope that this nightmare is over soon. 6459 Good thing they suffer mild symptoms and never die of it. This bullshit is over. 6460 And vice-versa, it gets Spirit excited to some of Frontier's slots. Win-win on both sides. 6461 Yes, that was her. Thank you. 6462 People screw up all the time, protocols/systems are in place to avoid disaster when that happens. People have seizures, psychotic episodes, get drug habits, etc. Systems that DEPEND on humans being infallible are flawed. 6463 Historical sites like this bar should be preserved for future generations. 6464 This is some Squid Games nightmare flue. 6465 What he was suspected of has absolutely no bearing on whether he has an immediate threat to officers or the public at the time he was executed. 6466 Here let me narrow it down for someone as simple as yourself: cheaper, faster, and more energy efficient than any other means to transfer money. Go ahead say it means nothing in value but then why are banks worth money? Trans unions? Credit agencies. I love these comments because I“ll get to look back in 5 years and laugh. Just like 2018. Best of luck talking down a superior technology mr AOL. 6467 Also a reason never to go biking 6468 Drive by“e needs to be less accurate to target than a fucking sub machine gun, and they way you use those is “cepsay and pray“e 6469 > warned people at the time about gloating about Trump's impeachments \n\nI'm sure sure but he also absolutely did need to be impeached for both of those things. 6470 They make no sense. \n\nThe excuse is its harder for them to flush drugs or whatever. But they could just turn off the water. \n\nSurround the place. Send a unarmed robot in and tell them to come out with hands up \n\nThe people being raided in a no knock have the right to shoot back even. It literally just starts a firefight 6471 Finally, the floccinaucuphilipflication of the word antidisestablishmentarianism has come to an end!!! 6472 Which parts of California are excluded from their ridiculous tax rates? 6473 I don't recall seeing a hypothetical system proposed by you, so I can't comment on how good it is. \n\nStealing your twins ID would be one method of cheating a simple ID system. However that would take the already small number of cheaters and then limit them to only people with twins. So that's pretty little. Ideally we would have zero occurrences though. Adding finger prints would not be a bad addition at all. \n\nAs far as soldiers are concerned, I don't think mail in ballots should be used, but voting in person at their closest base. The military would be in constant control of those ballots, so presumably better security than what ballots have here. Might not be perfect but I think it's better. 6474 The span of the drawbridge portion of the bridge is only around 200ft. With a casual walking speed of 3mph, it would take about 45 seconds to walk that far. I don't know the process for opening this bridge, but normally there is some time between the sirens going off and the gate lowering and when the bridge actually starts to open. 6475 This is incredibly contagious with a high percentage of long COVID cases. Look at flu deaths each year, then look at how they dropped off when people wore masks. Now, look at flu deaths compared to COVID deaths. 6476 > Having been in one of those towers before, blind spots aren't really realistic. \n\nThey most certainly are realistic and can vary bridge to bridge, the tower I work in has plenty of blind spots that I have to check before every opening. 6477 Israel opens first LGBT reeducation center. \n\nFixed it for you. 6478 Reminds me of 'Upgrade' - great movie! 6479 So another comment explained that the die did fall between the gap of where the bridge raises and the road and would have fallen onto the concrete base of the bridge. The bridge doesn“t have a street below it it goes over the water. ___ / <kind of like this 6480 You are the one who has no idea what you're talking about. 6481 If you don't trust the public to set fines at the right level to dissuade reckless behavior from private operators, why would you trust the public to manage well in the first place? \n\nOr to put it differently: if the public is able to correctly assess the risks, then it is able to set fines at a sufficient level. 6482 They had just completed the basic underwater demer course (according to source) is that all dummie explosives? \n\nThey might have held their breath too which would cause serious internal injuries. 6483 [removed] 6484 [removed] 6485 By your logic, how would mask mandates ever end? There have always been risks of disease being spread to vulnerable populations, yet we haven't required masks in the past. What is the end game for mask wearing? 6486 [removed] 6487 Are you seriously saying that "nothing is really any different" about the largest pandemic in human history, caused by a disease that didn't exist 3 years ago but is now the #3 leading cause of death? 6488 Kids only dislike them if their parents do 6489 she should have but for whatever reason did not. 6490 No one said she couldn't stand on the railing. 6491 [removed] 6492 > They even determined that its size is seven solar masses and that it travels at a speed of approximately 45 kilometers per second. \n\nSo basically it“s a star that went supernova and was somehow ejected from its galaxy. \n\nI wonder if there are freefloating supermassive black holes too, maybe from the earliest galaxies that have long burnt out. 6493 Those aren“t the questions you should be asking 6494 Two points now, first, regulating something doesn't fix the problem, licensing doesn't work either, my point is across the examples people are the issue, not things. Unhinged people. The second point being completely separate from the first and not tied to the conversation at large, is even with the bigger issues at hand, this is the one we're on about, while the others only get a feeling you'd advocate for better. 6495 I live where this happened and the video you shared is crazy fast. The bridges do not open that fast. They are extremely slow. \n\nShe was running from the center of the bridge because the bridge tender didn't check and just started opening it then it's super horrific she was so close to making it. But, if she was just sauntering around thinking she had plenty of time then it's on her. If it started to open and she was already in this location she would have had time to clear the gap. I really don't understand why this happened outside of the operator opening while she was in the middle or her just not giving a single shit until it was way too late. It will be very interesting to find out how this happened. \n\nWe have many bridges like this in the area and I have had family tend bridges in my younger years. I don't ever remember anyone doing like this before now. 6496 Yeah I wouldn't know if I should ditch my bike, how I was gonna dodge the barrier right after the gap... regardless of awareness, this is terrible, unsafe design. 6497 Keep your head in the ground, Ostich 6498 Is there anyone who actually likes Boris Johnson? 6499 Why would a seat belt stay in my body after I get out of my truck? 6500 Free him 6501 "Ohana means family. Family means noone gets left alive. Or forgotten." 6502 10 years? Nice, maybe they“ll let him get his CDL again too. 6503 You can“t pet tigers at the zoo? 6504 Man I am sick of it too. But I am considering that you might not be out of the woods if another variant comes around several months down the road and it can evade the antibodies your body makes. Let“s all freaking hope this does NOT happen. Just wanted to put it out there. Stay safe, friend. 6505 I never had a gun pulled on me but damn was my dad fucking paranoid about people breaking in. he'd get mad I'd go to bed with my headphones on, like dude we're poor, we lived in a duplex and are friends with most the neighbors. We have a couple yapper dogs, chickens, rabbits, and parrots. NOBODY CARES and if they did we have a dozen built in alarm systems that require feed and pets. 6506 I mean, they were there so the white racist could feel like they had power over others. 6507 Your exact post could have been made on any day in the last 18 months and would be equally relevant. 6508 Egg boxes wrapped in crap leather for interiors. 6509 Trump's election pretty much sealed the deal on that, and the subsequent overt corruption and treason that went unpunished ensured America and its citizens would be treated as full blown schizos for many years down the road. 6510 Cancă'n Cruzăc' always readyăc' to flee. 6511 10 is pretty much exactly on par for manslaughter basically everywhere. It exceeds the maximum sentence for manslaughter in Colorado. 6512 manslaughter is not and should not be sentenced the same as intentional malicious murder 6512 That's not quite right. You should include the chance of a mass recall being forced on you down the road, D, and the cost of a mass recall per car, E. 6513 $(A \times B \times C) + (D \times E \times A) =$ the cost of not recalling today. If E x A is more than the cost of not recalling today then get those lawyers ready and start gambling. 6513 And the company he worked for? 6514 Also for the young and unvaccinated. 6515 [removed] 6516 But go back to work in 5 days, peasants. 6517 Americans are too comfy being slaves, why would they ever riot when it's easier to be lazy and take the abuse.... I'm American BTW but I got out and I'm currently living my best life in a country with mostly free healthcare and low cost of living. 6518 Makes sense if this was one of those statues of racist treasonous loser slave-driving anti-American fascist scum. 6519 It depends on who he kills without knowing who he's killing I guess lol 6520 Lol just watched this movie ôY... 6521 [removed] 6522 [removed] 6523 I could be wrong, but I donăc'tm believe measles had an infection rate like omicron. Surpassing 500k new cases a day in just the US is pretty crazy 6524 The boys Lady Lindsey prefers are all of age. AFAIK 6525 [removed] 6526 13 year old riding a dirt bike on the streets, speeding, and not following the rules of the road because they donăc'tm know them. Either they cause an accident or they kill the 13 year old in an accident and everyone wants their head for it, even though ităc'tm not their fault 6527 [removed] 6528 >10 years/ninfor fuck this/ninfor sentencing precludes double punishment: No one should serve consecutive sentences resulting from the same act. This is fundamental: Sentencing like this would allow the state to create arbitrary criminal statutes and sentence people to arbitrary confinement by stacking charges. It would renders the 8th amendment meaningless, and in many states it's explicitly forbidden. 6529 The norm is that the total time served will not exceed the sentence for the most severe crime, and any charges resulting from the same intent should run concurrently. 6530 Vehicle manslaughter is the most severe crime here, and no one could argue with a straight face that there was specific intent to harm multiple people. Which means, following consist sentencing guidelines, his sentence should not exceed the maximum that Colorado has set for vehicle manslaughter....which is 6 years. The sentencing for vehicle manslaughter exactly parallels that of manslaughter, so the the governor reducing it to 10 is already in excess of what would normally be given for similar degrees of negligence resulting in similar harms. 6531 Even if you extend that to the rest of the states, almost no where does manslaughter exceed 15 years (using the usual reckless definition and not some of the weird states where manslaughter and intentional murder have overlap), and in those states comparable negligence and harm would result in a sentence not more than 10 years almost all of the time. 6532 10 years is almost exactly on par for his level of culpability, is infact a pretty severe sentence for manslaughter, and exceeds the maximum he could get in Colorado for manslaughter. It is not 'to light', but the norm almost everywhere that follows the western legal tradition. 25-30 is what would be the sentence for intentional malicious murder, not manslaughter. 6533 Also "refusal to entertain any pre-trial plea deals", should, must, have zero bearing on sentencing. Enhanced sentencing for someone exercising their constitutional right to a fair trial is abhorrent and you should reconsider whatever through process that lead you to the alternative conclusion. 6534 That's the thing that gets me about the whole thing. The perfect storm of it all, where normally I could dismiss one or two things, everything lined up so perfectly for him to have a window to either kill himself or get got, it smells fishy. Especially when one considers who he was connected to. 6535 Bona fide occupational quality - what would otherwise be discriminatory is allowed if truly necessary for the job, in this case a driver needing to be able to understand English-language signage 6536 With that, I believe we're done. You don't have a J.D. or an M.D. 6537 You're some loudmouth with zero professional training and if you wanted to pretend you were a member the Bar, you'd at least be capable of arguing some bullshit legal position to combat common sense health measures suggested by doctors and medical associations. 6538 Enjoy your M.A. degree. I'm sure it will take you far. 6539 [removed] 6540 You can just look it up and read about you know. I don't care what martha stewart rates her while collar tax evasion prison stay, Aldersons is objectively a vacation compared to nearly anywhere else. She wasnt a violent offender and she wasnt high risk so she wouldnt need to be sent to a higher security prison, but she got it very easy, considering. 6541 Do as I say, not as I do. Besides the virus can't get you when you're eating or drinking. 6542 [removed] 6543 Nothing says you are guilty more than trying to hide evidence. 6544 Seriously if he thinks he is innocent then let them release evidence, which should prove he is innocentăc'if thatăc'tm what he thinks he is. 6545 Fuck him and release the evidence. 6546 99.2% of Democrats voted in favor of this bill/nin100% of Republicans acted against it. 6547 Fairly sure Victoria was the Queen of the largest monarchy ever. 6548 Fuck them, piles 6549 [removed] 6550 Shuffling him out of sight is as close as it gets at 'The Firm'. Actually punishing him in response to public demand would do far too much damage in their eyes by setting the precedent that he can in anyway be held accountable in by the mere temporal. 6551 Tell that to religions. 6552 [removed] 6553 Honestly it's fucked for me to say this but we struggled through all this, unemployed because of pandemic and funds ran out, no more payments. We don't have kids but still struggling to find work and no help from the government. I'm kinda glad this stopped for a selfish reason. At least now we can all be fucked together. But all in all, why should me not having kids disqualify me from getting help when it's needed.... makes no sense. But in reality I think these payments should be restarted as well as payments to people who don't have kids but still need the help because of covid. 6554 [removed] 6555 [removed] 6556 I'dk the r0 for measles is like as high as 18 or something. 6557 That's unlikely. The situation in Britain was for extradition to face criminal charges and possible jail-time, whereas Prince Andrew is being sued by a private citizen in civil court for damages (\$\$). 6558 Thereăc'tm a 99.999% chance that this is a black family though. Judging by the victims name and the neighborhood they live in being a majority black neighborhood historically. 6559 [I'm Peter File] (https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fTaKDNsIlb4c) 6560 Lmao just because you couldnăc'tm figure it out doesnăc'tm mean I was vague, nice self awareness though. And again with the irony, you talked about hitting a nerve (I guess because I had a couple of expletives in my post?) but here you are losing it. This is great, keep going. 6561 To put it into perspective: 'n1 grew up in the UP. It was 2.5 hour drive to Green Bay, or 9-10 hour drive to Detroit. Makes sense that there are a lot of brewer and packer fans up there. 6562 [removed] 6563 'There are over 550 million firearms in worldwide circulation. That's one firearm for every twelve people on the planet. The only question is: How do we arm the other 11?" - Yuri Orlov, Lord of War (2005)/n1 This one line from a movie 16 years ago seems to sum up where we as a species are headed. We're not looking to reduce the amount of violence, we're increasing it. The US is leading the way, but much of the rest of the world seems to be happily following along in various ways. 6564 [removed] 6565 The only possible explanation I can think of is that A) his english was nowhere near good enough to be trusted with operating a truck, and B) he got his CDL at a diploma-type mill that basically pushed anyone with a pulse through, and C) he worked at a company that put anyone with a CDL license and a pulse behind the wheel. While the 110 sentence made a mockery of the justice system, 10 years doesn't feel anywhere near enough given what happened. 6566 [removed] 6567 They used to do drugs. Some still do, but they used to, too. 6568 Will truck simulators prepare us for the glorious future of Tiny Home Living? 6569 [removed] 6570 What the fuck are covid pills 6571 [removed] 6572 People guying oil and gas with US dollars doesn't mean anything. All oil purchases worldwide amount to less than 1% of the global economy. The term petro-dollar as you are using it here, does not exist. 6573 Those countries that want to use the Euro, Yuan, Yen, Pound or other currency to purchase oil on the international markets, are free to do so. Iran accepts Euros. India has, at times, paid with Rupees. 6574 It doesn't matter what currency you pay for your oil or blue jeans in. It just does not matter. All that matters is if you pay for it. 6575 He's an embarrassment to his family and to his country and to the male race 6576 Dear Harvard, 6577 This is what you mean when you said the best and the brightest? 6578 That mistrust is the price we pay for living in a country as stupid as the US 6579 [removed] 6580 Sounds like he's really sweating it 6581 Your mom has bad taste in men 6571 Have you seen how rich the demon-rats are? I don't have private jet. Shit I don't have a Tesla 3. Not do I have Gramma in Puerto Rico living in a shitty apartment that I blame on the republicans. 6582 Check out some of their new worth from insider trading? You and I would be imprisoned for this crap. 6572 It was not an accident. He intentionally fired and hit his target. Horrible mistake. Tragic mistake. But not an accident. 6573 I get what youăc'tm saying, but I think 15-20 is the better length for recklessly killing four people. 6574 Historically- yes. 6575 He needs to be stripped from his titles and jailed! What a fucking cunt!.. 6576 yeah that's probably what's happening. In which case the higher infection rate is really just driving more and more vulnerable and unvaxxed people to hospitals if they happened to miss the last variant. Also worth noting having covid itself is a preexisting condition so anyone having their second run in with covid are more vulnerable too. 6577 [removed] 6578 [removed] 6579 Seven kids, six chambers. I guess if you're playing russian roulette with your children you have to play it smart. 6580 He is a stain on my country 6581 Fear and delusional narcissism sound like a great combination what can possibly go wrong 6582 [removed] 6583 Thinking 110 years is too harsh snăc'tm an endorsement of 5 years. 6584 This guy and the rest of the paedo lizard royals need hung, drawn and quartered. 6585 [removed] 6586 Go check out the % of people(vaxxed vs. unvaxxed) who are hospitalised and/or die of covid, and you'll never claim they aren't effective again 6587 Yeah, Dubya still had the DEA raiding state-legal dispensaries up until 2009. No shame. 6588 Really hard to track down though. 6589 This description reminds me of mosquitos in the Everglades. 6590 [removed] 6591 Pfif, rookie numbers. The UK is way ahead. (per capita). 6592 I hope we get more evidence than this about these guys. A lot of people flew in his plane. Naomi Klein flew in it, and lăc'tm be frankly surprised to find out she was diddling 14 year old girls. 6593 I suspect the evidence is there regarding dozens of powerful men, and I suspect we will never ever see it. Prince Andrew has already been thrown under the bus, but ostracization from the Rowan family is probably as far as even thatăc'tm going to go. 6593 [removed] 6594 When are we going to arrest Clinton? 6595 [removed] 6596 Right, because you were so clear with your communication. Dumbfuck. Easier just to be vague and claim victory than to use your words to make a point. I'm not surprised you chose option A. It's easy and you don't have to actually say anything worth listening to lol. 6597 Aw shit, here we go again. 6598 Usa could destroy the country and steal the oil. 6599 Iraq and Libya. 6599 This is what I get to come back to tomorrow. Currently sitting in Narita Airport, Japan and looked up the daily cases in Japan. It was 437 new cases in the whole country. 6600 What they're trying to avoid is a mass exodus of western money, then eastern money (china) swooping in and buying the entirety of russia for a couple pennies. 6601 To be fair, there are weeks contained within years 6602 [removed] 6603 > I donăc'tm know anyone who carries concealed that doesnăc'tm do this. 6604 I have plenty of black friends who go out looking ragged and carry. There's no fucking way they're going to give the police any information outside of an arrest, it's just asking for unwanted trouble. 6605 When i had multiple job sites i was travelling back and forth to, sure i was carrying, and every time i got pulled over (i'm white) i announced i had a firearm and where it was. Got warnings, too. 5 times i got stopped, all warnings, once was mardi gras and the cop smelled wine (i said i'd had a glass at dinner, which was true, i didn't tell him about all 4 though). 6606 Meanwhile, i've known pals that said they had firearms in the car (black) and the police immediately called backup, and searched the car, tossing everything on the side of the road. In front of their kids, too, it was a mess. 6607 Luckily the judges don't look too favorably on that kind of shit, but it happens more than it should. 6604 Yeah, they've entered a death spiral. Historically, memories are short, but I think they've got a long slog ahead. 6605 My guess is that he couldnăc'tm drive for some reason. Others have suspected he was drunk, so he would have probably reacted even worse to the tire blowing out. 6606 I'm pretty sure the real figure is somewhere between 69 and 420 6607 Hungarian pengo had a daily inflation of 207% and had the highest denomination of 100 quintillion. Worthless enough? 6608 [removed] 6609 lăc'tm always heard that exchange attributed to Winston Churchill, but apparently ităc'tm started a rotating cast of celebrities over the past century 6610 [removed] 6611 Is the market open yet? No. 6612 The moment MOEX opens, every foreign investor will pull their money, and Russia's economy will officially collapse. 6613 This is gonna be news for the foreseeable future. If you don't like it, maybe go the fuck outside, bud. 6612 What a cheat. I feel sorry for his teammates. 6613 Holy shit. Thank you for that explanation. 6614 That is the cool chess player I think of when I think of Russian people. 6615 All societies have their traitors and their zampolit and whatever people decide to be horrid. Putin sucks. 6614 [removed] 6615 Can one somehow short the Ruble? 6616 She's Tatar, actually. 6617 Why are they always attractive? It never fails 6618 A noob sailboat sounds about like the type of person that would hear a criminal idea and go along with it, drunk, stoned, or sober, or think it's reasonable that other idiots might do the same. 6619 [removed] 6620 "Putin: everything is according to plan" 6621 Because it didn't happen. They flew out a week after the no fly order was lifted. 6622 Shit, I remember when having an āceasyăc' teacher meant she didnăc'tm give a lot of homework 6623 Lol ok yes we are all lost in this thread except for you. So when you say an asset ācecan tank 500% or becomes complete worthlessăc', what percentage drop would you equate to becoming worthless then, for shits and giggles? I guess an infinite% decrease? 6624 Prior to the invasion, I bought in to the Russian propaganda that they were this big well-oiled invincible fighting machine. Now it turns out they can't even feed their own troops. 6625 [removed] 6626 I don't get it. He only informed his colleagues that she's certified for the responsible service of alcohol. 6627 [removed] 6628 Not really a problem here 6629 1. This is wrong. Title 42 is still in place meaning most refugees are denied a hearing and immediately deported (as a legal matter it doesn't count as a deportation but the effect is the same, they are removed from US soil). 6630 2. The US should welcome more refugees. All lives matter. 6630 [removed] 6631 [removed] 6632 That's why it's on the front page of Reddit. We're all one big hive mind 6633 This conspiracy theory is still circulating huh? 6634 This is almost shocking enough to move US politicians to action. 6635 [removed] 6636 [removed] 6637 Canăc'tm have unstable market if ităc'tm closed? 6638 Talk about a slap in the face. 6639 Honestly I can't imagine the levels of smug that woman felt while being such a petty shit. 6640 Yes the security officer hit with a fire hydrant and pepperspray as well as the woman trying to enter the building who was shot by the secret service officer. 6641 [removed] 6642 ? You must be missing something in translation, you are stating the opposite of what I wrote out. Russia has nearly exhausted their Tactical delivery systems using conventional warheads, which would force them to utilize the 1,400 ICBMs for delivery (with the exception of the very few dedicated Tactical systems prepositioned west). 6643 I had the chance to bang my Spanish teacher when I was a senior. I should have done it. She was fucking beautiful. 6644 The US allows everybody else into the country through Mexico. We may as well let the Ukrainians in that way too. 6645 non us market says it all. None of that is true here. Every studio has their own app and yanked Netflixăc'tm rights in a New York minute after they launched. Netflix is about 90% original content. And their original content is about 1/50 quality wise. For every Stranger things, there are 49 flops and fillersăc'. 6646 That's not necessarily true. These countries are taking a clear stance, showing that unlike his previous "endeavours" this is not something that will get swept under a rug. If nothing else, it creates pressure and isolation and it makes his life more difficult. 6647 That's definitely something worth doing by whichever means you have because eventually even the tiniest bit can be the last straw. It can have political consequences right now as well as down the line. 6648 Those who want to take a stance against it will know they won't be alone. It makes it harder for him to gain new allies. Showing any support for the country or the man would mean supporting a war criminal, making it much more difficult to play both sides, making potential defectors more likely to defect. It can also persuade countries who want to be neutral because they wouldn't just be supporting one side in a war, they'd be siding against the war criminal. Even Switzerland has taken a side now. 6649 And if it came to that, an assassination or coup would have a much easier time being justified, even if it was messy. In fact, some could see it as an invitation to actually do it, because there is now the justification of "greater good" rather than just some internal feud. There was the report about Putin replacing around a thousand of his personal staff as he's apparently afraid of being poisoned, so there definitely is a lot of pressure already. 6647 Even if I mean Floyd lăc'tm be right since then what happen to him would have just repeated on Floyd 6648 I love how in conservative "logic" a record number of arrest = "wide open" border and anyone can come across for any reason with no consequences. 6649 Rich Chinese people are willing to buy those stocks. China would have majority shares in some of Russiaăc'tm biggest companies. In other words, theyăc'tm d own the countryăc'. 6650 Actually the person he referenced, who also drank to the alleged death of the stock market during a recession a while back, was Ukrainian. So it was more of a colored political commentary than it looks first glance. 6651 The Santa Claus translation is a little inaccurate. He actually said he dressed up as Russian Krampus, who coexists with Santa Claus. It's like German Krampus but rapey-er. 6651 That's one constitutional change I'd support in a minute. It seems unfair that someone can be a U.S. Senator or Governor, but can't rise to the highest office in the land because of an accident of where they're born. The one thing a person has the least control over. 6652 [removed] 6653 What if they just donăc'tm open it again until Putin feels like it? Like, 6 months from now? 6654 Well, technically, price could go negative. 6655 [removed] 6656 [removed] 6657 [removed] 6658 But as Tony Hawk proves, just because people know your name, they might not recognize you when they bump into you at the airport. 6659 Perhaps Biden should invade Iraq again. That will teach the Saudis. 6660 ~ Racism~ stupidity cited as factor in police strip search of girl, 15, at London school 6661 The koch suckin family will prop them up as long as they can to help papa putin 6662 It's weird how the weather turns. About a month ago here in Australia, most of the east coast got a years worth of rain in about 3 days. 6663 Smartmatic will crush Fox News beneath their feet like how Mordecai crushed HR Pickens into the ground. 6664 I outlived you, Mr. Pickens! I crushed you into the ground and now your bones turn to oil beneath my living feet! I married your granddaughter, filled her belly with my festering seed and sired a boy! He is my final revenge. H.R. 6665 Source 6664 [removed] 6665 Just when you think shame is a decent motivator in itself. 6666 [removed] 6667 The.... Crappy?... Meal? 6668 Or like describing OJ Simpson as "heisman trophy winner" or "actor" 6669 [removed] 6670 Politics in the US is a hell of a drug. 6671 I think you're missing something though. 6672 Propaganda does serve a strategic purpose. Sure, being optimistic isn't gonna unsink a sinking ship, but it helps you sway opinions in your favor and just disseminate knowledge. 6673 The known problems with democracies has been decision making in times of war. That's why there's a single president/minister instead of a committee ruling the countries. 6674 Like a colony of ants, humans can energize and work together to compete astonishing tasks, but in order to do that we need to know what we're supposed to do. 6675 It's rather arbitrary whether we drive on the left or the right side of the road, but if we don't pick one we'll have so many accidents no one could drive. 6676 In the rules change so quickly that sometimes the government needs to be able to quickly inform people exactly what they can do to help out so they aren't wasting their efforts or worse, getting hurt. 6672 I donăc'tm think there was, I know one of the rioters were shot & killed but beyond that nobody was killed as far as lăc'tm aware. Unless youăc'tm counting an overdoes? 6673 [removed] 6674 Yeah. I wonder if sometimes she just wears ones that she thinks look nice or have meaning related to her own personal life. Seems like she was just doing it for fun rather than to communicate anything particularly profound. People are clearly taking it too far if they thought the waves one was some sort of political commentary on Biden causing inflation. 6675 The beet burger with cabbage leaf on the side. 6676 Arendt™ boosters literally the worst things in the F&T™ world? The fact that a school needs to hire an outside contractor to āčēboōstāčē fundraising for a school has to be one of the most disgusting thing in the US. I mean wtf we cant even give a enough money to schools so they can have extra curricular activities? This country is so F&T™ed pisses me off 6677 Thank you for calling me out on sources. I think a huge problem today is people trusting stranger on the internet without citing sources. 6678 Desalinization,\n\nDesalinization,\n\nDesalinization,\n\n\nWhen the industries involved want to get off of their collective asses and figure out a āčēcheaperāčē way to desalinate ocean water and purify it, this wonāčē™ be nearly as big a problem as it is presently. 6679 Source? Iāčē™ve never heard of this 6680 [removed] 6681 The world already measures inflation that way, you might be lost. 6682 That was a perfectly good window, too. Now it's all broken, and someone's going to have to sweep up glass shards from the street. 6683 I was going to say beanie babies. 6684 Tbh if when it finally does open I'd buy something for pennies just for shits 6685 [removed] 6686 You saying "supposedly" does not sit right with me. Not only does racism not look the same globally, you have to keep in mind that many asylum seekers are going where they think they should. Where they are told they would be safe. \n\nThe US does a great job at marketing itself as an "open country filled with opportunity" and that draws many people regardless of background. Also, because racial categories and racism look different in different countries/cultures many people coming here may not view or understand the extent of American racism/American racial structures until they get here, especially if they are only told about the positive aspects of living in the US. A lot of those positive aspects being displayed in our media by the majority group, typically White Americans, who do not deal with issues of racism at the systemic level. \n\nThere is a lot of nuance to why people leave their home countries, but if someone is leaving their home country due to racial prejudice, you have to keep in mind that their country's view of race and the US view of race might not be the same. That isn't a good or bad thing, but that difference does impact why people might choose to go to the US even with the current racially coded institutions in place. They could be considered "on the bottom" of the ethnic or racial structure in their country, but that category they're in might not even exist in the US (for example, going from "Mayan" in Mexico to "Hispanic" in the US) and that makes a world of difference. 6687 His dad should have been driving the car. It was a 75mph road at night on a spare tire.\n\nIf you want to teach a child to drive do it somewhere else 6688 Hey, it worked for the U.S. āčē™ 6689 I snort-laughed at that and then felt bad. Fairly sure it went over the heads of most local viewers. 6690 [removed] 6691 The real problem is when realistic deep fakes are cheap enough to be used widely 6692 It's the same in America. Stocks lost 15% here in the last 2 months, so you're only selling here if you're desperate and willing to eat a massive loss. 6693 [removed] 6694 News from 2025: Uncle Vanya's becomes biggest fast food chain in United Soviet States. 6695 What sort of blame the victim shit is this. 6696 I still think it's a bit understanding it to just call it a channel.\n\nIn mind you, I do live in a non-US market at the moment and they do have some differences in the library in different markets, so maybe that contributes to my experience.\n\nBut that said, we have only have few channels, which we mostly just have on for news or more as background when we're not specifically sitting down to watch something. Outside of that, we pretty much always have something in our list of things to watch on Netflix. Even if we start to get towards the end of our list, new stuff is released so we almost always have something that gets added and fills our time for TV that we actually want to sit down and watch. The variety of content is also a lot better than what I had while in the US, even with a very good cable package at the time. There's a lot more international content in particular, and a lot of it is not just "filler shows/movies", but actually well-made and/or popular content from those countries. Of course, that's not necessarily everyone's cup of tea.\n\nRegarding movies, a lot of the movies I seem to see on Netflix were theatrical releases and I am able to see a lot of movies I missed in theaters on Netflix, unless they are limited to specific platforms. They do also have a lot mediocre small stuff, and occasionally low-budget stuff that is actually pretty interesting, but even if we cut those out it's not like I find myself struggling to find something that feels worth watching or like I feel disappointed by a lot of the stuff available.\n\nI guess the main reason I felt like commenting is because it hasn't been long since people wouldn't stop talking about how terrible cable companies are, but then suddenly Netflix is getting a little more pricier and people are acting like it's horribly overpriced and just as bad as cable used to be. I've definitely missed some of the improvements of options through cable in recent years, but I still find it funny to see people complaining like this when we have more options at cheaper prices and broader access to content than maybe any time before and people are freaking out over a non-enforced \$3 fee being added as an option for those who choose that subscription option. 6697 He was the only one left on the wheel. 6698 maybe not in the cities, but rural Alabama is a thing to behold. There's poverty the likes of which you won't see anywhere else in the nation. Add in the extreme racism you find in rural Alabama and you will begin to see Ohio as a utopia in comparison. \n\nAlabama ain't no fucking joke, son. Now, pick up that can, boy. 6699 Welp, then I guess keep on referring to it your way. Thereāčē™s always a chance the world will adjust to you! 6700 You should probably stop spreading misinformation. Vaccination doesn't stop you from spreading the disease. It only reduces severity. They aren't putting anyone at risk. Besides, something like 45% of unvaccinated have natural immunity from prior infection. I imagine that number in nurses is significantly higher. The fact that they don't offer antibody titre testing as an alternative to vaxx, shows how politically motivated and poorly thought out of it. 6701 Because your forcing a vaccine in someone thatāčē™s why there leaving 6702 [removed] 6703 [removed] 6704 [deleted] 6705 It is in Canada, and we already passed herd immunity. Its sad if you think thing will "get better" when people are vaxed. Things just got Stricker for us 6706 They've been doing this for 2+ decades. Texas can fuck off and die alongside Kentucky, West Virginia and many, many other conservative states. They are holding everyone else back due to "Religious freedumbs" and it's beyond tired. 6707 Itāčē™s the cycle of life, birth, death, mehāčē, repeat. 6708 āčēčē.otsāčē meaning 1 in 10 by generous standards. When you actually look at the data instead of spreading politicized talking points, you see that a vast, vast majority of Sanders supporters voted for Clinton. 6709 If itāčē™s so clear why wonāčē™ you just tell me? From what Iāčē™ve seen you seem to be talking about not racists. Interesting that you assume none of the people protesting racism are from the right. 6710 Unpopular opinion!\n\nOur climate change is real but trusting governments to tax us enough "to save the planet" is the dumbest idea ever. A carbon tax is just a scam to syphon money. \n\nWbWb no country is on track to reach the goals of the Paris accords but we are only a couple meetings away from paying the tax. 6711 Google "how to use apostrophe-s" 6712 Thatāčē™s what Monica said 6713 Yet, although you find yourself able to nitpick my analogy, you nonetheless fully understand my point. Nurses who worked in the pandemic, no matter how hard, do not have the right to put the lives of those under their care at risk now.\n\nAnd for all that you're acting dumb to perpetuate the argument, you know that. 6714 If there is an afterlife and a creator they will have to answer for what they did. If not, they are just morale scum. 6715 [removed] 6716 I'm in experience anti vaxers are not people that no nothing about science. They know just enough to think they know something. Short of requiring them to be doctor's, nothing seems to work. 6718 [removed] 6719 reddit hates my take but I firmly believe the left had a huge part in electing Trump purposefully. They ran Clinton up against him the first time, one of the most universally disliked people. After Trump they then ran Biden as the savior? It just feels like I'm constantly getting feces thrown at me but when I mention something they bitch about censorship. 6720 [removed] 6721 Every time I read about the Max 8 I am unbelievably infuriated. I lost two dear friends in the second crash to corporate murder and the worst to come of it for Boeing was their CEO stepping down to a hefty severance package. I fucking hate the work worlds. 6722 Why is the only metric death, and what does that have to do with driving? This argument makes no sense. Get the vaccine and stop being a stain on humanity, thanks. 6723 [removed] 6724 TSA has been trying to get onto Antrak for years. 6725 Yeah ...now look up the Senators. 6726 Yup even if you throw out the inconsistencies when it came to vote tallying in that primary it still made no sense why Clinton would win 70% of black votes after she called children super predators (Biden did the same) and her supporters birthed the "birther" movement. The general electorate is very low information voters. 6727 Got any news articles which show that? 6728 So who allowed this kids picture like this to be used. Seems fishy 6729 Although the bible refers to all Christians as āčēscāčēsāčē so he technically is a saint. Hooray! 6730 [removed] 6731 The world needs more Massive Attack. 6732 I mean, if you want to go even further, Iāčē™m pretty sure Bill Clinton and George bush are related. 6733 [removed] 6734 I know. I donāčē™ need your affirmation though. 6735 For saying a factual statement? That's the main contributor for child deaths with covid, by far. Is data okay to discuss until it's inconvenient or? 6736 [removed] 6737 I agree he shouldn't have said it. I've often dipped my toe into the bilge infested waters of the alt-right because I believe in being able to discuss "dangerous Ideas" without being condemned for raising them.\n\nThis is one instance where Bernie was killed for suggesting that Castro did a lot of things better than the US government has been doing lately. That's controversial, but an important thing to think about. 6738 [removed] 6739 His herpes must be flaring up again. 6740 [removed] 6741 The EU and UK have stricter food policies than the USA. Most of our food is filled with toxic shit. 6742 "people's money" would be kind of downplaying it, we are talking about hundreds of millions and perhaps a few billion euros from european and romanian funds. Outrageous for a church that it's own archbishop claimed to have "practically no money" back in 2007... 6743 I know, right? The television confirms this. You're smart. 6744 What did he do? Threaten to expose his wife? 6745 I would certainly love to read about those rules, but, again, most vaccines have a little more research in them than 9 months of total study, and we're still violating bodily integrity when we arguably shouldn't be. 6746 This was the plot to a King of the Hill episode 6747 This only the beginning. 6748 Former president and known associate of Jeffrey Epstein 6749 [removed] 6750 And donāčē™ forget the other inmates, with young kids at home, who will have a chat of sorts with this POS in the yard. 6751 DNC Rigging... mrrreecceee 6752 You are logging to hard 6753 [removed] 6754 Or just didnāčē™ vote 6755 [removed] 6756 [removed] 6757 I'm 43 and already just basically floating through work every day. 6758 This is verifiably false. Like an actual lie. More Hillary voters went with McCain in 08 than Sanders supporters voted trump in 16 6759 [removed] 6760 Florida just has the sunshine law. So we got a bad reputation for being transparent. 6761 The other day I heard my neighbor (in PA) exclaim to my other neighbor āčēčēYou canāčē™ shop at WalMart - theyāčē™re DEMOCRAT!! You might as well invite the Taliban into your home!āčē™\n\nJFC, you gysāčē, 6762 [removed] 6763 Don't mind me, I am just here for the inevitable "Clinton-hate" comments.\n\nThis reminds me- how many of the negative comments are because of actual dislike of his policymaking when he was president, how many are due to being offended by his personal life decisions, and how many are just because people have been taught to hate the name "Clinton" for at least 30 years. 6764 Why did Warren stay in? 6765 [removed] 6766 [removed] 6767 [removed] 6768 [removed] 6769 That's pretty tame compared to the next couple guys. 6770 If driving recklessly is required to save even more lives drive like you stole it. Idiot reference perfect reply. NEXT 6771 [removed] 6772 [removed] 6773 [removed] 6774 Google "Clinton bodycount" 6775 That's the first thing he's ever admitted to 6776 It forces our broken immigration system on Mexico. If we are going to have a wait time of a decade plus to get into the country it isn't right to make them wait in Mexico, other than the obvious cruelty. \n\nLike many of Trump's policies, like family separation, like wait in Mexico, the cruelty was the point. 6777 [removed] 6778 Did the syphilis finally eat too much of his brain? 6779 The fact this comment has so many upvotes makes me lose hope for humanity. Hatred and anger are supported way to much. 6780 [removed] 6781 [removed] 6782 [removed] 6783 Fair point! Probably the Mongols were in the wrong a lot but they still won. 6784 There's plenty, it's just that they don't have the political experience of the 80 year olds, so the media doesn't take them seriously. 6785 Or that much of him 6786 Source please? 6787 With the exception of a few blips that resulted in the mass migrations to Miami, there was generally minimal internal strife and the standard of living was greater than that of the US. Healthcare comes to mind.\n\nAuthoritarianism is always a bad thing and I would never call Castro "benevolent", but when the supposed "bad guy" does a better job at providing for his citizens than the US government, it should be cause for some introspection. 6788 [removed] 6789 [removed] 6790 Weird how no kid got sick till now. 6791 [removed] 6792 [deleted] 6793 As it should be. Yes we should be free to choose as individuals, but that doesn't mean free from consequences. 6794 [removed] 6795 A lot of people said thing exactly that. That the story of WWII, the holocaust, Imperial Japan and Nazi Germany needs to be more "balanced" and "fair" its the same shit that the southern strategy did with the civil war. Vicious evil losers trying to reclaim some kind of moral ground and muddy the water so their ideology can live on. 6796 [removed] 6797 [removed] 6798 Heāčē™s such a genuinely good person. I hate that heāčē™s been reduced to an unfunny punchline for a lot of Americans who donāčē™ pay attention. 6799 I doubt it. You have to do a total 180 on everything Sanders believes in to vote for Trump. 6800 Not for a for-profit business. They literally could not exist without making money. 6801 [removed] 6802 Desert? Most of Wyoming lacks land use laws already and there's water. A new town in the Dakotas could upend the balance and they go to Tooteno? 6803 This is psychotic. 6804 > while Idaho has it's issues, being a desert isn't one!\n\nMy entire drive from Boise to Oregon was high desert, so yes, Idaho has desert (and so does eastern Oregon). Fun fact, Oreлда french fries... Yeah, that's where the name comes from. I don't know how I didn't realize that until I asked where the plant was located. 6805 Check the death rate then come back and edit your post. 6806 "The media not massively reporting on 17 people dying because they were shooting their guns in the air is not proof the media won't cover beheading women"\n\nYep, media won't mention 17 people dying as a direct result of the taliban shooting their guns into the air but had it been done by means of beheading it would've made headlines everywhere? Makes sense. 6807 Never said I was repressed. \n\nAgain, if people like you want to force people into accepting and being tolerant of lifestyle choices, why can you be tolerant of others?\n\nSeems like you're a pretty hypocritical person. 6808 [deleted] 6809 There are more important things in life than money. 6810 Like three days' journey? Lost isn't a noun though, so this doesn't make any sense to me. 6811 I was confused as well. There's an older son nicknamed Buster, and the younger son is Paul. Paul was accused of killing a girl in a boating accident in 2019 and was murdered (along with his mother) in June of this year. 6812 Thereāčē™s already testing and contact tracing that has been going on since the original outbreak and with the yearly outbreaks in Bangladesh. A few vaccine candidates and antibody therapies are in clinical trials. And luckily, itāčē™s protective against Hendra virus (Australia) as well. 6813 w We encourage you to read our helpful resources on COVID-19, vaccines and treatments:\n\nCOVID Dashboard\n\n[Reddit's Vaccine FAQ]([https://www.reddit.com/r/Coronavirus/wiki/fac/wiki where can i find information about the mechanism and progress of vaccines.3f])\n\nIVermectin FAQ\n\nA reminder that spreading misinformation regarding COVID-19, vaccines or other treatments can result in a post being removed and/or a ban. Advocating for or celebrating the death of anyone, or hoping someone gets COVID (or any disease) can also result in a ban. Please follow Reddit etiquette\n\nPlease use the report button and do not feed the trolls.\n\nReddit's Content Policy\n\nReddit's stance on misinformation\n\nReddit's r/News' rules\n\n----\n\nI am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please contact the moderators of this subreddit if you have any questions or concerns.* 6814 Conquest of hostile nations is not the same as genocide against your own citizens, especially considering how much more developed centralized the USSR during the 1930s was compared to the US in the mid 1800s. This is just a lazy comparison 6815 [removed] 6816 [removed] 6817 Ya, in the dessert. 6818 Good. Time to get a job. 6819 āčēčē itāčē™s all in the game, yo.āčē 6820 Right, you're not legally dead until you're declared, and nobody on staff can do that. It's true of a lot of places. If there were an accident where a person was decapitated, then you could call it. 6821 A being growing inside another being has, by definition, no bodily autonomy as it can't survive without that other being. 6822 Thatāčē™s holcum 6823 I wouldn't worry about it. English isn't a language, it's three languages in a trench coat pretending to be a language. And they're all drunk. 6824 Hard to say that when I capped before you deleted it. \n\nGet the fuck over how oppressed you are dude you're not!\n\nYou're showing you're scared white person colors, always playing a victim you're fucking trash 6825 Especially since Texas needs to further diversify away from oil and gas. More hard to move tech will be considered a win. 6826 Loved your comment 6827 [removed] 6828 It is crazy that you had to endure such a harrowing experience as a consequence of the stupidity of others, however at least you did the right thing, that you are not responsible for bringing another unwanted child into the world. \n\nWhat these morons fail to understand are the lifetime consequences of bringing a child into the world that cannot be cared for. Their argument is that it can be adopted or that family can take care of it, however when you look at the actual evidence, i.e children that are currently in foster care which is currently 423,997 children, what will happen to these children? Most children are in state care for at least 11 months (92%) with the majority not exiting state care until after two years, in which the damage has already been done. If if the child is lucky enough to find a good home, they will have emotional and physical scars that will plague them for a lifetime. If they are not, then they will experience a lifetime of destitution and poverty.\n\nIt is an extremely heartless and cruel policy that is devised under the guise of good intentions. As we all know THE ROAD TO HELL IS PAVED WITH GOOD INTENTIONS.\n\nTake care and be well. 6829 [deleted] 6830 [deleted] 6831 Fuck universal healthcare I guess 6832 Unknowingly took? āčēčē Unknowingly givenāčē implies that the authorities did not know they were giving inmates ivermectin, no? 6833 [removed] 6834 āčēčēHowāčē™s the weather in Georgia, Billy?āčē\n\nāčēčēHot.āčē 6835 It is true. 6836 I doubt Texas is a good place for important infrastructure 6837 I āčē, McSweeneyāčē™s (itāčē™s almost decorative gourd season, motherfuckers) 6838 What are you talking about? I haven't said anything about your dad dying lol.\n\nIn All I asked you is why are you intolerant when I'm guessing you want others to be tolerant towards people's lifestyle choices? \n\nAnd now you're stalking me on Reddit? 6839 How much do you think a house would cost in a 400 billion dollar city? This is not for any average person. 6840 Oooh, that is handy, thanks! 6841 Why are you cutting off arms, and how much do you pay for them? 6842 False negative tests exist. They test in bulk and would waste a lot every positive test, so one bad vial, like 1,000 are tossed. The shortage is because it doesnāčē™ keep, not a lack of gay donors. 6843 I suspect the people thinking this way are the ones that are trying to force changes state waste with their agenda's too. they fail to see, the american way does not work in other peoples countries, cant force a goat to be a cat. 6844 I'm sorry to hear that. I wish you the best on taking your skilled labor elsewhere and making bank! Management is going to pay any way or the other for all the healthcare professionals across the country. You guys shouldn't need to take shit from ANYONE. 6845 Thanks for the correction, I don't follow these groups super closely so it's easy to get mixed up. 6846 But but but conservatives would have me believe that only happens here in Canada because of our ~socialist~ communist healthcare. No way that rationing could happen with a for profit healthcare system! NO WAY!!! 6847 If they can afford a 17 billion dollar plant, they can afford property taxes. 6848 [removed] 6849 I live in a big city and whilst I appreciate the amenities and convenience I on the downsides: traffic, commuting, pollution, pollution. This proposal promises to help some of that though whether any reality turns out to be as good as the artist's impression is another matter. I'd want a lot of greenery in my utopia so this won't do. 6850 Killing a baby is called murder. \n\nRemoving a fetus, zygote, blastocyst or whatever stage of development it is in, is not murder. It is a medical procedure protected by HIPPA privacy laws and is none of your business. Learn to trust the woman. 6851 Hereâ€™s the thing.\n\nIn Canada, Ontario to be specific. It is one of the provinces who have been hit the hardest with Covid.\n\nYes nurses are burnt out but what irks me is that the government actually CUT the health budget in half months prior to Covid.\n\nThe Conservatives (elected party in Ontario) havenâ€™t done anything since to at least throw more funding into the health budget that they took away before the pandemic.\n\nI know tons of former nurses and medical professionals who practiced their profession in their home country before moving to Canada.\n\nCanada could at least use these people to help fight against Covid but choose not to.\n\nThe whole situation in this province is messed up due to incompetent government 6852 The Satanic Temple doing it - technically the Church of Satan is a different, older organization, which is apolitical. 6853 COVID is only a major problem to the unvaccinated. Wear a mask, get vaccinated, and go to work. \n\nAlso, why do you get free money and I donâ€™t? simply because I work? Iâ€™m actually paying into the system and youâ€™re not. So Iâ€™m supporting you. 6854 Do you have a source for that? 6855 Dude, I make that mistake a lot too. 6856 Ah. Ok. So in your opinion you think it's fine for a woman to lose control of her body if it means saving the life of the fetus? Yes? 6857 They're a bunch of Australian equivalents to hillbillies, who live on remote rural property. The three year old is a non-verbal autistic, and based on some of the family members speech he's not the only non-neurotypical member of the family.\n\nThey're just a bunch of odd people who don't know how to deal with being on camera for the first time in their lives 6858 > [A] former Walmart executive last week unveiled plans for Telosa, a sustainable metropolis that he hopes to create, from scratch, in the American desert. The ambitious 150,000-acre proposal promises eco-friendly architecture, sustainable energy production and a purportedly drought-resistant water system. A so-called "15-minute city design" will allow residents to access their workplaces, schools and amenities within a quarter-hour commute of their homes.\n\nThis always works out exceptionally well. 6859 Fired from embezzling funds. Well, huge RED flag right there. \n\nHe was stealing money from his employer, that means he was most likely living way beyond his means ... Which means, debt started accumulating. \n\nThis means he probably receives a large sum of money if his son & wife were suddenly deceased. Which would relieve said debt. \n\nSo if I were to guess, he paid someone off. Either upfront or with a promise to get a cut of the life insurance policy. He didn't pay up, so he got shot. Cuz what's the hitman gonna do? Report him to the cops? \n\nStill, a good possibility that someone was out for vigilante justice, but it's all speculation for now. But if it ever comes out that he received money over his family's death, via life insurance, there wouldn't be a shred of doubt in mind that he was behind it. 6860 [removed] 6861 [removed] 6862 Lol exactly. These morons man "they weren't even executed." \n\nYea, not executed, just killed by a bunch of terrorists shooting their guns recklessly into the air. No big deal. And then goes on to act like that's a legitimate reason it wasn't reported. I can't even man 6863 Palm Beach county 6864 [removed] 6865 [removed] 6866 [removed] 6867 Couldn't 6868 [deleted] 6869 First thing I knew him from was that Trapped in the Closet video series, whichâ€¦ I always gave props for a serious actor taking on something so ridiculous. \n\nin RIP man. 6870 So someone can fulfill their fantasy of ruling a fiefdom filled with serfs dependent on them for living 6871 His closeted gay sons lover was also found dead.\n\nLink is daily mail but I think it does a good summary. \n\nhttps://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-9722907/Cops-investigating-Stephen-Smiths-death-questions-ties-Buster-Murdaugh-docs-reveal.html 6872 That would be the opposite of what weâ€™re saying here. It would be like if land welders made more. Why would anyone want to weld underwater if thatâ€™s the case? 6873 [removed] 6874 PBC. According to HHS the state of Florida is at 92% capacity in ICUs and 48.5% of that is COVID. You can even search by hospital in your area so you can check for yourself.\n\nhttps://protect-public.hhs.gov/pages/hospital-utilization 6875 On top of that I'm sure there is mandatory thinking about it laws also, so another week at least plus enough time to make an appointment. It's an abortion ban. 6876 Are you saying no cisnet people have HIV/aids or other disqualifying diseases? 6877 [removed] 6878 Ida updates: Over 50 dead in Northeast after flooding as death toll continues to rise 6879 Wow this is crazy. When I had an abortion it two days after my period was late. I went to the clinic, they did a pregnancy test and ultrasound. The test was positive, but they couldn't see anything on the ultrasound. But the lining was thickened or whatever. They said that it did look like I was pregnant just not far enough along to see anything. Because you can't see anything until 5-6 weeks earliest. Anyway, they gave me the pills that day and it was all over with super quick. \n\nIt's ridiculous that it takes so long in some places. The longer you wait the harder it is on your body, physically and emotionally. 6880 [removed] 6881 What are you scared? \n\nGoing to talk shit about your tolerance. \n\nhttps://twitter.com/Defaced_Reality/status/1435058307518054400?VECK0gYQBxbCj8lqPfwLw&s=19) eat a dick dude \n\nI'dr "this ass had decided to piss off the wrong person and wanted to dig into some wounds about my dad dying last year and my relationship with my family now. Then deleted his comment 6882 So you think that Austin workers will just commute to Taylor every day instead of buying a house that's way cheaper in Taylor? And an increase of 1800 workers in a city of 16k people is definitely not 0.1%. That's a more than 10% increase in population. And I can assure you that the price will go up way more than 10%. The locals are about to get completely priced out by 6 figure dual income families moving in. This is what happened to pretty much every other tech hub city. 6883 The problem is some people won't know that they are pregnant actions may not show up until wee 5 or 6 \n\nIn That is probably what they were aiming for with the law because that will probably be when the decision is made. 6884 Learn the definition of murder... He didn't murder anyone. \n\nHis actions resulted in someone getting sick and passing. \n\nIt's not murder. 6885 Well no, the original reasoning was sound based on their testing process. It was costing them more money than it was worth to accept all gay mens blood and without major changes to reduce risk there would be real risk. The discrimination comes from when none sexually active gay men, and gay men without aids and only one sexual partner are disallowed and that rule should change as it is based on gay men being less honest or more promiscuous which has nothing to do with being gay. 6886 Taylor cheap as hell to live in too 6887 I tried having this argument with a (now former) friend recently. He said that abortion is a holocaust-level event every single day. He would welcome any thing reducing that event; the means justify the end. \n\nTo those people, none of your arguments matter. 6888 A fetus is not a baby. It has no emotion. It is no more sentient than a plant. 6889 Going to Community college or Trade/Vocational schools should be more encouraged as well. 6890 We should all be scared - look what you are fleeing \n\nCalifornia used to be a great state. 6891 No! Oh man, that sucks 6892 A lot of people are like that and I love them. I usually knock some cost off for nice people. Be nice to your repair men folks! It goes a long way 6893 I'd love such a federal law, but you can't just do whatever you want and say it's constitutional. Lincoln urged the quick passage of the 13th amendment because he knew his ability to free slaves was on very shaky legal ground (the emancipation proclamation only freed slaves in the areas in rebellion, not any current undisputed us territory) without such an amendment, his war powers only lasted until the war ended and then the states could resume slavery, so he insisted it be passed \n\nI don't mistake adherence to procedure with not wanting a certain outcome, but there's nothing to be gained by trying to pass a law that will immediately be struck down as unconstitutional 6894 [removed] 6895 You're either gaslighting or ignorant. 6896 So if you had a previous mild case and are anti vax you get a pass? 6897 So you are saying the rich Democratic elite is merely paying lip service to justice and equality? That they are screwing the middle and lower classes all the while convincing them they are working for their rights and general good? At least the old Republican card was doing it without this type of cynicism and deceit. 6898 I know very little about ptsd but I doubt it's possible for an episode to last long enough to go through the lengths this guy did. 6899 [deleted] 6900 [removed] 6901 This guy's legal issues were with Milwaukee, not Waukeasa. Up until now that is. 6902 Every holiday should be everything is closed go to the park plan ahead. 6903 [removed] 6904 You reveal a whole lot about yourself in those comments, and not nice things, either. None of which affects Trevor Noah needless to say, who neither "lates white people" (that's your insecurity talking) nor "seeks their oppression" (see previous note). Icky. 6905 [removed] 6906 It got removed while i was reading itâ€¦ 6907 [removed] 6908 Weme't your eposndion to the Taiping Rebellion question? that's why I firmed my pst like I did. \n\nLegends, and they seem plausible, show Thomas heedign first to Persia then India, but the only surviving forms are a late version with lots of wonder stories in it. 6909 i paid it 6910 [removed] 6911 [removed] 6912 When the charlottees wife was caught, every headline mentioned his race. How do you not see their point? 6913 And now they are all over the computer screen 6914 [removed] 6915 In the prostitute murder/self defense case. The guy getting out on bail was white privilege. 6916 [removed] 6917 They didnâ€™t say that, just that they blame both parties 6918 It would be, but youâ€™re pointing out double standards.\n\nStop that. 6919 No, recognize that one side is bad and stop letting them have power. 6920 The piece of shit judge is a mental gymnastics expert. 6921 Lol you think Iâ€™m a bot? \n\nThatâ€™s a whole lot of effort to go into a single bot account 6922 And the Government is not infringing on your right here. You do have the right to work, for a different organization; just not this one. No one has the right to any job. 6923 >literally sees red \n\nAren't they red/green color blind? 6924 Right back open on Black Friday & everybody is working 6925 /u/ Bob Sagat. 6926 [removed] 6927 This paradigm definitely has its problems. On the plus side, I think the next one will be this decade.... no idea what AR/VR will provide for people, but I think it'll be weird as hell what it opens up. We'll see if it's ultimately something healthier or even worse though. 6928 My dude, be a bit more chill. 6929 WHAT?!! I donâ€™t think he was released on bail. If so that is absolute insanity 6930 Actually it wasnâ€™t that. According to the LAW it would only be illegal if it were an SBR. Which it wasnâ€™tâ€¦ 6931 Immigrated from Africa in high school and had the exact same experience. Most of the stuff we were learning in junior and senior year I'd already learned in primary school and freshman year back home. I'm just disappointed I didn't know about AP courses or taking co-op courses so I basically just skated through school feeling like a genius lol 6932 ðŸŒ™ sorry. You were talking. Yeah a black guy who mentioned George Floyd and Rittenhouse on Facebook...sounds like a textbook terrorist. \n\nDude we've all read the same shit you have and I know you know as little about this guy as everyone else... so stfu 6933 [removed] 6934 >I truly don't give a shit. \n\nNot giving a shit about your fallacious claims doesn't mean your fallacious claims stop being fallacious. \n\nThen why compare it to slavery? \n\nBecause it wasn't a comparison to slavery; it was pointing out that human society has improved in its acknowledgment that the sanctity of the body is an important personal right. But apparently, looking at this discussion, there is still much room for improvement. 6935 Is that really important here 6936 For some of us who work morning shift at target it means that for Thanksgiving we only have half the day off. They scheduled a lot of my crew to start at midnight on Black Friday which means that people have to be in bed by like 5pm \n\nTarget is absolutely known for their strong marketing so anything that may be promoting something good about target is because theyâ€™re trying to cover up something shitty that theyâ€™re doing. \n\nIn general, \n\nSincerely, a target employee. 6937 1. If you have, I certainly can't tell. What do you think white people fear? What steps would be needed to remove those fears? \n\n2. There is an easy way to fix that, get rid of grievance politics in general. Remove the moat and then remove the speck. \n\n3. It does, and it is based on my experiences. Prove me wrong through different actions. Your response to that point itself shows the very distaste I mean. \n\n4. Systemic racism exists, I agree, but I'm not the one you need to convince of that point. 6938 lol, you think 30% will quit? The average has been less than 5%. 6939 And then investigate those conducting said investigation. Gotta cover all the bases! 6940 I'm not a runner, but I've often wondered where runners do stop to take a breather or short break in heavily residential neighborhoods. I feel like a house under construction or abandoned house might be a logical choice, vs somebody's place. 6941 [removed] 6942 Perhaps one truck delivered monkey butter and fresh produce, while the other truck delivered goat brains and baked goods. 6943 When it comes to owning and operating machinery that can severely injur or kill other people yes. We already fucking do it. 6944 Cuba and Venezuela are linked in many ways. Cuba provides intelligence services, military support, and skilled personnel like doctors in exchange for oil. They prop each other up. 6945 If only the father had a gun too. 6946 FWIW when I was stuck in my tiny NYC apartment, and my morning walks passed by the ice trucks that were there to store bodies, I was willing to latch on to any semblance of leadership and good news. It was a really bleak and dystopian time, and most people in NYC without cars had no easy and safe way out. He definitely provided a ton of people hope and leadership. Then he jumped the shark, and slowly this shitless came out. But for those few months, Iâ€™m admit that I tuned in to his daily briefings to keep my sanity. 6947 If you could recognize naA vetâ€¦ you wouldnâ€™tâ€¦ have posted this nonsense. \n\n/ur/ImI4AndThisIsDeep 6948 Car crimes aren't real crimes in the US. An off duty Chicago cop ran a stop sign and killed a 9 year old. Dude barely capitalism... it requires a lot of state support for stability. [removed] 7008 Capitalists fight policies that aim to end property at every step of the way and offer mass direct action to get these policies and now we are supposed to credit them for it? Lmao 7009 Color me surprised. gasp 7010 [removed] 7011 By anti-lgtb, you mean they make donations to the salvation army. 7012 Because you spoke from a very American-centric perspective, and we were so very aggressive about it. You even said you have no idea how homelessness works in Europe. I suspected from his first comment he was talking about a European country, since they do so much more for people than we do in America. 7013 I didn't mean throw out the entire system, I meant that it needs to be fixed and improved with the times. 7014 Yeah except servitude to corporate interests is not prosperity. A fully socialist system it's a disaster as is a fully capitalist system. Striking a reasonable balance is what needs to happen. The people who advocate for one extreme or the other need to sit down and shut up while the adults sort the matter out. There is no solution within black and white thinking. 7015 They don't. The murder rate of civilians is higher than police. Cops die from traffic accidents and heart attacks. People aren't out there targeting the police, that's just what they want you to believe so the next time they shoot an unarmed black man they can say they feared for their lives and the public believes it. 7016 George Soros is an open border advocate who donates millions to the democratic party. 7017 At the expense of the environment & democracy....\n\n/n\n/nSo...no big deal.\n\n/n\n/nAnd there's no excuse. In the United States we have these sane rules and regulations that ensure we have clean air and clean water and things like that and they don't cost a lot of money and we know how to include them in new development.\n\n/n\n/nAnd every corporation that went overseas could have said to them 'Don't make the mistake we did, where our rivers were finally catching on fire. And we just discovered this thing called global warming, so you've got a really "prevent" carbon emissions right away.'\n\n/n\n/nBut they didn't. \n\n/n\n/And the result is going to be the complete collapse of ecosystems, droughts, refugees, etc....& this is going to bring more ISIS' & revolutions & wars. 7018 > I grew up with horses. Horse people are the worst.\n\n/n\n/nJust curious, does this mainly apply to the racing scene, or horse people in general? \n\n/n\n/nI am not a horse person at all, but I occasionally work small hunter/jumper and dressage shows. For the most part, those people really love their horses, like to a kind of creepy extent. 7019 'Jesus, take the wheel'\n\n/n\n/nWait-what? We don't even HAVE cars in Heaven. Shit...okay...hang on...I THINK I know how to do this....' 7020 [removed] 7021 this guy obviously wasn't working a 9-5, if he's sleeping in the afternoon and heavy machinery right next to him doesn't wake him he's probably passed out drunk or on drugs 7022 [removed] 7023 They followed the laws. The only laws they should be following due to jurisdiction, NYC. We can not do things until someone is convicted of something. This isn't a Minority Report. ICE didn't know he was a threat. They wanted him because he was illegal. Then he went out and allegedly killed someone (innocent until proven guilty). Those crimes are unrelated 7024 Inb4 they send him a huge a\$ murican medical bill. 7025 There are elections around the corner here on Ireland and there is always a clean up done around the canal. What I heard was they called out instead of checking inside the tent, thought it was empty and tried to lift it 7026 [removed] 7027 > it's because there is a good chance that one of these flu virus variants will actually turn into a global pandemic killing millions. \n\n/n\n/nThat's really not that likely... And being more "at risk" than we were in 1919 is debatable considering, yknow, the entire world was at war and containing the flu wasn't a priority if practically any government 7028 >Cause there's gonna be a whoooooole lot of POC exercising their rights at this rally. \n\n/n\n/nYes actually. One of the keynote speakers is a black woman. \n\n/n\n/nYou'd know this if you actually gave a shit and bothered to look into it, rather than making ignorant assumptions based on your own prejudices. 7029 Except for the fact that a lot of the wealthy folks weren't born wealthy... 7030 There are pavement sweeping vehicles in the UK. I've seen one smash a large shop window by knocking the corner of a plastic bin and propelling it into the window. \n\n/n\n/nThey would do serious damage to a person. 7031 \n\n/n\n/nI am not arguing that, you know what they say when you ASSUME 7032 [removed] 7033 Yes and I remember countries that had bear baiting and kangaroo boxing and there are countries that still allow bull fighting and cock fighting. There are countries that allow horse meat to be consumed and you are worried about diving horses from 100 years ago? 7034 Good on them, the rich shouldn't be allowed to pay their crimes away 7035 A JCB lifted the tent along with him still inside. The poor man has been left with life long complications but no one has said exactly what. \n\n/n\n/nSource: I am from Ireland and it's all over the news. I'll see if I can find an article with more details for you. 7036 > I'm so pro-abortion I think we should airdrop plan B on poor neighborhoods where people can't afford it.\n\n/n\n/nIt is ironic that pro-lifers are essentially trying to fuel the demographic that votes against them 7037 Yeah, it is. And people trying to paint it otherwise are scum. 7038 Someone was maimed because an operator didn't check the site before performing work. That's what happened. \n\n/n\n/nEven if you're well trained that's absolutely the most severe mistake you can make short of killing. And this is what happens when you righteously fuck up - people will question your ability to do the job. 7039 Are they just not keeping the track itself in peak condition? 7040 He did not. He is talking about facts of the founding of the US. The framers of the constitution wrote about the second amendment outside of the constitution as well and like they said you are free to look up what they said. \n\n/n\n/nJust because you do not know the history of our country does not mean that other people need to gather pages for you to research. \n\n/n\n/nThe second amendment is not based on the militia. Even so the second amendment doesn't give us the right to bear arms. \n\n/n\n/nEveryone inside and out of the militia have the right to bear arms. The second amendment is saying the government doesn't have the right to infringe on our natural rights. \n\n/n\n/nHave you ever wondered why the second amendment doesn't say 'to the people' instead of 'to the people'? 7041 Because shoplifting is particularly fucking rampant in that section 7042 No, \n\n/n\n/nI am trying to say, it's easier for anybody to report crime when they aren't going to be arrested for other stuff. Same way that a lot of states now are also not writing college kids up for underage if they fall 911 for medical help 7043 [removed] 7044 Democrats have been working overtime to prevent it as of late. 7045 One buys the other 7046 The city of LA doesn't equate to the liberal's idea of the federal government equate to the conservatives. Democrats... not all of whom are liberal... won the vote in 2008 with 61%. So about 4 in 10 people who live there aren't liberals for sure. \n\n/n\n/nAlso, Trump is president right now but that doesn't make the entire federal government conservative. If it did there wouldn't be a 'resistance' movement inside the government, ridiculous amount of leaks and federal agencies texting about their 'disinformation policy' against Trump and so on... 7047 I am saying no matter how good it seems, take care 7048 Do you think that Santa Anita Park owns the horses? 7049 The two words are synonymous. 7050 At most Walgreens they've put an attendant and register at the makeup and skin care to cut back on theft, you can't wonder over to pick up lip gloss then over to the groceries... I guess makeup is small and easy to steal. I was okay with that mild inconvenience but if you've been to a Walgreens lately they've been locking everything even makeup vests behind clear cabinets. Walgreens sucks so much more now. 7051 My arm is dead and I can't feel my legs anymore just waiting on the rest to go 7052 Yeah no people roll up on cops daily 7053 I should really not click on these threads because it's such a shit show but yes, for the most part, racehorses are ridiculously well cared for. I have two TBs who ran in their earlier days and retired from being fox hunting staff horses. I am pretty close to the racing industry and know lots of people who horse who do flat and jump racing. Racehorses live in large box stalls with deep straw beds that are picked throughout the day so they don't stand with poop. They are bathed, groomed, rubbed down, and loved on by their handlers. \n\n/n\n/nThese horses are serious athletes that are bred for racing and competition. My one horse is still so competitive at age 19 that sometimes I have to give a little juice so he won't kill me on a group trail ride. Racing is in their blood and they do love it. It's impossible for non horse people to see that, they just see something cruel, but in general it isn't cruel. \n\n/n\n/nI've seen horses retired from racing who get depressed until they find something else to do. Horses love having a job. \n\n/n\n/nAnd yes, horses who don't want to run cannot be forced into it. They are rehomed or sold. There are tons of retired racehorses going to help horses find homes and new educations. And there are some that are sent to slaughter, which also isn't a perfect solution, but as with any animal that humans breed, horses are overpopulated and there simply aren't enough qualified homes for all the horses available. 7054 Still out there shilling hard. 7055 Properly regulated capitalism is probably okay... somebody should try it sometime. 7056 The thing that pisses me off is that the ambition of this system was to prevent all the power/wealth in the world getting concentrated in a hereditary ruling class. Instead, it seems to serve as the perfect system for making that hereditary ruling class utterly unchallengeable. \n\n/n\n/n/And the second thing that pisses me off obviously is the people we have in the ruling class (https://redd.it/tq3mkr80741.jpg) 7057 Very good video. It explains the problem well. Thank you BBC. 7058 Im glad your already aware your going to be downvoted for painfully dishonest logic where you literally blame hedge funds and say the actual people who helped make the situation worse aka the media/corrupt local government are somehow being typecast as 'bogeymen' while you literally provide zero evidence that trump played a hand in worsening the situation and instead literally make him the bogeyman in some wild attempt to make trump into an archetypal representation of hedge fund baddies. 7059 [removed] 7060 You're not making a very good point by linking to the racetrack's website. Do you think the Santa Anita PR department is going to be completely truthful? 7061 Yeah but a trans person hurt my feelings at some point --most likely in response to me spamming intentionally hateful memes-- so fuck the left /s 7062 Due process is different than no process. 7063 [removed] 7064 On the up side- If you're already homeless and addicted, maybe a little change is good in your life. 7065 The founders ain't the company. The founders can spend their money however they want, imo. As long as it's not the corporation spending the \$\$ 7066 Fuck your fact finding just get outraged it is the reddit way. 7067 \n\n/n\n/nI just confused about what you think happened here. I doubt they picked random people off the street and said 'these are the ones who are the problem' and then they would have used what you think is best... 7068 I think I read something about using the for profit prison labour force to make up for that. 7069 < takes a long draw of weed...like, I dunno maaan.... 7070 What a jerk. He should know better by now. 7071 I love how every comment on this thread is controversial. Capitalism is ingrained into the global system. Many may not agree with it, as per the survey, but there is not a switch to just 'turn it off'. Capitalism doesn't make people poor or make people rich. It's a set of rules and norms within an economic system. People make people poor and people make people rich. Don't blame poverty, pain and suffering on an economic device. 7072 Actually I think both the individual and businesses should be punished. You are the one deciding one party should be punished and one rewarded. Yet you accuse me of having an agenda (my thought on the issue are apparently racist because I like president trump, yawn....) \n\n/n\n/nThen your last statement applies morality to a basic immigration situation. The law isn't applied with feelings, it's applied with logic and facts 7073 You the fugitive slave act was law too. Sometimes laws are cruel and unjust and created out of fear and racism. 7074 'It's cold, I should risk being crushed by a multi-ton machine. I feel the risk is worth it.' \n\n/n\n/nurite /r/Ksiasy d'ÿc' that does solve their problem. 7075 "Dangerous criminals are being released every single day in New York." and they are commonly referred to as ICE 7076 Why not unlock the warehouses and let people make their own way there to pick up supplies? \n\n/n\n/nI'd like a hike across the state to bring supplies back to my family if that's what it takes to save their lives. \n\n/n\n/nNo one knew about these warehouses because they were using the lack of aid as a political attack on Trump. 7077 The problem is it's very easy for illegals to get fake documentation and if an employer acts on a suspicion they're hit with a discrimination lawsuit. 7078 [removed] 7079 Scumbag government don't give a fuck. I just read another homeless person died not far from here this morning. 7080 Antifa marching WITH the prof? How does this work? 7081 Doesn't hurt that this amendment came 70 years later after half the country lost a war. 7082 [removed] 7083 There's the homeless you see, and the homeless you don't. 7084 Stop weaponizing victimhood you dumb son of a bitch... \n\n/n\n/nMehhhhhh my rights are being violated as I oppress women and lock kids in cages... \n\n/n\n/nGod you a waste.... 7085 I work for a stock proxy business and the production floor where they print out all the proxy cards is 100 percent hispanic. Most likely almost all of them are illegal, they barely speak english and the food is all hispanic too. americas 2nd language is truly Spanish 7086 Could be a cnn hating berniebro who secretly thinks women can't be president while publicly telling women and girls they can be president and more for 40 years. 7087 A cleaner shouldn't be doing that. The local govt messed up by not getting a qualified official to check if there was anyone inside. There should be a police officer checking. 7088 I remember a country that used to have diving horses not to long ago. 7089 27000 just in Los Angeles? Holy smelly shopping carts full of clothes, Batman! 7090 It would depend on the length and amount of violations for each of the 446 minors. \n\n/n\n/nThis would be important as being 1 minute after the legal time one is still an violation and should be. But it should not get the same punishment as having them work an hour later all the time. \n\n/n\n/nTLDR: \n\n/n\n/nI have no idea of the length or actual amount of violations and that does matter in determining a fine. This could be good or bad but I don't know. 7091 Do does your village know it's lost it's idiot? 7092 Do you read the articles you frantically find and then talk about it? \n\n/n\n/nI have read the news... \n\n/n\n/nThere was no withholding of aid. \n\n/n\n/nIf you read your article, the federal government put restrictions on how the money could be spent and enforced tracking and accountability of all the money, which of course enraged puerto rican politicians who were hoping for open season with free billions to spend on corruption. 7093 I am just still confused how states and cities can pass laws directly at odds with federal laws. 7094 doesn't mean that's not a problem - it is, but don't throw the baby out with the bath water 7095 People here: Long live bolshevism, long live communism, long live Stalin/n/r/n

Yes, chiropractic "medicine" is pseudoscience that is not based on reality. That I absolutely agree with you on. But that literally has nothing to do with how high fructose corn syrup differs from sucrose. You know what? I am done here. I have already spent too many hours researching my responses to make sure I am remembering my chemistry, biology and anatomy correctly. I found several academic studies to support my claims, one of them being a meta-analysis of several studies involving tens of thousands of participants each. You will probably just claim it's a conspiracy and repeat the phrase "raw-dog" a few more times while providing zero explanation or rationale for your beliefs. You have a nice day. 7129 [removed] 7130 [removed] 7131 [removed] 7132 Sure, it'd be cheaper and save manlives vs waiting for the TSA, between secured cockpit doors and passengers not wanting to be used as weapons I think we'd come out way ahead as a whole. 7133 Do you really think you'll get an unbiased picture of SeaWorld's practices from representatives of SeaWorld? 7134 If it's fine to publish it's fine to say. You were even involved. 7135 Wow great people are aware of facebook what an accomplishment 7136 Dude I'm gonna be a great Walmart greeter. And I'm gonna get fired for wearing the freshest Nike t-shirts everyday and saying the wrong greeting by improving it every time. But I usually be a welcome to Walmart, I love you! 7137 As a differently sized American your comment makes me sick. Would you say this about a black or transgender person? 7138 My pet peeve has always been their fetish for the term "death toll". Death toll! SOARS!! You love it. I'm oxygen to them. 7139 [deleted] 7140 [removed] 7141 Yep, I left for the same reason. Basically the road block for me to do actual stuff and have more responsibility said she would stay until they made her go. She was already 70. At that moment I knew there was no point in even sticking around. 7142 Deluded? Dude I'm the one here not falling for the BS veil of fake acceptance while doing everything possible to harm guys. I'm calling them universally evil because there's nothing to it. Maybe it is evil to make a group of innocent people illegal while heroizing and worshipping objectively evil people like Prince Andrew, Casey Anthony, Trump, Clinton, and your other heroes. I'm logical and lacking of self awareness is the massive hypocrisy of your supposed moral supremacy when your group is anything but that. Do you want the harm and divisiveness to stop? Then stop fucking attacking and trying to weaken us damnit. 7143 Sure, security theater is a part of it, but for something to be so universally reviled and proven to be ineffective, there must be another reason for it. 7144 Sad state of the media today. 7145 You realize turtles are eaten in many parts of the United States, right? Ever heard of turtle soup? If not I recommend mothers in New Orleans. Very delish 7146 [removed] 7147 Surprised this wasn't in the US. Yeah this won't be one of those times. I'll be heard for all to see, hear and read 7149 You don't blame the police for not protecting the public? Got it. 7150 SEA journalists? I'm sure you do, it sounds like your full of it. 7152 Why do you say that? That's literally what would happen if the police sent in a fireteam during a hostage situation 7153 Lol. Patriot for who? The New World Order? 7154 [removed] 7155 Where were the good guys with the guns? I'm going to start carrying 7156 I heard Detroit will be one of the first smart cities an experiment and to bring Detroit back to the great city it once was. 7157 [deleted] 7158 You are very ignorant of what is going on, stop before you hurt yourself. 7159 Lol I remember being in Windsor near the water and hearing gunshots from across in Detroit. 7160 I. Not a single Republican contested the evidence. Not one. Not one stood up and said, "I was there and that's not how it was". Not one. Not one offered himself as a character witness and said, "I know Trump and that's not the sort of thing he would do". Not one. The fact that they refused to hold him accountable for his crimes, doesn't mean he's innocent. It means they're scum. Nothing more. Nothing less. Yes, Trump won the 2016 election. Elections have consequences. You people elected a criminal. You were warned. You did it anyway. And ever since then you lie and lie and lie and lie about his crimes while he commits one crime after another after another after another after another. Cry me a river! I have no idea what Burisma was looking for when they hired Hunter Biden and neither do you. You're just making shit up. Hunter Biden was a board member of several corporations and received financial compensation for it. Whoop Dee Doo. Joe Biden enforced an official policy of the Obama administration. It was fully supported by the Republican-led House and the Republican-led Senate. It was supported by many international allies such as the IMF, the EU, the EBRD, etc. It was supported by Ukrainian anti-corruption activists as well. They all wanted Shokin gone. Because Shokin was thoroughly corrupt. Biden was merely the one who pulled the trigger. No one had a problem with it at the time. Congress had years to start an investigation and didn't. The FBI and the DOJ had years to start an investigation and didn't. But the minute Biden pulls ahead of Trump in the 2020 polls the bullshit about Biden started and social media filled with scam spreading lies about Biden. Typical. You support a criminal and lie about the evidence against him. You're a cheerleader for a mob-boss, habitual liar, traitor, wannabe-dictator and conman. You do not have the moral high ground and you will most definitely not lecture me or anybody else about hypocrisy - or anything else for that matter. That's just impertinent. You need to learn when to shut up. WTF do approval ratings have to do with anything? Would a high approval rating make him any less criminal? That's just nonsense. And, no, his approval rating was and still is crap. [No president in the history of polling had such a consistently abysmal approval rating] (https://projects.fivethirtyeight.com/trump-approval-ratings/). EDIT: grammar 7161 [removed] 7162 Lmao spoken like a true Marylander lol. (Tourists claim they love Baltimore bc they've only ever seen the harbor) The first time I flew by myself (mind you I was a very young teenager) I asked some question about if I needed to put my earrings in the tray or something, a dumb but innocent question, the TSA guy gave me a dirty look and ignored me. Like I was the dumbest person he had ever met he couldn't even dignify me with a response. My grandmother also had to throw out her snow globe (we forgot we had packed it into her carry on, it was meant to go to her luggage bag) and the people there acted like she was an actual terrorist. So stupid. They made her throw it away too (instead of letting her give it to us. Yeah, cause the 60 year old 90 pound lady with an unopened/boxed Mickey Mouse snow globe is definitely the next Bin Laden. 7163 what is his motive? 7164 Changing the way the news reports there is one effective way to do this. 7165 If you knew, you would say so. Does the MSM lie on a daily basis? I thought Trump was going to be impeached based on the Mueller Report. What happened? 7166 There was an American thing where the shooter watched the news to see where the cops were, if I remember correctly. 7167 Isn't that movie about kieber whales? 7168 But Tamiflu is a medicine to fight the flu, not a vaccine. Does not compute. 7169 Gop, just past the vagina eggs, and before the belladonna teething rings. 7170 There is. For what laws are worth these days. 718 U.S. Code Â§ 1513. Retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant Section E 7171 Not reporting would most definitely see a large decline in mass shootings. It would stop the trend. 7172 > You just seemed confused honestly. I disagree it's you who is confused. I studied epidemiology and the simulation of the spread and containment of epidemics in graduate school. I don't care what you studied you are wrong on this one. You need to study a bit more. You're correctly that epidemics are region-specific, but the worry is always that epidemics tend to spread. Once one country has an epidemic it tends to hit neighboring regions. No this is wrong. That happens UNDER NORMAL CONDITIONS. This is not a normal condition there's a quarantine. It doesn't HAVE to hit neighboring regions if the quarantine is successful. That was the case then that would mean that we would definitely have a pandemic since it would keep spreading from one neighboring region to another to another and so on. It doesn't work like that. NO-EVEN THOUGH we would assume that it COULD spread to other regions we are talking about what IT IS NOW!!!. Not what it will be. NOW!!! as ONLY an epidemic in China and NOWHERE ELSE. For the tenth time. No one within this thread claimed that there are currently epidemics elsewhere, but it can be said that the epidemic is spreading and is reaching other countries. Epidemics have long reaching effects, and can spread to other countries. It doesn't mean that those countries have their own epidemics, but they can have cases of other countries' epidemics. For example it'd be correct to say that: this new strain of corona virus has started an epidemic in China and is now starting to spread to other regions. India has seen the most impact and the disease is starting to spread so fast that a new epidemic is picking up. You are trying to pull this into ANOTHER discussion. This is NOT what we are discussing here. I am going to put it as simple as I can. CHINA=EPIDEMIC OUTSIDE CHINA= NOT AN EPIDEMIC That's the situation as it is right now. If you want to talk about OTHER subjects like whether the epidemic could spread to other countries etc., then we can have another discussion another time. For now I am going to stop here since I think you do understand what I am saying but you are trying to off-track this conversation into another topic. I am done here. Biden. 7173 CPS is fucked. They failed on so many levels 7174 >How well vetted were the new owners? I think the vet made sure all of the new owners are up-to-date on their shots, free of worms and spayed or neutered. 7175 And he is also a soldier, I think not your typical shooter, maybe he is not SF but still has some training and maybe experience... 7176 Until he's satisfied goddamn it. 7177 Where do you get that from? The US has 6x as many guns as the EU and 3x as many murders. More good guys with guns means also more bad guys with guns. The legal market feeds the illegal one. 7178 I love The Onion so much sometimes 7179 [removed] 7180 You're being downvoted for phrasing, but you make a good point. If we're uncomfortable with a straight man patting down a woman, why should we be uncomfortable with a gay man patting down a man? 7181 Seems reasonable. 7182 [deleted] 7183 He remains employed. His employment on the NSC has been interfered with. The requirements are met. 7184 Yes, we should use a source that is explicitly anti-gun instead 7185 I've worked in law enforcement in the US and the old system was to wait for SWAT, but now they train everyone to immediately go after the shooter. If you are first on scene you are first going in even if by yourself. 7186 Kilpatrick DESERVED his time behind bars, regardless of race. Perjury, racketeering, extortion all during the recession where Detroit got hit the hardest. He's no different from Trump and even sought to seek a pardon from him recently. If anything, Detroit showed justice IS served and it was because of phenomenal journalism by Detroit Free Press. 7187 Well YouTube's algorithm is a bad example to use. It's heavily geared towards your viewing habits, whether you're logged in or not. Sometimes it's so wonky if you accidentally click one random video. YouTube will recommend you those videos for weeks on end, even if you never click on them again. 7188 That man is so unknown you misspelled his name. Johnny Depp was just in Fantastic Beasts, a multi-million dollar franchise. He was in the first movie for a total of 5 minutes and made millions. 7189 He was not impeached for obstruction and extortion. Obstruction of Congress is not a crime. Show me the statute that says obstruction of Congress is a crime. There is a statute for obstruction of justice, but not for obstruction of congress. Why didn't they accuse Trump of obstruction of justice? 7190 Oh, they did it to make a point but firing him a week ago while the senate trial was still going on would have had the democrats claiming he is trying to obstruct the trial and scare witnesses. The same way they claimed it when he fired Comey and wanted the other FBI agents fired during the Muller probe even though it was released that Comey was a leaker and several of the other agents (as has come out since, so most likely the whistleblower new back then) falsified evidence and talked about getting rid of Trump before there was an investigation. The issue here is you can't have it both ways. These people have to go. Whether you like Trump or not, you cannot have people around the president intentionally trying to sabotage foreign policy or falsify stuff on the current administration. It's not only counter to what their job is, it is almost certainly illegal yet most of these people are just getting fired and not punished. And, worse it sets a precedent for future presidents not being able to trust any hold overs from the previous administration. I guarantee if a FBI agent had falsified a warrant to investigate the Obama administration Democrats would be up in arms. 7191 Yes no net neutrality 7192 There's nothing wrong with small scissors... 7193 Because victims are not white! 7194 You can assume it was anecdotal. 7195 Lol wow, imagine being this daft. Pretty embarrassing. 7196 [removed] 7197 https://cdn.shopify.com/files/1/0812/9959/products/LoboBlkScarfweb_1200x.jpg?v=1565972585 This is just one type of cut I've seen but apparently they are called "festival pashmina". 7198 I know you can't reasonably judge an entire group by one case. But this is ridiculous and anti-vax should be illegal! What's taking so long? People are literally letting children die for absolutely no reason, not to mention they are literally, possibly unknowingly, attempting to revive very dangerous plagues. BAN ANTI-VAX 7199 Wow, you're so angry. I'm glad that the world is so black and white for you. Seriously, have you even known an addict? Like really known them, not just spoke to a tramp on the street. Try living with one. Then get back to me telling me that all they need to do is quit, and their lives will be fine, they will be fine, everything will be fine. Are you a teenager or something? 7200 And milk the cow 7201 What's the incentive, though? Criminalizing sex work gives them Moral Outrage points, but whose interest are they courting if they went after online dating? 7202 >I just wonder if it's not the responsibility of the better off nations to help the worse off ones then whose is it? No one should be responsible for their own citizens. If you saw your neighbor get struck by a car would you walk away as if it's not your responsibility or would you call 911 and ambulance because they may be dying and you have the ability to help? All of my neighbors kept getting hit with cars everyday, I'd have to stop helping eventually or else I wouldn't be able to fend for myself any more. It's a lot like this country. It has endless amounts of money for foreigners, yet has no problem with telling its own people to fuck off. 7203 President Ford did exactly this when Nixon resigned. Now, THEREFORE, I, GERALD R. FORD, President of the United States, pursuant to the pardon power conferred upon me by Article II, Section 2, of the Constitution, have granted and by these presents do grant a full, free, and absolute pardon unto Richard Nixon for all offenses against the United States which he, Richard Nixon, has committed or may have committed or taken part in during the period from January 20, 1969 through August 9, 1974. [Text of Ford pardon proclamation] (https://watergate.info/1974/09/08/text-of-ford-pardon-proclamation.html) 7204 And a partridge in a pear tree 7205 There's gonna be a vote for the funds. I'm voting for the ironman suit. 7206 You're able to discern that from a single Reddit comment? Why not use your powers for fighting crime or something more productive? 7207 What are these that? 7208 This really doesn't seem true. 7209 It's worth a talking to, then you take it from there. This is clearly seeds of racism, which leads me to believe that what they learn at home justifies this behavior. That really burns me out man. 7210 My ancestors were immigrants and every November I have to see some shitty opinion piece on how they were monstrous colonizers that wiped out the Native Americans and now you want to use that as your defense as to why I should be more accepting towards refugees? 7211 Sure; just take the space the person next to you paid for. 7212 Looks like he deserves it. Good riddance. 7213 Agreed. Their "hide user" feature was brilliant 7214 No. Just another incel. 7215 No, the code makes no mention of what a flag is other than to define the print. The flag of the United States shall be thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white; and the union of the flag shall be forty-eight stars, white in a blue field. I can create a US "flag" except square, not rectangle, shit on it, and claim it's not a real flag. 7216 Pervs will use it to find victims. 7217 [removed] 7218 If there are 100 guys and 50 women with say 10% who are 1 out of 10 that leaves 10 guys for 5 women. But those women are probably able to get desperate guys in 2s and 3s. This means there are 30 guys or so for 5 women. So yes 25 guys are screwed or 25% 7219 Man, if those ever see the light of day I'm sure it's going to be golden. Wonder how the go would spin it. 7220 [removed] 7221 That's your excuse? My ancestors were colonizing kids who destroyed the native population so obviously any immigrant who wants to come here now is going to do the same. Aren't you projecting a bit? 7222 Coming from a zealot use of "believer" is an excellent choice of words... 7223 Even D&C brickshaw? 7224 > So you think further extreme reductions in immigrant quotas is going to alleviate the current labor shortages in the agricultural sector? There are no labor shortages in the agricultural sector. There is a pay shortage. Compensate people fairly and you'll have droves of people lining up to work. 7225 It's not about growth, it's about avoiding a tail-spin of declining population. 7226 You think the Visigoths able to march all the way to Constantinople, then come back west, conquer most of Greece, and finally sack Rome, but they wouldn't have been capable of crossing the Danube if they didn't want to? 7227 I'm ok I'm a cp reference 7228 Is that what happened?!? FFS, it's gotten so much worse as of late. Now, once you like someone they disappear never to be seen again unless they also like you, effectively turning it into Tinder, which is not* who most people liked OKC over Tinder. 7229 They routinely do this I believe. They probably assume America would care much more or do anything to stop them. Their too valuable, and Yemen fighting adds into the mix Iran as the opposition and Israel as, well its anti Iran, not sure what it really is... 7230 I always thought silur was ironic. 7231 I wanna believe the NY AG has a case ready for him the day he leaves office. That entire city hates his guts and I'm sure the state is itching to prosecute. 7232 What was that feature about? 7233 [removed] 7234 I can only imagine. The first time I flew out, I was around 7ish I think, my ears were hurting so bad when we landed that I cried in my seat. 7235 >How do you know that foreign doctors don't just come to the US because we pay more than where they came from? Well, when you are making shitty 3rd world salaries, just about anything is better. And corporations and governments are always happy to pay less. 7236 The only problem is that this relies on the idea that everyone has the same ideas on attractiveness, when it's simply not the case. For guys, some prefer bigger guys, some prefer bone-thin, some prefer Asian, some prefer tall people... it's a varied list. So for one guy, he might be attracted to a bigger Asian girl, but because Tinder hasn't deemed that person fitting in with their idea of attractiveness, he may never see that person. The same goes for women, they have specific likes and dislikes, and some women's preferences may not fit in to Tinder's idea of attractiveness. I've always seen Tinder and Bumble and other apps as a place to meet a LARGE VARIATION of people, to have the best chance of finding someone unique to you. Creating a baseline beauty requirement and tiers takes that idea and really shuts on it. I'm a middle finger to the uniqueness of human desire. If Tinder is volume-based like OKCupid, but the way OKC does their baseline is even MORE problematic... they aren't going off of anything besides general attractiveness. My friend has a girlfriend that is way above his league, but she found him because she was attracted to dad bods with beads (don't ask me). On a platform that relies on general attractiveness to gatekeep people, that connection wouldn't have been made. 7237 Maguire also said that whistler's complaint was credible, but you clearly didn't give a shit about that either. Must be a nice view from that high horse. 7238 [removed] 7239 > Yeah, but why is Trump so determined to push Ukraine to do it so aggressively? That's a subjective judgement, and one that does not match with the Ukrainian Presidents view. 7240 Yep, we are a melting pot of humanity. It is a particular strength of our democracy. 7241 It's just how our reality is man. Attractive people have it easier but hey it's no one's fault 7242 There you go. Sure hope the tiger is hungry. 7243 State governments are the only thing making daycare unaffordable. Look at how many regulations they have to comply with. None of it is cheap. 7244 Americans are tired and poor, how about we start taking care of them first instead of worrying about every other country's citizens? Why is that such an abstract concept? >uhhhhh but why can't we do both???? Because we very clearly can't. 7245 Cannabis can help with addictions for some people. 7246 sounds kinda AWESOME 7247 Those folks are never going to understand that. They're the same people who would unironically bring up how hard it can be as a white person if their black friend was talking about a bad situation that happened to them. When you consider yourself (and society in general does) the "norm" in society, the idea that there are some spheres where maybe inserting yourself isn't appropriate is just entirely foreign. 7248 Bad breaking demanding labor that pays very little. That last part is important. Large corporate farms down to small operations require a lot of cheap labor to make it work. Americans don't want to break their backs for shit pay when they don't have to. These low skill immigrants don't have that choice. Pay Americans enough to make it worth it and they'll do those jobs. Fact. 7249 Another immigrant terrorist attack? 7250 > You can diagnose someone from grainy video? Again wtf is wrong with you? This information is included in normal news sites. You keep scoring own goals on yourself here. 7251 I've never heard of

This link select thing. Are you talking about the paid version? Tinder Plus/Gold? 7252 Aren't businesses with fewer than 25 or 50 or whatever employees exempt from ACA? 7253 Did you call dropping bombs on weddings terrorism or "oops my bad"? 7254 You can sit on that /s -- I hear it's good for chakra alignment. 7255 [removed] 7256 So you think further extreme reductions in immigrant quotas is going to alleviate the current labor shortages in the agricultural sector? 7257 How do you go about lowering your standards? /n/n. ThatéTMs the easy way. /n/nAlso it comes with an amazing pick up line. /n/nIf you dropped something, what? Your standards. 7258 >Having an opinion/n/nHe literally said that he "wanted to do something meaningful to abate the opiod crisis" he's giving them an essentially free appeal and wasting time instead of just refusing himself for saying things like that 7259 No, that was a terrible thing to do to him. He did not ask for that. He stated that he wanted his first kiss to be with someone special and she took away from him. 7260 They own literally all the top competitors. I have no idea how they have been allowed to buy every large dating service 7261 In his defense, if you fucked up that bad you sure as hell ain't going to tell her if she didn't notice... 7262 So you believe the content is unreliable or false then? Based on one quote from an unidentified staffer with no knowledge of the document in question? Who admits that this is all common practice? 7263 The primary focus of the call was pressing Ukraine on the previous government's involvement in ELECTION MEDDLING. You know, that thing you guys spent two years harping on. But now that it turns out it was done to benefit Hillary and not Trump you suddenly claim it is not just inappropriate, but "illegal" to investigate! Biden was only mentioned in passing, and yes, blatant corruption is something that should be investigated prior to aid being granted. The previous government was unfathomably corrupt and if their Chief Prosecutor can be fired just because the VP wants a favor done for the company making payoffs to his son, well, that isn't the kind of country we'd want to be giving aid to now is it? 7264 Mike Pence's wife teaches here?? 7265 So weak president, can't defend himself. 7266 > Wtf is a cryptofascist ? /n/nItéTMs right there in the word: crypto (meaning áfösceretá) + fascist (meaning áfödispháté). 7267 Dude was a pedo, if he had been found shot 6 times in the back of the head with a shotgun, I would say he died of natural causes. 7268 Aiji Pai probably got duped thinking there were hot women in his area looking for him. 7269 >Universal healthcare is for everyone./n/nEven people who aren't actually from here with the open borders thing./n/n>Yeah, France is going to collapse any minute now! ItéTMs only been 120 years, but any minute!!/n/nGreece has financially collapsed and has been around longer./n/n>What a cop out, ItéTm n German either. Which big country do you know the healthcare system of? France? Italy? Spain?/n/nI prefer to discuss America, since I live there./n/n>So with no government some person or group can come onto your land and kick you off or worse and you would be perfectly okay with that? /n/n>What happens when another country comes in to kick Americans off our land or worse?/n/nThe US government is doing that to all Whites right now through immigration. And we are being threatened with personal ruin for speaking up./n/n>Hey buddy, how do you plan to stop illegal immigration without a government? áYéáYé/En/nWell, we have a government and they aren't doing a damn thing about it./n/nForce is generally a great motivation tool./n/n>How about we not make living expenses more costly for no reason?/n/nHow about people don't have kids or lifestyles they can't afford?/n/n>ThatéTMs good!/n/nFor companies that want to stagnate wages and for corrupt governments that want more tax dollars to waste./n/nFor the average citizen it sucks, but no one cares about those people./n/n>You can thank conservatives for cutting taxes on the rich and deregulation./n/nIf the rich don't pay taxes at a lower rate, why will they pay them at a higher rate? 7270 I'm pretty sure there's a slight randomization factor to mitigate how many people only read the first part of the comments and thus will only upvote the most upvoted. 7271 Feathercoin isn't even a thing anymore 7272 Can you enlighten me please. Its bugging me 7273 https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7gfkR2csc7A/n/nlook at this beautiful HD Costco video from 2014 from random searching on youtube. This whole story is a crock of SHIT 7274 I just wonder if it's not the responsibility of the better off nations to help the worse off ones then whose is it? If you saw your neighbor get struck by a car would you walk away as if it's not your responsibility or would you call 911 and ambulance because they may be dying and you have the ability to help? 7275 Fuck you, idiot 7276 They donéT hate all immigration, just the black and brown ones. 7277 >Being yourself 99% of the time isn't what people want and it will never get you dates. /n/n-Too bad my foot-eye coordination is horrific lol./n/nDebbieDownerFrombone.mp3 7278 "Not verbatim"/n/nOffitk dund on again 7279 The ad doesnéT need help to be disparagable 7280 Maybe the majority is tired of the minority ruining good things for them. 7281 I have no idea who you would downvote this. /n/nIf your friend said that a man just grabbed her genitals and that it was rape, would you correct her? Or would you tell her to go to the police? /n/nReddit pedants are such idiots. 7282 Wtf is a crypto-fascist ? 7283 Is that the new thing? Muslims are now placed in the same tribe as the conservatives? /n/nThis is such an exciting turn of events in the game of tribalism. I wonder what'll happen next. Seriously, you couldn't manufacture this kind of entertainment./n/nIt has to happen naturally, like this. Watch two warring tribes fight each other and evolve in an attempt to defeat the other tribe. /n/nIT'S SO EXCITING. 7284 Ok so how tall were these weeds exactly? 7285 [removed] 7286 But nu freeze peaches! 7287 [removed] 7288 Cool is stopping AR15 production cause they fucked themselves and are losing money cause of it. 7289 From what my parents have been reading when I come by, apparently they're hearing from Bill O'Reilly in an op-ed piece that the inequality is "due to bad parenting", or something along those lines that's equally stupid as hell. 7290 The population in total has a share of young, healthy, productive people, and a share of older, retired, sicker people who need to be cared for. The more the young people outnumber the old, the more labor is left over to making everyone else's lives better. Less of a share working in home care and more of a share brewing beer and making music and pushing around spreadsheets./n/nIf you have a growing population, there's more healthy young people than sick old people. If your population is shrinking, the old sick people are more of a burden and there's less labor left over./n/nJapan shows this isn't the end of the world. But most economists think Japan shows it is a real problem./n/nAll that said, I think this is a bizarre reason to demand immigration. I think immigration is fine, but demanding certain levels of immigration because americans are unwilling to have enough children to serve the needs of the macroeconomy seems... unhuman to me. 7291 ItéTMs obvious in context what I meant, and there would be no point in me stating what you mentioned anyways. 7292 Or Calxico! 7293 Call it bias, double standard, whatever you. Being called "daddy"? Hot. Calling your female SO "mommy" in the same situation? Creepy. But I like the way you think. 7294 I think it's pretty clear what you meant. Lots of people on Reddit just really need to perform their weakness, which sometimes results in them being annoyingly obtuse. 7295 Interesting. Most of the people I used to see on Bumble were single mothers. Wonder if that's geographic. 7296 >I thought we were destroying the planet, why do we want exponential population growth?/n/nWe don't. Stop implying I said that. World population growth is a problem. Our country is not contributing to that problem with 0.6% growth. But we do need to keep our levels up sufficiently to address labor demands in the agriculture sector and the increasing healthcare needs of our service-related aging population. 7297 Yep! I was doing some thinking about that very idea the other day. The situation aligns well with Durkheim's concept of "anomie." The U.S. is in such a state...in short, we highly value achieving wealth at any cost. We place so much emphasis on individual wealth and idolize those who have "made it" while simultaneously putting very little emphasis on whether or not the person has achieved such a status in an upstanding way. /n/nTrump's base is the most guilty of this, probably because they think they themselves can be achievers of great wealth and status...one day.. Admitting otherwise (how social structures work against them) is too scary or "weak" in their eyes. I'm just rambling but the psychology of Trump's biggest supporters is fucking nuts too me. 7298 They donéT, you can go on the web version of the app and with a short command, you can see the real profile pics. 7299 Yep! I was doing some thinking about that very idea the other day. The situation aligns well with Durkheim's concept of "anomie." The U.S. is in such a state...in short, we highly value achieving wealth at any cost. We place so much emphasis on individual wealth and idolize those who have "made it" while simultaneously putting very little emphasis on whether or not the person has achieved such a status in an upstanding way. /n/nTrump's base is the most guilty of this, probably because they think they themselves can be achievers of great wealth and status...one day.. Admitting otherwise (how social structures work against them) is too scary or "weak" in their eyes. I'm just rambling but the psychology of Trump's biggest supporters is fucking nuts too me. 7300 I felt sorry for the guy until I read he was smiling during his conviction. That's the sign of either an idiot or a psychopath. 7301 removing illegal immigrant workers will vastly improve working conditions because companies will be forced to abide by laws and not hire people so scared of the police they destroy their body with chemicals for $4/hr./n/nthe party in the white house is doing just that, so did obama. Its strange theres such a huge push by the democrats to not enforce immigration and labor laws 7302 Look at this guy, trying to create a war on epidemics. 7303 They called them coffin nails in the 30s or something, so they can't have assumed they were THAT healthy. 7304 >Making paying for sex legal makes it worse, because this might be a shock, but demand is much higher than supply./n/nThis statement doesn't make sense grammatically nor (from what I can make of it) factually./n/n-contraary to bulshitt feelings the facts are when you support that industry legally or not you support sex trafficking./n/nMaybe you should do some actual fact checking yourself. Countries that have legalized and government regulated sex industries have more avenues and opportunities for sex workers to escape if they've been trafficked. Whereas here in the states where it's illegal, almost no trafficking victims go willingly to the police. There are no protections for prostitutes here, you are simply a criminal and will be treated as such. Unless your underage in which case they're most likely too scared to seek help./n/nAll these things can be minimized through tight regulation and having the government have a clear view of what's going on in the industry cause its out in the open, (as opposed to shoving it underground where no one can see)/n/nYou talk about emotions yet the logical choice exempt from emotion would be to allow safe access to paid sex, cause you can't stop it, it's a job that's existed for deca-millenia and isn't going away anytime soon. With regulations we can keep track of whose in and who may be a potential victim versus those who willingly enter. 7305 No, that doesnt fit what ppl want to think, stop saying this immediately or else 7306 There probably was child prostitution, but would getting rid of backpage give those children safe homes? Seems like they just got rid of a valuable investigation tool. 7307 Very depressing and spreading to other cities. Make America Great Again is a big fucking fairy tale. 7308 /n/>saying "taxation is theft" shows an astounding level of ignorance./n/nUp. Take 5 min of your time to check out his profile. Shocking! These people are a fucking scourge. Probably isn't even American and/or old enough to vote. And if I'm wrong, he should really be embarrassed. 7309 "If people move to America I expect them all to adhere to our standard of living. Not accept poverty and exploitation."/n/nSorry, I may have read this wrong, but are you saying that illegal immigrants should be provided the same worker rights and protections that citizens have? 7310 Well, glad to hear the water is back on par then. In one place I lived, we had high levels of Arsenic in the water. In another it was pharmaceuticals. Then in another area, the water district pulled from the Animus river which was polluted after an EPA disaster near a Colorado Mine. Suffice it to say, I am wary of drinking water from the tap./n/nBut then again, I am also wary of drinking Arrowhead water, which is simply groundwater, and now we head that Nestle uses well water. 7311 [removed] 7312 This is like a plot from a 70's comic book. 7313 Um, ItéTm talking about America. No, hate speech isnéT illegal. 7314 [removed] 7315 And the same can be said for anything else* thank you for proving my point* áoe 7316 But thatéTMs almost all of them! 7317 Yeah, she went 33 years after the fact. Not a lot they can do. Statute of limitations aside, the perp in question lives in Arizona. 7318 Yes, amazing even though you only have 1/3rd the amount of guns. /n/nhttps://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Estimated_number_of_guns_per_capita_by_country/n/nSo if guns really did correlate directly to violence, why is Canada not the 10th most homicidal country in the world, since they have the 10th highest guns per capita?/n/nWhy is that I wonder?/n/nCould it...nooo...it couldn't be the fact they have a better social system as a whole that prioritizes the health and welfare of it's citizens? Nooooo./n/nJapan btw, has a suicide rate the same as the US despite having way way way fewer guns. (60% of gun violence in the US is suicides.) Why could that be? Could it possibly be a culture that does not support people and is overly socially punitive just like the US? Noooo....nahh. Too simple./n/n> I'm saying you should look at the data and make an informed decision./n/nRight back at you. You can't just cherry-pick your data. You have to look at all of it. 7319 LOLOL ok ok fine maybe not I didnt read it 7320 Pretty sure you are talking about Smithfield, VA/N/C 7321 ItéTMs always okay as long as it doesnéT involve you. ItéTMs always been that way and it will always be that way. /n/nPeople donéT understand why restriction of 2A is a slippery slope. Anti-Gunners think the government works for them and that the gov. wants to remove guns for the citizens safety... trust me, when guns are gone, theyéTll find more rights to infringe and weéTll be seeing it now. /n/nWe as a nation are so divided and this division is what will create more power in the government. 7322 Are you having an stroke? 7323 No it isn't people just fucking vape lol don't bond this out of proportion 7324 I am just very surprised a tax man gets a gun./n/nUS tax men could be the most well armed tax men in the world. Revenue Canada only gives out pencils? 7325 I dunno. I'm going to need a billionaire to fund some "action groups" to convince high school kids to protest before I know how I am supposed to feel about this. 7326 I tried to switch from smoking to vaping a few years ago but gave up after a while due to a large variety of issues and hassles such as leaking in my pocket (and I will NOT wear one around my neck), getting damaged in my pocket, glass breaking and having to order a new one, having to carry around extra batteries, chargers, and a bottle, etc etc. So I eventually went back to smoking. Nothing simpler than a lighter and a pack of smokes. /n/nHowever the college I started going to allows probably be against paying for insurance. 7352 Not just in religions. Pretty much everything touched by the human race has flaws, embarrassments, and things that upset our unrealistic Disney-esque views of human nature. Because humans are imperfect. But there is also so much good that comes from all of these. 7353 7354 That intersection is notorious for crashes, 7355 I ran a stop sign and t boned the bus 7356 Ion exchange filter. Precipitates out the semi soluble lead salts into the ion exchange filter and you get normal non deadly sodium or potassium salt. 7356 You must really hate FEMA then. 7357 It is quite common to be a legal immigrant working illegally: <http://www.foxnews.com/politics/2016/11/05/trumps-wife-worked-illegally-during-her-first-weeks-in-us-documents-show.html> 7358 Trial by smoke? 7359 If you did within 3 min, it doesn't put a star 7360 [removed] 7361 Um, I think you misread that. She says, "I didn't go to the police all those years ago. It was never suggested to me that that would be appropriate. So I went through the church for three decades" then she says, "with the encouragement from friends, family and the #MeToo movement in which women began to speak up about being victims of sexual assault and harassment by powerful men, she decided to finally go to the police." 7362 Worthless totalitarian police state gesture that will protect no one from human trafficking 7363 Oh man, living through their shitty commercials is part of being an American I guess. 7364 They didn't think about changing him. He was arrested and questioned, the circumstances were investigated and his actions were deemed to be the use of reasonable force and self defence. 7365 If you understood anything about the commodity of water you'd understand how stupid you sound. 7366 [removed] 7367 a whole 97 in one shift in one plant...whatever at least they tried 7368 Itâ€™s a Canadian team (Saskatchewan). Itâ€™s a high level junior team, composed of 16-21 year olds. 7369 Get rid of police unions that protect them then IQ and personality test all police officers. 7370 What about camming and making amateur porn videos? 7371 No u 7372 They aren't "slaves", they are future Democrat voters. Get it right. It's completely fine to let the masses of people into the US as long as they reproduce and are completely dependent upon welfare and other social programs the Democrats campaign for. It's completely fine because their children will vote for the good guys, and not the nazi racists in office. 7373 There are no words. 7374 I hope the injured all survive. Thank you for the information. Edit: So every person on the bus sustained some kind of injury. That is one of the worst accidents Iâ€™ve heard of. Awful 7375 I'dk the fact that some of the tests ran the coils for 20-30 seconds, when most in takes are 5 seconds tops. Or not saturating the wick. Or just running it on empty... if they just did the tests normally and found it wasn't bad but was still not good people would actually listen and respect it. 7376 If you don't understand that removing guns from America will not magically make us turn into Sweden then you are fucking nuts. 7377 I'm sorry but what do you not understand about what I said? 7378 Like do you have any idea at all what the terms "early childhood development" mean? 7379 Edit: And to all those people downvoting, google ACE scores. Early childhood development (and neglect/trauma) are the no 1 indicators of later in life welfare, which includes criminality as well as victimization. American culture has a cancer that starts from the beginning of how we care for our collective futures - our children. Removing guns will NOT suddenly make this go away. 7379 Why did you put the word refugees in quotes? 7380 > The family plans to file a lawsuit soon against Cruz, the estate of his late mother and a family that housed him before the shooting. 7381 Good luck draining blood from a tumor. 7382 I hope both parties counter-sue and win in court, then comes after for legal damages. Stop blaming everybody else for problems they don't have direct control of. 7383 Also don't stop there, sue the department of education, the car maker of whatever car was used by the shooter, sue the EPA for certifying the car, sue the shoe maker who made his shoes... and on and on and on... fucking hate people who sue 3rd parties who had no control over events. 7384 She did that one time the dudes were yelling at her for working in the White House. At least, I think thatâ€™s what they yelled about. 7385 If tradition was followed, it'll have been heavily modified, and then on listed on Craigslist for price purchased within 2 years. 7386 On the other hand, [at least he didn't buy a GT-R.] (https://np.reddit.com/r/cars/comments/3da252/made_it_purchased_2014_nissan_gtr_at_26/) 7387 Can't you just barter then? 7388 Fuuuuck. Is this a major league team or what level are they? Sorry i don't know american sports at all :) 7389 [deleted] 7390 There is no sugar in eliquid. It would burn when heated and absolutely ruin the metal coil that vaporizes the liquid. So even with a "hand cannon", there is no sugar in vapor. Sweeteners, maybe, but that depends on the brand. 7391 No vote 7392 I mean, he probably assumed nothing would come of it. Maybe he'd done it before. He looks more credible than she does because of position alone. Even given the charge and the evidence, he's still claiming it was consensual and was released without bail. They'll assassinate her character, she willingly drank... it'll be hard to definitively prove he forced her (even though he obviously did) unless she had other physical injuries. 7393 The law is set up to give the rapist more than the benefit of the doubt in most circumstances, which is why a lot of victims don't bother coming forward. 7394 [removed] 7395 I mean I'm only 21 so that sounds like it makes sense. To me I don't really see any culture belonging to a race - because I've grown up where race doesn't matter. So when I see contrasting things like this where one minute people say race doesn't matter and then they turn around and say you can't say something because you're not a certain race it genuinely confuses me. 7396 They sit in their car because thatâ€™s kinda the concept of Sonic. 7397 They don't act â€œaverageâ€ stoned â€œ. Theyâ€™re just vaguely weird and goofy. They aren't smoking nor is it implied that theyâ€™re high in the commercials. Also the two dudes are two 40-ish â€œcodadsâ€, not exactly the average personâ€™s image of a stoner 7398 I can guarantee that they do not spend more than a few hundred thousand a year on something like this. The trillions are going to defense spending and building new helicopters and shit. 7399 Itâ€™m being downvoted but you can literally search how much they spent on this. Itâ€™s like 1.2 million over a few years. 7399 My guess would be is that any people who were on the fence about making the attempt are now rushing because of fear of increased border security, so all of this fervor will only increase attempted border crossings 7394 it would be interesting to see this broken down into other demographics such as race, repeat offenders, felons, and use of illegal firearms 7395 [deleted] 7396 [removed] 7397 I would probably pay 6 years of my life for $10 mil 7398 Luckily it's flat out false. 7399 [removed] 7400 NJ has a shit ton of pharmaceutical companies. I think itâ€™s one of the top 3 pharmaceutical states or something. 7401 No they didn't. That was going on for a few months before that final episode was made. They took other funding from them in the final episode. And that's also not the police departments fault. That was almost all one councilmember who hated police. 7402 > the less capital there is to fuel the engine that allows those those government jobs to exist in the first place. 7403 The less government jobs the less infrastructure to create private jobs. I have no idea how people against Public sector can ignore the fact that it's required to maintain modern society. You need roads, you need education, you need public services, and you need social security nets so people can take risks and enter the investment pool. 7404 How can people be so myopic about how much opportunity Public sector creates? 7405 it's a digitally remastered game. remastering a game is just improving the sound, graphics, etc. what else do you want? i have no idea what you mean by the "george lucas route." MRW was actually a perfect remaster. it's exactly what people want out of a remaster except for being poorly optimized on PC. and then they added new dlc but i already mentioned that 7404 what happens if the lootboxes don't cost any money (e.g. pay day 2) 7405 Interesting to see Texas and California both with high numbers despite drastically different governing philosophies. The statistic doesn't paint the whole picture, but I'm curious as to why they get stronger but the east coast does not. 7406 You exaggerate a lot on job cuts but you're not far off on what there is to do around here. 7407 Yeah sub is common, sub roll is a thing, although sizes vary. I had just never heard hoagie used outside Scotland before and I was a bit confused at why this (to me) Scottish slang sounding word was known everywhere in America it seemed. 7408 [removed] 7409 > you made no points other than "you're wrong". you asked for an example, it was provided. there's no "backing out" lol/n Wrong. You said in response to my post that the post I was replying to already provided an example. When pressed, you provided an example which had nothing to do with the point being made. Again, read what I actually wrote instead of what you wish I had written. 7410 Don't worry, by the end of this, I'm sure you'll get it! 7411 [removed] 7412 The fuck beach down the shore are you going to that no one knows about? 7413 I'd love to find it. 7412 I don't think it's a particularly relevant comparison. That was a different time with different macroeconomic conditions. 7414 Inbeside, individual income have also increased, which is what the graph shows. so it's not as if households have risen and individual has fallen. they've both gone up. 7413 Who gets to decide where the line is between a mural, a whole painted house, or just a partial design? 7414 >and your car is worth more than what you owe on it, your payment might even be less. 7415 Well, shit. I'll just get a 2019 model in 2021 7415 Temple 2011 actually haha. Made the ride from New England many many times 7416 >Gun owners showing how upset they are over emojis this week. 7417 So the point you're on is the gun owners reacting to this(I'd say less "upset" and more "incredulous") and not, ya know, the people who freaked out about a gun emoji to the point of seeing it removed? 7417 Why don't you stop doing illegal things then? 7418 "Good luck, Israel!" 7419 I don't see the problem with this. People are being punished for breaking the law. Just because you don't like a law that doesn't mean you don't have to follow it. You can either move or use your vote to change it. 7420 Not as long as Chris Christie is speaking his "opinions" into the state legislator's collective ears on his way to the White House. 7421 I like to assume this phrase is so culturally ingrained in Iranian culture that it is said without much thought. 7422 Not American conversation: â€œHow you doing? Good thankâ€ 7423 Iranian conversation: â€œGood morning, death to America? Mominâ€™ death to America indeedâ€ 7424 Or maybe I should keep building the bomb shelter in my basement... 7425 The highwayâ€™s jammed with broken heroes on a last chance power drive 7424 [deleted] 7424 Well... Garden State... 7425 Right, but is it a corporate responsibility to NOT attempt to circumvent the attempts of parents from keeping their kids from doing things they should not. As an example, you get carded at an R movie because theaters know full well kids will sneak off to watch that movie and lie to their parents. 7426 My parents were involved and were good parents. They simply can not be there all the time. Otherwise you will accuse them of helicoptering. 7426 Weird, I see it as active interference with the reward system to give a person the desire to pay money. In Overwatch if you get a free loot box, it is just something extra you get. If you get one in a Valve-type lootbox, you miss out on the reward that you would normally get or you have to pay money to change your useless reward into an actual reward. In this regard, the Overwatch model is much more fair (even if I still don't like it). Buying from the market in Valves specific case is profiting from the opening of the lootbox and then taking a cut of the steam market value, which makes it even worse. 7427 100% agree with that. I believe the issue recently has been they feared the parents would attempt to leave the country. 7428 Well there are discussions underway regarding taking him home. 7428 She will. NBN reported tonight she'll be able to reapply for her license in 2020. 7429 cuz it's an article on nj.com... 7430 Ok. Raise the price to 70k if you think that makes a difference. Would you still do the job for that? In this political climate? I sure as hell wouldn't. 7431 It's just Reddit's inherent urge to circlejerk the fuck out of any stigma. 7432 Man, my kids got some of that while I was watching NCIS. flag, explosion, capitol building, jethro 7433 They have everything to do with each other. What are you talking about? 7434 Oh, I definitely believe in empathy. Empathy cannot be practiced in an abusive relationship, though, which is what an incel seeks. 7435 The pro cop crowd loves to see dead cops. They then can hold them up as martyrs when the cops murder members of the public. 7436 [deleted] 7437 [removed] 7438 I guess I better stop showing people my firearm sketches lest it be construed as threatening people with a lethal weapon... 7439 Okay, what about someone like me with a condition that every other medical marijuana state would give me a card for, NJ doesn't make it easy for my condition of transverse myelitis to apply. I got my weed illegally, in part because at the time it was over 1000 for me to get a medical card even if I found a doctor willing to stretch the diagnosis, but also because it was prohibitively expensive (chris christie said it was done on purpose). I got my weed illegally, I was almost completely paralyzed from the neck down, and I did that instead of opioids a doctor would have happily given me. 7440 I guess I should just avoid having weed. 7440 Because it's America, that country with all of the "freedom." 7441 >again I am sorry, but personal feelings don't have much weight. It's just as likely you might of ate ergot, and simply tripped balls/n But I'm not trying to convince you with that evidence. And you could say "you just ate ergot" to literally anything anyone has to say. 7442 spirituality is different from them. Someone can believe and ghosts, spirits, angels, and demons, but not in a God. 7443 And I think I've had experiences with God. 7444 n/needs evidence or logical proof. Beuz I personally feel my pet unicorn exists and my therapist is wrong. 7445 Why do I need evidence or logical proof? I'm not trying to prove God's existence to you. I believe plenty of things without evidence or logical proof. For example, I believe I broke my arm in the 3rd grade, even though I don't have much evidence. 7446 Citing a daily wire link? Really? 7447 n/How do people read that shit and feel more "informed"? Might as well read the National Enquirer. 7448 Seeing someone's outlined in their boxers is no different than a speedo or tight board shorts. 7449 I'd rather they required flat men to wear shirts, cus hair moobs are gross. buuuut if we don't discourage black people from coming to our beautiful towns they might turn into shitholes like Pleasantville or atlantic city so I think the right decisions were made by those in charge. 7444 All cards enabled for online payment are credit cards and online payments are done according to the "credit" type of payment. Mastercard/Visa/Eurocard work the same everywhere. It has to be like this because of the long intervals involved for clearing and contesting online payments. 7445 Private prison lobby is more powerful than people think. They keep Sessions nuts locked up tight until he starts a new war on drugs and makes them more money. 7446 <https://medium.com/nj-spark/private-prisons-americas-life-dealers-b8ede327878c> 7446 I don't remember what I had. 7447 The bullying no? The gun videos combined with bullying? It was something to follow up on. With his parents present. 7448 The raw numbers can be somewhat deceptive. Net job gains in Texas is always high and was actually lower than usual here due to the hurricane. It doesn't explain the Great Lakes Region but does explain Texas and Florida. 7449 Yes. That's kind of the point I'm making. 7450 If you want a better understanding of what happened: 7451 <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wGZEvXNqkM> 7451 I don't need my credit card at a school either, but I have it on me. Many people have accepted the fact that their personal defense is their own responsibility and have adapted their life to accommodate that. 7452 I was a clairvoyant, if I knew "Friday at 6pm you will be mugged while leaving Kroger" then I would only carry on that Friday at 6pm. But I cannot see the future, so instead I just carry at all time. I will most likely never have to use my firearm in self defense. Never in my life. But I've had a family member that was accosted before. I had a co-worker who was car jacked. So I've decided to carry a tool for self defense and carry it at all times. 7453 Except when the government tells me I can't. 7452 [removed] 7453 lol I live by Hoboken, just up the big ass hill... 7454 How is this on this sub? This is such a weird post. It's basically a list of drug statistics per state on a state's website. It's not actually news. It's also using 2016 numbers. 7455 There is nothing self centered. I am up for gamers to have opinions that they want to purchase and how to find the game producers they like. I chose one method, others choose another. No need to limit it. Do not expose kids to it, sure, but the rest should be up for the consumer. 7456 Ok, gun-na stop you right there. The exact same thing happens when people on the other political spectrum don't get their way, like sitting on the floor at the age of 60 putting, so why don't we just agree that bitches with their panties in a bunch are just that and ignore them? If they all feed off attention. 7457 YEah, because we don't need them whatsoever and service they provide is not of strategic importance to security of entire nations. 7458 "Theoretically" it could be so much worse in the middle east area if we had never stepped in.. but at the same time it's just as plausible that they would have been better off had we not intervened 7459 OK, let's see a large country actually pass a law about this and then we'll talk. 7460 Drip. 7461 n/Drip. 7462 n/Goes the torrent of war propaganda 7461 I mean that's a serious issue though. 7462 Downvoters not knowing what jury nullification is 7463 [removed] 7464 Involving minors. 7465 n/That'd do wonders for their stock price, I'm sure! 7465 I mean in all for gun control, more than most. 7466 But this is fucking stupid 7466 The gay lifestyle is NOT exactly like the straight lifestyle... similar though but definitely NOT exact. 7467 Addition: and I also meant to mention that the straight lifestyle is not like the gay lifestyle. Also, male lifestyle is not like the female lifestyle etc etc. 7467 Those people gave themselves a hiv epidemic 7468 Still had to click to open the comments though 7469 If you need help then ask. It doesn't have to be difficult. 7470 n/You can always take remedial maths in CC as well. It would actually put you ahead of the group once you go to a 4 year. 7470 > organized labor crushed in/nbush shit. Organized labor was corrupted from the inside. Unions morphed into political pyramid schemes. 7471 Why is it a bullshit argument? 7472 Some people watch tv, some people browse reddit, some people play games. What does it matter what how people use their time? 7473 Non-physical allegations are a bullshit argument. Why do we do anything in life? 7472 The thing is for me, I get that many people want weed to be legal, and you shouldn't go to jail for weed I get it; I also think you have the right to fight to make weed illegal, if you really cared that much. The thing for me is the girl couldn't completely avoided the situation by just not having weed. Even though it's "just weed" she still doing something that's illegal at this point and time. 7473 This is kinda dumb. Of course one state does it more than another. 7474 [removed] 7475 Haters gonna hate. I was 32 in 2015 when I finally got off food stamps and bought a car less than 10 yrs. old. Last year was the first time we paid income taxes instead of receiving a refund and I was actually happy to do it! 7476 Society does not stoop to the level of the criminal. We are not that men. Justice is not about revenge no matter what your Hollywood movies say 7477 is this what they refer to as "title gore"? 7478 That first one is borderline while the others are iffy. 7479 I agree but I'd rather have one than none 7480 Both are awful. Cigarettes have a toxic smell can be contained in a small area (dad and my neighbors smoke, the smoke doesn't go that far). Weed is more stinky, lasts longer, and can travel a bit farther (from my experiences, other people might be different). If cigarette smoke wasn't dangerous, I would hate weed smoke more. 7481 If this is the case new jersey might be the number 1 marijuana arrest COUNTRY on earth 7482 Inyo yeah that'll stop gun violence 7483 Personally, most of the bumper to bumper traffic I've experienced has been in Philly and Pennsylvania in general. Not NJ. 7484 Next time just call the fucking fire department. They have axes. 7485 And they can have this buy adding content. You want me to buy the expansion so the game better be in good shape when you release it. That is their incentive to keep the game in working order. I would think they would have the balance worked out in a game like call of duty by now.... 7486 >(which isn't as cool a job as it sounds. 7487 I feel exactly the same way about "drug czar." 7487 The pro cop crowd will have a stat to circle jerk over while crying â€œcoof course he was afraid for his lifeâ€ though. So thereâ€™s that. 7488 Slave labor, jobs for police and prison builders/guards, etc.... 7489 I thought he was going to do it within the first 100 days. Currently abroad. Is he on track to follow through? 7490 ...a recorded breakdown and attempting to influence an officer on the scene through her connections. goodbye maâ€™mam, *whoever you were*â€™n/n..waste another minute on this and itâ€™tms on you guys :) 7491 lâ€™tm pretty sure she wonâ€™t lose sleep over an award from LGBT. Not sure why see this popping up as news and why itâ€™tms such a big deal. â€™n/nlâ€™tm not condoning her actions but there have been worse things that have happened. 7492 > People who have government jobs don't take money out of the economy.â€™n/nIf we have to raise taxes to pay them then yes they do.â€™n/n-Reallocation wealth that is NOT being used to consume goods and services towards that purpose is a direct injection into growth.â€™n/nYea that retirement money set aside is being used and so is that money saved up for my children. You cant have it. â€™n 7493 [deleted] 7494 Still bullshit though. It's a fucking plan! 7495 http://www.state.nj.us/health/medical/marijuana/ https://www.nytimes.com/2018/01/23/nyregion/new-jersey-medical-marijuana.html http://www.nj.com/marijuana/2018/03/chronic_pain_anxiety_migraine_sufferers_may_apply.html â€™n/n- "Patients should be treated as patients, not criminals. We will be guided by science." Murphy said. No more would patients be "failed by a system that has been prevented from delivering the compassionate care it promised nearly a decade ago."â€™n/n-Physicians must still recommend patients to the program but Murphy abolished the public registry, which deterred many from joining in fear of the stigma associated with what is still an illegal substance. There are just 536 physicians registered in a state with 28,000 doctors.â€™n/n 7496 Pulitzer and Hersh didn't help either, had to keep getting their paper money 7497 It's weird to see in such a left leaning state 7498 Well, stop showing your bullshit disguised as morality down everybody's throats. You're a bunch of hypocrites. 7499 Yep, it's ridiculous. 7500 Donâ€™t know why youâ€™t're being downvoted. People with limited education/ work experience who work for tips can often make much more money than they would otherwise get. A â€™fâ€™wâ€™gâ€™e without tips would be a pay decrease for many servers, especially career servers, while decreasing the quality of service. Youâ€™t'MJ have a much lower server-to-customer ratio and less attention and enthusiasm. I wouldnaâ€™t be surprised if US has the best casual dining service than any other country in the world. 7501 Not Topeka Kansas 7502 How did he get a gun????â€™n/nHow could it possibly happen????â€™n/nIn the land of more guns than people, how could someone POSSIBLY get a gun??? 7503 Have to get better quality juice. I have a sorin air plus and love it 7504 I donâ€™t really buy this. You would forgive anyone once for whatever?â€™n/nOh he went on a murder spree, but people make mistakes you know?â€™n/nYes he ran a ponzi scheme that left millions bankrupt, but heâ€™tms only human.â€™n/nSo he got drunk and engaged in some minor cannibalism. Who hasnaâ€™t been there?â€™n/nThis is absurd. Letâ€™tms be real. There is some line that could be crossed where you would not forgive, but racism and assault just donâ€™t cross that line for you. 7505 I think you might be misremembering. Either that or you're grasping at any excuse to besmirch Obama. He didn't just have a beer with the cop. He invited Henry Louis Gates and the cop to the white house to have a beer and a conversation about what went down. It was a classic case of trying to humanize two groups who traditionally don't get along to one another. That's what a real leader does. Happy new year man, try to let go of your blind hatred. 7506 Yes, just get more guns to solve the problem of too many guns! 7507 Sure thing.â€™n/nHave a happy new year! 7508 [removed] 7509 It's private medicine committing fraud and private insurance that doesn't care so long as the premiums keep rolling in that's the problem. Single payer would track this far better. 7510 Education is the number one factor in birth rates. But good on ya for having no idea what you are talking about. 7511 Because America has 300 million guns floating around.â€™n/nI love the shock after every one of these events.â€™n/nHow could he possibly get a gun?????â€™n/n Maybe it has something to do with having more guns than people.... 7512 > He hasnaâ€™t gone to trial. Lol I have no idea either way.â€™n/nSo you think trial is the only method we can evaluate something, despite it having a 2%+ failure rate? Why? You said a 0.004% rate was unacceptable, why is a 2% one better?â€™n/n- Lol I have no idea either way. Stop pretending like you do.â€™n/nWhy do you think statistics can't give us some idea? It still tells us a lot, even if it's not 100% proof. It's not black magic. People use statistics all the time to give them an idea how likely something is. 7513 Sadistic US war stage Imao 7514 Is there a chance theyâ€™tms purposely letting Info Wars lick up so badly to show their pervasive ineptitude? I feel like the basis of Jonesâ€™t defense seems to be â€™fâ€™eâ€™vâ€™râ€™yâ€™nâ€™g said on here is opinion.â€™f 7515 Wow, thank you for the quick and honest response. There are some points there i disagree with, but also a lot of grey area where my views may overlap with yours to a certain degree.â€™n/nFor tonight, i will again just say thanks for the honesty and have a happy new year. 7516 They are not paranoid law makers. Weed is legal in DC. They are trying to appeal to a base of anti weed voters. They havenâ€™t seen that pro marijuana voters have arrived and will win them a seat. 7517 something being illegal, and that law being enforced, are very different things 7518 I hope youâ€™t're doing okay buddy 7519 Kevin forgot to stop being Frank. 7520 How many other patients has this fraud pulled this on. 7521 As someone sitting in Canada, stoned as balls over New Year, I agree with this governor on this specific motion (I know fuck all about US politics, but this thing is a good thing to me). 7522 It is quite true. I'm not sure why you think the opposite, it's fundamental. 7523 Republican tax cuts for the wealthy, tariffs, and bloated military budgets aren't fiscally conservative.

Republicans haven't been fiscally conservative in decades, it's just their marketing slogan. 7524 Well, that's a damn lie.â€™n/n- Specifically, it prohibits a firearm transfer between private parties unless a licensed gun dealer, manufacturer, or importer first takes possession of the firearm to conduct a background check.â€™n/nNothing to do with opening it up to the public. 7525 Not true at all.â€™n/nInsurance hub. Tech hub. Banking hub.â€™n/nPhoenix is growing at a fast rate. AZ was also top 3 states with most people moving too.â€™n/nTexas(growing economy), Florida(retires), then AZ. 7526 Why does it have to be group living? Wouldnaâ€™t you agree that veterans deserve better? 7527 Might makes right? Pathetic.
7528 I shall give you a red arrow 7529 lâ€™tm telling you, this guy is protected from up in high by the Prince of Darkness. 7530 Tax write off. Just gaming the system even more. /s 7531 same goes with the nj accusers. I has miraculously is having money trouble, and suddenly reminded that he was "Abused" by mj. 7532 Thatâ€™tms called a 30(b)(6) deposition. I hate Alex Jones as much as anyone, but honestly that sounds like itâ€™tms as much on the defense lawyers as on the defendant (of course we donâ€™t know how much cooperation the attorneys are really getting). 7533 Honestly, all of his crazy bullshit is just a slimy coating for the increasingly blatant white nationalism at the core of his ideas. 7534 Would it change your opinion if you were still in jail for butt sex after it has been made public? 7535 Not at the level of per capita GDP China has been experiencing. That ride from $200 to $9000 per capita shows up in child and maternal mortality, access to potable water, literacy, and population in extreme poverty. 7536 > Would you mind citing your source for the statistics?â€™n/nSure, but i wouldn't take them as gospel. I just grabbed numbers off google from what looked like a reputable source (and I'm far from an expert). And I'm sure it's incredibly hard to get a firm number, considering the topic.â€™n/nThis is where i got the 2-8% number.â€™n/nhttps://minnesotalawreview.org/2018/11/25/men-fear-false-allegations-women-fear-sexual-misconduct-assault-and-rape/â€™n/nYou can probably fudge them, but unless they're orders of magnitude off, i don't think it changes the overall argument much. It is a very back of the napkin calculation, at best. Honestly, various assumptions like whether they're correlated or not probably matter way more. ie, if a famous person is accused, do more people jump in on the action, etc? Assuming they're uncorrelated, even a literal coin flip (50%) 4 times in a row is only 6.25% because of how it compounds 7537 [removed] 7538 [removed] 7539 Itâ€™tms worse. The representative for Info Warsâ€™t parent company came to the deposition unprepared. The lawyer for the families legit had to ask â€™fâ€™oâ€™dâ€™o you even know why you are here?â€™fâ€™n/nDew came prepared to testify as himself and play dumb but found out that he was supposed to represent the company and royally fucked them over by not preparing. 7540 "Inevitably! Inevitable! Things will inevitably fly my way. Gah open your fuckin ears." 7541 He about to be pardoning the lovely lady in the background once the Jussie Smollett trial occurs. 7542 Rich gotta be rich, and free 7543 They have 11 large vessels for a coastline that is equivalent to 80% of the circumference of earth. 7544 It wonâ€™t take all 50. Even now, I think we hit the point where itâ€™tms hard for the feds to reverse the movement. Itâ€™tms just a question of causing the federal govt to decide to get with it. Itâ€™tms guessing with next democrat president honestly, so about 5 years 7545 You didn't need a crisis response team to mobilize troops to a hot spot.â€™n/nIt's called a qrf. It's been a think for a long long time.â€™n/nAnd CAS has been a thing for longer. 7546 Sometimes [passwords donâ€™t matter] (https://youtu.be/B8DTeAnBx0?t=1063) on these things 7547 >> â€™n/nWhen a man was stopped on CFB Borden, documents show he was playing Pokemon Go and told officers "I have to beat my kids [get more points]."â€™n/nGid they clarified that. 7548 Well, I'm not gonna lie, I use an ad blocker, so really I have no excuse Imao 7549 Remember when the American right wing had principles? 7550 They did but itâ€™tms back to them. They withdrew it to modify it IIRC. 7551 Why 7552...tiny piece of it in the right, but forgot about upstate...and I've been there. 7553 [removed] 7554 I. I believe every able human being should be allowed to own a gun besides convicted criminals. â€™n/2. I believe in lower taxes and no income tax, but just a sales tax. â€™n/3. I believe that having a stronger border is necessary for the safety of our country.â€™n/4. I believe in deregulation, from everything from drugs to jobs (besides an already set minimum wage) and other things. â€™n/5. I believe in complete, unrestricted, freedom of speech. If I want to be a jerk to someone verbally by whatever means necessary I should be able to do so, and they should be able to do so right back. The only thing that should be prevented is physical actions.
â€™n/6. I want to stay out of other country's businesses and let them vote in whoever they want. Intervention should only occur if it means protecting ourselves and the safety of our allies. â€™n/7. I don't believe there's such a thing of a "trans person", but rather someone who has a mental problem that they need to seriously look over, because an individual cannot biologically change sexes. 7555 Keep in mind that "consumption" refers to components of the PCE, which is highly weighted towards housing, medical, and transportation consumption. It's not iPhones and avocados. 7556 this is very common stuff, usually the amounts aren't this high, so the provider can fly under the radar. 7557 Something someone heard it in his voice. 7558 open a history book and look at all the times businesses have called in the national guard to shoot striking workers. 7559 [removed] 7560 > Anyone can do it.â€™n/nWhat if EVERYONE did it?
Seriously think about it. No more janitors. No more 24hr convenience store clerks. The system REQUIRES people to fail. The number one factor for success is [luck] (https://blogs.scientificamerican.com/beautiful-minds-the-role-of-luck-in-life-success-is-far-greater-than-we-realized/). Nobody chooses to be weak, that's like saying people enjoy homelessness or hunger. 7561 Shit, I can make people cleanly disappear with some parachute, a rental sprinter van, and half a gallon of bleach... with $1mll I could charter a plane, rent a boat, drop them in the ocean with some cement on their feet, buy a mansion, and pay for my daughter's private schooling... still have money left over to invest in a restaurant... and add to my IRA. 7562 No problem! The Guardian is always hit or miss on mobile with all the dang ads 7563 Just leave them people alone, please 7564 this is how it is in all countries, or will be. 7565 If only...but most of the damage is sadly done already. 7566 Why did infant mortality rates improve? Modern medicine. 7567and less than the current amount you pay for insurance and fewer deductibles and copays.â€™n/nI mean assuming that you have insurance; otherwise we've all been paying for you. 7568 ...your idea of the right side of history is the rich using weapons to oppress/kill the poor.â€™n/nSo you're either insane or a troll. 7569 People take take this guy's shit so seriously. I find him entertaining ðŸŒŠâ€™fâ€™t, 7570 In what way does crippling China's economy increase their strength?â€™n/nhttps://www.forbes.com/sites/charleswallace/2019/08/09/trade-war-hurting-china-economy/â€™n/nI'm grateful that our economy is doing better than it has been in decades. I think it's pretty obvious that Trump's deregulatory policies have been more successful. (Not all of them are environmental)â€™n/nhttps://www.cnbc.com/2019/07/how-trump-has-set-economic-growth-on-fire.htmlâ€™n/nThe debt has been accruing long before Trump got in office. The increased deficit is the price of negotiating across the aisle.â€™n/nhttps://www.cnbc.com/2019/12/16/congress-negotiating-deal-to-raise-tobacco-age-repeal-obamacare-tax.html 7571 He hasnaâ€™t gone to trial. Lol I have no idea either way. Stop pretending like you do 7572 [removed] 7573 If you have money, every place is an amazing place. 7574 if the workers get enough power, why would they waste it on unionizing? it's useless. 7575 [removed] 7576 lol are you joking? Women love crazy violent men. Better than high inhibition passive betas. 7577 And you haven't given a definition of what you consider reasonable doubt. It's clearly not the same as mine, and apparently not the legal definition.â€™n/n- You havenâ€™t answered.â€™n/nI already gave you an answer why I think it's likely. You clearly disagree with that criteria, but you won't justify why your approach is more better. Or even what your criteria is, other than blind trust in the judicial system 7578 that term is always strange to me. if its wrong to make a plant illegal and charge people for possessing it, then wouldnt you pardon all the marijuana convictions, and let the convictions for the violent crime that carry most of the jail time anyway stand, so those prisoners still are not released?â€™n/nI struggle to picture what a violent marijuana crime would look like. maybe beating someone up with an especially hard brick of mex? 7579 Read his profile for additional context. 7580 Yea, if you're ignorant 7581 There was actually a rapid crisis response team in the area this time, which did not exist until after the recommendations on Benghazi came out. Trump had nothing to do with it. 7582 Do you even know what point youâ€™t're trying to make anymore? 7583 I didnâ€™t come here to read an essay - â€™n/nLk. Very informative. 7584 Yes, but he don't know maths good like [you and I] (https://media.comicbook.com/2017/03/guardians-of-the-galaxy-vol-2-trailer-3-rocket-douchebags-winkn-235488.jpg) 7585 "I broke a law I know was illegal and got in trouble for it" shocked Pikachu face. 7586 Yea itâ€™tms not great but not terrible 7587 You make it seem like satire to be in legal trouble for a polluting car or throwing things away improperly, you certainly can be.
7588 This is a logical response, you seem well adjusted. 7589 It took a bit but I like it now beats cigs 7590 Last time we "successfully" rebuilt a country was South Korea. 7591 [removed] 7592 [removed] 7593 Stop flying, prince, and get the rest of your hyper rich relatives to do the same. 7594 Shiiiiit. I'll pm you. 7595 Insane that this cunt is the sort who makes it big in this country 7596 K. Happy new year. 7597 i was always speaking from personal experience, I never said "all gas stations are perfect"â€™n/nI merely said that that vape shops aren't necessarily more stringent. their practices are the same. 7598 too absolute, by that logic no point doing anything 7599 Huh, I must have entirely missed that part! Thanks for pointing that out to me haha 7600 I pray for the people of HK, that they may be freed of their Chicom oppressors and enjoy liberty. 7601 Apex? Jaja 7602 Bathtub with wings and a gun. 7603 Wow itâ€™tms like youâ€™t're serpio... homey as long as there is a government there will be crime in Mexico. 7604 They do it to tourists in NYC too 7605 [removed] 7606 What the hell was that? 7607 It's that new Mexican style lager from Moscow.
7608 [removed] 7609 Yes, totally agree. But leaving the dark ages on weed will probably require a lengthy, drawn-out, overly Swedish research study involving the likes of Trafikverket which will triple the time needed. 7610 I recently got into a bit of banter with a st louis county deputy (I was in a good position, I could talk smack), I brought up that I didn't like the cops being called, he asked why.. I brought up a recent incident the STL city cops were recently in. "oh that's the city, we want nothing to do with them!.. 7611 > Choppers can be taken down with electronic warfare. Most rely on radio systems that can be jammed or hacked.â€™n/n- electronic warfare also works against tanks â€™n/nHelicopters can not be "taken down" with electronic warfare. They use radios to communicate, not to stay aloft. Same goes for tanks, they do not blow up if their radio stops working. 7612 Theyâ€™tM do it in 15 minutes 7613 lâ€™tMve heard that the cartels are even learning how to manufacture firearms to supply themselves and sell to criminals in the United States. 7614 To decrease the prices of those raw materials over time, which benefits the consumers of those raw materials. 7615 Hmmm a few mass shootings vs the systemic government sanctioned human atrocities of the CCP.â€™n/nYeah...totally the same thing Kerr 7616 Underrated comment. Doesn't make it right or them justified, but I agree with you. 7617 >Ever heard of training? Ever heard of air strikes? Those are two things which help and don't require hundreds of thousands of troops.â€™n/nThese troops are not pilots. This is not an airbase. 7618 We found out a lot about Lebron James with this issue. And he just wants us to forget that. 7619 Comrade James is ready to move on. 7620 Mainlander here. I'm surprised you are not frothing at the mouth about people "visiting Tasmania FROM AUSTRALIA Height of ignorance." 7621 Almost like it's the exact same assholes who caused all those other regulations trying to do another end around the rest of us pay for again. 7622 > Until a bunch of dumbasses OD on legal fent. I don't want my tax dollars going to narnan for a bunch of now legal junkies.â€™n/nThis is where the regulation part comes into play. I'm not saying people should have free access to EVERY hard drug there is and that they can buy them as if they're buying candy in a store.â€™n/nEvery drug should have its risk assessed and a limit should be established according to the specific substance. 7623 Sure, Denmark is more liberal, but they also have more alcohol related problems: [https://stm.f/en/article/-/asset_publisher/alkoholinkultus-on-baskent-pohjoismaa-eniten-tanskassa-ja-suomessa] (https://stm.f/en/article/-/asset_publisher/alkoholinkultus-on-baskent-pohjoismaa-eniten-tanskassa-jasuomessa)â€™n/nI'm not saying that either solution is better, both have consequences, but I'm in favor of Systembolaget and I hope that in the future, when Sweden has come out of the dark ages when it comes to recreational drug use, they will sell marijuana as well. 7624 LeBitch has a big mouth, just stfu & play ball ya shine 7625 They took the BARRRRR! THE WHOLE. FUCKING. BARRRRRR! 7626 [removed] 7627 Drug arrests will do it for sure, and if you say stupid shit on Facebook, that might do it too. 7628 How would you explain that. Say one day you are changing at the gym and accidentally rip a fart and your paaracheut deploys in the locker room. "No guys it's not a sex thing, it is just for emergencies, you know, better safe than sorry" 7629 Better ban Appleinis, flavored vodka, and every â€™fâ€™X and Cokeâ€™tM drink out there then. Adults like flavor too, you know? 7630 What Lebron Said!â€™n/nYes, we do have freedom of speech." James said. "But at times there are ramifications for the negative that can happen when you're not thinking about others, when you only think about yourself."â€™n/nHe added: "So many people could have been harmed, not only financially but physically, emotionally, spiritually. So just be careful what we tweet and what we say and what we do. Even though yes, we do have freedom of speech, it can be a lot of negative that comes with it."" 7631 [removed] 7632
That is false I got a degree with a fake ssn plus was given grants. 7633 How can I tell this means pass the blunt dude without speaking mexican 7634 I'm Stuck in the middle with you 7635 *insert your mom joke here 7636 Are you suggesting the Kurds are the problem or? 7637 Easy there, incel. 7638 I think he means that instead of random rough figures of shop being open now they had all the shops closed or open on Saturday and could use that difference for measuring certain statistics. 7639 He was being sarcastic 7640 And sacrifice good Turkish land when there's free real estate just across the border? 7641 I'm having a little joke. This shit happens to Mexicans every day. Yet arrest a Brit and it's headline news. 7642 Ouch. That was an unfortunate phrasing on my part. I mean that it shows that the friction introduced by the monopoly helps reduce domestic violence. Thanks for pointing it out! 7643 I'm not really worried that this guy might be innocent. Take him out back and put him down like a rabid dog. 7644 And we all end up going to Denmark anyways where there is no aforementioned rules or monopoly...ahhh halah those Danes, eh? 7645 Ah Mexico. The only place where anabolic steroids are as over the counter item but weed is illegal. 7646 She had immunity from the first deal and as his new case is dead they have stopped the entire investigation in its tracks. So she isn't actually getting pursued at all. Personally I think she is a Mossad like her father was. 7647 Still there. 7648 > They're certainly contributing to criminal activities against civilians, if that's the environment you're talking about.â€™n/nNo I'm not talking about how we have one of the highest violent crime rates compared to other developed nations. And how it's incredibly common for our criminals to carry concealed weapons. How police officers are shot at, or attacked with deadly weapons on a daily-weekly basis. Etc, etc.â€™n/n- Do more civilians die at the hands of LEO than LEO die by civilians/criminals?â€™n/nNo they don't. Regardless of numbers, it's common sense. Vests, better training, outnumbering the suspect, etc.â€™n/nI certainly agree that police unions have overstepped their bounds, but that's a whole other issue to talk about.â€™n/nThe uneven power dynamic will always exist. The mere idea of the police requires a higher power to complete its purpose. Giving someone the right to detain, stop a vehicle, investigate, and etc requires them to have higher powers. We've been better than other places in history, because we have a system that does it's best to specify the vague language of the law and create rulings that prevent government abuse. For example, reasonable suspicion and probable cause. Shift, 35 years ago it was perfectly legal for a cop to kill an unarmed man trying to flee. Didn't even matter if they posed a threat...People think there's no accountability now, but in reality it's incredibly better than it was 20-30 years ago. Sorry for the tangent... Like I said, every country's police force has an uneven power dynamic. The theory of a police force requires it.

In my opinion, this whole issue is a two way street. But people only expect one side to make changes and that can only go so far. Cops are generally products of their environments.

There's a reason why there's a strong correlation between police killings and the violent crime rate, or why our cops are different than those in the UK or Germany. 7649 You say ἀφ' ου ου̅̅̅ like I was the guy making the rules. I don't even know what this contract was. 7650 Doesn't this further violate the child the more eyes that see it? The solution doesn't really sit with me well. 7651 That'd be fine a be a lot of PSAs. 7652 Hong Kong belongs to China. Fuck the imperialist puppet protesters. Long live the CCP! 7653 We can't do anything about it because it's such a gigantic problem. To really do something about it will take a united movement to elect leaders willing to implement societal changes on a scale never before attempted in human history. Even when people agree that something must be done, and soon, what should be done will still divide them, stalling action even further. We don't know what the solution is, but human nature kind of tells me we won't even make a serious attempt until we are literally at the brink of civilization's collapse. 7654 That's great! 7655 Until a bunch of dumbasses OD on legal fentanyl. I don't want my tax dollars going to narcotics for a bunch of now legal junkies. There are some legit dangerous drugs out there that aren't just going to effect you. It's not so much "you choose what to do with your body" when you are running around the neighborhood blitzed out of your mind. I've lived in a shitty neighborhood. Drugs slack just to live around. I check crime maps first thing when looking at houses now! 7656 You pot and coke? All good 7656 I'm sorry your life has come to this, but for most people, cops perform their basic functions and if you really don't want there to be cops that's fine, just move to Somalia and you'll get to enjoy a relatively police-free life and the society that brings. 7657 Decriminalize but they don't know the difference it seems 7658 Colonialism was people living their life and then forcibly exploited for economic gain this case a population is seeking and petitioning relief and release from their own government, being met with hostilities and requesting outside aide, at the risk of economic losses to those aiding. Not quite the same thing. 7659 Berlusconi is either a man too weak to live in peace, or else he is a man targeted by people too weak to live in peace. Criminals are not strong, but rather they are slaves. They do things that bind them for the rest of their lives, and that is their "freedom"! To be chained by their own deeds is a criminals' "defiance"! They take from themselves the right to engage freely with society. The more bored criminals get, the more they worsen their conditions, and always they blame anyone but themselves for that. Lawful people get a society that is simply interesting and serves their tastes well, but criminals have boring minds, and they are broken into lifelong submission to that which bores them most.

We should treasure disloyalty. The people who turn against the broken systems of this world are the ones who break the chains of criminals. When people survive revealing their own crimes and those of others, they undermine the systems of this world that enable criminality. The free flow of information is the safeguard of a society where people get to live without boredom.

The true safeguard of societies is that most people have the intelligence and willpower to prefer a world safer and more pleasant than the chained life of a slave. Criminals in their stupidity and weakness must forever dwell in concealment, lashing out at truth, hiding what might embarrass them... Better by far to betray one's own past deeds and beg mercy. It is less demeaning.

Know Catholicism considers "pride" to be a sin, but as no Catholic myself to me "pride" is something that would keep me "confessing" my sins against others. I am not proud to make mistakes, but I am proud to be someone who can survive being known to make mistakes. I am proud to live with one mind about making mistakes. I am proud that my mind is not split around my own errors, and that I can face consequences willingly. There are many untoward operations still in this world where finding one soul of my pride within them would end them forever.

Humanity will live forever when all of humanity works towards the immortality of all humanity! 7660 The US is a big place in both population and land mass. We gave the power to each state to determine certain laws because of this. Most of the US already has it as legal so it's not long before all states do 7661 The entire post was about someone's experience in Cancun. You're not going to end up in prison in Vietnam like your moron friends for buying some pot in Cancun. All I said was maybe don't buy it from someone shouting "COCAINE! MARIJUANA! PUSSY!" from a street corner. People get so fucking bent out of shape and make shit personal for no reason. 7662 [removed] 7663 Because the 'original owner' is a psycho oppressive regime? Hardly a typical situation. Quid bene dices. 7664 What can LBJ do about that?!

Nothing. All the BS drummed up support on here isn't gonna change the dead bodies either.

China'd be fine gonna do what they want, regardless of what HK and the world says. HK is China'd be fine property after the British occupation. China wants its lands back. No one's gonna beat China head on, their a superpower. Not even the US is sure they could beat China anymore. 7665 black people only care about black people 7666 Nah I'm just not an autopilot type. Weird that people are so insecure they have to convince themselves everyone else must be like them. 7667 I wish Trump could read The Art of the Deal but then I find myself simply wishing he could read. 7668 MaA=ana, maA=ana... 7669 We don't need no stinking ceasefire. We need a Final Solution to this Kurdish Problem. 7670 I would be too: "Let's pretend I didn't say what I said." 7671 t'dr n'lames saysâ€¦ don't give a fuck what happens in China. 7672 Wasn't "Ghislain" also the name of [Star Wars Kid] (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Star_Wars_Kid)? 7673 I'm Mein gott in Himmel, it all makes sense now! 7673 It rubs the weed lotion on its skin or it get the hose again 7674 Uno fñio con los hombres 7675 [removed] 7676 What's happening over there and in many places around the world, is of grave concern to every freedom loving person. 7677 and with them 7678 [removed] 7679 [removed] 7680 The people with the downvotes are jackasses. I never told anyone to go buy drugs in a foreign country, I said I have, and you probably shouldn't buy them from someone yelling COCAINE, MARIJUANA, PROSTITUTES! on the street... Sometimes reddit is dumb AF. 7681 Oh god, the flashbacks from High School... 7682 Phone or room? 7683 I downvoted because I'm from the PNW and have lived in the dirty south for 20 years. The racism here in the south is astronomical in comparison. 7684 He's been through so much... 7685 u/-am-stopid 7686 I was wondering about that... 7687 How'd the steak in your matrix? 7688 You sure are tossing around a lot of value judgments as facts; be sure and double check your simulation settings. 7688 When in the fuck did you think I was giving people advice aside from maybe don't buy drugs from someone shouting on the street? You guys are too much. 7689 I just got back from Cabo, walk down the Marine and every single person will offer you weed and coke. I went to a restaurant. The waiter sits me down, takes my order, comes back and shows me a piece of paper that says "Weed? White?" 7690 Well, childhood exists... that's means someone made it. 7691 Count me...OUT 7692 LeBron J. basically said that we can and should not tweet about what we support in HK, because if uninformed it could lead to financial (but not only) damage. He was talking about some manager tweeting freedom for HK, then deleting it because the NBA is afraid China will cut ties with them. 7693 If I remember correctly, she served 9 days in jail for that incident. The 7.5-15 she is serving now is part of a plea deal she took after being arrested for drugs and prostitution while on probation for the lying incident.

But it's hard to tell if this information is accurate without a name to make sure I've got the right story. 7694 Can you explain this more? Why? 7695 By working fine you mean artificially setting a price and preventing small businesses and entrepreneurs and innovation sure, 7696 >I don't think the Allies went to war due to the Nazis treatment of the Jews and others, but rather the invasion of Poland was the last straw.

Correct. It was germany invading everyone that started the war in Europe. And Japan attacking pearl harbour that brought the US into it and made it a world war.

Little was known about treatment of jews and such at that time and if being fully honest most countries would not care that much. The nazis were attacking groups that were not that popular anywhere. 7697 It was only towards the end, when the full scale of what the nazis were doing (industrial scale genocide) started to come out that people started to care. 7697 He may not be the business guy, but he's the one controlling the company. If he wants EPIC to defy China - EPIC has to defy China. 7698 Not braindead, he's just a brazen narcissist. 7699 Damn even mexico is ahead of the states! 7700 In 2018 there were 1500 kids who were unable to be accounted for after being released to "sponsors". I can only assume that number is much higher now. 7701 It comes down to the people who think Indians and Hindus should run India, and people who think Muslims should. I say India is for the Indians but evidently left-wingers want to import Muslims to every country in the world en masse 7702 Pretty sure these days it's mostly carbon fiber. 7703 What do you think the word ἀφ' ου̅̅̅ means? 7704 Will try. 7705 [removed] bill gives automatic citizenship to non-Muslim migrants/refugees from Pakistan, Afghanistan and Bangladesh who can prove that they had entered India prior to Dec 2014. The underlying belief that religious minorities (hindu, Sikh, Buddhist, jain, parsi and Christian - religious minorities) gave persecution in the three countries. 7702 Atheists/alumni/Shia etc can still apply for citizenship. Their application will be evaluated in a case to case basis. This is different from religious minorities from the three Nations who have an automatic path as long as they had entered prior to Dec 2014.

3) Naturalization takes place after 11 years in India. This has been reduced to 5 years to religious minorities identified above. 4) citizenship to migrants will not apply to sixth schedule areas/tribal areas of NE 7705 [removed] 7706 He couldn't get Brexit through because the Tories didn't have a commanding majority of Parliament.

Now they do. 7707 All of those exist in circumscribed and uncircumscribed individuals. 7708 They both indicate either immaturity or clear bias to me. I can't see any person making a serious unemotional argument using them. 7709 This isn't a real objection of theirs though. It's just the technicality they use to justify controlling women's sexuality. 7710 I scored a touchdown! 7711 Can confirm, was on klonopin for anxiety, it's pretty much the most difficult drug to get off of. Even though I slowly tapered off of it I had a horrible withdrawal that lasted a couple years. Benzos are the second less spoken of epidemic in this country. A lot of opiate overdoses are combined opiate/benzo overdoses. 7712 Just in time for Tim Lincecum 7713 Consumer 0Y: electronics 0Y: companies 0Y: don't care, don't care 0Y: security. 7714 Not just their jobs, they should 100% lose their license. 7715 WTF does the size of the bullet matter? Look at the casing; there's quite a bit of power in it. It may not be more powerful than any other rifle, but it is one of the main weapons of choice for shooters. So the correct answer is probably that it's one of the more famous semi-automatic higher power rifles. It's possible for someone to be against any semi-auto rifle. You may disagree, but that's a reasonable stance to take. 7716 Alligator... Probably: <https://youtu.be/8ZZpZpDnM> 7717 7 of the 12 steps directly refer to god or a higher power. Shit sucks when there aren't many secular meetings held frequently near you. 7718 Some mentally handicapped people can't make their own medical decisions, that's the point. 7719 So baseball players can smoke weed. But your average worker will still lose everything over getting caught in some states or injured in others? 7720 Baselessly.....sure 7721 Yup I got asked no less then 5 times if I was sure. 2-3 times in the explanation of the procedure, once before it was started and once after one testicle was snipped. Also during the explanation they said it was like 6-10 thousand for the reversal so expensive in canada. Not guaranteed to work. Plus my sister knew a guy who attempted to get his reversed and now lives with constant testicle pain. 7722 So did the alligator get high? 7723 The courts will decide if alternatives are "always" available. 7724 Boy oh boy. Tell me I can't get MY medical needs met because if YOUR Religious beliefs. I'm coming up over the counter.....just saying. If I told you I was an Atheist would you then reject all of my scripts???? 0Y: 0Y: 0Y: 0Y: It is your job! Leave your beliefs out if it! 7725 he calls you out and you double down on the chucklefuckery. Bravo, you earned this tag and this block. 7726 Not sure if you meant to say that 308 isn't adequate for hunting hog, but it's 308's exceedingly adept at just that.

Some 308s might be a tad heavy at times for some people, but something like a Savage 110 is perfect for killing an angry feral hog.

Someone needs a 30 round magazine for killing a large, slow moving omnivore that doesn't know what a fucking pig is, then they shouldn't be allowed to even hold a gun, much less attempt to kill things with it. 7727 Your little bitch ass deserves to get curb stomped 7728 > I bet they would be called Nazis and shut down here.

Not just anyone protesting but imagine if Native Americans protested American govt. putting people in their reserves. 7729 Shutting down the internet is something that absolutely no one should have the power to do. 7730 That's a good point. But this does seem more like a team issue than a league issue. Like even with this take, surely the teams care more about protecting their investments than the league is. 7731 They wouldn't be that different from rhinoplasty on an adult. There are known consequences of circumcision too, including fatal infections (even in developed countries). Botched circumcisions can also cause erections to be painful or impossible later in life. 7732 Carter, too. Still wouldn't be allowed to play for the Yankees. 7733 As policy he is supposed to help pass the customer off to another pharmacist who can fill the order. Instead he went out of his way to lie and manipulate the situation so that if she did go to another pharmacy they wouldn't fill it for her either. 7734 Or maybe a company like Uber could do it. 7735 >There's no reason an atheist couldn't choose science as there higher power.

There is, though. Atheists don't believe in a "higher power." It's like saying "believe in any type of fairy you want." 7736 Oh, well that changes everything. Causing someone 1000000 know how many I will need. Something about the holiday season makes me want to fuck any gay in a Santa Costume.â€¢n/nOh, I would pay money to watch these women shamers head explode with rage while having to maintain a professional demeanor. The pharmacist can choose to take a stand with giving out the drug, but CVS and Walgreens will also be forced to take a stand with continuing to employ them once this channel gets 200k views within 4 hours of releasing an episode.â€¢n/nYou donâ€™t need a DR or consultation to get it, right?â€¢n/nCan anyone just go in and ask for the pill regardless of age?â€¢n/nHow much does Plan-B cost?â€¢n/nHow often can the same pharmacist give the drug to a person without them running into a situation that makes them providing it over and over in a short window of time to the same person unethical in terms of their pharmacist license? 7792 I'm glad you're happy that you got part of you body cut off so you don't have to spend 1 more second in the shower washing your junk.â€¢n/nThe idea of cutting off a healthy part of a baby's genitals would sound completely disgusting and immoral to everyone if American/Middle Eastern culture didn't make intact genitals portrayed as "gross".â€¢n/nDid you know that the Middle East justifies FGM by saying that the female labia is "unclean" and that female circumcision rids the body of the unclean part of the genitals.â€¢n/nThis sounds crazy to us because we grew up in a culture that says "MGM is clean while FGM is barbaric". They're both barbaric and genital mutilation.â€¢n/nYet again, I'm happy that you're happy with it, but all genital mutilation is genital mutilation. 7793 LOL 7794 I follow Buffy's philosophy regarding boots: >...stylish yet affordable boots... 7795 Delivering interplanetary goods in 2--days-- weeks! 7796 Cops are going to say they had no knowledge that it was a hostage situation, thereby absolving them of killing the UPS driver. Oh, and then endangering civilians with a shootout can be explained away given the robbers were armed and dangerous thereby justifying their actions, who knows how many people they would have killed if they had not stopped them? Itâ€™s getting to be a playbook. 7797 I can't go to bed at night until I've triggered a traumatic flashback in at least one person. 7798 This is my favorite telling of that story-- [https://vimeo.com/18603661] [https://vimeo.com/18603661] 7799 Well you can thank a two year campaign by the supposedly progressive minded bourgeois types like JK Rowling for sacrificing NHS and plenty of future Britons' health for the sake of their pocketbooks by baselessly casting Corbyn's class politics as anti-Semitism with the entire media from the usual suspects of the Daily Mail to the BBC playing their part. And when it's revealed that the Tories are going to introduce Britain to the wonders of the US healthcare system with its deductibles, premiums, and prescription drug costs, the entire media response is to write it off as Russian disinformation, even though the Tories never denied the authenticity of the documents. The Tories may have won, but it will be a hollow victory because this will also mark the end of the UK as we know it. I will just be England and Wales. 7800 No you wouldn't shut the fuck up, if they're not doing it why do you think you're so high and mighty?â€¢n/nDon't lie to yourself: 7801 No, you have to kill two more innocent people to get the 45 additional criminals (well, you'd get a budget for 48).â€¢n/nAnd do keep in mind: the benefit is executing them instead of letting them die in prison. You'd be willing to die for the satisfaction of the executions and financial savings of their meals, with no other benefit?â€¢n/n(And bear in mind, this is with the 4.1% number, which is literally just the rate at which people are proven innocent on death row during the appeals process, and assumes no other innocent convictions happen) 7802 Now I've been told that God changed his mind about black people in 1978. 7803 I mean, where is the example of loose gun laws not working? 7804 Hereâ€™s the end to this debate. Have you or have you not legally obtained a firearm in the United States? If you have not, then you have absolutely no idea what you are talking about. 7805 One person doesn't decide, society decides. And clearly society decided a Nazi amband isn't allowed in an elementary school.â€¢n/nWhy are you so butthurt 7806 It literally says right to constitutional rights depend on country and in the US they're not generally protected. I'm not sure what country you're on, but this doesn't prove anything. 7807 Sure you can. You can just give them back pay if the investigation turns up that the person is not "guilty". 7808 And those 5 homes will have issues. Luckily Apple will create 5 new homes with minor upgrades, but a different look and call it iHome2.0 7809 [removed] 7810 But the west doesn't like to teach how bad their countries fucked up most of the African continent, so that explains why westerners in this thread are just spreading bullshit. 7811 It's not a slur. Though inflection can matter, Roy Moore's wife's comments were not really shifty for that specific reason. They were shifty because she tried to defend their anti-Semitism by appealing to the fact that they "work with" a Jew, as if that closes the case.â€¢n/nAlso she married a pedophile rapist, but nobody in Alabama cares about that. 7812 Project much? 7813 80% is a better option. No one needs to know what property you own 7814 Exactly, the way we evolved in the wild back when we were animals, forged this behaviour into us. But in 2019, we should all be self-aware that the way our brain is wired affects our behaviour and keep control on it.â€¢n/nUltimately it all boils down to education, if people would know those things we would become more human and less monkey 7815 Essentially, there is no doubt. The only doubt that should exist after a conviction is unreasonable doubt. 7816 Why is a halloween costume like this even illegal? Isn't that the point of halloween? 7817 Not every increase in safety justifies every revocation of rights. Otherwise you could use individual murders as a justification for restricting the rights of large demographics 7818 Nah. That's true if that's your purpose. If it's not, then it isn't. Read my other comment for more context if you like. 7819 It's hard to feel like I misbehaved when the words I put in his mouth were slightly less cunny than what was actually in his mouth, but fair point. 7820 They just want to make us sound like the crazy ones till one day we believe them and lay down are arms and then boom red coats emerge from the ground to retake the sister land! :O 7821 Gosh youâ€™re right, itâ€™s not period accurate so itâ€™s all an accident. The brown shirt is a deliberate reference to a [nazi brown shirt]. [https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sturmabteilung] I donâ€™t know why youâ€™re pretending to be glib to something so blatant. 7822 Depends, if you are a cannibal who ordered some fresh exotic food, then it's desirable. 7823 If a child says they want to do it, with no input from anyone else, that's not really missing consent, is it? And there's no point at which force is alleged. It's one hell of a forced parallel with situations where kids have literally been beaten bloody against their will to force the gay out of them.â€¢n/nBut that's okay, I'll accept your response as 'no I can't cite one' and move on 7824 [removed] 7825 Could I? Yes. Will I? No. 7826 Agreed. And I think it should be perfectly reasonable to carry basically any gun you desire while on your own farm, land, or designated hunting grounds. If you're responsibly shooting hogs off your crops, go to town. You're one of the precious few who are actually using a gun as a tool instead of a security blanket, and I support your right to do so. 7827 Have you been drinking or something? 7828 > Should you also be barred from befriending your coworkers?â€¢n/nI mean, the differences between the two are blunt and obvious.â€¢n/nWe don't live in a society that loses their collective minds if you've got more than one friendship. Show up to the company picnic and introduce two people as close friends, that's normal everyday stuff. Show up to the company picnic and introduce two people as your boyfriends and then watch the entire event grind to a halt.â€¢n/nThe fact that romantic relationships are both sexual and exclusive has a whole whack-load of implications. If I'm dating my boss, and I *need my income to survive, then I must find a new job *before I break up with my boss. I'm gonna keep sleeping with somebody I'd rather get away from because the alternative is not making rent.â€¢n/nFriendships strengthen and weaken with time. Friends drift apart and find one another in cycles often. Sometimes this can be a source of drama, but often it happens pretty naturally. A friend I hung out with 3+ times a week may become a friend I hang out with 3+ times a month due to whatever changes.â€¢n/nThis is just about NEVER the case with romantic relationships. Expectations about how often you see one another and what you do with that time are *huge sources of drama in romantic relationships. Mostly, you can't peacefully de-escalate a romantic relationship.â€¢n/n---â€¢n/nAnd despite all this. Many people *still think of work-friends differently than their actual friends. I would consider some of my coworkers really good friends, but it's different. We maintain a facade of professionalism even outside of work. 7829 Hold on, let's just spring up all of that manufacturing infrastructure overnight.â€¢n/nNot I don't agree with you, mind, but you make it sound like it's a simple, quick process when it's anything but. We've spent decades building China up to basically be our factory and changing that is going to probably take years and consistent (and intelligent) policymaking. 7830 How many other countries that you are comparing the US to have the same recent history of racial strife, an idiotic war on drugs, and massive income disparity? 7831 I feel so bad for the kid... it probably has no idea why it had to wear that costume and now it probably gets shit at by so many people... 7832 Youâ€™re not familiar with Iran-American relations. Itâ€™s OK to admit youâ€™re clueless. 7833 [removed] 7834 This is just one small reason we moved from there, I lived just a couple miles from the school on this article. I got a job in Utah which was a huge stepping stone, but fuck that place and their politics. Thereâ€™s no room in their minds for anyone different who doesnâ€™t fit into their status quo. 7835 Now I wonder if Nazi zombies would be ok 7836 You are not allowed to dress up as a Nazi without consequences. 7837 Kind of on the same page as some others saying they wouldnâ€™t care. Definitely realize that there are some people that are going to get upset by it and itâ€™s for sure in poor taste. I absolutely wouldnâ€™t be comfortable letting my children dress as either. 7838 Dude you're trying to speak sense to the nonsensical. Either you were raised to respect the Constitution of the United States as law or you were raised to believe it's a set of guidelines, not rules. It's fucked up but it's true. No matter how much you try to convince someone of your position, nobody's ever going to change their minds on this issue. It almost always devolves into a shooting match in which everyone on both sides just repeats the same canned responses they've been parroting since it began to matter to them. 7839 Yeah.... fuck paying Oregon legal prices. 7840 [removed] 7841 It sounds like a joke that one nazi tells to another nazi. "Racism, me? My dog is black." And then they both laugh over the punchline which is: "Duh of course we're racist, but we're finding ridiculous ways to pretend we're not". 7842 So basically what your saying is â€¢n/nI'm not ignorant, youâ€™re ignorant.â€¢n/nGreat comic.â€¢n/nAnd I live 15 mins south of SLC. Tell me more about where I live, itâ€™s fascinating. 7843 My thought exactly, ghosts are not even real, they are not scary but nazis, they are real, and that's really scary. 7844 are you fucking stupid you think the UK and Vietnam are the same country? 7845 Nice. I think I'm going to order a handful of stripped lowers just to keep on hand soon. 7846 [removed] 7847 Concealed-carry seems like a just-in-case tool. Open-carry seems like it's mainly supposed to be a deterrent, but also a dick extension. I've been to places where Open-carry is common, and it seems to put people more on-edge than places where people are still allowed to carry, but don't flash it around. 7848 If IS fought for and IS negotiated but please do tell me; does it make any sense to create a nation state and then proceed to include people of other groups in it? Turkey acted with imperialist intent when it clung on to the East, when it expelled its Greek minority at the islands and never giving them autonomy as it promised, when it literally massacred Alevis at Tunceli, when it banned every other language then Turkish and when it clung onto clearly Laz territory at its northeast and then eradicated the Laz culture in it. Thatâ€™s why Iâ€™m saying if Turkey could reach the Gulf, it would do it, because it had no other goal then acquiring the most land it could, with no regard to the natives of the land it acquired. This is imperialism and I canâ€™t fathom anyone can deny it. 7849 Yea. If this kid was handing out holocaust denial pamphlets I would say it was different. 7850 This is their job. They are paid to troll. It is twenty minutes to seven at night in Moscow as I type this. Shift over. 7851 Aside from the cruise ship thing, you realize that Christianity has done all of those things a thousand fold compared to Scientology right? 7852 It's not trivial to lose money, rights, become a criminal, etc.â€¢n/nYou still have a gun in both scenarios. Your example is bullshit. 7853 But that's a completely different argument. Initially you said they should have known since it's "a predominantly Catholic/Christian region". It's not Catholic at all, it's one of the most Mormon areas in the country (it's very Mormon even by Utah standards). Then you decide to just pivot to a different argument.â€¢n/nI mean, I agree, they should have looked it up, but that's true regardless of the area of the country. 7854 > And there is no amendment allowing you to carry a bazooka!â€¢n/nThat'd be an interesting court case, but conventional logic would dictate that small arms - that is, weapons generally able to be carried and operated by a single individual - are protected under the Second Amendment.â€¢n/nor preventing regulating guns.â€¢n/nahem*â€¢n/n> "A well-regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed."â€¢n/nWe can go through the motions of court precedent and jurisprudence, but that's the result of a long conversation. 7855 I have friends that left the state. They made good money but they were priced out of the market for housing. 7856 Again, climbing a fence is not enough justification to shoot a person, much less when they're still on the Palestinian side of the border, don't be ridiculous. It's like you're telling me that he deserved to be shoot and he wasn't innocent because he jaywalked. 7857 Yeah YMCA isn't an item on that list. Privately owned buildings and Organization. Granted I am sure they have a policy of no guns on the premises but as far as illegal by gov laws doesn't count. 7858 Well, disobeying parents can come in many forms, it doesn't have to be "Pretending to have killed countless innocent people". Actually that would never have popped up in his head if the kid was raised properly. 7859 OK's permitless carry does not override or negate federal firearm regulations. 7860 And you are far too comfortable with symbols of hatred being openly displayed. Are you that ignorant of history and what was done in the name of Nazism?â€¢n/nMaybe you want to go back to the good old days where racism, sexism and ignorance was glorified but the rest of the world has moved on. 7861 Serious question, what about dressing up as a Roman soldier, or perhaps Genghis Khan someone like that? That would be fine right. Not saying dressing up as a nazi is cool but z i am just wondering when that line will be crossed that a nazi uniform will become 'acceptable as a costume'. 7862 If you are open carrying, do you expect police to stop you and check if your gun is legal in every instance? Why not? They should to

[removed] 7926 [removed] 7927 Youâ€™re missing my point. A theory is, by definition, well tested. A hypothesis is the genesis of a theory. String theory isnâ€™t testable, at least not yet. So it doesnâ€™t qualify as a scientific theory. 7928 > The story was based on actual events,\n\nNo it wasn't... \n\n-but some of the reported details turned out to be inaccurate\n\nby every detail turned out to be 100% made up then you'd be right... \n\n-This is not â€œfemmed up whole clothâ€ If you insist that it is, any time you misunderstand part of a situation and share it with a friend are you making up a story in itâ€™s entirety? Probably not. The issue is whether NBC intended to get the facts wrong\n\nThis wasn't a misunderstanding, this was a completely fabricated story from start to finish. The only real part was the images they used. It's essentially a writing challenge where you make up a story using a picture. I suppose you can say it's not technically whole cloth because they had that one little real detail of the image to write around but it's a hell of a lot closer to whole cloth than a misunderstanding. \n\n-As for your question about the judge: the District Court judge tossed the kiddâ€™s entire lawsuit. On appeal three of his 30 claims were found to have possible facts in controversy. This just means the case may proceed with further discovery (and possibly to trial) on these three issues only.\n\nAgain we know the media outlets lied about him and slandered him maliciously. I'm guessing his lawyer just padded the claims.\n\n-To your outrage about news networks promoting inaccurate stories: this happens. \n\nDuh it happens every day, I can't find a story with mainstream coverage that's actually accurate. \n\n>It is an unfortunate consequence of 24 hour news networks and the hunt for ratings. It is also a problem with propaganda. It is also very prevalent on Fox News. That aside, news groups exist to share information and they are entitled to free speech so long as it isnâ€™t deliberately abused.\n\nIt has been being deliberately abused for years if not decades... they literally slandered a minor and incited violence against him to paint a political narrative... like this is so beyond the pale it's insane, if something isn't done now then when? When this happens again only someone actually kills the kid instead of just threatening him? \n\n<All of this aside, what is your point aside from moral outrage?\n\nThe mainstream media shouldn't be above the law and allowed to print fake news as fact constantly with zero consequences, it's bad for everyone involved. 7929 other people's actions can be held against NBC and no one would know his name if they didn't keep making the news by suing. the most punchable face is that pharma bro dude. 7930 Partially. If the OP is referring to theories in the scientific sense (which is the context of this thread), then theories have already been developed based on loads of scientific hypothesis testing. Theory in science is as firm as any understanding we can have. 7931 [removed] 7932 odd, construction crews consider this a major issue. Its also why bed boxes exist (which this does not appear it will ever support in a conventional sense. \n\nAlso, those tail lights on the top of the lift gate would get destroyed in about 30minutes given the abuse the top of a liftgate often takes. \n\n​\n\nI guess this truck was built unabashedly for the suburbanite crowd. Then again, were tradesmen in unions ever going to buy a truck built in a non union factory? probably not. 7933 Yeah, the Mormons involved are outraged they are being pushed away from their peer groups for being poor, essentially, the birth control part hardly factors into many of their brainwashed minds. We just hear the anti birth control stance and immediately jump to reproductive rights, it still is that issue, but the people who feel wronged in this article don't feel that way because of the birth control stance, they are being ostracized for their monetary worth. 7934 So what you're saying is there's only evidence that Russians have given 2500. That's cool because that's what I'm saying too 7935 I support this since they just want their universities to stop actively investing in fossil fuel industry. Its a fair demand 7936 Maybe by the time I'm ready to buy something else there will be. I like the idea of electric. There just isn't much out there in that segment for families with a big dog that do a lot of outdoorsy stuff. I can barely fit everything into my Tiguan (the 4Motion AWD version is surprisingly nimble). Hopefully, by the time I drive that into the dirt, there will be an electric option and good way to recycle lithium ion batteries. 7937 stop lying its a sin remember? \n\n<atholic hospitals do deny care based on their shitty rules 7938 > You can't use proportional stats when the size difference is so large\n\nReally? Can you source me literally ANY statistical reference that states that the sample sizes need to be nearly identical? 7939 Fuck it. I like it. 7940 I am so glad someone is hurting KSA 7941 [removed] 7942 They want bystanders to be punished? 7943 Why are you refusing to answer? Why are bootlickers going to have a rough time? 7944 Gun enthusiasts don't call themselves gun nuts? I didn't know that was derogatory. And I feel like this situation in the article could've been much worse if the kid wasn't caught but it shouldn't have been so easy for him to get that gun in the first place 7945 Thatâ€™s not correct either. A hypothesis is a testable statement. A theory is an operational explanation of natural phenomena based on evidence resulting from hypothesis testing. 7946 why do you say? on various physics forums they say this group is notorious for publishing papers that are either wrong or can't be reproduced, and the group ignores the criticism they haven't done anything sound, they're trying great, but it's not a reputable group for their solid physics. I'm happy they're exploring theory...but... Anyway why do you say they're reputable? 7947 California gun murder rate - 3.3/\n\nTexas gun murder rate - 3.3/\n\nThose seem like the same numbers to me 7948 Ad hominems are always a sign that youâ€™re winning an argument, keep it up and I might just be owned like the liberal I am. My advice to you is to at least think of a new attack, no sense in being both vicious and lazy.\n\n< donâ€™t know why you think I live in a gated community, I am also literally a minority so... you seem to have a preconceived notion of me that doesnâ€™t fit reality. Nothing I could say would change your mind on me clearly so Iâ€™ll just ignore the personal attacks on me from here on out, although I would appreciate if you would stop.\n\nNow on to the only substantive paragraph of your comment: the video you showed me is of someone on the pavement being sat upon by another person while a third dude stands in the background with a gun. I have been proven wrong - good job! This changes nothing about how I feel. It would have been objectively safer for you and your neighborhood if youâ€™d just called the police instead of taking it upon yourself to be a vigilante and if anything youâ€™ve increased my conviction that we need to ban all guns, because if someone as angry as you are right now has one I fear for your community. 7949 Was it half time or what? 7950 Ah, the Mormons have learned the methods of the Bible Belt. Keep your public schools shiny to keep "undesirables" uneducated, and force people into religious schools. 7951 Just copy the styling of F-150 and boom. done. 7952 Here I was thinking it was Dank Memes 7953 There's a difference between free speech, and actively rounding up humans and lynching them. If you think the modern MAGA movement doesn't have their own version of lynchings you're sadly mistaken. \n\n<See Migrant Detention Centers. See black lives matters. See the current state of the prison system. If you're a white guy who's unaffected by modern human rights abuses. That's fine, you don't have to get involved. But your opinion that 'every thing is fine and always has been' isn't something you can just share without backlash. \n\nThe sad reality is that race relation in the states is abysmal. Racism is still in full force and only worsening under trump. Trump who bans Muslims. Trump who made a zero tolerance law to put asylum seekers in jail camps that don't supply basic needs. Everyone who puts on a MAGA hat can't pick and choose which part of the trump administration to support. If you support trump you support pulling troops out of Syria in support of ISIS. If you support trump you support the detention camps at the border. If you support trump you support the Pardon of Joe Arpaio. You support trumps nominations for supreme court. You support the things he is doing. And he is doing absolutely horrific things. SO NO, you don't just get to wear a hat that represents your support for all those things and get to be treated with respect. Because respect is earned, and the action above are not things that earn you respect. But they do earn you the labels that accurately describe the motives behind them. Racism is inherent to all of that. So if you put on the hat. You're a racist, case closed. \n\n<People of colour, minorities, and other communities affected by the rise in white nationalism popularized by the MAGA movement are fighting back. And you're just sitting in your arm chair saying "shut up and take it" \n\n<Good for you, i hope you have a wonderful life. 7954 Iâ€™m down. 7955 They finally discovered the Schwartz! 7956 [removed] 7957 Self defense makes it justified to intentionally kill someone, it doesnâ€™t make the killing somehow unintentional. 7958 That makes sense. Besides sometimes a guy just needs to cut himself a little slack. 7959 Rare in comparison to events in general. 7960 And on top of it, the hummer actually sucked. Constantly broken down, too big for most trails, no mpg, interior space was lacking even though it was a bus... 7961 so why should we give tax exemptions to church then? \n\n<religious university can enforce their own shitty Christian version of shariah laws and students shouldn't complain then why should they be exempt from tax while enjoying all the benefits of tax payers money 7962 Again, that is your opinion about people dying in the future. One cannot be so arrogant to be 100% certain what a person is going to do in the future. Could continue to study art, could be Hitler, nobody can say for sure. Also yes, there are a ton of people with sun glasses on ready to call the authorities on you. I've recently read a story where a kid was shot and killed by SWAT because some kid got mad on Xbox. People get searched all the time. Some people go to prison for a crime they didn't commit. What faith you have in JTF agents. 7963 Sounds like youâ€™re the one whoâ€™s triggered there, PC principal. 7964 Yes, thatâ€™s exactly what he promised and what most of us want. 80â€™s cyber punk. Are you daft or just unaware? You probably donâ€™t even know he also designed an F-150 clone for mass market since he knows the cyber truck will not be everyoneâ€™s cup of tea. 7965 Parallel Strait lines gave it away for me immediately.. but then I look for what does not naturally occur often in nature. 7966 I'm a fan of Occam's Razor when it comes to conspiracy theories, and the weird thing is that where Occam's Razor usually argues against conspiracies, it actually supports this conspiracy. \n\n< takes fewer assumptions to explain why someone powerful wanted him dead. It takes way more assumptions to explain camera malfunctions, guard negligence, and this apparent "cascading failures" that led to the first suicide in 20 years at that jail. 7967 How can you build an army if you canâ€™t manipulate children? 7968 So, you're saying that most of the mass shootings we hear about on an almost weekly basis aren't real? Because that seems common enough for me. 7969 The guards guarding the tapes fell asleep and they erased themselves. Very sad, but no oneâ€™s fault. Best to move on and forget all of this nasty business. 7970 love me some chicken play 7971 Rare, in comparison to what? What other countries have a similar rate of school shootings? 7972 [removed] 7973 >after people closed markets and businesses as a mark of protest, and for fear of reprisals from insurgents\n\nShould be noted, several business owners and truck drivers delivering goods have been stopped and murdered by muslim terrorists in recent months. \n\n<But yeah, let's sue the Indian government instead. 7974 People not liking you is what happens when you try to repeatedly overthrow their government and fail. Cuba, Vietnam, Iran. They all hate(d) the US for the same annoying habit it had. 7975 Sounds like a personal problem. 7976 > it's against our constitution to hospitalize or imprison someone because you think they don't look right or are acting insane\n\n<Bullshit it is. Every single state has laws enabling involuntary commitment, and they've been upheld time and time again. I've been committed under them myself, despite swearing up and down that I didn't want to hurt anyone except myself. Violent behavior or expressions are probable cause, and they have to be, because the only alternative is watching someone go on a killing spree because the law says you can't do anything to them until after it's over. 7977 Not really. Thereâ€™s plenty of room in the interior for radio/coms/computers and enough room to build a cabin separator for criminals either in back seat or in the bed. Silence would fit perfectly where the overhead light rack is already hidden. 7978 King construction wasnâ€™t the General contractor, they were just doing Sheetrock on the lower floors. Theyâ€™re not the ones responsible for the collapse. 7979 [removed] 7980 Yes, you have a greater grasp of the English language than our media does. 7981 Fun Fact: belief in IQ is correlated with being a huge racist 7982 I can totally sympathize with that.\n\n< have 4 cats and a dog because my mother randomly decided she was done with everything and dropped my 3 childhood cats at my door and disappeared. I can't bring myself to take them to the shelter because they're older and demanding, making them far less likely to be adopted. They don't deserve to die for it.\n\n<Obviously this guy has some metal problems, he needs help, not a prison sentence 7983 Point well taken. 7984 [removed] 7985 Christian shariah like laws enforcers are at it again.\n\n<nyes Christian shariah like laws. shariah means enforcing religious theocratic law, so enforcing Christian laws is just like enforcing Christian version of shariah laws. \n\n<this is a serious danger to the freedom of our country and it should be eradicated back to Neanderthal age were it belongs. otherwise it might plunge murica into dark ages v2.0 7986 All the problems of ICE and all the problems of electric with a slight improvement in fuel economy...no thanks. 7987 Kids who already are enrolled, who are covered by Medicaid, which used to be accepted at this school and still is at other BYU campuses, are now forced to enroll in the schoolâ€™s plan. Read the article. Itâ€™s not that hard. Seems like youâ€™re the one who doesnâ€™t know what theyâ€™re talking about. Ask google about catholic hospitals outside of your one little anecdotal experience. 7988 This is exactly why the type of headline where you should read the article before commenting. 7989 Something as simplistic and childish as a wall can be destroyed or otherwise circumvented. Explosives, a ladder, a rope, a shovel, a hammer... 7990 right or not I am just making a point when people talk about bath salts 7991 [removed] 7992 If you have the money. They are not necessary to get rid of starvation. 7993 <https://www.cnn.com/2017/07/04/politics/kille-reddit-user-trump-tweet/index.html>\n\n<salient quote:\n\n<CNN is not publishing "HanAholeSolo's" name because he is a private citizen who has issued an extensive statement of apology, showed his remorse by saying he has taken down all his offending posts, and because he said he is not going to repeat this ugly behavior on social media again. In addition, he said his statement could serve as an example to others not to do the same.\n\n<CNN reserves the right to publish his identity should any of that change." 7994 And that is your violation and billion dollar claim. Deep pockets, go get em 7995 Hospitals don't perform abortions. Outpatient clinics do that. Emergency surgery to save the mother that results in the unavoidable death of the child is not an abortion, per the Catholic Church, and is performed at Catholic Hospitals. 7996 How is making people have a gun safe at home and actually use it unconstitutional.? \n\n<How is making it a requirement that you know how to use your gun and practice using it unconstitutional...? \n\n<Both of these things make owning guns safer. \n\n<also think that there is no rational reason to stockpile weapons. If you arenâ€™t going to use your guns, why have them? If your only reason for buying is because they might get banned in the future, you are asking for a reason to be outraged. There is no actual proof that guns are going to get banned any time soon. I think it is just a way that gun sellers are hyping up sales and making people more nervous/afraid. 7997 So say we all. 7998 > it's a possible link between matter and dark matter.\n\n<Wouldn't that require one to actually have some idea what dark matter is first? 7999 [removed] 8000 Oh please, Sterling. Nobody gives you gifts 8001 Just ask anyone complaining if they should let Neo Nazis pay them for advertising for a white supremacy commercial? They'll probably say no, end of conversation. 8002 * In some places. Primarily in more eastern provinces. Iâ€™m pretty sure. Iâ€™ve certainly never seen a bag of milk in BC. 8003 MEMORIES! We had this a lot when I was growing up and it was one of my favorites. I think I need to buy some chipped beef. I know you can get it in a jar at most grocery stores. 8004 I just don't understand why it's only during the anthem. He's seems to be the only one doing any protest outside of sports, because he has no access to fields. 8005 It was not really funded by a veteran group. 8006 actually, no, the US Supreme Court has ruled speech that specifically incited violence is unprotected. For example, being an asshole and saying racist shit is in fact protected. The moment you begin advocating harming, killing or dangerous criminal activity (ie, "calls to violence"), you're under arrest. 8007 It requires a separate Amazon-Go app, which spits out a one-time QR code (that probably expires relatively quickly) you have to scan to get inside. Once you scan in, the cameras are tracking your physical person and have it associated already with your particular account. 8008 [removed] 8009 You're an idiot 8010 The clapper. LOL. I'm definitely using that next season. 8011 The vast majority of us understand. The problem is we have a draft dodging fuck as president who thinks he knows what sacrifice is because he was successful in business.\n\n<Source: https://youtu.be/9_8dSjQBxog 8012 Then why do you need an H1B? The whole point of them is to fill in gaps where the only qualified individuals are not from the US. Not as a financial means to pay someone less for a position that can be filled domestically. 8013 Upvote for beteran's day. The day all bets are on 8014 Someone call this man a doctor. 8015 Easy there Jables 8016 Chicken pesto pasta is where it's at. Hot or cold. 8017 Sorry, I had a few too many friends take their own lives after being let down by the government that flag represents. At the end of the day it's just a flag. A symbol sure, but the freedom it represents above all is what's important. The unalienable rights each and every one of us fought for and many died for. That's what matters above everything. \n\n<You don't understand that then you didn't understand your oath of enlistment or oath of office. Assuming you served and aren't some ROTC brat. 8018 This is why I mix my drinks in 2L bottles. Much easier to keep your drink amount low like this. 8019 is better than tylenol. there's not a wide range of options here. 8020 Yeah. Grabbed a handful of water and molded into the shape of a something. 8021 [removed] 8022 >so even though the constitution is just limiting the govts power with respect to the rights of an individual, you think it is saying something about religions. why is that?\n\n<I'm not sure what you are asking here. The first amendment very explicitly mentions religion. It's literally in the first sentence. This isn't what I "think," it's a fact. It's written right there. 8023 I like how other people heard it all and knew it was happening but didnâ€™t do anything about it or call the police. It is a lot to live with not trying to keep someone from dying, being murdered by a drunk man for no reason on his own property. 8024 Yeah but there doesn't seem to be much protection to keep them from "accidentally" confiscating items from innocent people. 8025 Because that's how conservatives' 'boycot' things. They make sure keep the companies name in headlines and pour tons of money into them so they can feel better by destroying the product.\n\n<See: Buying dixie chick records to destroy, buying keurigs to destroy, buying Pokemon cards/harry potter books to burn, buying NFL merch to burn, buying red starbucks cups to burn... 8026 It was a Green Beret and NFL player Nate Boyer that suggested it to Kapernick\n\n<<https://www.snopes.com/veteran-kaepernick-take-a-knee-anthem/> 8027 It was the eleventh one in the USA so far this year too.\n\n<<https://www.nytimes.com/2018/01/23/us/kentucky-school-shooting.html> (NY Times article) 8028 Of course there are.\n\n<And?\n\n<Kapernick even asked a vet about the best way to go about it, and a vet suggested the kneeling thing.\n\n<You can't please everyone, and the notion that you should is ridiculous.\n\n<Also: last time I checked, vets don't have a monopoly on the flag/anthem. 8029 It's literally racist to be on edge around a black person based on nothing but the color of their skin. \n\n<You can argue that it's OK to be racist, but that's a pretty clear cut definition of racism 8030 [deleted] 8031 people don't seem to get that because they have never had anyone say no you don't get to defecate on your couch and then they act shocked when someone comes out with pepper spray and a taser when they actually try to poop on it. Now if this was the government's couch and you didn't do any damage to the couch then you can poop on it but you need to pick it up afterwards. Now if they government punched you and arrested you before you could poop then it would be a first amendment violation. 8032 [removed] 8033 [removed] 8034 >Iceland is doing it right\n\n<I's a bit easier when your entire nation is literally a small island sitting on top of a giant gap in the mid Atlantic ridge resulting in your relatively tiny plot of land being responsible for a third of the entire planet's lava output for as long as we've been tracking it.\n\n<305 You are not an intelligent individual. 8036 Oh, I am not. I am just curious to how plausible the story is. I have walked into the wrong townhouse while nearly blackout drunk. I was off by one identical townhouse that were separated by about 15-20 feet. Realized immediately I was in the wrong place and didn't murder a 60 year old man. 8037 This country is currently led by a literally demented fool, and its conservative party is openly obstructionist. Greatest country on Earth, it ain't. It's an embarrassment. 8038 [deleted] 8039 How will people know we're boycotting if we continuously inform them? 8040 Even sillier is the fact that the one who suggested kneeling to Kaepernick was Nate Boyer, a fellow NFL player and US Army veteran. 8041 It always blows my mind how people that have never served a day in our military try to tell everyone how veterans feel about kneeling.\n\n<Fox News watchers care more about the kneeling than soldiers do. That should tell them something but thinking is hard. 8042 I'm glad to see that the NFL is standing up for the rights, that Veterans have protected. 8043 why do your vets back a man who did everything he could to avoid service? 8044 ITT: people using the word "racism" and not understanding what it means. 8045 They didn't exactly succeed, though. Everyone knows it's about police brutality. The only ones who don't are the cultists. 8046 Ever been in the ocean? 8047 How is choosing a drink that mitigates hangover indicative of alcoholism? Nonalchies get hangovers, alcoholics get withdrawal.\n/nif an alcoholic wants to function the next day, they just make sure they have booze beside the bed in the morning to wake up with 8048 I recall that at my school (graduated last year), those that participate in the trap shooting team can have their shotgun in their trunk. 8049 I saw a video recap saying â€œthatâ€™s the first shooting of the year...â€ where as anywhere else would be â€œfirst shooting in x amount of yearsâ€ 8050 If you have a distaste for organized religion, the best thing to do is to organize a group of people who adhere to the same belief regarding the existence of non-existence of god, the afterlife, and the proper way to think and act as you go through life. 8051 I've already been boycotting the NFL over the rapes, murders, and concealment of the dangers of repeated head injuries. The kneeling doesn't really sway me. 8052 [deleted] 8053 My dad made it with just ground beef or sausage gravy, depending on what he felt like or had in the fridge. 8054 I can hear the 'triggered' all-right goons all yelling at once, and it is glorious. Now they must continue to pretend they aren't watching the Super Bowl. 8055 [removed] 8056 Also Veterans of bone spurs and sexual conquests in the 80s. 8057 All the people who write these articles are drugged beyond belief on their own accord, so, I'm sure they just love J&J pharmacies. 8058 Vet here as well. The flag is a symbol, it's not what we serve for. We serve for everyone's rights and for liberty. Sure the meaning behind the flag is important but just like a bald eagle, it's a symbol. Saying just since declaration of independence is one thing but truly it is just some flag. 8059 That's an example of why you don't shoot first and ask questions later. 8060 And you think the govt can magically solve everything? The market is alot better then the govt because when you give the govt an inch they take everything. Note NY city banning specific sized soda drinks and seattles soda tax so people go to the next place over. What rights does the govt have to infringe on my coke? 8061 Hell ya. They don't speak for us. 8062 Racists right wingers being dishonest? I refuse to believe it. /s 8063 They were motorcycle enthusiasts, you intolerant prick. 8064 Lol, where is the FBI scandal story, r/news?"/nThis piece of shit lefty circle jerk is the top story. \n\nEdit: don't pound that downvote button too hard, Reddit. Y'all need your fingers to work that cash register tomorrow. 8065 > What inequality?"/nYou quite obviously don't know any black Americans on a personal level. Go out, make some friends, get to know a black American, then start asking questions about this stuff over time. That's the only way you will learn. 8066 Oil and other resources?"/n 8067 I think you underestimate the number of people who really just think itâ€™s disrespectful. I think there is a huge number of people who could simply care less what you are protesting, they will be against you if thatâ€™s the way you do it. \n\nFor better or for worse. I say this as someone who has a lot of family that is that way. They didnâ€™t care what his message was, even the ones who agreed with him. 8068 There's more staff at this store than your typical 7-11 downtown. I've never seen more than 2, maybe 3 at the most at a 7-11. \n\nThis one has: cooks next door to make the food, someone checking IDs in the alcohol area, people attending to the line (at least until hype dies down), people around to restock shelves, and people around to help with technical problems. 8069 Of course people should have the right to kneel during the anthem I just happen to also have the right to call you a cunt if you do. 8070 Dumbo in his vehicle, but in California?"/nVehicular Manslaughter, ordinary/reasonable negligence gets you a misdemeanor and one year in prison. \n\nVehicular Manslaughter, gross negligence gets you a felony and 1-6 years in prison. \n\nGross Vehicular Manslaughter while Intoxicated is a 4-10 year felony with a permanently suspended license. \n\nInvoluntary Manslaughter is a 3-10 year felony and remunerations. 8071 What else would you buy milk in other than 1 liter cartons? 8072 My doctor already warned me itâ€™s changing. Theyâ€™re rolling out a change for narcotic meds again like they did not long ago for Tylenolâ€™s. They want doctors to review patients every month to make sure they still need all their opioids and sign off on them to continue and refill their medications. It really isnâ€™t realistic at all, for patients OR doctors. I already gave to drive to my doctors office once a month to get a hand signed prescription so I can only imagine how this new narcotic law change is going to inconvenience. I have MS and my pain is lifelong and never leaving. I feel horrible for older people who arenâ€™t able to just get to their doctors offices so easily. 8073 FYI nothing requires you to take all of the painkillers you are prescribed and certainly not on whatever schedule you are given. They aren't antibiotics, and if you don't need them you're better off without them. 8074 This could be phrased better. In regards to veterans issues, their voice does matter more. In regards to patriotism? You are correct. Try to be excellent, though. 8075 very true, but with the amount of volatility i think it's good to look at the weekly charts, no one really knows what's gonna happen with the crypto market as it's such a new thing and stockmarket strategies can only be loose guidelines as things change so much. everyone speculating might as well be reading from a crystal ball, if you are holding on for long term, say a year or more, you shouldn't necessarily be focused on the day to day prices, and only put in what you can afford to lose. I'd put in a max of 5-10% of your assets if you like a volatile portfolio and the rest into lower risk options, or, spend your bitcoins because it's a currency. i bought a vacation with bitcoin :) 8076 I find it funny how the Veterans Group is taking offence to players kneeling even when what theyâ€™re protesting has nothing to do with them. 8077 > Not one of us does"/nWith all due respect, that is demonstrably untrue. 8078 Serious question - why do SO many people not understand the very basic rule that the 1st Amendment ONLY protects them against government censorship (and even then it has restrictions)? I see the same argument on Reddit all of the time and it always blows my mind. Do they not teach civics in high school anymore? 8079 I could care less. But, as a man from Middle America most guys I've talked to hate the fact that politics are being forced onto them in sports. Why do you think ESPN is losing viewership as well? Most media is hard core left and they are pushing their agenda through the NFL now. People escape reality through sports, and yet again the left has ruined that for them. Growing up playing sports you're taught to take responsibility for your mistakes. No excuses. Now Colin playing the victim, and this whole left ideology being pushed on fans is turning people off. This is the real reason. Most know they aren't disrespecting vets. They just want to watch the game guys.... 8080 >A little but only because of what you said was just so fucking hilarious. You literally said you are protesting the anthem and not police brutality lol. \n\nFuck me are you dense. It is protesting police brutality by highlighting the hypocrisy of the claim that this is 'the land of the free'. Like I said, if the police can kill without consequence then we are not free. \n\n>And that's stupid and ineffective and pisses off veterans and shit. If you want to protest police, protest the police not the national anthem that's the logical choice, protesting during the anthem is just dumb. \n\nNope. It's a spot on criticism of American life and the perfect time and place. \n\nFuck any vet that's too stupid to understand or is so emotionally fragile that they can't see past themselves. 8081 got you talking about it didn't it?"/nMore ground than kaepernick got when he was just using mic time to raise awareness 8082 It depends on the subreddit. 8083 Both are free speech. Is anyone being jailed for this? No? Then how has free speech been violated?"/nDon't forget that the NFL, a private company, has free speech in how they operate their business. Your free speech isn't the only speech that matters. If these people really want this ad in the public space they can easily put it on the internet for everyone to see for free. 8084 > That's what we all fought for"/nThere are still revolutionary war vets alive? 8085 There is no threat. \n\nhttps://www.zazze.com/hawaii_ballistic_missile_warning_false_alarm_tshirt-235150026686643466 8086 â€œIâ€™d stand for veterans... but not on health careâ€ -republicans 8087 Thatâ€™s completely subjective, my dude. 8088 [removed] 8089 What's the tax rate on bonuses? How much will employees actually see, versus how much the IRS will take? 8090 Friends grandmothers funeral was a few days ago. He posted snapchat and instagram stories of it. Iâ€™ve seen others do the same thing. Itâ€™s really fuckin bizarre to me. 8091 People always say shit like this but the reality is child molesters often end up in protective custody, surrounded by other child molesters. They rarely wind up in the general population. 8092 It is their right to turn down the advertisement. I guess it's more the network, but they've also rejected Super Bowl ads, PETA mainly. \n\nOf course the league shouldn't claim they support free speech when players are fined for excessive celebration or modifying their uniform. 8093 [deleted] 8094 Hail Gen 8095 [deleted] 8096 Straw man argument no one is making. NFL is staying out of the kneeling issue because 'free speech' and players can do what they want. That's fair. But a commercial against kneeling? Fuck free speech we're a private organization we'll do what we want. That's fair too but they are doing both, diametrically opposed positions. \n\nYou can't sit on your free speech high horse while taking sides. 8097 I said I was lazy but still got curious and looked some stuff up. Don't know if it was true back then, but it isn't anymore. Though it still is bad, just definitely not compared to some other cities. 8098 [removed] 8099 >It doesn't matter. I'm explaining why many in the military finds it disrespectful. \n\nExcept you aren't. \n\nYou haven't actually explained why. You just keep repeating that they do. 8100 It is mostly resale, yes, but stores have started to price gouge based on that. My store sells our one bottle for like $350. 5 minutes down the road it's $3k 8101 Except the Headless Chicken are better than UK because they don't sell weapons to SA. 8102 If Saudi wants a Nuclear Deal they couldn't have asked for a better administration , who wants to take bets on Donald Trumps legacy being Nukes in Saudi Arabia? 8103 8 that have more than 4 % of the votes which gives them legitimate recognition in the riksdag which I think is translated to the parliament.. 8104 [removed] 8105 Or just don't say you're sick. 8106 [removed] 8107 It makes sense to turn the holiday into the shopping day because it can be a family thing that you have the day off for. \n\nIt sucks and consumerism is killing the soul of this nation but it is logistically better than the day after 8108 Yup. The people who shop on thanksgiving are part of the reason the holiday has lost meaning in its significance. 8109 >the pill mills. \n\nSeconded. Had a kickbacking A-hole of a M.D. (super medical narcissist) that had me on valium for several years (not months, years) at 5mg QID when I had ADHD the entire time. \n\nI ended up CT'ing both benzos AND booze (valium had disinhibited me severely,) which sent me to the ED with a bad case of the fucking wonderfuls (IE Delerium Tremens. \n\nI had to drop that fucker after 15 years because he yelled at me in our last apt. about me not having ADHD after trying to restart me on Valium. \n\nLess than a few months later, I got into a new practice, put onto amphetamines and my anxiety is a bare minimum and far better controlled than valium ever did for me over all those years of taking it. 8110 This is why Girl Scout cookies need to have a licensed business certificate, BBB accreditation, a commercial permit, and a certificate conformance to local & state food safety regulations. 8111 I find this very funny because my daughters troop leader did the same thing. \n\nThe troop leader used the money to buy her husband a gaming console, video games, and other presents. She was also the only one who had access to the bank account (besides the counsel) and all outgoing charges were linked to camera footage. \n\nThat money was suppose to be used to bring the troop to a sleep over at an aquarium. The children worked very hard to sell the amount of cookies they needed to accomplish that goal and never saw the reward of all their effort. 8112 I could be wrong but I get the term it's jargon that originated with fascists - basically globalist meaning the opposite of nationalists, thus the left. Fascism has to constantly make up new terminology in order to blend in - once their existing terminology identifies them as what they are, they have to change it in order to keep gaining support. Someone who's an undecided centrist would probably shy away from blatant fascist terminology, but might engage with someone using lesser weighted terms like 'globalist'. \n\nI guess the quote from Lee Atwater in this article pretty much explains what I'm hypothesising. \n\nOr I could be wrong! 8113 I guess I'll have to suck down pollution and be scammed somewhere else. quelle dommage 8114 The Girl Scouts are just a cookie selling pyramid scheme at this point. 8115 You're right, that is one incident that happened 6 years ago and nobody was killed or even seriously hurt by those stray rounds. What is your point again? 8116 [deleted] 8117 Because this topic is about a military base attack, not about the poor, poor christians. Make a new post, find a post about. Religious people always have to make everything about them, it's annoying. I called you out on it, do you have anymore excuses to try and cram christianity into this? Here's one: From the 1500s missionaries have exploited the country in the name of g(buying the bishop or pastor a new boat).od. Oh boy, i wonder what would happen when we introduce the polar opposite rival religion into a region? Would they kill each other?! Noooooo... I'm shocked and outraged at this outcome. 8118 I don't know or care about you, just basically calling out a contrarian when I see one. \n\n​"/n> Seriously I donâ€™t get the love for thanksgiving. \n\nReally? You have no idea why some people might enjoy it?"/n​ 8119 Capitalism, in the sense of private ownership and trade of capital (exchange of goods and services is a separate quality) will always inevitably lead to extreme concentration of wealth, and as such will always inevitably lead to the most successful capitalists buying the government to serve their private interests. \n\nThe only scenarios where capitalists don't corrupt the government to their benefit is either one in which the government is so weak that it has no power worth taking i.e the right-wing libertarian dream world, or one in which the government controls capital and industry itself i.e mercantilism or fascism rather than true capitalism. 8120 The aftermath from one hell of a dodgy kebab from a night out 25 years ago 8121 Three of those countries still sell weapons to Pakistan and Turkey. \n\nWhat is this backbone you speak of? 8122 Tell that to my local Menards. \n\nThey had three mega lines running from the cash registers to the back of the store and there was still people everywhere shopping. \n\nMe, my dad, and my brother just wanted to pick up some fleece blankets since they were like $3 each. \n\nNobody is talking to you. You're the only one having a pretend conversation. 8124 China: "Swine fever"? That's a bunch of hogwash. 8125 No, we kept our word. If we sided with money we'd keep selling to them. 8126 How do we ensure that police departments are in compliance and actually reporting everything? I suppose we could routinely audit every police department in the country, but that would be restrictively expensive. \n\nIt's not as simple as the drinking age where you change the law once and get your money from then on out. 8127 if it backfires it will likely be something relatively innocuous like several businesses unable to move their representatives due to this system. That would be enough to make the government reconsider. 8128 [removed] 8129 They are as comparable as male circumcision and castration. It hardly makes sense to start talking about how horrible circumcision is when we are talking about removing someoneâ€™s twig and berries. 8130 so you kill the fucker, and then every male in the encampment turns and brutally rapes and kills you, and your daughters....a frighteningly miserable way to die..... 8131 Thatâ€™s not true. People who never learned about Jesus donâ€™t go to hell because they never knew any better. People who reject Jesus go to hell. 8132 Like the guy trying to calm him down to the right of the police officers? Dude is saying "I empathize with you". 8133 [removed] 8134 Don't blame you for being pissed man, it's an awful subject. And I understand your point now, I thought you meant something else, sorry to have caused any unnecessary annoyance or frustration. 8135 It applies to you if you're on a plane and need a barf bag. If you reject that hypothetical situation than none of this applies to you and you maybe shouldn't have commented in the first place. 8136 Jaywalking, spending too much time playing video games... 8137 Where are my testicles?! 8138 They want it more than anyone. 8139 They are not, but this is much more difficult to monitor and control, since it's a continuous, neverending request, not a one time piece of legislation. 8140 How do you respond to? 8141 It's pretty good 8142 [removed] 8143 Isn't that just 'bribing' but with extra steps? 8144 Spain is who you want then. Went to back out and folks complained about the contracts they'd be losing. \n\nMoney is more important than dying children. That's the underlying takeaway for most govts these days 8145 Ok it is important to understand the nuance I am bringing to this. I am not really arguing that male circumcision is a good thing. I agree with you for the most part that this procedure should be reserved for when someone is over 18. \n\nThe point I am trying to make is that we need to thoroughly separate our arguments for male and female circumcision. Itâ€™s like comparing tee-ball to the major leagues, you really canâ€™t start by thinking you are going to make the rules the same for both games. \n\nFemale genital mutilation is the major leagues here. We can start with the fact that it is debatable whether male circumcision reduces sex drive and has health benefits, and compare that to the fact that FGM is guaranteed to lead to some pretty serious suffering. \n\nTalking about these in the same breath is a legislative strategic error. If we want to ban FGM we need to make sure that people donâ€™t think it is the equivalent to unsheathing their salami. Not outlining the absolute atrocity of FGM diminishes the absolute horror of the act and lumps it in with what many people consider pretty normal and harmless. 8146 Who is this tiny cabal of overlords. I want to know so I can pay respects to the masters 8147 Gotta bring dem some DEMOCRACY 8148 Yeah but you don't have the resources to start a new company. Like I said, those who own the means of production don't 'give you the opportunity to work', you work for them because you need fuckin food and money for rent, and their parents, or grandparents, or great grandparents, either made a smart investment or got lucky, and now these people are born wealthy with the inherent ability to generate more wealth simply by existing. They didn't create the means of production, they paid a worker to do it for them, then took the profits. \n\nAnyways the teacher example was just to show, even in a planned economy, that people don't get paid what they deserve because of their position. I am not advocating for a capitalist or planned economy, i am saying that being a teacher should not incur with it poverty and financial uncertainty, nor a worker, nor a chef, nor anything else. Unless the means of production and necessities of life are democratically owned: not privately owned, not state owned, not controlled by some oligarchy, but owned by everyone, with everyone free to exist without struggle, then the rich will continue to steal wealth from the poor wether through private or state capitalism. 8149 Prove it. Link a study showing that the varoa mite is the primary driver. 8150 Wow, sorry I upset you so much. Didn't realize my heart was dead and shriveled, I'll get it checked out. 8151 [removed] 8152 [deleted] 8153 What makes this even more of a debacle is the fact the subway is plastered with ads for St Michaels saying "Be a St Milkes Man"..... ugh 8154 Make it a grant that gives bonuses to officers for complying and watch the use-of-force data fly in from every country in the US overnight. 8155 I'll share my unqualified opinion: I don't think the economy is doing as well as people think. I think employment is up as companies rely more and more on the "gig economy" to cover their busy spots. And since these workers know this is temp work dressed up as freedom and lifestyle, they're not willing to spend as much. I think we'll see some low spending going on, with some Q4s looking bleak by the end of it. \n\nGlad to be wrong though. 8156 I like this backtracking of "we have to vote for Trump so Clinton doesn't increase Saudi influence" to "who cares every president has been allies with the Saudis". 8157 This is not true at all, especially of seasonal industries. \n\nMost businesses start their fiscal year in SEPTEMBER for one thing, so you thinking of black friday as 10.5 months in is already way off. \n\nwork in the swimming pool industry and for us from september to black friday is a period of low sales but one in which we actually reach 'black' for profits and budget if the store managers are doing well. \n\nmy industry we make over 50% of total profits and revenue in May-Aug. 4 months. \n\nYour comment is not indicative of true retail economy. \n\nPeriod to period businesses look at their profits and losses and overall EBITDA for each store location. But truly it is on the year long basis that the success of a retail company is based upon. 8158 [removed] 8159 [deleted] 8160 It really doesn't matter if USA backs out of the Paris Accord or not. \n\nRight now, the only developed western country on track to meet the emissions goal is the USA. Contrary to popular belief, shale gas is cheaper and cleaner than green energy (wind, solar etc.) per unit power. Green energy lobbyists are against shale gas because of that. \n\nUSA now produces so much shale gas that it is now considered a waste by-product: no way to store it, too cheap to export. Only the maxicans are buying it up at a significant discount, which is exponentially accelerating the economy of MX. 8161 They didnâ€™t just cover it up. They let it continue. 8162 No matter who was elected those wars would have started. The military industrial complex in the US is powerful as fuck. \n\nWhat enlightened country are you from? 8163 [deleted] 8164 [removed] 8165 You joke but this is like what would actually happen. 8166 Iâ€™m sure the patriot act beat them 8167 Who broke the law, knowing he could be killed if he got near the island. And yet he chose to do so anyway.

Multiple times. \n\nYou cannot be this dense. I'm convinced you're just trolling. 8168 >But there's ALWAYS been wild fires. Why do you guys think they are something new?/\n\nSo little rain is something new.\n\nI wonder when will California gets its desert classification. 8169 How does that counteract the effects of neonic toxicity? 8170 [removed] 8171 That's true most are too young to work, too old, or disabled. Many of the others are already working and are just paid so little that they still qualify for food assistance. 8172 > Most retailers make attendance mandatory.\n\nI think it's not like retail jobs are hard to come by. Just don't show up on Thanksgiving, it's usually an idle threat. If they do fire you, just get a job down the street. The unemployment rate is so low right now, and pretty much everywhere is hiring. 8173 [removed] 8174 Those countries have been in bed with the Saudi's since long before any current office holders took office. It's just a fact of life man, Saudi money is spread around the world like peanut butter. Every country pretty much has Saudi Arabia pretty high up on the foreign policy priority stack. 8175 So this prevents one from understanding how others enjoy such a thing? Weird. \n\nThat's my point. Not that one should enjoy these things, but that not understanding how others do enjoy this is far-fetched. 8176 Who taught you how to spell? CNN and MSNBC? Go back to your country of origin if you despise the USA so much. 8177 Denmark is ahead of you in one metric. You know what to do. 8178 Finland sells weapons? 8179 I don't know where you live, but the cops here are making fucking kar. Lots of sheriff's deputies in my part of CA went straight into it after high school and make $60-70k+ right off the street. 8180 Its surprising how few people know about the huge leaps that the chinese military have made in the last decade. 8181 We've seen people where information was not submitted to nics as it should have been, but I haven't seen any where a nics check was not done on new purchases. Finics was recently passed to get more government agencies to report the necessary data. 8182 Those people would probably die too... I mean, what are they going to do? Bring guns to the island just to get this guys body off? I think that everyone needs to leave well enough alone and just stay the hell off of their land, like they want. Why does that seem so difficult for everyone to Comprehend? 8183 [removed] 8184 Probably because all animals are innocent by default. They don't contain high enough intelligence to be anything other. Humans (adults) are pieces of shit. Almost all of us. Selfish, wasteful, uncaring, etc. That's the way I see it at least. 8185 [deleted] 8186 Well, since those same civilians are the ones who elected the people who started those wars, then yeah I'll tell them to fuck off. 8187 How so? 8188 Oh yeah completely true especially when every state is tied to military production in some way so every politician has incentive to vote for more weapon sales 8189 Exactly. Climate change is obviously a huge problem and is a large contributing factor in these fires, but it's not the only factor. 8190 [deleted] 8191 They can work in a small situation every once in a while but that doesn't mean they will work all the time 8192 True face of white nationalism. Don't think for a second that there isn't a conservative wish for this to happen again and again. 8193 So the answer to 'is it contained?' is 100% no 8194 True, but I'm not going to get someone something they already have.\n\nI feel like the market is better right now for experiences, rather than things. People just want to do something, not get something. 8195 Wouldn't the courts be to blame for sentencing, or the congressmen for making the laws? Why is it the police's fault that someone gets a harsh sentence? They can't choose which laws to enforce. 8196 [removed] 8197 > Honestly I hope it plummets.\n\nThat's a nice thought to have around the holidays.\n\nI feel like you are the first ones to lose their jobs and homes. 8198 So basically, Saudi Arabia is almost entirely cut off from their supply of good field knives. 8199 I mean, isn't it surprising, considering Oregon actually banned blacks from moving into the state until 1926? 8200 It can be both, it's not either or. 8201 No, he was an ass in high school. I was friends with his younger brother. 8202 Yeah I heard the whale was a die hard Sanders supporter 8203 Drinking while carrying a firearm is negligent. \n\nGrabbing a gun with your finger on the trigger is negligent. \n\nThis is DEFINITELY a case of negligence. 8204 Unless, at that very moment, she realized she was into scat play. 8205 I'm for the cop. I don't even understand the problem. Aren't they allowed to PIT cars? Why can't they PIT this bitch? 8206 Most pistols don't have safeties. A good concealed draw on target is 1.3 seconds. You would have to train to get faster than that. Then you add time to either rack or take it off safely. Then there's the chance you may forget to do either under pressure. He probably has a issued glove 8207 Actually the study said the data about DGU was inconclusive, and the CDC did no direct research of their own. 8208 Yea... Still negligent 8209 [removed] 8210 Off duty, carrying concealed in a bar, shoots someone, and is not arrested or charged. Must be nice to be part of the club that is above the law. If this was anyone not part of the club they would be facing at least 3 felony gun charges.....felony carrying in a bar 'doesn't matter if he was drinking it is against the law to carry in to a bar unless you are on duty. Felony Negligent discharge of a firearm. Felony assault with a firearm. 8211 I feel honestly be curious if Tony Hawk were in his prime today, would he be relevant or a nobody based on his ability as the bar for exceptionality just keeps rising 8212 [removed] 8213 Paul fart, mall shoot. 8214 -and the standard practice is to follow them in the vehicle until the suspect has slowed down\n\nWho claimed that? I'd be interested to see their other comments, since that is nonsense. Fleeting suspects don't usually run down the road long enough for a car to follow them until they slow down; they cut across yards, jump fences, and look for places to hide. 8215 Have you been to Wales? It's about as boring as you can get. Even a day of sun is a miracle. 8216 I ment to sum up how someone could come to defend an attitude like that one, but didn't draw a clear enough line between extreme rural dudes and good rural dudes. You have summed it up more eloquently than I have.\n\nAnd again, I didn't mean to type case those hardworking dudes who grow and raise most of our food and are a corner stone of America's economy. Most are good honest hardworking guys who have been weathering a lot of economic strain. I don't have the balls or knowhow to put my livelihood into the hands of motherfucker. Some get a little too extreme. Most are good. 8217 While I agree with your point, legally, a car is considered deadly force, while a baton (while it has the potential to cause death) is not. I believe it's in the same vein as a taser, being non-lethal. \n\nEdit: for example, hitting someone with your car is not only assault, its assault with a deadly weapon 8218 so this is where our taxes are going 8219 See that's why I just use alcohol. It's a highly regulated drug. I know exactly what's in my bottle of gin\n\nI only we would change societal attitudes about regulating drugs. Or understanding that alcohol is a drug, but that's a whole other can of worms. 8220 \n\nThey did everything wrong up to and including shooting an unarmed person without any evidence of a gun. \n\nwatch some American police video footage of police doing everything right and where they still have to shoot the person for pulling out a gun. They usually don't have time to check the evidence. They react while the target that has been warned reaches down to pull something out. Not after. 8221 Again, please reference an actual law. Not a fool just know it is a fact 8222 You can tell the difference between ready position and firing position from THAT video? Your resolution must be better than mine, because I can't see his index finger that well. 8223 Totally agree. One of my biggest pet peeves is small dog owners who tease their pets, not considering that everyone who comes in contact with their 2 lb. wannabe death machines isn't going to be an adult human. They absolutely will do some pretty bad damage to a small child or other pet.\n\nDogs aside... Even if it's a hamster, the animal has needs, and those needs are your responsibility as a pet owner. So do the research on whatever it is you're planning to get. No pet deserves a shitty pet owner. 8224 I think it's worth remembering that mainstream economics is pretty much unanimous in saying that tariffs are pretty much always a bad thing. \n\nLike, literally talk to any economist. They will almost universally tell you that this is stupid and that tariffs are nothing but a tax on the consumer. (https://www.reuters.com/article/us-usa-economy-poll/economists-united-trump-tariffs-wont-help-the-economy-idUSKCN1G0Q2G) 8225 This is your logic:\n\nI'm imagining you standing with a semiautomatic weapon firing into a crowd full of people. All the while screaming, 'hey, you guys say you support the troops. Troops have guns. I have a gun. You make no sense!'\n\n8226 Probably because a jury is cleared of anyone with any actual combat experience or training in the selection process. That was 100% a bad shoot. All a jury can do is say he won't be punished for it. It doesn't make it a good shoot. 8227 I have very limited first-hand experience with them. The one I knew was much more chill than the average husky though. 8228 Any laws like this always have exceptions for law enforcement. It's entirely necessary, you can't have shit like a cop being stopped at the door to a club because he's off-duty even though their shit going down inside. The compromise was supposed to be higher standards from LEOs. 8229 What, you'd never done a desk job? 8230 So you think what likely happened was he fled or didn't help, the cops found him, and said 'hey we're gonna accompany you to the station, but we're not arresting you even though you just fled after shooting someone'? How can you think he didn't help, the article would have said he was tracked down and arrested if he fled. He clearly wasn't tracked down and arrested. 8231 You don't see why anyone would feel intimidated or uncomfortable in the US around cops? 8232 Unknown, but even economic refugees tend to integrate eventually. 8233 I've walked home with sacks of cocaine in my backpack because my driver was drunk and I was sober. And in the minority in the situation. Cops are mostly idiots. 8234 A big caveat to that statement is that a person acting lawfully can take money across the border. 8235 I love how this post goes from 'people dumb enough to do backflips while armed shouldn't have guns' to 'NO MORE ANYTHING EXCEPT HUNTING OR THE RANGE' 8236 Pop'n'Six'n'Squish'n'Ah-ah'n'Cicero'n'Lipschitz'n'Cat. He had it coming. 8237 Uhh no. At least 10% of the US is certifiably insane, probably much more. 8238 Reality isn't that simple. Calling 911 while you're with a violent abuser isn't likely to end well. Leaving is not always a realistic option. Example: some women have left an abusive husband and later had their child killed during a court-ordered visit with daddy, who managed to convince a court that since he'd completed his anger management course, he was all good now. 8239 [removed] 8240 This is exactly why guns should be banned. Even if no-one tries to use their gun, it still shoots unintentionally. And yes, I'm just looking for more reasons to ban guns. 8241 Thanks Dr. Phil...care to psychoanalyze any other entire group of people? Let me try, you hate cops because this one time a friend of a friend of a friend's little brother was pulled over and harassed by a White cop for no reason at all...how close am I? 8242 Like a condom. 8243 I'm getting pretty tired of all these shitty news articles 8244 [removed] 8245 [removed] 8246 What law did they break? 8247 I wonder that too. Mainly because he has the impish personality of my brother, who he has never met. My roommates son is 3 days younger than my son and they were raised together. Then she and her husband had a daughter five years later and my son treats her just like my brother treated me - with mischievous love. It's just weird. 8248 Hey, just popping to say you're completely wrong. I actually thought you were trolling.\n\nI can see you're easily offended, probably because you know you should have been killed by a cop by now, criminal.\n\nYou've gotta be in middle school or extremely immature to think a life's worth is equivalent to whether or not someone has been convicted of a crime. 'Felony' doesn't mean 'went on a killing spree,' it 'could' mean something serious or it could mean 'threw someone else's drugs away' or 'got lost in a state park' or 'altered the public to a security flaw'. 8249 Every party needs a pooper, that's why they invited you\n\nParty pooper. \n\nParty pooper. 8250 Bro... if you're literally watching the whole thing go down, yes! That is exactly how people would respond. 8251 Shouldn't be able to have a gun on you if alcohol is in your system or your going to be doing flips. 8252 Your post history along with this comment proves you are incapable of having an adult discussion. I feel sorry for you and I would like to help you myself, but I would never steal from others to do so. It is not morally right. Its too bad you are too immature to have a discussion and it would have been easy to convince you. 8253 Care to explain what cops are supposed to do when a felon is fleeing? Is every cop supposed to be a track star? Are you ok with criminals regularly evading capture? Is that a society you want to live in? I do not. 8254 Not sure where the 'everything you want a part comes from' \n\nI must abide laws and fight the ones you think are unjust in a court. I mean if you don't like a particular law you should probably do what you can to change it, no? 8255 I'm not finding evidence of strong anti-LGBT bias in Dearborn, and the area has consistently voted Democratic since 2004. 8256 I wonder how much relation it was to all those Karate studios popping up in the 80s/90s 8257 [deleted] 8258 Redditors are hivemind. We are all one. We all believe one thing, but you, you are the special one who sees behind the curtain! 8259 About as ironic as the vegan woman who died on Everest trying to prove vegans can do things like climb everest 8260 Officer Saulters momentarily forgot he wasn't a GTA cop. 8261 O.o Nelson Mandela is not dead though? How there would be a funeral for someone who has not passed away? I think some of you are experiencing something called the Mandela Effect? 8262 But WE SMELLED MARIJUANA! 8263 [deleted] 8264 $20 this cop doesn't have the union sue for his job back ANDP get backup for time not worked 8265 Not if he slammed her head into a wall and knocked her unconscious right after she called (or during the call). 8266 [removed] 8267 How are malutanes in comparison? 8268 The force used was no more dangerous than tackling the fleeing felon would have been. 8269 Unlike those other things, being a police officer is a choice my dude. 8270 What's sadder is that there actually some idiots who up voted this dumbass. 8271 Super Hero's and Super Villains do. \n\nNoh, and the Pentagon/military industrial complex. 8272 [removed] 8273 In soviet Russia, gun flips you! 8274 Let me rephrase that, I'm sure he took a part in getting him to the hospital, whether that means calling the ambulance or staying with the person he shot until help arrived. 8275 Thank you. Gun didn't even shoot be of falling. It was when the dumbass picked it up. Wow 8276 > I think the only issue is that the use of a vehicle in that manner counts as deadly force\n\nThat is no more true than claiming every baton strike counts as deadly force because the baton could be used in a lethal manner. 8277 > I've already pointed out how his explanation could be reasonable.\n\nNo! his explanation can't be reasonable. Sure he has presumed innocence, but that is only in the eyes of the law. To any thinking observer it is pretty clear that he is a smuggling liar, and I'm pretty happy that this individual got his money taken away. Perhaps there is a better example of due process failing someone but this ain't it.\n\n... even if you can find reason to doubt him. \n\nHe gives us reason to doubt him himself. We are only hearing one side of the story but he still admits to structuring his withdrawals to avoid suspicion (illegal). \n\n> CBP had no jurisdiction until he reached Newark.\n\nNope. That is ignorance. Customs has jurisdiction at international airports. Keeping it on the ground, imagine you're trying to smuggle money to Canada and get questioned by customs on the Mexican border. You are not outside of their jurisdiction just because you never intended to travel to Mexico. \n\n> 3) the statement he would have given to CBP with a translator was reasonable (even if you personally doubt it).\n\nThe statement he gives after the fact that he thought out and prepared is still nonsense. So it's unreasonable for you to claim that a translator would have helped his situation. Not to mention that most of the evidence against him (the withdrawal stubs showing structuring) aren't confused by language. \n\n> 5) even CBP decided it wasn't worth pursuing once they let the deadline for a complaint pass... Yet they still won't return his money.\n\nIt seems like it's still being legally disputed. The article cites laws around civil forfeiture but this is clearly a case of money being confiscated under suspicion of smuggling which is not civil forfeiture. 8278 Right. Nothing good happens here. S/ 8279 Do Cows love cuddles? 8280 The right to vote, says nothing about prohibiting a poll tax either, that doesn't mean that poll taxes aren't unconstitutional. 8281 Honestly, and thankfukly, I've only dealt with cops twice in the US. Both times they were very professional and helpful. Unfortunately, these normal police everyday policing work don't make it on to the news. So the internet and news make it seems like all American cops are jack asses when its really not the case. 8282 I found a gif of the weekend\n\nI think With music 8283 [removed] 8284 I think the NRA should have spoken up, if only to state that Philando didn't follow the etiquette that CCW holders are taught, where is to first thing tell the officer you're armed and where the gun is, this would have solved the situation of Philando reaching in the car and the officer worried he might be going for the gun, since he'd have known the location and not been worried about a surprise. 8285 I could kick you in the pussy, would that mean you did something wrong? 8286 [deleted] 8287 You know Muslims live all over the world right? Muslims like in Australia, UK, Germany, France, Thailand, etc. etc. Trumps comment to ban all Muslims from entering the country was flagrantly bigoted, entrenched in racism, and blatantly unconstitutional. 8288 [removed] 8289 Plus he knows the layout of the house a hell of a lot better than they did 8290 Nah, I just don't give a shit about those who blatantly break laws because they either think they can get away with it or because they think the law is unjust. \n\nI'm afraid for your brainwashed mentality of an extreme view. 8291 Rules for thee, not for me. 8292 Clearly you're not familiar with inflation. 8293 There's the laissez-faire side of the gun community that treats guns like normal, then there's the 'it's not a car accident, it's a car negligent!' group, who take the made-up legal concept of negligence and (for better or for worse, whether for self-preservation or for moral crusading) throw it around like confetti. 8294 [removed] 8295 [removed] 8296 NOW they're ALWAYS SAY CONGRATULATIONS!\n\nOOOOOOOOOO 8297 This is likely the truth. 8298 > who complain that those evil pirating teens are reducing their income from 1 million/month to 990,000/month\n\nI remember that bullshit. Here is a great doc on it 8299 Fucking Ballroom Idiot 8300 thats extreme, just give them a glass of water to drink. cold fit water 8301 Yes, but the enforcement mechanism was lawsuits because of campaign contributions. Every other law is enforced by government officials. You can't sue your neighbor for speeding, they get a ticket. And the government gets the money from the ticket, not your lawyer. \n\nAda is unique in that it allows anyone to sue and make money if your sink is a half inch too high. That was deliberate, because trial lawyers donate a shitload of money. 8302 Yep, the real world is just a troll 8303 Than your an idiot 8304 [removed] 8305 > No he doesn't. He sounds like a stereotypical reddit liberal. \n\nAlright, please put your broad brush away. There are more sane liberals on Reddit than insane people like PM guy. Just look at all the responses here. You're just made more aware of the crazier ideologues on Reddit than not. 8306 She and her husband also bring in close to 1 million a year in income. 8307 Agreed. I'm sure I do it too. 8308 I don't think the police did anything wrong either. Based on the information from the mother, they had reason enough to go knock on Brown's door. But they would have needed a warrant to enter after he turned them away, and I doubt they had probable cause for a warrant.\n\nIt's really unfortunate that they weren't able to find the woman before she was raped. But the blame belongs entirely to the people who participated in and enabled the assaults, not to the people who tried to help. 8309 You must be writing this one the one electronic device that wasn't manufactured by exporting pollution and indentured labor. Must be a free-range all organic raspberry pi. 8310 [deleted] 8311 Law enforcement commonly uses discretion in pursuing charges because of how slammed our legal system is. If a person has already seen penalties from their actions in far excess of what the likely outcome of charging them would yield it's common for authorities to not bother. \n\nThe department literally stated the lack of damages and her being fired were why they weren't bothering. Being fired is already a far worse penalty than the likely slap on the wrist a conviction would be, so why bother wasting public money pursuing it? Who cares about something like 6 months probation when they already got camed? \n\nHow low are people this dense? 8312 'I'm not a racist'\n\nYou probably are, man... Just not in the way that YOU see racism. 8313 I feel honestly just curious how long they'll keep responding to me. And when they do get really personal with the insults lol 8314 My partner is Type 1 and he's been slipped non diet before and couldn't tell. If he has a hyper he can't think straight and almost acts drunk. He isn't always able to think straight enough to even do a blood check. Things can get really bad really fast during a hyper - he could hurt himself, fall and hit his head, crash his car etc. And hyps also do terrible damage to internal organs long before they turn fatal. 8315 What if it disrupts the moon, which is much smaller and controls the Earth's tides... 8316 > it remains one of the best in the world, \n\nBahahah by what measure? 8317 But there will also be groups in catalonia that make a sizable chunk of all catalonians that are against this. They are also 'A People' in that context, but suddenly it is ok that they are put under a government they don't agree with? 8318 Who decides what is fair? What is fair? Why is it that if I decide something isn't fair, I should be allowed to do it? 8319 Itâ€™s pretty arrogant and even offensive to assume that the average innocent black man thinks it would be a better idea to run away from police. 8320 There's a moat. 8321 [Alt-right readers right now.] (https://youtu.be/D7oXFnUHLQ?e=4m7s) (NSFW) 8322 For civil liability, not criminal. 8323 Often when cops break policy no criminal charges result, if it wasn't murder. When cops break policy it's just a slap on the wrist. 8324 To use your example, if you choked someone you would just get a slap on the wrist. Not criminal charges. And maybe taxpayers would have to pay the victim you abused. Not you or the department. 8325 Guess the burden of proof for briding a witness is higher than for murder... 8326 [removed] 8325 Oh...then onto Channel Zero for it's next series. 8326 I followed the link, and saw the picture. Yes, that definitely is wrong. 8327 Sheesh, Reuters ... what's the article about? Why not show a picture of the shirt with the "incorrect" map? 8327 [deleted] 8328 I suppose that's rights, but it's like that with any job. But I mean, some departments have 1,000 or even more cops. That adds up to a lot. But I'm all for body cams so I would pay extra to have one. 8329 Fuck that. They're also required to say "blessed be the fruit." Life really does initiate art. 8330 Agree. The distance being discussed is less than a light-second. 8331 The reasons may shock you! 8332 Unless it were you, right? 8333 And refuses to give up his taxpayer funded salary despite admitting he will never be able to perform the job again... 8334 The Fairbanks Four were put in jail in 1997 for a killing they didn't commit and we're released later after a man in another state admitted to the killing. The four individuals were native so racial bias definitely played a part. https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Alaska_Innocence_Project 8335 You crash ONE lander on the backside of another planet and everybody freaks out... 8336 It goes further than that. This is like throwing a person in shark-infested water, when they, also a shark, are ready to feast on them. This is beyond monstrous. He preyed on women who had already suffered trauma where reporting continual abuse would have been difficult. The system failed them. 8337 It will also increase access to treatment for addicts who already exist as well as any who become. Even without legislation specifically requiring it, non profit treatment orgs are historically created in the wake of a prohibition end. 8338 Sunday we have illegal wagering and no way for orgs to operate states where some form of wagering wasn't already permissible. We now have no federal prohibition and those orgs don't need to worry about their clients being arrested for seeking treatment. 8339 Lol...I think dinner s a little worse off than just cold. 8339 That's not what Amazon thinks, as its considering Raleigh. 8340 It's a US government website... I don't know where they get their numbers but they're presumably accurate for US vehicles. And I checked all the crossover models as well and didn't see any higher numbers for them so there were no higher numbers to include. 8341 sedans are completely pointless. 8342 Whatever man. I commute >100 miles a day round trip and the difference between my (non-hybrid) sedan's 38mpg average and some crossover's average of 25 would be $110 a month at current gas prices, and that's only going to go up. Maybe the extra leg room for passengers and cargo space is worth $110 a month to you, but I don't carry passengers or cargo so it sure as fuck isn't for me. 8343 Find me a non-hybrid crossover that gets 38mpg and I'll throw you a "you were right" parade. 8344 Well I guess my argument is that we don't allow people to stockpile mass amounts of most things unless they are a licensed vendor. I feel like if the majority of illegal guns are stolen there needs to be stricter laws that do punish owners for allowing it. I find that hard to believe. How would you Recommend cracking down on straw purchasers? 8345 She just wanted to have a big old office pool party. Whatâ€™s wrong with that? 8346 Well they never did put men on the moon. Got to walk the walk to stay part of this club. 8347 I agree, and I suspect any "standard" process will be dog only. 8348 I found out that my mom was a facebook bot. Sad. 8349 That is true. They turn on the heat for the whole city of Moscow in Sept or Oct, and it stays on until spring. There are little windows inset into most larger windows with their own little frames and hinges. One of these is called a "fortochka" or "fortochki" for the plural. You use them to let cool air in when the central heating is roasting you. 8347 If you're seriously lumping Oakland in with Gary, idk where to start man. 8348 They just needed to remind their contractors. 8349 http://www.cnn.com/TECH/space/9909/30/mars.metric.02/ 8350 NASA lost a $125 million Mars orbiter because a Lockheed Martin engineering team used English units of measurement while the agency's team used the more conventional metric system for a key spacecraft operation, according to a review finding released Thursday. 8349 [deleted] 8350 Black men are more likely to murder. White men are more likely to rape. Both are dangerous. Like i said no one is saying they are more dangerous. The problem is the scary disproportionate numbers at which black men are killing (mostly black) people vs white men. 6% should not be anywhere close to committing half of the damn murders in this country. 8351 I am addressing multiple issues. I am addressing the vastly disproportionate murder epidemic amongst black americans, and a bunch of emotional children who think racist means "he said stuff i don't like about race". Not one did i nor the original commentor mention anything about black americans being inferior in any way. If i don't find them inferior, and my own race superior, then that defeats your ability to "call out racism" and instead just means youre throwing around a word you dont understand and diluting its actual meaning, making it less powerful against real racists. 8352 Lateral racism is racist. 8351 > Literally gambling is only fun if you're losing money. 8352 What in the literal fuck? 8352 Yes, just like more white people than black people are killed by police. But then, you have to do this thing where you control for the fact that black people are like, 13% of the US population. Because that's how math and ratios work. 8353 It's just like when people claim "well more white people are killed by cops than black people!" and then you do the math and you realize that black people are still 2.5x more likely to be killed by the police. 8353 Should have brought sugar free gummy bears. 8354 Nope, but unlike you, I actually read the article before commenting like an idiot. 8355 I love the argument that bayonet mounts are not dangerous. I guess our military uses them because they look cool. 8356 You argument about the Glock is sound, I agree the definition could use some tweaking to satisfy gun owners a bit. 8357 Pistol grip should probably also be taken off. 8358 Lets remember also, that we are only talking about this because another poster couldn't handle a conversation about street crime and gun homicide. This doesn't really have anything to do with issues I care about, like ending the war on drugs or ending private gun sales without background checks. 8359 Agree. I see the professional panhandlers around me in D.C. Don't pay taxes, don't pay for anything but expects everyone to be responsible for their well being. One hippie had the audacity to say to me "is that all?" when I gave him a dollar. Like shut the fuck up other people are working hard to meet ends meet lol. 8357 Except all you're doing is end is given your medically incorrect opinion that walkers are the answer to everything. 8358 There's plenty more to be said but you aren't going to read any links provided to prove you wrong. 8359 There's this thing called "self defense", not sure you've heard of it. 8360 Handguns are small and very easy to yield, especially in a house or when you are being attacked. 8359 Exactly. Really wish people would stop trusting the media just because it says something they agree with. All they want is clicks. 8360 Horse poop. Horse poop everywhere. 8361 Exactly the Landrieu political dynasty is one of the most corrupt families since Governor/Senator Long. Of course they have done some shady shit. 8362 Not sure what you mean by weaker or stronger. Military and Police both use the X26 as a standard nationwide (U.S. anyway). 8363 The biggest difference in the feeling is how far apart the prongs are when they hit. The further apart (I shoulder blade, the other on the opposite calf) the more impacted your body will be (electricity is traveling through more muscle groups). Alternatively if both prongs hit lower back a couple inches apart than you may be able to continue movement. 8364 Depending on the type of cartridge and it's maximum distance determines roughly how far you want to be from someone when firing, but the further away the more you risk a prong missing between the legs or going wide and only one hitting the target. That leads to zero impact and having to load another cartridge. 8365 Drive Stun is a different animal altogether but generally only works as pain compliance rather than actual incapacitation. 8366 No, I'm calling you a fascist because you're an ally of the fascist Likud government and enthusiastically supportive of far right war criminals. The fact that you think murdering unarmed people from hundreds of meters away just shows that you're an especially bloodthirsty fascist. 8367 And again, answer the question: how many Israelis have been injured? Only a fascist would call the murder of dozens and soon to be hundreds of unarmed civilians self-defense. This is a one sided slaughter. Revel in this brutality while you can, because the day of justice will come and you monsters will see what it's like to be on the other side of things. 8368 Yeah! Punish their wrongdoing with your business! That'll teach them a lesson! 8369 It's not the intended lesson, of course, but it'll definitely teach them a lesson. 8365 In addition to what AtomicSpeed said, you also seem to have misused the word "willingly." 8366 No race mentioned - in the title -, he said. Which is correct. 8367 I know reading comprehension is really hard to achieve, but keep at it! I believe you can make it! 8367 [removed] 8368 Just gonna leave this here. 8369 https://www.dallasnews.com/news/child-protective-services/collection/cps-evolving-foster-care-crisis-texts 8369 I've come to understand that smart people are dangerous. Human intelligence is the most powerful weapon on Earth, and sometimes people with powerful weapons use them for nefarious purposes. 8370 We need intelligence control now! 8370 [removed] 8371 What you said isn't actually true. Flint is one city out of tens of thousands. And we don't show any interest in controlling other countries. 8372 [removed] 8373 Brown is beautiful! Yes some people are racist as hell, but Islamic fundamentalism is scary as hell to alot of people. Other cultures can adapt and integrate in a new country. However, it seems like Islamic people want to impose their culture on their new homes, while isolating themselves. Mexicans, Indians, Philipinos, Chinese... ect don't seem to have this problem. They integrate. That why there is a Mexican restaurant, Chinese restaurant, and a Sushi place in almost ever town in America. Islam needs major reforms, hopefully the new Saudi Prince will continue to make positive changes. 8374 Back in 1972, friends worked in a drive-thru ice cream shop and added pieces of Ex-Lax into vanilla ice cream cones and gave it to several of our classmates, no one else, as a senior prank in high school. 8375 You failed. 8376 [removed] 8377 TEXAS, not the TV show. Not in San Francisco. Not the restaurant in Boise. 8378 "I think the most astonishing of all is that you find that you should be allowed to tell somebody how they should defend themselves." 8379 Really? I'm more astonished that you think people live in an action movie and should be packing at any given moment in case of danger. I'm more astonished that you ignore all the statistics that prove that if you're "really" interested in having a safer society, the way to do that is by disarming the civilian population. I'm astonished that this fact (that a safer society means less guns) is so obvious that the NRA implemented a gun ban to protect the VP, but you still believe their propaganda that you need a gun to defend yourself. I'm astonished that you haven't accepted the simple premise that if you really did need a gun to defend yourself, then you live in a failed society. 8380 All those points I find more astonishing that that bit that left you gobsmacked. 8381 "You can list all of the statistics that you like, but one that is awful important that you seem to have forgotten is the average police response time." 8382 Yeah no. All things being equal (including police response times), a society without guns is safer than one with guns. All you need to do is compare two nations of comparable development (like the US & Canada, Japan, the UK, Australia) and you'll see the plain truth. 8383 Hell, even in the US, New York City, which still allows guns but implements some gun restrictions, has an average murder rate that is lower than the US average. That means you're more likely to get killed anywhere else in the US than NYC. 8384 Let that sink in for a moment. 8385 "I can bet that whoever city you decide to research, the average police response time is longer than the average time it takes to commit a crime." 8386 Irrelevant for all the above reasons. 8387 But let's also add that statistically speaking, all you're doing by bringing a gun into this scenario is either injuring/killing bystanders as amateur "good guys" start firing away indiscriminately "or" you give the "bad guy" a gun. 8388 "If you live in a crime free metropolis, that's awesome. But I have first hand experience where a firearm has been used to stop a crime. One was a forced break in to a house (while home) and the other was an attempted robbery of a person (my dad). Each lasted less than 30 seconds and each was stopped without discharging the firearm." 8389 And your (maybe true) anecdote doesn't trump facts. Sorry. It doesn't. 8390 Don't tell me that the bad outweighs the good because until you've experience it, you can ramble off all the statistics you want, but they don't mean shit." 8391 Because it "Doesn't matter.... (my proof will) fall on deaf ears. You've made up your mind already." 8392 Wow. I just murdered you with your own words there. 8393 "It's not about being a wolf, it's just not about being a sheep. I hope you keep 911 on speed dial, sheep." 8394 And, that's cute. The guy who subscribes to NRA propaganda thinks that he's not a sheep. 8395 Like a tractor and pesticides? Non western countries aren't living in isolation you know. 8396 I don't think anyone believes that there is an active "welfare state" but there is plenty of supporting arguments that if you give a human being everything they need, they can become 100% dependent and useless. 8397 I am all for ACCESS to healthcare, education, food, water, etc, internet, tv, post office, transportation, parks, entertainment. We disagree on how the access is provided. With healthcare, I want to protect the individual Dr. from the gov telling him he can only make $15 an hour. The logical connection i make is, Hospital is going to make their money, Pharma is going to make their money, so the guy at the bottom of the ladder is going to get fucked the hardest, and that's the Drs and Nurses. This is why i believe the best fix is to only let individual US citizens give money campaigns/ reps. No businesses, no nonprofits, no corps. 8398 Context on how the healthcare effects my family directly. http://dannysdose.com/ 8398 Where'd you read that? They're definitely enforceable. 8399 [Supreme Court says binding arbitration clauses in consumer contracts trump California law] (http://www.latimes.com/business/la-na-supreme-court-california-arbitration-20151214-story.html) 8399 California consumers who are angry about being hit with unexpected fees can be forced to air their complaints individually before an arbitrator rather than in a class-action lawsuit, under a decision handed down Monday by the U.S. Supreme Court. 8400 The justices by a 6-3 vote overturned a state ruling and threw out a class-action lawsuit against DirecTV over its termination fees for customers who canceled its service. 8401 The high court said the Federal Arbitration Act calls for honoring arbitration agreements that are written into company contracts, regardless of whether there are more consumer-friendly protections set by states such as California. 8402 If they were careful they would have noticed lol 8403 I found one 8404 > Citation on this? 8405 Citation on what? I'm guessing the UK one, since Switzerland is much more open about their death panels. 8406 [Here] (https://www.cnn.com/2018/04/25/health/alice-evans-appeal-bn/index.html) is a source you'd likely not complain about. It was recently decided by the UK court that 2 year old Alfie Evans should die. Going so far as to prevent them from seeking treatment elsewhere. 8407 [Here's] (http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2217747/A-lonely-death-care-pathway-MPs-demand-action-patient-chosen-die-doctors-tell-family.html) another example where a hospital decides to pull the plug on an elderly woman without even informing her family. Leaving her to die alone and her family to find out only after they came to visit. 8408 This probably isn't true. And it's unlikely to be true for the vast majority of Americans. 8409 It is true, even if it's not for the vast majority of Americans. That doesn't matter for the statement I was making. 8410 The article is focused on the trials for the officials who are charged for their involvement in the crisis - which makes these details about the 'hole' somewhat more relevant. People are seeing Flint and jumping on the thread but there is a lot of uh. Creative skimming. 8411 I didn't change the title from the site but maybe I should have. 8412 Obviously I have my own strong opinions about the crisis because I live in the area. This article is talking about when Flint was informed that the water was safe, when the authorities knew it actually had potential to cause Legionnaires. 8413 Which is why they intersperse "assault weapon" (fake term) with "assault rifle" (actual legally defined term) to muddy up the conversation and conflate the two. 8414 Her birtherism seems such a long time ago. 8415 Thank you for your insightful comment, but can't you at least find a way to blame Trump and the Republicans for something? 8416 I realized that a large number of people in this sub are unable to be both critical of the police and the victim. If the police did wrong then he is just some innocent young man. They kind of turn a blind eye to how he did just about everything wrong when confronted by police. 8417 Sorry, you're replying to me obsessively at this point, and I have a job. Didn't have time to go through them all this morning. Honestly it was one of two large replies in my inbox and...well, it's you, so I didn't think that large of a reply would be yours. 8418 However, you seem pretty worked up about this. For funsies, I'm not even going to read it. I bet it was insightful (hah). 8419 This could be true for any city with poor areas. 8420 https://www.zillow.com/homes/for_sale/Memphis-TN/pmf,pf_zpid42194892_zpid32811_rid/globaleareviewceex_sort35.109008,-89.935005,35.079197,-89.981139_rect/14_zm 8421 If you make that a condition of employment, you won't get ANYONE to be cops, good or bad. Departments are already having trouble recruiting qualified candidates. You wanna tell intelligent, moral people to take on a difficult job that doesn't pay well, that they'll be hated for doing, and that they'll be sued when they do something that at the time they believe to be the right decision? Or that they can be fired over any action that may be legal and moral, but that generates public outcry? 8422 Would you take that job? 8423 They need to line everyone involved in this up and waterboard them with Flint water. 8424 I've seen a kid bit by a fake service dog in a store. One case that could have been avoided if doctors and a vet have to sign off on a service dog. On the dog who hit the kid didn't have any shots or licensing period. 8425 I say just having a vet and medical doctor both sign off for a license would protect against most issues I've seen. 8426 Well, I did. And I plan on doing so again. 8427 [deleted] 8428 Nice deflection. 8429 Other cities that have similar left-leaning people in charge don't have this issue though. I'm just going to assume something unique is about Seattle's needs or that they didn't have many options for whatever reason. I would think that Seattle would have at least the same as a large east coast southern state capital like mine. 8430 It's roughly just as, if not more, popular than Google. 8431 Amazing. Every word you said was wrong. 8401 Is Mavis still alive? 8402 Yes most white people from the 50's are very racist. If I asked you if most white people from the 1850's were racist, I can guarantee you'd say yes. 8403 Do you know when the Civil rights act passed in the US? 8403 The statistics say that poor people commit more crimes, but poor white people still get arrested less than poor black people. 8404 If we get to the end of this saga and nobody really ends up paying for the damage done... 8405 What do we do? 8406 Who knows what Mueller will eventually turn up but let's say it's the worst version of all things, and let's say everyone involved skates with 5 years or less while people are getting that kind of sentence for like fuck i dunno, marijuana stuff. 8407 What do we really do? 8405 [deleted] 8406 Because taxes are never high enough here in California... the mantra is always more is better and forget accountability. 8407 Just put it in a jar. 8408 It's basically how you catch monkeys in Asia, you put food in a container with a small opening, their hand squeezes in but can't be removed while holding the food... they're too stubborn to let go. 8409 I will work and torment him at the same time. 8408 Yes I'm aware of the crusades hundreds of years ago and the Irish gangs. I'm talking recent history. Like genocide in Yemen recent. 8409 He wishes he was half as smart as Rust. 8410 I'm exempt from the union, I work in HR. :) And I'm in Ohio. 8411 Yup. It isn't a deterrent. 8412 In the same way a vacuum sealed bag looks empty. 8413 I'm afraid that this is the new reality. Species that are very specialized in their eating and behavior are going to have to adapt dramatically or die out. 8414 I mean realistically this goes down a seriously scary slope but it's this kind of stuff when not questioned, not challenged that results in people like Trump getting in. 8415 The hypocrisy of this post is ridiculous. Must be nice to live in such a delusional bubble. 8416 You don't go to a pool to send a political message with likeminded people. 8417 At least cigarettes kept you skinny. 8418 She'll be dead or in jail soon. 8419 He's likely saying the client disputed the charge with their CC or Debit card company. This does not require contacting Amazon at all, nor the seller. But if the seller contests the dispute, there is a process of interaction that must occur to rob the seller of their entitled funds: If the buyer ignores that process, the seller wins. Some people just charge things back randomly in hopes the seller won't contest it (because many sellers don't even know how to do so). 8420 Yes, when they have the power to murder you without consequence, it is suicidal to consider any cop "safe" or "good." As I mentioned, the thing they categorically do not get is the benefit of the doubt. They can prove they are good, and I will trust them after that, but not before. If cops, as a group, went after bad cops with any sort of regularity, they would get the benefit of the doubt. They do not, instead, they protect the criminals in blue. 8421 What about any of this is hard for you to understand or accept? if cops want respect and the benefit of the doubt, they have to go after bad cops regularly. 8421 I did and reversed my statement. 8422 [removed] 8423 [removed] 8424 Aren't they going to do that regardless? 8425 A whole world. Elmo in Grouchland 8426 GM literally had to get a government bailout loan to afford fat and unnecessary pensions for employees during the Great Recession, and then the union screwed new hires to keep the older boomer employees happy. 8427 Checks ops' post history. No surprises there. 8428 Deplorable cocksucker Milo is $2 million in debt. <https://www.advocate.com/people/2018/12/03/milo-yiannopoulos-2-million-debt-had-return-wedding-ring>. Gavin McInnes shoved a buttplug up his ass to "own the libs". https://www.reddit.com/r/opieandanthony/comments/4fcvvg/gavin_mcinnes_has_just_showed_a_buttplug_up_his/ 8429 my mom never had a smart phone, so I guess she wins. 8430 So this is not an example of what I was asking about at all. Are there any examples of the Church sheltering convicted abusers from legal justice by hiding them from extradition within the Vatican? That was the claim. 8431 Cohen also lied about Trump's business dealings in Russia. 8432 \nDepends. If the globalists like Macron and Merkel have their way, you may very well be drafted into the E.U. Army, and sent to pacify nationalist uprisings, like the 'yellow vests' in France. \n 8433 Do you know many well run institutions with significant union activity? All of the auto manufacturers either went bankrupt or came very close. Most of the public unions are massive drains on their municipalities. Unions also prevent companies from being nimble enough to change with market conditions. I'm not saying there aren't benefits, but there are many reasons beyond profits that management doesn't want unions. 8434 Is she fluent in several languages? Because based on the videos so far, it very much seems like they lied about that. I could be wrong, but lying seems to be the one thing that you can count on the Trump family for. \n\n[For example] (https://www.google.com/amp/s/amp.reddit.com/r/BannedFromThe_Donald/comments/7u2oko/is_melania_trump_really_fluent_in_five_languages/) 8435 it ended up being a few stations, but I agree that it really didn't need to be a national story at all 8436 I won't really learn my lesson when I'm all stabbed and dead. 8437 Do you think pointing out how backwards and violent Christianity is redeems Islam in any way? \n\nTrash is trash.\n 8438 [deleted] 8439 It does already. The Mueller report was released a few days ago. 8440 [removed] 8441 Jesus, this article has nobody associated with it that I wouldn't punch in the face. Fucking weak pathetic pansies and ignorant morons. 8442 Lol for real, I read the title and went cowow thats powerful af 8443 Anti-union sentiment is thick as slime in the United States. If workers are to wake up they need the full community involved, not just themselves. Unionize or drive Amazon out of the city. 8444 Yes, because Christianity is barbaric too... 8445 Yup. And I understand why. Its not like your average person can just drop everything and do everything they can to fight climate change, thats not realistic. What is realistic is taking the time to make sure youre informed on the issues - that pays dividends when it comes to voting in politicians who will actually have the guts to stand up to big corporations, rather than just bowing to them and giving them what they want (as the current administration does). Climate change is real, and its happening. Its scary how many people dont believe that simple fact. 8446 [deleted] 8447 [removed] 8448 It seems there are stipulations you didn't mention. See: <https://hfr.org/outreach/item/14019-religious-holiday-displays-on-public-property-8449> Hilariously enough, her name is Stephanie Seby-Strempe. 8450 [removed] 8451 Right but certain members of the White House, senate and the house DO leak when juicy stuff comes across their desks. 8452 [removed] 8453 Prices would be lower if everything weren't being sold at Perceived Value and was instead sold at Cost + Profit Margin. But most of what we buy has pricing completely unrelated to cost. Why does this matter? Because that Perceived Value profit level is what pays for all this theft and free shipping, etc. 8454 All he had was one joint!...and 5 pounds of cocaine. 8455 Kenny never gets to stop doing that. 8456 [deleted] 8457 Its the other side of outrage culture. Outrage at the outraged. 8458 It's like you want this to be removed. 8459 Take guns from cops. They've proven over and over that they will use them long before they're a last resort. 8460 Is that you, Elon? 8461 [removed] 8462 So thats not an example of the Church sheltering a convicted abuser from legal justice which is what we are discussing. Could you give me an example of that? 8463 The uncanny valley to be sure. 8464 Read the article. 8465 But where did he get the money for a car? Clearly he's an ms-13 drugs dealer person here to steal our jobs /s 8466 It's so legal, it's extralegal. 8467 Itm currently sitting in a restaurant with a table next to me with 3 screaming kids from like 1-3 years old. Even with this screaming, I still cant imagine anything one of them could do to make me want to get 5 of my friends to stand around taking turns beating the shit out of him.\n\nand would, however, appreciate one of these parents telling them to shut the fuck up at some point tonight. 8468 The thing about a dark, dramatic retelling of this story is that Trump himself will have to have very little screen time and act as a sort of overarching background evil, rather than a main character. This is because the guy is just a fucking nutjob and too god damned hilarious looking and acting to ever be realized by an audience for the destructive force that he is. Future audiences just won't be able to take him seriously.\n\n–\n\na comedy would be great, but we still actually need the seriousness of this debacle to be conveyed somehow. 8469 [removed] 8470 Millions of military aged males are simply walking into the US. The US has been under active invasion for decades, and they are using economic warfare against us. 8471 [removed] 8472 Read the article. 8473 You decry mainstream media and yet you probably watch FOX News. 8474 You missed your comet, cultist. 8475 Barely. Union law here is absolute garbage. Workers are far better off striking than going through the legal process. Subcontracting is super common to break unions, it's what the airlines did for almost all of their services. 8476 [removed] 8477 [removed] 8478 [removed] 8479 [deleted] 8480 Should be a great peak this year, I've been out a few nights for it already and it was great. Bupkiss were great too. 8481 [removed] 8482 Technically, Charlie Wilson was the main push to helping out the anti-communist forces, the CIA wanted to do most of it through the Pakistani intelligence agency with some direct amount of proven fighting groups. Funny that the money that went through the Pakistanis went straight into the pockets of religious fundamentalists. It's almost like they have an agenda of their own, one at odds to a secular society.\n\nRegardless, everyone likes to forget there was a civil war after the Soviets left and that a lot of the Northern Alliance commanders that we allied with in 2001 were the same guys we were backing in the 80s. They were the ones who had been fighting against the Taliban and other ethnic groups. Of course, a lot of the fighters in the Taliban had gotten our support as well. But the Taliban and other religious groups didn't get started until after the Soviets left and the reason a lot of people were ok with the Taliban coming in is they enforced some sort of law and order. I think Omar's first big move was to go into a village and hang all the little boy fuckers from the barrel of a tank. Which is a huge issue in Afghanistan particularly and the Muslim world at large to a lesser degree. But Afghanistan has a long history of 'chai boys.' Boys as young as 4 being kidnapped, used as domestic labor to serve chai, dressed up in sexualized clothing and then fucked by the men. This is a big issue we have with the ANP and ANA. They kidnap the local boys and rape them. There is also an epidemic of boy sex workers in Afghanistan. And it's all made worse by ethnic strife, no one thinks of themselves as Afghans, they think of themselves as their tribe first. 8483 [removed] 8484 It's isn't you can never report this "\n\nit's "report this when it is finished" 8485 So none of those are actually about the Vatican/Catholic Church sheltering abusers from justice after conviction which is what we are discussing here. Could you please provide an example? 8486 Sounds about right when compared to the media. The link says it might be inflated but Trump generally gets negative coverage. \n\nhttps://townhall.com/tipsheet/timothyheads/2018/07/29/president-trump-is-correct---study-shows-90-of-media-coverage-negative-study-shows-n2504929 8487 Inspecch for what? You dumb asses have tried for almost two years to find something to stick to him or make something up and you have nothing. Not one piece of evidence that he is guilty of high crimes or treason. Learn to get along and respect the office or fucking move. 8488 Doing it wasnt the problem, doing it intentionally and trying to hide it when you are subject to FEC regulations that say such a payment is a campaign contribution is a major problem. 8489 Michael who? Never heard of him. Never even met him. Ask anybody! I like lawyers who dont get arrested for felonies. Totally exonerates president! WITCH HUNT!!!!  - Trump 8490 Christ was a rebel. One of the most rebellious. That's why he was killed. Conservative? Hell no. 8491 You still have time to turn your life around!* 8492 They should remove your hunting privileges and all firearm permits/ownership rights. Obviously this should only be done to egregious poachers, not by somebody making a mistake 8493 I don't know... Call the number and talk to the non-attorney spokesperson. He should be able to tell you. 8494 They look like god damn Oblivion characters 8495 Its in our ethics rules and a law in a lot of states be of the unique way the legal profession is self-regulated 8496 Holy shit. This is how you get a city burned to the ground. Don't worry though the rich have insurance. 8497 [removed] 8498 Yeeeahhh I've seen a bunch of videos where he says to go out and instigate with other people.\n\nedit responding to your edit: \n\nI don't believe the entire organization feels the same as Sheriff Clarke, but its noteworthy to mention that Sheriff Clarke is black himself\n\nThat's why they have him on, so they can play innocent because they got a black guy to say their racist shit for them. Did they have a representative from Black Lives Matter out to counter him? \n\nI think it'd be easy to say that there are a great deal more people comfortable with expressing their contempt for whites in BLM than you see any alternative conservative group openly condemning black people.\n\nThat's just your own personal opinion. The original movement was to stop police violence on civilians. They got some crazies on board just like any other movement, and those crazies are the ones the media focuses on. Combine that with the ingrained racism that is prevalent throughout American and their media and I understand why you think it's probable there's more racist black people in that group than racist white people in conservative groups. 8499 or Purina Bear Chow. 8500 It's funny because they are just going to get them from someone 21 instead like they already do with alcohol.\n\nIn these 21 bars are not because of the FDA thing, they disguise that as the reasoning but it's really because they want juks banned period. Since that can't happen they're gonna strip it slowly, it's the same as gun rights. 8501 No, its not too young. If a person is legally an adult in the eyes of the law at 18, its fundamentally wrong to deny them the privileges that come with adulthood because you decided they should be restricted to an arbitrary age. The fact that an 18 year old may still be in high school has nothing to do with the matter. 8502 How badly do you have to plan your camping trip to be totally unprepared to bury your own shit? It's not like we couldn't see the shutdown coming from a mile off 8503 The handiest indicator of the health of a civilization is how well it handles its waste. 8504 To be completely fair the state should be testing a hell of a lot of people more often. I wish we could expand laws on issuing tickets based on dash cam video. The winter is my favorite time of year here, only because the 2 car lengths I normally like to leave myself behind the car in front of me on the highway is now useless in preventing an accident when someone cuts me off, as they always do. So I drop back another car length and become the official one to let everyone into the left lane. \n\nFuck em all though. I always hope they rear end the car in front of me when they do it. 8505 From the article: "The correlation between gun seizures and car arrests and the decline in homicides and shootings just simply cannot be overlooked," Superintendent of Police Eddie T. Johnson said in a news conference Monday. 8506 That's not true at all. As someone in the military college only applies to becoming an officer, not enlisted promotion at all 8507 Itm still going back to work with the same workload I had before the shutdown, with fewer days to get it done. Screw you. 8508 George Carlin.\n\n 8509 And apparently according to /r/todayilearned....adult diapers. 8510 I suppose that would be done through conductive piping. 8511 I have no idea what youre talking about right now. Did you have a stroke? 8512 And what did it amount to? You whining about it, when everyone else has moved on. 8513 Too much money? Doesn't the US currently have a deficit??? 8514 If only the young people would vote. 8515 Vapes are better than actual cigarettes though 8516 Spoken like someone who's idea of a feminist is defined by those "Ben Shapiro DESTROYS" Videos 8517 Instead of saying something snarky or grinding a political axe I simply say good for them. This is good news for the people who live with this crime. And I'm glad their lives have gotten a little easier. 8518 And vote for Trump! 8519 Cool. Why do you care about DULs if you always catch a ride? 8520 I thought we elected Trump to change the tone so this kinda thing would be allowed.\n\nAnd while the bleeding hearts clutch their pearls and downvote me, the two Koreas grow ever closer. And another war is ended. And then another one. Get on your discord and alert your comrades, wrongthink is escaping containment. 8521 [removed] 8522 I agree somewhat, but if we look at the prohibition period it was a pointless exercise.\n\nAlthough, maybe with today's more advanced technology...? 8523 I think VR and games in general will probably solve a lot of that problem. 8524 [removed] 8525 High schools can be 20, is that too young? 8526 Dave Chappelle had a bit about this in his '05 stand-up special 8527 Peoria Illinois has been 21 to buy tobacco for a few months now, but on the other side of the river in east peoria, you can still be 18, so i guess certain cities have their own judgments as well. Source: am living in peoria and am a smoker. 8528 I mean if youre not good at bridging out to people, doesnt negate the fact that its relatively easy. 8529 Mazel tov!\n\nfeel like the appropriate response is the Shehechyanu, because it's usually fitting as long as you aren't currently dead. 8530 :-) and to you to kind redditor. 8531 It's important to me, because I like going out and getting cheap food and drinks, and then catching a ride home.\n\nI don't know why it's so important to you, though. 8532 Lmao all y'all dumbasses being salty....started smoking and drinking young, and its a shitty shitty vice. Both tobacco and alcohol fucks you up, and its easy to fall into addiction. Fuck I mean all these people who csnt go a day without liquor or a six pack, or those who smoke a cig or two at break.... That's addiction man. Theyre probably going through a pack every day or two, and cant fall asleep or go to work without alcohol...ive known many peoole like this. But hey man who cares right? I really hope y'all ruin your lives with this shit :) 8533 So why does this logic not apply to alcohol? 8534 There is corno strike language for DOT employees, but no shutdown language. 8535 Rethink that. Officer drive thru barriers , flooding the vehicle. Were able to get out , but not able to remove the humans they are charged with transporting them safely 8536 You expect him to read the article he's commenting on? Well, I never. Harumph. /s 8537 The fuel is actually used as a coolant, circulating through the wings before going to the engines. 8538 [removed] 8539 So would raising the age to join the armed forces to 21 completely nullify your argument ? 8540 Yeah, something like that. Happy New Year. Lchiam. 8541 Thats not how liberties work dumbass 8542 Wrong: <https://www.epa.gov/ghemissions/overview-greenhouse-gases/n/nCow> farts in agriculture are the worst for the environment, but methane is a greenhouse gas among other gasses in flatulence.\n\nHow low a fart killed 10,000 people: \n\nhttps://www.thedailybeast.com/how-a-fart-killed-10000-people/n 8543 Arizona: the land of the savages 8544 You may not realize this now, but sooner or later, there is going to be a law banning what you like to do, just remember, the same laws that can be used to ban things you dont like can be used by others to ban things they dont like. 8545 Nobody said it was a law, its an intent. Leave people the fuck alone. 8546 How is the left responsible for mexico not paying for the wall? 8547 You'll have a better chance at not dying if you leave at least 3 seconds between you and the car in front of you.\n\nhttps://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QHGmM4KwXc 8548 [removed] 8549 [removed] 8550 If it isnt important than you have no problem with it being prohibited right 8551 [removed] 8552 You sound triggered. Take your own advice. 8553 Alcohol is also technically a poison, quite literally, albeit a mild one. 8554 [removed] 8555 Who's attacking who? Why are you getting so defensive? Don't be so delicate, get a grip, and enjoy the new year! 8556 Feeling entitled for things we've paid for... 8557 You could say the same about recovering from a night of drinking.\n\nBut making life and death decisions seems like something you might want a developed brain for. 8558 16 to 20 yr olds are drastically more likely to get in an accident than 80 yrs olds\n\ninsurance I work in insurance 8559 Well, there was that guy that went around and stabbed like 20 people a few years ago. 8560 Why is happy hour specifically so important?\n\nI want to get tore up for cheap, I can just get a bottle of md2020 from the corner at any time of day anyway 8561 Its a start. Might as well ban alcohol altogether 8562 I personally think anyone that isn't my exact age shouldn't be able to drive at all. Sure it would be a massive inconvenience and decimate the economy, but at least there would be less traffic.\n\n 8563 Substances will permanently affect your body for the rest of your life, if taken before your brain fully develops. \n\nThose other things you mentioned just fuck up the country, but can be corrected at some point down the line. 8564 What were you doing in a tree is the real question. 8565 Yeah but you have to go away to a foreign country to do it, cant even do it in your own home state/country. Anyone in the military or not could go to another country and drink (or smoke) in 18. Its not that there is the ability to do it while in the military, but theoretically any 18 year old could get drafted if war broke out and theyd be put out there in harms way (and possibly die) for their country before they were even allowed to have the rights of an adult. 8566 [removed] 8567 Waaaaay too many people spend most of their drive accelerating into the back of the next vehicle. Like... Itm not going anywhere cause theres traffic three lanes wide in front of me. Why do you need to pass me? 8568 Or jump a shark. Ayyyyyy! 8569 I was told to dig a hole and hope for the best. 8570 [removed] 8571 In that case where would you draw the line? I smoked dope at 17, is that a personal decision that ahouodve been left alone? 8572 Because it's not even remotely worth spending the enormous resources to establish the framework for retesting and evaluating the huge elderly population that causes very few deaths. \n\nNot every problem is big enough to warrant legislation. Laws don't just cause infrastructure and resources to appear magically once they are passed. 8573 >The whole of the Republican congress? \n\nthe opposition!\n\nP.S. we're the good guys 8574 They're not bad, but overworked. 8575 Because of that reason right there, they're formerly subjugated. Now It's legal to scholarship a minority more, just because they're a minority, yet illegal for an employer to give paychecks in the exact same fashion. If their only interest was closing the equality gap, they wouldn't be operating in the way they are right now. 8576 Dogs don't, at most they'll throw dirt at a minority, that's a dogwhistle claim to project a value.\n\nAnd it's ignorant.\n\nI think comments like this make the debate worse for both gun rights advocates like us (assuming you are one here) and for others who aren't quite convinced.\n\nHow about you don't know how to convince others of your position on gun rights but won't admit it? 8578 The left also did nothing to help compromise. There are two sides. 8579 Had a close family friend over for Christmas dinner. A year ago she was mostly fine. Now she needs help navigating a house. 8580 If you are old enough to die for your country you are old enough to buy alcohol, Tabacco, and pot 8581 But that wasn't what I was responding about, I understand that this is a fundamental issue of human rights, I was saying how being jewish is what made the house purchasing illegal, not being members of israel, as this man had israeli identification yet owned the house. The ethnically jewish buyers is why he was arrested. I was just additionally stating how this man being arrested in general wasn't supposed to happen since he has israeli identification 8582 It's a bad habit, but if you can die for your country in a foreign land, you should be allowed to make unhealthy choices 8583 Feeling entitled for things we've paid for... 8584 This is what happens when you don't design in elements to adequately serve a city's lower classes 8585 So why did the kickboxer agree to do it? 8586 The zipper method should also be beaten into people's heads more often. It's not tricky. Him then her then me then you, subarubro. I get it, you have an impreza - - you're quickish. However, let me point out, I'M ALREADY IN THE LANE. BRUH. We can all coast into this without causing a braking jam. 8587 Or you can just shit on the ground, into the bush a bit. Like take 5 seconds to walk into the ditch. Hole or no, thats better than the shoulder of the road 8588 That's too bad. He was one of the better banter news casters which seems to be the new thing being pushed by stations. Almost all the others have zero personality which leads to frequent awkward moments. 8589 The house he sold was in old city Jerusalem. So the "crime" was committed in Israeli land. He lives in East Jerusalem though. 8590 The blaze orange outfit? the back has some numbers and a "D.O.C." stencil 8591 This is how it should be. 20 years old though, IMO. Life sucks. What's the rush to become a legal adult?\n\n20 to buy alcohol, tobacco, weed, guns, enlist, etc.\n\nLet people have a childhood before the real world stomps on them. 8592 No. The left did not promise that mexico is going to pay for some vanity project and now demand taxpayer money for it. 8593 Not "us", it's just you. I fail to see the need to paint a picture for you. I know it sucks to not be right. But hey, life's not fair, I'm sure you're familiar with that sentiment. Here's to not dying. In 2019. 8594 No surprise here. I watched a lot of Tenshins fights and it looked like a lot of his opponents went down purposely from glancing blows. Knowing how corrupt Japan is when it comes to sports (Sumo wrestling is a big one.), I'm actually surprised people thought Tenshin stood even a slight chance. Then he cried, smh. Not a good look. 8595 Lol okay. So that's what you got out of that. 8596 > "this is happening during a government shutdown, the perfect time to hit these guys while our government is hobbled by the shutdown." \n\nI doubt that US Cyber Command is shut down though. 8597 I don't believe either are true. \n\nI think they are both cases of "us them"ing between people who carry different viewpoints. \n\nThere may be some folks who might want those things from either group of people, but it certainly isn't the norm. \n\nI enjoy shooting guns, a lot. But just because I think most gun owners are horribly irresponsible (including many of my cop friends) doesn't mean I want to punish them. \n\nI just want them to follow the fucking law. 8598 If we get invaded, wouldn't there be enough people volunteering to serve to defend the country, in the service or as a resistance? \n\n8599 Cousin Moishe? Moishe Goldberg? It's me, Shmuel Silverstein. \n\nNow we will engage in the ancient Jewish rite of kvetching about health problems and feeling guilty for not calling our mothers, who raised us, who guess that they'll just die alone without getting to see their kids. 8600 This makes me believe you have absolutely no clue the series of events that led to the popular videos being spread around the internet. \n\nhttps://youtu.be/PEy7SPseLNM check around 1:14:47 8601 [removed] 8602 History doesn't repeat itself it just changes flavors 8603 Err, don't you see the irony of what you just wrote? 8604 I'm guessing the next market crash post 2008 will be caused by hackers crashing the stock exchange or electronic trading their. 8605 >One teen in particular is seen standing in front of Phillips, staring into his face with a smile. \n\nshocking, shocking stuff. You could also say the native american drummed in his face Inno 8606 [removed] 8607 He's 97. Not many fucks left to give 8608 You might be surprised. I can't speak for the rest of the country, but here on the west coast I have many friends/family members who attended Jesuit schools and who also aren't racist assholes. The ally (many of whom aren't religious) vouch for the quality of education they received. 8609 now that the videos have been released i wonder how fast this story will be conveniently forgotten about 8610 Snowflake excuses. Grow up. 8611 People who are blinded by hatred are the most irrational. 8612 So they deserved the nasty words hurled their way because of the way they looked? Why does that sound familiar? You need to watch a Gillette commercial.. 8613 Not aware?! Its literally all over the place. Go look at left twitter and leftbook. Almost every post or comment section is doxxing these fucking kids. 8614 It still disgusts me that the implication is that they'd rather have a dead child than an autistic one. 8615 If a group of people lack exposure to different cultures their entire life, it goes without saying that will make them more prone to hating something they don't know, or something they have been told is bad. \n\nThe only way to love your neighbour is to know him. 8616 No they are not, seeing death and destruction is way worse than you may imagine it to be, once you actually experience it, well... I hope you dont 8617 So in other words... no video or audio. 8618 Trump's secret Russian pee tape 8619 Maybe as a minimum, automatic payout that happens immediately upon release. Or is set up as biweekly/monthly payment until later you can decide to claim all of it at once, just to prevent someone who hasn't got their life together from losing it. \n\nBut the state is fighting it, hence him selling paintings. He's not being treated fair at all. \n\nI'd argue the floor for payouts should be minimum wage, including overtime, for every hour in prison. They don't get to go home or choose what amenities they have access to, or who to live with. It's not a regular life with a crappy job, it's a crappy job all the time. 8620 Anyone else trad penis art on first glance? I was super happy the penis art wasn't shown in the article. 8621 Man you people are really insane aren't you? Of course that's what it was he was trying to appear tough in front of his degenerate friends. I know because when I was in school I was also a jackson just not to old folks like a coward. 8622 Watch the video. It's propagandised nonsense. Phillips was the instigator. 8623 > No one here is defending that first case. \n\nOh you sure to have forgotten or maybe dont know how twitter was saying that the guy deserved it. \n\nI wish I could find them for it, but I don't know how to find old tweets. I have one example though. \n\nhttps://twitter.com/ionaconnell/status/104974659078537218 \n\nAnd I don't think this is an example of whataboutism, he is only pointing out the difference in reactions when Trump supporters do it vs when others do it. \n\nAnd, this latest story is not even entirely true. No one want to listen to the backstory. \n\n8624 [removed] 8625 More like the many that have done wrong, the military dictatorship egging on and committing genocide and the elected leader not willing to stand up for a demonized minority 8626 I really hope that these students are made an example of and have their lives ruined. I don't wish this because of malice but rather to demonstrate that this behavior is not acceptable and has dire consequences. 8627 Definition bad. Victim good. 8628 Here are a few videos of them what you call \n\n/n\nApproach - https://mys.mixtape.moe/jeexfy.webm \n\nEvent and aftermath - https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=npX801xLSFY \n\nOther angle of approach and event - https://youtu.be/UQyBHTTq38?u=4320 8629 That kid never did the tonahawk chop. I've never said that they didn't do anything insensitive or obnoxious. What I've said is that these kids, and especially the kid just standing there, dont deserve to be doxxed, and that there is no evidence that they chanted "build the wall." As far as I can tell the only thing racist would be the tonahawk chop, and that is literally just one kid that probably doesnt know how offensive it is. The rest of the kids are just being obnoxious. Meanwhile you have a group of ADULTS riling these kids up and yelling shit at them. 8630 I really want to say "how do you know?" "but I fuckin know 8631 [removed] 8632 Please provide proof the "build the wall" comment was made! Since you choose to publicly humiliate these children, I would at the very least expect you would have the facts. 8633 I'm not condoning or aware of people doxxing them? I'm just talking about the collective response to the video. People are allowed to respond negatively to the video. 8634 Did you watch the entire incident? The black religious group was hurling insults at the boys, the boys did dumb kid/school chants (some kind of gorilla/caveman thing) and chanted what sounded like part of a nation army. The natives walked between the two groups into the group of boys while playing their drums and chanting. They got to where the one kid was and he didn't move. \n\nWhat part of this is racism? Do you really think this is anything more than an overblown confrontation of differing mobs? I agree it was the most civil behavior by any of the groups, but I really don't understand where the left is coming from on this. 8635 This happens hundreds of times daily in sure, it has also been happening since we developed the concept of yards. You think this girl is any different from the 150000000000 previously mauled ones? 8636 > taking their children and sending them to evangelical-run foster care agencies \n\nnoh no the horror 8637 But wouldn't goats in turn fertilize the land at the same time? 8638 Show this to trump supporters 8639 I'm harassed, 8640 [removed] 8641 cocaine money : 8642 You're not the best reader, are you? 8643 [removed] 8644 tbh, when i was broke and bought fake leather dress shoes, after about 2 months, those shoes would stink. Even if i changed my socks each day, the shoes and therefore my foot would reek. \n\n/n\nbut, your friends situation was probably medical 8645 No the "MSM" said this \n\n/n\n/n\nWell they also said that Phillips is a cool guy and doesn't afraid of anything \n\n8646 Harassed? Give me a break. There goes the media completely twisting what happened. Both parties had the right to protest, and there's even a video clip showing that the man walked up to them beating his drum. Get over yourself people 8647 maybe, just maybe they actually thought they were from central america 8648 -baby boy/n\nSo you stalk my profile, https://www.reddit.com/r/confessions/comments/adugexv/i_think_i_pretty_much_hate_conservatives_now/eim6f5 (attack me in a necro thread), back out like a punk and then use my words against others? \n\n/n\nHAHAHAHAHAHAHAH/n\n> I trust the journalistic integrity of the 500 articles on this issue and not your convenient interpretation of the events/n\nThat's a convenient way of saying you're too stupid to think for yourself so let me do it for you. \n\n/n\nYou really are the gift that keeps on giving. \n\n8649 We were only there for an anti - abortion rally. We weren't even supposed to be here, okay/n\n/n\n8650 I can tell reddit is full of children when their only take on history is what the TV tells them. 8651 Full video you be the judge 8652 [removed] 8653 [removed] 8654 It's true that taking action will inevitably generate extremists but I'm not sure what the alternative is in cases like this. \n\n/n\nDiplomacy doesn't work, as all of these religious terror groups have shown they will commit crimes against humanity and atrocities to anyone not buying their specific brand of crazy, even against neutral/peaceful parties. \n\n/n\nTo act is to generate fuel for their cause, but to not act is to allow their ideology to spread while condemning bystanders to likely gruesome fates. 8655 I am not sure if the gist of the article was that he wasn't wearing a seat belt or that he didn't apologize for the accident he was in, where he could have died. 8656 Who said anything about not needing a government? 8657 You're being pedantic. 8658 Pretty sure Nathan Phillips wasn't born before 1776. 8659 [removed] 8660 I live in the area too and have a 2 month old. It's terrible fearing for his health every time we're out in public. I wonder if the anti-vaxers worry about their kids getting such diseases or if they just don't care as long as their kids don't get vaccines. 8661 You're being pedantic. Their religion isn't the point. 8662 So...a woman, minding her own business gets attacked by dogs and the owner just laughed at her. Yes there are important things to say but this article basically boils down what's wrong in the world. \n\n/n\nThat people are unable to treat their neighbour with respect and contribute to a safe neighbourhood. \n\n/n\nIf you feel this news isn't important enough try r/worldnews 8663 [removed] 8664 Amazing that they think this clip makes them look better. 8665 >Trump has a fanatical base that makes him appear far more popular than he really is. Bush was popular with regular people who weren't so obnoxious, so it wasn't as obvious that his polls numbers were so high. \n\n/n\nSigh. I don't really support Trump and I'm not even from USA, however, this is where the divide is happening in your country. Trump can be popular with "regular people", it's just the left demonizes these people, lumping them in with the "fanatical base". Perhaps if you stopped forced differentiation of ideology, you wouldn't get a maniac such as Trump. You don't have to support the wall/migration restrictions if you just want the sector you work in to succeed and your children to have cheaper healthcare. \n\n8666 The advantage of goats is that they can work through terrain which is rocky, uneven, hilly, remote, or with lots of trees which would make mowing difficult. \n\n/n\nThey are also pretty self-sustaining and low maintenance, in that you can just leave them there and let them do their thing, rather than having to do a grow/cut/grow/cut cycle. 8667 By standing in place grinning when approached? That's a really low bar for intimidation man. 8668 Honestly, sounds like they earned that money. 8669 There are all kinds of comments and shit on twitter now of "they were screaming go back to Europe at these boys, own the racism, you can't even stand in a public place in America if you are white". America is just a cesspool. 8670 From the article it sounds like it's more of a work in progress rather than a done deal. \n\n/n\n> the incident sparked fears over the SEC's Consolidated Audit Trail database, known as CAT. The CAT was meant to record every trade and order either stock or option made in the U.S., with the goal of providing enough data to analyze for detecting market manipulations and other malicious behavior. \n\n/n\n> Full implementation of the CAT has been plagued by delays, with equities reporting now scheduled to begin in November. The New York Stock Exchange has asked the SEC to consider limiting the amount of data collected by the CAT, which would include data on around 58 billion daily trades, as well as the personal details of individuals making the trades, including their Social Security numbers and dates of birth. 8671 I'm not that surprised. Some people are scum. 8672 why football man no stand/n\nWhy gay marry/n\nWhy woman not want baby/n\nWhy government too big/n\nWhy government not do nothing about bad football man/n\nWhy native American play drums/n\nBrown man bad/n\nWhy brown man here/n\n8673 Reddit has truly lost it's mind over this. 8674 [removed] 8675 Not the sharpest tool on the shed, are ya son? 8676 [removed] 8677 More proof that Trump and his ideology has no place in America. 8678 Except it is a chosen snippet because it doesn't show one side approaching the other. There's no context for this clip just like every other clip circulating. 8679 Oh yes it definitely does. But I know that is often a problem in apartments etc.. 8680 To be fair, the parents, superintendent, arch Diocese, and others had taken the children from Kentucky to Washington to attend an anti-abortion rally, so they were already flaming piles of shit before they stumbled upon the Native American rally (which is held annually to honor Native American veterans of the Vietnam War). All of the adults involved are just terrible people, not surprising they would raise these little MAGAs. 8681 Telling off bigots in one scenario doesn't give you a license to be racist in the next. \n\n/n\nYou can hear bystanders criticizing the boys as having a mob mentality and being utterly racist. Tell me how doing the tonahawk and staring down the Native American wasn't racist? You'd find some moronic excuse because you'd already picked your winner. \n\n/n\n8682 Because that's how internet works ? Something wrong happens, people are mad about it. Sometimes it buzz, sometimes it doesn't. \n\n/n\nNot sure what is confusing. 8683 [removed] 8684 [removed] 8685 I would call for severe restrictions of any priest/pastor particularly in churches with small children. 8686 How can a so called American insult and try to intimidate a veteran & Native American elder? \n\n/n\nRant about building a wall? Do they teach history in his school? \n\n/n\nEvery single person who lives in America is descended from immigrants 100%. Unless you are of native Indian decent you are not an American, you are an immigrant.. 8687 > I'm also strict on only having clean clothes touching my bed, so if say I go to the couch to relax cause I can't sleep it means I gotta change again before getting into bed. \n\n/n\n/n\n? you know you can put a sheet on your bed which can be washed.. you got a loose screw 8688 Check lakings post. It has the video with the kid and the native Indian dude. Bit also the rest of the area. Seems there was quite a lot going on that day. The black dudes with the beards they are assuming to be Muslims but others have mentioned extreme black Israelites or something whatever that is. 8689 Donald Trump level of dense. 8690 They're chanting "BUILD THE WALL" to an old native American. This is no longer about border security or god knows what else mental gymnastics they preach. They see brown and they hate it. 8691 Nice projection there buddy. You are actually the shitty person for saying an entire group of people are a piece of shit, lol. See how this works? \n\n/n\nMust suck having low intelligence, but then again that's just your typical reddit leftist 8692 Yeah, teenagers love embracing edgy shit just to piss people off. Teenagers being shitty doesn't surprise me much. The inability of adults to grow out of that phase is very concerning. 8693 Agreed. It's something that falls under boys will be boys (thanks for the $$ Gillette) and imo isn't egregious enough to warrant correction by the whole nation 8694 I like to bring up catholic priests and also pastors regularly being broadcasted by the media for being pedo. I should create a website like dogbites and only use media accounts as a source. 8695 They didn't chant build that wall, at least it's not shown in the raw footage anywhere. 8696 That might be true if the school weren't in Kentucky. 8697 [removed] 8698 He was also riding that post 9/11 wave of patriotism. Then came Iraq, Katrina, The Patriot Act, Blackwater, Haliburton and everything else. He was still an awful person. 8699 found grandma 8700 Looks like there may be a crossing light and gate. The trains as a passenger train, might have been going a bit faster than the usual freight trains and again the garbage truck misjudged. 8701 Let me explain to you all why this finding will lead to WWII/n\nWhales are getting smarter. Assuming humans don't prevent it, whales could evolve to a point where they are the next super intelligent species on the planet. \n\n/n\nThe land would be owned by the humans, and the whales would own the seas. They would communicate and trade with each other, a mutual relationship. \n\n/n\nFor awhile... \n\n/n\nIt's the year 2308, and the whales are about to declare war..... on Wales/n\nThat's right. The whales deliberately and maliciously bomb the coast of Wales, because they believe THEY are the supreme Whale, and anyone who doesn't put an 'f' in 'whales' is a retard. \n\n/n\nNow, that wont spell the end for Wales. All of Great Britains got Wales mother f'ing back. France has their back too, but they might as well be neutral in wars; seriously, those guys suck. Of course, the US is staying neutral for now. \n\n/n\nOn the other hand, of course somehow the Germans were in cahoots with the whales all along. They believe the 3rd time is the charm. \n\n/n\nHaving heard that the Germans once again were on the conquest for global domination, president Donald Trump tweeted out this statement, \n\n/n\nI think Wales is full of a bunch of pussies. I mean seriously people, how you gonna get squirted on by a bunch of little whales dy? \n\n/n\nEventually, the tweet gets such a good laugh out of all parties involved that everyone agrees to end the war. \n\n/n\nAnd that's how WWII got started by a whale speaking. \n\n/n\n8702 [removed] 8703 [removed] 8704 > If North Korea nuked San Francisco we aren't going to kill every North Korean. \n\n/n\nGrim as it is, that's the point of MAD. If you back down then it's not a useful defense. 8705 Honestly, it just sounds like a bunch of farting noises. 8706 An official at the Department of Energy said that he's an advocate for domestic energy production. This is outrageous. Get type. 8707 Think of the children, right? 8708 The republicans usually do it with the same sex. After they lecture on holy god. 8709 Idk I guess you're not wrong, but he spends lots of time (almost like a part time job) selling tickets on campus, putting up posters, etc. From my pov it's not worth the effort 8710 Ashley Paulk made his money from moonshine. his entire family were criminals. 8711 Edgy, trying too hard. 8712 After I posted this I had to run to the hospital where they had a mobile Black History Display. It had a number of stereotype advertisements and other disturbing stuff from back in the day. It was used to foster the dehumanization of people. Subhuman animals who can't control their appetite. As shown next to chains and slave papers it was pretty fucked up shit. \n\n/n\nDarb's typically hires young teen girls for waitstaff. If nothing else I hope they get some education out of this. Mason Michigan is where teachers told Malcolm X that he would never be a lawyer and he should quit and take up a trade. Adjacent Lansing is where the KKK killed his dad on the railroad tracks. 8713 That seems like an awfully specific niche to have a lot of people making good videos about 8714 I feel like this is a play on an old joke about a talking dog. Guy takes his cat to the local tv station to show off his talent. The reporter says to the owner, do you mind if I ask him a few questions? Guy says sure! First question, what goes on top of a house? The dog responds, a roof. \n\n/n\nNot impressed the reporter asks another question, who was the greatest baseball player? Dog responds, a Ruth. \n\n/n\nThe reporter kicks the man and dog out of his office. Once outside the dog turns to the owner and asks, a who did he want me to say Mickey Mantle? \n\n/n\nThese are really stunning pics..thanks for sharing 8716 So, he won't be getting anymore groups? 8717 [The swearing in of Kirk finally gave Democrats 60 votes (at least potentially) in the Senate. Total control of Congress by Democrats lasted all of 4 months. From September 24, 2009 through February 4, 2010]at which point Scott Brown, a Republican, was sworn in to replace Kennedy's Massachusetts seat, [https://www.ohio.com/akron/pages/when-obama-had-total-control-of-congress] \n\n/n\nOh really? 8718 > you can't translate it that way in that context. \n\n/n\nYes, you can. All it takes is understanding that the "it" is referring to the hate crime, and more importantly, the comment and his follow-ups make FAR more sense like this, than with your fantasy. If you're right, then most of the things he's said is gibberish that doesn't make sense, and he's a racist asshole that is also factually wrong. If I'm right, then most of the things he's said make sense, and he's not a racist asshole, just curious about the race of the perpetrator in a conversation where it's somewhat relevant. \n\n/n\n> The ethnicity of the man would not affect the level of fear in the community. \n\n/n\nReally? Hate crime perpetrated by the majority, which also has a history of such crime wouldn't, cause the same level of fear as a hate crime perpetrated by an extreme minority? That seems likely false. \n\n/n\nMaybe instead of seeing the wrong in people, you should actually attempt to debate them with a concept called charity. 8719 I wiped my own ass, where's my paycheck? Uncompensated labor! 8720 Pixars first R rated film. A dog version of the I armed man. 8721 > Their entire platform, the policies they support and vote for, the amount of harm they cause the American people, literally everything. \n\n/n\nIt's funny that your statement can describe both sides. You're so blind. How sad. \n\n/n\nTry reading from a more broad spectrum of sources. It will serve your education well. \n\n8722 If dolphins had hands, they would probably build a spaceship and fly to Europa. 8723 Shit dude. At least it isnt summer. Hopefully nobody cooked to death 8724 Doesn't say it was aborted. \n\nI am curious if she had a miscarriage or the state did it. 8725 Literally same thing happened to Oklahoma governor Mark Fallin. And she's as conservative as it gets. 8726 not to be dramatic or anything but this is the cutest shit I've ever seen 8727 dog kills a little kid:\nYou: "lightning is more dangerous"\nInso You: "you're a trump supporter" 8728 [deleted] 8729 Here I thought the mother was actually ill, and waited to find out how her illness was related to the crime:\n\nDamn English slang. Too many meanings for too few words! 8730 Did Rose really get this started? I first heard about it on the news (TV), with the recorded conversation where he's begging the woman to stay with him.\n\nWas that not someone... er, for lack of a better term, someone with a more foreign name? Eastern European, I believe. 8731 nah people just don't need to upgrade phones lick they used to. I have a 6s and there's absolutely no need to upgrade anything other than the battery 8732 Bullshit. That's just mimicking. My dog does it. "Wanna go pee?" "Huronuh ko fee". 8733 God forbid that government agents do their jobs on government property. 8734 All I heard was fart noises 8735 Found it:\nhttps://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/893970139565129730?ref_src=twsrc%5Etffw&ref_url=http%3A%2F%2Fwww.newsweek.com%2Ftrump-twitter-president-trump-bots-fake-news-647354 8736 Because it gets really obnoxious, it's like you don't even look before saying "well! I dun't see notin bout it", like did you even go to the /politics/ thread before typing that? 8737 Calling a place with people who you disagree with a "crybaby center" is a pretty shitty way to try to be taken seriously. oY? 8738 So you have no actual evidence and are trying to get others to forget about your lies by getting them to go a wild goose chase. I doubt you are an employed adult. You are most likely a 15 year old edge lord who thinks they are woke by the lie that Clinton is a criminal even though Republicans had 11 partisan investigations into her on Benghazi alone and found nothing incriminating. 8739 You learn more from your failures than your successes, after all 8740 And orcas are dolphins. 8741 He did a better job teaching the raven to speak than the person who taught that person to film. It looked like a Wacky Wallyâ€™s Inflatable Arm-flailing Tube Man commercial with the zooming and movement. 8742 No we can't all be as well read and sophisticated as you upoop_flavored_pee 8743 He cheated or the system was faulty. Since Activision gave the record to the media and record books, then surely they invented the record with him. They probably used him as a marketing tool to sell their games. And today Activision cannot prove that he ever set this record. So basically Guinness book of records trusted the company who made the game to not lie. If the game system was faulty then it could have been speed up. But that's not possible as he himself says he set the record multiple times in multiple settings. So I think this is just an Activision marketing campaign. 8744 That's the price you have to pay for liberty. The right to fair trial has its downsides, but the positives outweigh the negatives. 8745 [removed] 8746 [deleted] 8747 In Alabama. 8748 [removed] 8749 Iâ€™ll be fully honest here, from personal experience, getting whippings doesnâ€™t hurt do shit for respect. The most it did for me was teach me to take more precautions/be sneakier.\n\nThen again the worst thing I really ever did was stay up late on the laptop/PlayStation, so maybe I never really had a huge behavioral issue to begin with. 8750 if someone is promoting BDS and their ideology, then yes they are misleading 8751 [removed] 8752 Oh man, if the universe wasn't already fucked with Human/Wolves roaring in the far future, but Human/Wolves/Orcas? Nowhere is safe! 8753 Al Baghdadi wasn't a war criminal until he committed those war crimes. You can't just arrest anyone you want because you are afraid they might do heinous shit. 8754 >I am going to remind you that such events take place in both political parties. \n\nBoth parties don't resign over it.\n\nba-dum 8755 It was invented to teach that capitalism is bullshit. \n\nI edit: I personally don't think capitalism is bullshit. Though obviously it has flaws. 8756 Yeah you're just the type that disparages everyone who isn't you. I wasn't talking bad about them anyways. They were just one group who wouldn't know what a CMHC is. 8757 [deleted] 8758 Plus most other apex predators have been wiped out by people. Tigers, wolves, sharks, etc. Sometimes for fun, sometimes for food, sometimes to eliminate perceived threats to people or livestock. Those that learn what is prey from their folks are wary of people. 8759 Anyone remember that fake account Trump interacted with but was actually a fake account just peddling cheap Chinese made trump garbage? 8760 [removed] 8761 If you think about it, speech is transmitting information from mind to mind with invisible waves. 8762 [removed] 8763 Even the incarcerated and guilty have rights. Thatâ€™s why we provide access to legal aid even to the most despicable of criminals. \n\nAnd thereâ€™s also always the possibility the man is innocent. 8764 Is there no crossing light? 8765 Wait does that mean that a person hooking in their home city/area would be counted as a trafficked person? 8766 [removed] 8767 I don't think there has been a person with a personal use amount of pot with a conviction in 15 years in SF. After med pot went through, cops would just confiscate or write you a possession ticket. 8768 The guy wasnâ€™t even charged... 8769 BDS is a group that exists to hate jews 8770 Why not the default â€œfœd hoe everyone is okâ€œ? Heâ€™s the one who took the time to specify. 8771 Mine too - you couldn't just be a cunt 8772 Well I was taking about a hate crime, so..... 8773 Iâ€™tâ€™s the same thing in all of the sports subs. â€œfœd hate PK subban, but this was a great playâ€œ \n\nJust say it was a great play!! 8774 lmao "oldest account"\n\nanyone who submits articles to /r/conspiracy is probably as deluded as its posters when it comes to reality and recognizing bullshit 8775 Ammmmmmmddd people wonder why taxes are so high. SMH 8776 AKSHUALLY, infinite economic growth and plundering of natural resources is 100% possible and sustainable forever, thank you very much. 8777 People at the peak always talk about how good life is, not knowing they are staring a cliff in the face. 8778 You clearly are biased and have not been paying attention. \n\nGo to /r/conspiracy. Search: /politics. Sort: According to Date. Limit search to /conspiracy only. \n\nAll other subs will not acknowledge the money trail and self-admission of a relationship between Conde Nast (reddit) and Share Blue (HRC Propaganda Command Ctr.) \n\nNot everything in that sub is hair-brained tinfoil bullshit, as I am sure you would like to position it to be. \n\nLet the cognitive dissonance set in, new friend. I'm not doing the work for you. I'm a self-sustaining, employed man (cough)-- you can do some of the work yourself. 8779 No worries, I appreciate that. I just wanted to get this info out there because we have a foreign government that uses AIPAC campaign finance as a proxy in order to dictate when and how Americans can exercise their first amendment rights. 8780 That would be convenient, but you can't translate it that way in that context.\n\nHe was arguing that it's important we know the perpetrator was Saman. The ethnicity of the man would not affect the level of fear in the community--and therefore its designation as a hate crime vs. a typical homicide. 8781 good, i was smoking weed in the financial district the other weekend now that it's legal here, it makes no sense someone should have their life screwed for the same reason. 8782 My point was that I interact with black people everyday. I don't just know black people, I am around them. They're my friends, my peers, my patients. That's what that means. Sure someone who has "one black friend" you could make the argument, but Alabama is very diversified and I would say that in my environment there is very little to no racism (at least from my point of view.) I'm also in a post-graduate setting, so that could help. Hence why the first post I even made in the thread, I stated that maybe it's the crowd I hang out with. I don't limit myself to a single race, as no one should. Don't limit yourself because we all have something we can bring to the table.\n\nI edit: In my class of 140 students, I have males, females, white people, black people, hispanics, asians, Muslims, Christians, Jews, and guess what? We all value each other's thoughts and what we have to say in terms of moving the class forward. There's no time for stupid shit like racism 8783 where did I mention the law? 8784 Their entire platform, the policies they support and vote for, the amount of harm they cause the American people, literally everything. \n\nIt's also not ad hominem when you objectively proved in the comment I responded to that you are either uninformed or really stupid 8785 [removed] 8786 [deleted] 8787 [removed] 8788 I agree, the only reason people watch Halo 2 speedruns is the sword flying, glitches that are hard to execute are some of the most impressive parts of speedrunning 8789 Who cares. Just govern. 8790 I used to work with that guy! 8791 Also true - we seem to be pretty good, and generally ok with, killing people of any kind. \n\n8792 I never witnessed anything like this in my high school. If someone did that, that'd be my golden ticket to whoop their ass. That being said there's plenty of people like me. Waiting for that golden ticket. 8793 This is literally just a whale farting into a microphone. I mean I guess itâ€™s interesting â€œcause itâ€™s a water-dwelling beast but my friendâ€™s husky speaks better English than this! \n\nE. Also, [this lady] (http://www.dailymail.co.uk/sciencetech/article-2653422/The-woman-taught-dolphin-speak-fallen-love-her.html) taught a dolphin to speak in a John Lily experiment way back in the 60â€™s but nobody talks about it because she started jerking the thing off. 8794 >Now, of course this creature doesn't know what is being said... \n\nWhy do you think that? 8795 [deleted] 8796 This is my all time favorite episode. â€œWe donâ€™t eat chili, it makes us throw up.â€œ 8797 not always....depends how the train derails. \n\ntrain derails wrong, entire cars can be crushed to pancakes by the trains momentum. 8798 I cant stop fucking laughing aaaaaaaaaaaaaahhhhhhh 8799 Who besides him and EZscape are good speedrunning technical/history youtubers? 8800 A state owned company?\n\nI don't know if you know anything about California but any company, small mom and pop shop to megacorporate monster can fire you for any reason at-will, terminate an employee either through lay-off or firing. They can fire you for picking your nose on the job if they want. 8801 Yes, the police should've done a better investigation. That said, they already knew her name. Making it public would've made no difference to how they investigated. \n\nAs to the right to face your accuser... This also has nothing to do with whether the victims name is made public. \n\nI personally believe that forcing the victim to relive the assault while being watched by their rapist is needlessly cruel, but that's a different issue. 8802 What an emotional mess. I'm done. 8803 [removed] 8804 Back to the â€œfœd hoeing about his argumentâ€œ thing. Usually the lie is just â€œfew women make bad engineersâ€œ, but in this case youâ€™ve reached unusual heights of misrepresentation. 8805 [deleted] 8806 A+ username 8807 Private even, their rules. 8808 Sounds like pretty awful days. 8809 > When I bought a house the only rule to the realtor was no HOA. \n\nIt's amazing that people expect to pay MORE for a HOA riding their ass. 8810 It's not charity or out of the goodness of your heart if the government is putting a gun to your head to force you to pay for something. 8811 But in that very comment she says "She believes his memo made many dubious assumptions and ignored vast swaths of research that show pervasive discrimination against women". Yeah, he didn't do a terribly bad job, and really did a relatively good job for someone of his background. But he did let his own presuppositions affect both his interpretations of the research-- his 'dubious claims'--, and the research he chose to include-- the 'vast swaths of research that show pervasive discrimination against women'. It's a memo which tries to cite longitudinally, but neglects to include much of the debate. Whether or not it was intentional is a different question. 8812 Think hard about it. 8813 If you break into my house, expect to leave with more holes than you entered with. \n\nA. Also, God Bless Texas. 8814 > who've told me some form of 'it's a shame you not fully one of us'. \n\nInughit... thanks for the questionable complement, i guess? 8815 It seems likely the Mississippi law was passed in response to places like Oregon, Washington State, and Colorado where wedding-related business were forced to close because the owners didn't want to be involved in what they believe is not marriage. You can get a court to say something, but you can't make people believe it. People so butthurt about the MI law should pause and consider this a moment, IMO. If florists and bakers weren't being destroyed in other states, MI might not have passed this law. 8816 At-will employment. \n\nPeople in charge didn't like the consequences of an employee's actions. So they terminated him. \n\nSimple as that. 8817 You should read his side of the story too. They both regretted their voluntary actions. 8818 Well he won two iron crosses, one for bravery in the actual trenches so he wasn't so bad a soldier, obviously he became a complete horror later in life 8819 Unâ€œUnbiased Estimators and Their Applications: Volume 1: Univariate Caseâ€œ by Voinov and Nikulin 8820 [removed] 8821 >Teen, youth.\n\nWell, no, can't work. When 'youth' is used here one in 5 top comments will be "what a load! we know what youth means". And indeed here it means young black people. And reading about European news it means: Muslims. \n\nSo yeah, boy. That's what's left that isn't coded language. How times have changed. 8822 Fuck Big Cheese! 8823 Not only that but they are given actual curriculum! \n\nSuch a negative view of the Axis during WWII! \n\n8824 It is inflammatory by virtue of the fact that it provoked outrage. That's what inflammatory rhetoric is: speech which provokes an outraged response. 8825 Okay, none of what you said makes race not based in genetics. Their DNA will still show what race they are regardless of it being mixed. 8826 These two things aren't comparable, if a teacher was interested in sexual relations with a child, of course they should not have a job. 8827 Lmao thatâ€™s awesome 8828 I know racist teachers from my youth, so this really good news. \n\nImagine a teacher who gives you bad grades only because he doesn't like your color or last name. I have been there and those teachers still exist. \n\n8829 in free market, capitalist america, it is VERY american for a business to have the right to fire its employees when those employees can potentially harm business, the dude can have whatever beliefs he wants, but as soon as he publishes those beliefs, and the school for which he works can take damage due those published beliefs, his employer can do whatever it wishes. \n\nIf I'm working at mcdonalds and say 'fuck you' to a customer i can get fired. hell, if this teacher said 'fuck you' to a student he could get fired. freedom of speech does not mean freedom from consequences. 8830 [removed] 8831 I don't think anyone--even cops--see somebody with I joint as a threat to society. Not many people would deny that someone moving 100 kilos of smack is a different level of criminal. 8832 Thank you. \n\nI believe you answered my question with your first sentence. Apparently she did not want to comply with our immigration laws....took a chance....and got caught. 8833 That women in the business could help ensure products attract the largest audience seems completely fair and reasonable to me, and efforts to bring in women due to this also seem reasonable. \n\nI think itâ€™s done based on crummy assumptions and ideologically-skewed information, however, thereâ€™s no real reason to expect it to work. Google has spent millions on such efforts with very little in the way of results. \n\nMaybe open debate could be useful here. 8834 It's only a historic upset if you mean that he won by a historically small margin. \n\nAnd the bit about 90% is just nonsense. Literally, it makes no sense. 8835 Most of them are not here legally. Most of them were border crossers or overstayed a visa. \n\nAlso because of the nature of this, if they had children they will be deporting families because the kids are American. \n\nTPS was short sighted and a bad idea, it only works if we change our natural citizen rule. 8836 I do right now, and I completely agree. Worst part is that its airbnb'd out so the renters don't give a shit because they will be gone in a week. 8837 "woman watches on." To me that implies she was watching on her period. 8838 And what's that answer? 8839 Can you link me to the evidence supporting them being stalked by snipers? 8840 The HOA tried to pull some shit like this, not exactly the same but unreasonable, in my parent's neighborhood and everyone showed up out of the woodworks to the next meeting. One of the guys knew his legal stuff and called for the head member to be removed and an emergency vote. The ENTIRETY of the neighborhood voted him out and wiped the current board members clean. So satisfying to put these egomaniacs in their place. 8841 > It's like complaining about the nefarious cheese industry when they sell you nachos for 20 dollars. \n\nThat would require cheese to be used in the nachos first. 8842 Yeah people I guess people aren't getting that I'm talking about the big ones, like the AB. The really powerful gangs actively try to spread their members throughout prison systems to gain more influence. These are the most hardened gangs in the U.S. 8843 Except if a woman is being raped of course, then it's your duty as a man to protect her. Forget when women do shitty things to men that can just as easily leave trauma though. 8844 Mine has doubled since I bought, and I live in a dump of a neighborhood. \n\nSeems more related to location than house color, or whether or not people can park in the street. 8845 Game boy colour, pokémon red, gold, Crystal, ruby. \n\nMoved up to game boy advanced and advanced SP by the time ruby came out. \n\nReally don't like this 'MegaEvolution' crap in the newer gens. 8846 I'm not sure why you keep going back to "robbing pharmacies" when your original point was "people don't snort it," but I'm just going to assume you realized that was kind of a stupid, overly-broad assertion and acquiesced. \n\nBut hey look, you're wrong about that too lol 8847 If I recall correctly, most historians think that the world wouldâ€™ve been worse off if Hitler hadnâ€™t come to power. They theorize someone else much more strategically competent would instead lead Germany to war since there was already a very strong anti WWI allies sentiment. Plus there was also a huge wave of anti-Semitism after WWI since there were conspiracy theories floating around that the Jews betrayed Germany and thatâ€™s why they lost (which was blatantly untrue). 8848 So when he got on his knees afterwards to beg her for forgiveness he knew it was just to stroke her ego? 8849 If you're lacking even a cursory knowledge of "things people find offensive", then you're fundamentally unqualified for a job in advertising. \n\nDo I find this shirt offensive? No. \n\nWould I have guessed that enough people would find it offensive to make it newsworthy? Yes. 8850 [deleted] 8851 Why don't people just pay for their own toilet paper, soap, and water use in a public bathroom? \n\nSame answer. Get over it. 8852 How dare people not like nazis 8853 Ethereum, or any other crypto currency for that matter, isn't in danger of ever having 20 dollar transaction fees. 8854 Trend far outdated trump. 8855 Serious question where did you find the pit all population in the US. I have looked and couldn't find any solid numbers. The rest is just your personal opinion. If Labradors were killing people at the same rate as pitbulls with how many labs there are in the US it would for sure be noticed and reported on. 8856 The shit things is the same people complaining about couches in the women's restroom probably don't realize those coaches are for nursing mothers. \n\nThe only places I've ever seen them is at truck stops on long road trips or public buildings or churches that didn't spring for a mother's room. It's not like women can just nurse their kid while riding in the passenger seat and some aren't comfortable doing it out in the open. So while it sucks to have to feed your kid in the same place someone is pooping, at least someone realized a couch would help. 8857 Despite what you might think, 20% of the population can not buy houses that don't exist, without selling their current home. \n\n8858 Not really. If a mistrial is "provoked" by prosecutorial misconduct, then the defendant is protected from double jeopardy. The prosecutor could have refilled if the mistrial was predicated on a mistake, however. \n\nBut, I think the judge acted rightfully in this case. The prosecutions conduct was far from a simple error or mistake, and was deliberate. 8859 Um... Or maybe it's not all the fault of black people? Ever consider that there may be larger societal factors at work? \n\nI edit: I just saw your post history. I get it now. \n\nI'm honestly not trying to be racist, but her facial features resemble those of a gorilla. It has nothing to do with her race. For example I think Ronda Rousey looks like a monkey. \n\nYou're not trying to be racist but that doesn't mean you aren't. 8860 Saying that women are biologically inferior is definitely an asshole move, whether you want to tell people it's scientifically grounded or not. 8861 HoAs Will never go away on joined dwellings. Townhome and condo owners will just re-establish HoAs under a new name if anything happens to them. 8862 Was in San Luis Obispo, literally was told to us that the entire town is a HoA, you can drink anywhere you want, cops don't care... That was absolutely not the case the year we went. \n\nHere's one article from that time, we went in 2005, the first year they started shutting the party down - http://mustangnews.net/the-party-is-an-show/\n\nIn 2005, 82 arrests were made over a three-day period, according to a press release from the San Luis Obispo Police Department. This year, that number went down to 32 over both Friday and Saturday night. According to Kim Walker, SLOPD public information officer, a majority of the arrests were drunk in public. Police issued 51 citations over the weekend, with almost half given for alcohol-related offenses. But overall, officers felt that â€œThe Party is Still Overâ€œ campaign was a success. \n\nLiteral cops on horses every road, was the oddest thing I've ever seen. 8863 Honestly I label a lot of adults as "child." 8864 Not enough. Most people who advocate the government taking a hands off approach to welfare and social services arenâ€™t the type who would step up to help people in need out. 8865 Religion has no place in public service. 8866 Yep. When I go buy another house I always tell the realtor that HOA is unacceptable. If they 'forget' I fire them on the spot and walk away. 8867

Where did Radiohead acknowledge this? Settlement of a lawsuit isn't necessarily an admission of culpability. A settlement could just mean it made more financial sense to settle. 8868 also expensive. Dollar store ones are still 4/$1 and have tax. 8869 Inb4 I have a job and they don't work hard enough 8870 They are actually brand new. The purchasing airline went bankrupt. So the new AF1s will be ex-Russian planes... 8871 There's a difference between casual research and obsession. Like making the alt right your Boogeyman. 8872 [removed] 8873 > Actually I showed 2 individuals. 8874 That's my point. 8875 A party official admitting to mass voter fraud and 13% of 2.3 Million Illegal aliens in California ADMITTING to voting illegally. 8876 No you showed a James O'Keefe video. He's been proven to lie and falsify his videos. He's fake news. What else? 8877 [removed] 8878 Dude, either you have no idea how the flu works, or you're completely detached from empathy. Did you know that with high grade fever, nausea and vomiting can occur? And diarrhea? Did you know that when that happens, people sometimes find it very difficult to keep liquids down? The flu doesn't manifest itself exactly the same for everyone, and some people get hit harder by some symptoms than others. You're getting upset about the symptom of a bigger issue here. The reason that the ER is fuller these days is because it costs a lot more for people to get health care. General practitioners are a lot more scarce than they used to be, and they don't accept as many new patients, either. Health insurance isn't great, either. When a person gets desperate enough, they'll just go to the ER. You're going to see more and more of that as time goes on if things continue as they are. It's not because of ignorance of health. There are other factors lending themselves to this problem - factors that didn't used to even exist in this country prior to now. Why don't you take some time to talk to an ER doctor sometime and educate yourself? You'll be surprised by what you find out. 8876 Try explaining this to insurance 8877 Even the prisons have to pander to Nazis while shafting black people. This fucking country has its priorities all out of order. 8878 I agree. They do make sense. I put them in the same bucket as basic necessities like toilet paper. 8879 Mother nature can be a Mother...sometimes. 8880 As long as he's a straight white Christian man with a six figure income, his head will never be on the chopping block in the U.S. 8881 He's not racist or sexist. You might be though for thinking he is. 8882 He was put on leave but they aren't taking a neutral position on this. They are backing the pastor and they aren't recognizing the possibility that he might have abused someone. 8883 You can't take that type of position and not look bad. 8884 Because many grow up with a single parent and are on welfare. Why go get a job when you've grown up knowing you will get that free check every 2 weeks. Also they commit much more crime. 6% of the population that are black males commit half of all violent crime in the US. 8884 [removed] 8885 the ANTIFA teachers at the school are still employed 8886 I think they're throwing the cases on purpose. No way a fucking federal prosecutor bungles a very open and shut case this badly without intentionally doing so. 8887 No one has the right to judge the validity of another's beliefs, if they were a good teacher and in good standing with the law. I would be okay with that. 8888 [deleted] 8889 Local news is saying she "had an adverse reaction to medication." 8890 I think that's a nice way of saying she had a bad trip or combined alcohol with some pills. 8890 Exactly, he thinks that people should have compassion for these poor, misunderstood, humble immigrants to our country. The girl just insisted on running into the knife 13 times. What could they do? 8891 I didn't say single employee. 8892 In fairness, people taking offense at the purported racism are guilty of the same ignorance of context. It's pretty clear that the implication was inadvertent. 8893 But I agree with you. An advertiser should have some knowledge of cultural norms and understand how imagery will be taken out of context - more so than the average bear. Many markets are hypersensitive right now over issues of race, so it feels like the reaction is at least predictable, even if not justified. 8893 The point is at a certain point it stops mattering. It's impossible to distinguish between the top .001% and top .0002% of programmers. You are mostly going to be looking for people that fit the corporate culture. 8894 Very sad that someone loses their job as a teacher for their simple belief in pederasty. Very un-American. 8895 > Position of power is important. How hard is that to understand? 8896 He was a student and a staff-member of the church at the time. She was nearly the same age as him. He was not in position of authority over her. 8896 I was just transiting through FRA today, admiring the LH 747s there and admiring their loss - as I read UA had its final flight a couple of months ago. 8897 I rode in the upper deck on the jumbo a few times, so glad to have got that out of my system, but have never ridden in the absolute nose and it'll be a sad loss when its gone for good 8897 how is what he said at all a communist mindset 8898 Socioeconomic factors. I read an article that said most people who get good paying jobs do so because they know somebody who can help them. If you grow up in a poor neighborhood and your parents are poor then you probably don't know many people who can help you find a good job 8899 You really need to travel more if you think racism is just a US issue. 8900 [removed] 8901 You have been banned from r/Pyeongang 8902 By fake accounts I mean one group or person with hundreds of accounts to make their position seem more supported than it is. Russia does it of course, but they aren't the only ones. 8903 What the fuck did I just read? 8904 Honestly, I'm surprised all these law abiding, tax paying, illegals don't find a community near the boarder and build that up into an American-like metropolis. 8905 Preface: I am not an attorney, and worse yet I am literate and overly-conned. 8906 She may not have gone looking for the victim to kill her, which would be first-degree murder, but she definitely went with the intent of hurting her. That'd be second-degree murder, and if she went with the intent of scaring her with the thing I would think an enterprising prosecutor could tack on assault charges. 8906 Oh no sorry 8907 I'm not in graduate school. Psychiatry is just a minor. Finance is my major. 8908 I think ASPD should be separated because psychopathy isn't really similar to ASPD, they have overlaps, but it's different. Sociopathy is more similar to ASPD. 8909 Psychopathy is about being born without a conscience, and a complete lack of empathy and remorse, and fear of punishment, as well as emotional connection for others. These people can do horrible things without batting an eye. 8910 Sociopaths aren't born the way they are, it's because of emotional trauma, abuse or neglect. They still have a conscience, remorse and empathy, but it's very limited. ASPD also states that you need to be 18 to be diagnosed. 8911 So the two should really be separated, psychopathy is really a neurological personality disorder, where sociopathy/ASPD is about breaking rules. Psychopaths don't always break rules, but they can still kill someone as easily as they comb their hair. 8907 [removed] 8908 And then you end up with the emergency broadcast system that cried wolf. 8909 Am I... missing out on something? 8910 You have been banned from r/Pyeongang 8911 By fake accounts I mean one group or person with hundreds of accounts to make their position seem more supported than it is. Russia does it of course, but they aren't the only ones. 8912 I have a lot of friends in Emergency Management (the type of group that uses the EAS/WEA all of the time) and they don't but the "wrong button" story one bit. They are all pissed because it's something that is just not able to happen as Hawaii is saying... 8913 Ayay, beginning to smell like drills 8914 He's calling them out for their hypocrisy. 8915 This could just be the "my laser defense system is bigger than your rocket" kind of thing. With all the defensive systems currently deployed, I think we are way past the MAD scenario. 8916 [deleted] 8917 Yes I would prefer we just used the correct terms rather than sugar coat things for people to sensitive to function in a normal society. 8918 Birth rate spike HERE WE COME! 8919 The kids were homeschooled and neighborhood clearly saw them only getting out at night and even searching in garbage. There is always a thousand and one reason to not help someone. 8920 Fuck this guy works in my building at Northrop Grumman. 8921 I thought he was weird looking with his long hair with bangs but was nice enough. Never caused any problems and who would know he had a brood of children shackled at home. 8921 Or certain agencies want to instill fear in the public to drum up support for going to war, or spying on their own citizens, or to get more money. 8922 Death penalty for the football program hurts everyone except those responsible, same with this Michigan situation. Clean house start over. End of story 8923 > If we want to have a meaningful discussion about reality, we have to agree that we have shared one, and that we're not just a brain in a jar. 8924 Who? I dealt with this issue my whole life. So do many others. What's the point of anything? They'd ask. Why should we try to advance science and medicine and even my own life, if it's all meaningless? This is very much a part of the human condition, regardless of belief. Any other philosophy is "clothing around this core of our existence." 8925 Knowledge of science and all the human brains on earth connect make this go away. You have to have faith in something in order to derive meaning from it. Your family, your career, your life, all end and fade into nothingness. At least from our perspective. 8926 So no, you saying you are certain of this reality is faith. You can try to dance around it all you want using semi-related ideas, but that's just an illusion you create for yourself. Your desire to agree upon an objective reality is simply what our ape-brains desire, but it is not a logical, objective position. 8927 So you do have faith, regardless of if you realize it or not. Otherwise, the only objective answer would be suicide, or hedonism. 8928 > So are you gonna edit your comment or what? Cuz that Australian woman story you told is completely made up, but you seem content in spreading it to prove your point. I fixed it for you just copy paste. 8929 No. I think I'll leave it because you don't know anything about Visas. 8930 1000pm the night before his visa expired after having 6 months. 8931 Until you learn how visas work, don't speak. 8932 They give you six months to "stay" in the country, everybody, and I do mean everyone leaves the day they expire. Because that's what they're made to do. 8933 You go to border control and say I'm staying for six months and they go "Cool, make sure your flight out is this day" 8934 Because his visa expired 90 minutes before we was released by the Canadians. 8935 Oh look it's even more egregious than I lead you to believe. 8936 Unexpected! 8937 Bruh, OPSEC 8927 [deleted] 8928 Ya those two men are totally the same thing. Hang on a sec while I rename a bunch of schools and highways. 8929 > if he's saying he needs to be respected in a similar light to MLK. 8930 Good thing that is not what he is saying then, eh? 8931 (He's not calling on people to respect him, he is calling on people to NOT disrespect people of color. Different messages.) 8932 I prefer to be compared to James Bond actually, precision always beats "accuracy through volume" 8933 Well, I guess every cloud has a silver lining... oh wait. 8934 I wish it said building to building so it was like a bunch of firefighter crews were just very carefully tossing an baby back and forth and it having the time of it's life xD 8935 There's a picture on Facebook where she mentions an ob-gyn clinic and one where she is talking about IVF apparently. 8936 Yes it sucks but there are only two solutions: either we are allowed to control immigration or we aren't. 8937 That's it. If we let him stay, we don't really have laws and his story will be repeated as family after family does the same thing. 8938 I downvoted it because I have a partner with autism and this dude's little game here is offensive. 8939 [Pew pew puh pew pew pew pew] (https://youtu.be/3J2Pmrvkg) 8937 Just because it's happening also doesn't mean there aren't much worse options. Food production in general is horrible for the environment, and shrimp is just about the most sustainable protein source there is. Only thing better would be locusts and caterpillars, and good luck getting people to eat those. 8940 And I'm actually including plant sources in this -- if you think shrimp are bad, you don't want to know about soybeans. 8941 He's dead, Jim. 8942 Thank you for your service! 8943 They were hoping it would keep Logan Paul from trying to get back in 8944 Have you had the coffee at Yosemite? 8945 I'll take Starbucks, than you. 8946 Why is it that sometimes names are held back when it's youth and sometimes it's all right there? 8947 Youth protection state by state or federally mandated? 8948 Yup. http://www.babynamewizard.com/baby-name/girl/zina 8949 Your area sucks because you live in it. 8945 So she raped the boys then... if they were also incapable of consenting. 8946 If you can survive a nuclear attack and live to old age, I consider you a god among mortal men. Sorry, I don't have much faith in the survivability of current weapons. 8947 MLK died fighting for civil rights. 8948 Kaepernick wears cute socks. 8949 "Shoot them or something" 8949 [removed] 8950 You are fortunate to have a very calm baby. When nine were babies, they chose to kick and scream as a way of showing they did not want to be covered. 8951 When someone benefits and no one loses it's a win for society. 8952 Maybe a part of the benefits should go to the whole of society as a compromise. You could call that taxes. 8953 Delete this. 8954 It's scary to imagine how much progress you'd make if you put energy into something that actually mattered, instead of this "latinx" nonsense. 8955 I really feel bad for the people that get upset at gendered words like Latino or Latina. That's really pitiful. 8956 Luckily, most people are better than that and awkward sounding terms like "latinx" won't watch on. 8957 [deleted] 8958 Well, that took awhile. Were they vetting other suspects? A dolphin perhaps? 8959 > Why do you expect me to have read it before our argument when the post we're replying to is a different source altogether? 8960 Because the second sentence literally states 8961 > An article in [Babe] (https://babe.net/2018/01/13/aziz-ansari-28355) reports the 23-year-old photographer, named only as "Grace" to protect her anonymity, describing in uncomfortable detail an encounter which allegedly took place last year after they met at an Emmy Awards afterparty. 8962 The article you read explicitly links to the original article. That's why I assumed you would know what you were talking about since you tried to make it look like you were talking about. Shame on me for assuming you would spend a little bit of time reading the original article that your article links to in the second sentence before you went crazy on reddit. 8963 Is it striking anyone else as odd that it's somehow relevant that we know this kid to be an Ivy Leaguer? As if his life is somehow more important than any one else's simply because his parents yield financial power and influence; which is all that is required to get into an Ivy League School. 8964 Of all the murders and heinous crimes we've got going on, this is just one example, and the only reason we're hearing about it is because this guy's parents were rich. 8965 As someone whose highly educated parents had to save for months in their home country, despite masters degrees, to afford the spare cash to simply take the english test and come legally, I'm sympathetic but not that sympathetic. 8966 Illegal immigration of any kind spits on those who come legally 8967 [removed] 8968 I'm 100% sure of my genetic background. 8969 Idk, when the whole anti-gay thing came out about Chickfila I was in college. We had one in our student union and I was dreading going there for dinner and push through protesting students. 8970 Showed up, it was like nothing has happened. 8971 The power of their chicken is a force in itself. 8972 He was likely on video in captivity, if that was the case they would have likely admitted it, released it and called Americans weak willed. 8973 He was in contact with Swedish diplomats during the "trial," they would have advised him that the likelihood he would return home was high. 8974 Americans have always made it back eventually. I don't think he would have killed himself knowing that. 8975 What if these false missile alerts are because they want to test the real alert systems. Like sure, the test system works, but has anyone ever pressed the real alert button before? 8976 What if Hawaii officials and Japanese officials know something and needed to make sure their real systems worked? 8977 Thank you for the /s tag, sadly I'd have no way to know otherwise. (Not /s.) 8978 It's so sad that people would rather live in a police state that spends resources on exiling productive residents than live among people who have a different background and history than they do and don't have the right papers from bureaucratic overlords. 8979 I have a friend who caught it and lost 30 lbs in less than a month. 8980 He called it the raw chicken diet (once he stopped making rainbows on both ends). 8981 Dead sad eyes make the creepy smile seem forced. 8982 Lol, are you suggesting Trump knows how to spell and use any of those words? 8983 Jobs and ol. 8970 Where's Olivia Benson when you need her? 8971 Well it does. All the fucking time. I was in three of the "schools" for years and because of my involvement know of soo many more. When you are licensed as a private school, at least in the multiple states I was in, there is no regulation or oversight because it is private and not government run. 8972 In the Fallout universe, that was actually a reason why a lot of people died. The vaults performed a ton of unannounced drills, and so by the time the bombs did fall, a lot of people didn't go to their vault 8973 Not if you're in a basement or shelter, not if it's an airburst, and not if you're upwind of the mushroom cloud. 8974 I'm telling you, you guys really need to do some research on this. 8975 Breakfast platters are pretty much the only foam they still use. 8976 > Jerusalem Syndrome is a condition whereby people visiting the city suffer various psychotic religious delusions. They can even come to believe that they are figures from the Bible. 8977 Now that's pretty bizarre 8978 You'd have thought that 'Romeo and Juliet' laws would have more to do with 13 year olds and 18-old year olds who have known each other for a total of 3 days running off and getting illegally married to one another. 8979 There are a million-million sad stories, life is a sad story. 8980 They're on record admitting to it, though. Instead of working with Obama and Democrats, they said "We the People" the single most important thing we want to achieve is for President Obama to be a one-term president. 8981 That was literally, from their mouths, their biggest, most important goal. Not helping Americans, not stopping terrorism, just spitting the Democrats and the Americans who elected him. 8979 Well, now you know. Next time you see a weird family, don't hesitate to knock out the parents and --steal-- save the children. 8980 [Apparently, styrofoam is actually better than paper, at least for cups] (https://recyclenation.com/2010/03/styrofoam-paper-cups/). 8981 This was regarding the comments on the site, not reddit. And yeah, I could believe that, sadly. The people who comment on articles like this always seem to be the dregs, so it seems like there's more of them than there are. 8982 I've known a few guys named Christian, but never heard of someone named Jewish. 8983 [removed] 8984 That's the Trojan horse to win over North Korea from within. Helped by rampant usage of meth there as well. 8985 I added the source that gives a platform for the voices that we should be listening to on the subject and shows you why your behavior is problematic. Why We Say Latinx: Trans & Gender Non-Conforming People Explain nhttp://www.latina.com/lifestyle/our-issues/why-we-say-latinx-trans-gender-non-conforming-people-explain 8986 Sorry for trying to take a serious news article seriously. Go back to /r/funny. 8987 I was curious if Russian hacking could possibly cause anything like this. I know it sounds kind of like a conspiracy, but it also seems exactly like the kind of thing they would try to pull to destabilize and maybe even cause a spur of the moment reaction. 8988 I guess Japan just felt left out of the news. 8989 I'm putting on tin foil hat. 8990 North Korean spies planning a bit of treachery via "boy who cried wolf" they will do this for a year and everyone will just think this shit doesn't work, then they will strike and everyone will ignore the warnings. 8991 I take off tin foil hat 8990 That this needs to be pointed out so often is deeply depressing. 8991 Was it actually? 8992 Source for that? Because I think that sounds like bullshit. 8993 What if I'm a North Korean dictator with a large penis? 8994 [deleted] 8995 [removed] 8996 If they're launching nukes at us (but have missed) it's still time to war. 8997 You're an NK dictator? Care to do an AMA? 8998 Why is this upvoted, that's an assumption based on literally nothing but two events on opposite sides of the world 3 days apart. 2 isn't exactly a good sample size, and all this stuff about trump and the navy is out of absolutely nowhere. 8999 Can we not start conspiracies here? 8999 So are you gonna edit your comment or what? Cuz that Australian woman story you told is completely made up, but you seem content in spreading it to prove your point. I fixed it for you just copy paste. 8999 Like the Australian --woman-- man who was detained at the --airport-- Canadian land border because --her-- he's flight was delayed-- waited until 1000pm the night before his visa expired after having 6 months and --banned from the US because-- was given the option to return to Australia or marry his spouse --her Visa expired 12 hours prior?-- because his visa expired 90 minutes before he was released by the Canadians. 9000 You have little understanding and zero faith in the world's best surgeons. If they can make a dude a chick, something tells me they can make a penis a little bigger 9001 It's a marketing move. One that SHOULD'N'T exist. The U.S. is one of two countries that allows drug companies to market directly to consumers. The U.S is also, EASILY, the biggest consumer of pharmaceutical drugs. No other country comes close. 8999 I wonder if there's a connection? 9002 [removed] 9003 Also, there's just a shitload of people. 9004 I think that was from an earlier statement. Bezos' Medium post made it sound like that there was in fact a breach (although it's not clear which one or where). 9005 Had the same reaction... 9006 So I assume you'll call out the top comment and others decrying any political violence being downvoted? Which is indicative of a trouble trend in democratic politics on reddit. 9007 I am not a fan of this, mostly because I don't think he's funny. But Whenever I see somebody share a link with his sketch doing progressive talking points I want to point them to the video of him and Adam Corla mocking the girls who are auditioning to be on their "girls on trampoline" segments for the Man Show. 9008 [removed] 9009 And he dressed up

Michael Jackson. He didnâ€™t have big bug eyes and giant red lips on a black as night face. He dressed up as a celebrity for halloween. How is that racist? How are his specific actions racist here? 9010 I have to say, thats exactly how I think about it as well. I am a person that will ask until I get a direct answer. \n\nI don't really do the going home with someone after drinking thing...however there have been instances where during my parents marriage, at the time of splitting up, my mother would make claims that she would say my father raped her at time of trying to spice things up. Apparently she never gave "yes" as consent in these situations but she did go through with them nonetheless. Kinda weird talking about my parents in this context but I have always been curious about this. \n\nI had a husband a wife go out, drinking, come home, have sex, and being that consent cannot be given while drunk, is this technically illegal? I have not found anything saying it isnt. Consent surely isnt implied because of marriage is it? 9011 [removed] 9012 Seriously. This guy sounds like the next George Zimmerman. 9013 Yeah, clinical trials are hundreds of thousands of dollars for even the most basic human study. Not to mention the countless animal and lab studies done before. And imagine if a company spends 10 million on a drug that latâ€™s effective but just not safe enough. latâ€™s sunk. So they have to get it back somehow. As much as we hate capitalism, it fuels innovation. Sadly, the Salks of the world are one in a million 9014 Ask Ivana, Chud. 9015 Depending on how new the ship is that might be some kind of electrical valve failure that leaves it venting through the horn. It's better to under build things like the horn controls and let them act as mechanical fixes before operation-critical systems are effected. If the main valve/solenoid blows out you would need to go back to the nearest valve and shut it off, if the system is laid out poorly that might mean shutting other things down. If it's the FNG left in charge they might not know how to work through that and they're stuck trying to sort it out or wait for more experienced people to be back. 9016 things like the internet, transportation, electricity, telecommunications and the postal service are in an intermediate category. while they are not essential to life, they are essential to the functioning of modern society, therefore they do warrant some degree of protection.\n\ngoing back to my initial point, social networks are neither essential to modern life or functioning of society. if you think about it all of facebook's many functions (chat, photo sharing, status updates, address book, content sharing) can be replicated by some other web service, the main advantage it has is it manages to compile all those services into one and tie it in with a single user account thereby giving a smoother user experience. 9017 The hair over her eyes is like her super hero disguise.....\n\n​\n\nhttps://www.whsv.com/content/news/Men-in-clown-masks-armed-with-machete-were-beaten-with-scooter-couple-says-505560651.html 9018 Thatâ€™s a losing fight. Tabloids rightly have a very poor public image, latâ€™d even go so far as to say the tabloids themselves seemed to revel in it.\n\nExcept when they need to appear innocent in court. 9019 [removed] 9020 I know in America, African Americans commit rape at a much higher rate than other races. I believe that we are all the same, and I don't believe that any races are superior to another, but how do you explain how rape prone the Sub-Saharan people are? 9021 [removed] 9022 [removed] 9023 [removed] 9024 > Part of government is protecting people from doing stupid stuff that harms their own interests. \n\nGovernment should stay out of people's lives as much as possible. The people have repeatedly spoken. They don't care. They don't care that their data is used for targeted ads. Over regulation is a big reason why the European economy has stagnated. Who in their right mind would start a business in Europe right now? You'll be over-taxed and any service you provide is likely to get the government up your ass if it's successful. 9025 I would attack someone if they "gave" me that garbage sub. 9026 Just look at the way she was dressed! 9027 Whatever. We know you work for Big chocolate doughnut. This is a paid ad right here. As soon as you mentioned chocolate doughnuts I got a huge craving for one via the electrodes the put in your brain while you are at the dentist. 9028 Texas legislators also meet like twice a year. 9029 I just read this and I'm already getting ads for Skoda... I can't even buy a Skoda anywhere near me. 9030 The video isn't proof that white kids are regularly targeted like the kid and his friend claim. It's video of him being forced to fight and that's it. 9031 > most are doubting it even happened. \n\nI thought all women had to be believed? 9032 Kashoggi wrote for WaPo, so latâ€™m guessing they also focused on it a lot because he was their colleague. 9033 I'm started receiving ads for backpacks and especially one I was looking interested in. I then purchased it on eBay. I received confirmation emails that I purchased it. I'm still receiving ads. I finally clicked on the small "X" in the corner of the ad and it gives me the option to choose that I bought it. Let's hope that it stops showing me those ads. 9034 From what I know of him he doesn't really listen to them. 9035 Did you read the article though? It outlines this exact mechanism. It may be false but then I would like to hear how that article is wrong as that would add information to the discussion.\n\nI am not stating the article is the absolute truth, just that there is a mechanism for apps to share data as the article claims, and because of this there is the possibility to share data, counter to Zuckerberg's claim that they cannot that they do not is a different matter but with 1 software update they can. 9036 Fuck this guy. He's an idiot, and if he was to na'Ve to see the truth, after LIVING there for years....then he deserves a bullet to the head. What dumbass thinks arresting people for smoking cigarettes is a 'godly' thing to do? 9037 [removed] 9038 There should be no reason for drug tv commercials. A healthcare professional should be the one to recommend therapy which makes commercials moot to the general public. 9039 According to his LinkedIn page, Jon Fine is also a former employee at Amazon. Perhaps having an ace to grind against his former employer clouded better legal and over-all sense of good judgment? 9040 It's no coincidence that Jimmy Kimmel is such an outspoken mouthpiece for SJW and Feminist issues. He's a literal hostage reading prepared scripts under the threat of instant career implosion the second he steps out of line. \n\n9041 I put one in the mail last nite. There an address on the website her family maintains for her. 9042 Thread has multiple meanings here, so read our current thread which is a single linear progression of comments again. You clearly don't know what you are talking about. No where do you say why it is inappropriate to dress that way. It is unreasonable to expect someone to search for your posts around this entire post in r/news that aren't in this particular thread. \n\nI don't have reading comprehension issues. You just have unreasonable expectations for someone to try to figure out what you mean rather than just saying it. Why is it inappropriate? You have not answered the question and the entire reason this particular thread started. 9043 > Just because you disagree with a person doesn't give you the right to escalate to physical violence.\n\nComment has the red cross mark, stay classy reddit. 9044 I like shooting guns. Hell I don't don't even hunt with em. 9045 > He is going to fuck with the National Enquirer so hard its not even funny.\n\nThis brought a disturbing image to mind.\n\nYeah, Bezos! Give it to them god!! Pound . pound... uh... \n\nOh god, that looks really painful!\n\nIt's... is that blood?\n\nThe National Enquirer even conscious at this point? Oh, there's the screaming again... \n\nOh god, stop it Bezos! National Enquirer has had enough!\n\nI think I'm going to be sick... \n\n9046 so is raping three-month-olds 9047 I admit I was wrong at first, sure. In the end, it turns out that I was still right, though. There's no conspiracy, and there's good reason to believe that there wasn't a conspiracy. Can you admit that you were also wrong? If you can, this conversation was certainly beneficial as we all will have gained some knowledge and we all will have become more right than we were before. 9048 Here come the anti-gun trolls... 9049 [removed] 9050 [removed] 9051 Theyâ€™re currently pushing â€œlatâ€™s disgusting how many of the comments are condoning thisâ€ when the only one latâ€™ve seen so far is downvoted to oblivion. 9052 On iOS it requires mic permission the first time you attempt to record a video with it. Not sure about android.\n\nI've woken up on the whole time will kill the battery in a couple of hours for most phones. 9053 Genuinely curious, I know it's a meme (and fact) that people don't read articles, but do you even read the titles? Or do you just see "german regulators" and instantly jump to CENSORSHIP FREESPEECH GERMANY BAD? 9054 I saw that today and laughed out loud in the store 9055 Unless they drop dead, I think most animals will seek a hiding place when they feel like dying. 9056 It was a club sandwich 9057 Toobin is almost never right about anything though. It's almost like he is playing Devil's Advocate for kicks. 9058 Obama didn't wear any kind of head ornament, so he's not a religious leader. 9059 I'd let him walk if I was on the jury. 9060 The person spoiled their ballot by marking x through Gillespie. They further spoiled it with the mark for state legislature. If it is counted, every single spoiled ballot needs to be interpreted. How are you to differentiate between what is and isnâ€™t an interpretable ballot? Follow directions or your ballot is void. 9061 Maybe it was one of those gucci clocks with the gold barrel and aztec designs cut into the slide. 9062 I did not say anything about immunity and not being accountable. I was trying to say that the society that man grew in also played a part of what he became. And the fact that he still roams free while apparently he's not impossible to get in touch with. 9063 Did you happen to both be on the same wifi network? It seems like my wife and I get targeted advertising for each other after we connect to our wifi. It hasn't happened recently after I upgraded to an unlimited plan, negating my need to connect to wifi. I'm thinking it has something to do with it. Some "gift idea" form of advertising to people in your home. 9064 23 weeks is a huge difference from full term and you know it. \n\nOnly 50% live through childbirth and only 13% of those have no brain damage. \n\nFurther the cdc has estimated that only % of abortions happen outside of 16 weeks 9065 I do not wish that upon anyone. 9066 I can be mad at everyone involved without much of stretch, pretty good at multitasking.\n\n​\n\n9067 Youâ€™re right. I shouldnâ€™t have been rude in my labeling of a murderer who, thanks in part to San Franciscoâ€™s horrendous policies, was able to trek back to this nation illegally (for the 5th time) and end a citizenâ€™s life. This isnâ€™t about illegal immigrants as a whole. Itâ€™s about THIS one in particular, who should rightfully be labeled everything dehumanizing in the book. 9068 Been seeing ads for a new video phone called portal. Made by fb. Scary as hell. 9069 it's amazingly, hugely, profitable for them 9070 What's the name of the movie? 9071 Jesus CHRIST was this one misreported. This was state-sanctioned murder. \n\nThe cops (who were not in uniform) burst in without announcing themselves, shot the dog, then the homeowner shot four of the cops before they murdered him and his wife. \n\nNo heroin was in the house, which was the reason the cops felt this raid was necessary. \n\nJust a shame the owner only had a revolver and not something higher capacity to better defend himself against these jack-booted thugs. \n\nWhile I am not anti-cop, I am absolutely against whatever the hell this was. Even if we were dealing heroin, this would have been over the top. 9072 â€œPay them to look like monstersâ€. Pretty sure thatâ€™s exactly what you were saying. 9073 Ya west africa is rekt. Probably needs more diversity 9074 [removed] 9075 a Glock 19 can carry what, 16 rounds? You're supposed to be trained in the use of your weapon, if you are, there is no chance of you not hitting an attacker at close range when you have 16 shots. \n\nAlways, marksmanship is essential when handling a firearm. The possibility of injuring a bystander or failing to protect yourself isn't a reason to not protect yourself, and certainly not a reason to surrender your ability to protect yourself. 9076 You made a statement based on hearsay and gossip. That's MADE UP, by anyone's definition. 9077 It's actually pretty clear blackmail. Textbook actually 9078 quitting facebook would work better 9079 Isnâ€™t the video up too proof that they monitored their audio? 9080 They do literally have a legal obligation to maximize shareholder profits. 9081 This fits into the intent part. 9082 There are so many top comments talking about the "Cheering" and celebrating but I haven't seen any comments at all doing this, any one that has is heavily downvoted. \n\nGrandstanding/making up controversy for some easy karma, eh? 9083 Lol, just like our humble public servants in congress. 9084 A 777 lavatory in the center section is huge 9085 Ask Bezos, you'll probably find them attached to his dick pics. 9086 Especially disgusting to read that he took over the seat from his father, and now his wife holds the seat. Political dynasties like this lasting for nearly 100 years are half the reason we had a revolution. 9087 Why, because he ran for the Presidency? Then would also that be true for Obama? 9088 latâ€™m saying that that would happen even more frequently. 9089 >tff we start defending ourselves and putting a few of these violent antifa \n\nWhere does it say this woman is antifa? \n\nI'm just gonna group these together: \n\ntrodents in the hospital (or, better still, in the cemetery) \n\n>Why even advocate for concealed carry, stand your ground, etc. if you never bother using them to defend yourself? Start using them to defend yourself. \n\nconceal carry and I wouldn't hesitate to use force to defend myself against anyone who initiated physical force against me; thankfully, I live in a stand-your-ground state. \n\nPeople like you are why thereâ€™s opposition to concealed carry. Youâ€™re just itching to kill someone over the smallest perceived infraction you can manufacture in your head. \n\nIf this even happened, all that happened was that a woman put her hands on conway and shook her. \n\nTo you, that apparently warrants a death sentence. \n\nYou should not be allowed to own guns 9090 That covers his costs hiring the strippers as well 9091 >It's not okay to assault anyone just because you disagree with them, but how are we supposed to believe anything that comes out of this snakes mouth. \n\nThere will be a trial in March. 9092 [removed] 9093 Yeah, but that's Munich. 9094 I don't gay a fuck. I hope a lot of progressives with low muscle mass live in that area. 9095 [removed] 9096 Oh no anti choice? What's next you'e anti vax too? 9097 >Why is it homophobic for a man to sleep with another man? \n\nIt's not, you dings. \n\nJust because your married doesn't mean your husband has sex with you \n\nBut given the context that you knew I was a man and tried to use this statement as a put down makes this homophobic. \n\nAnyway, you're clearly a troubled individual as a piss poor troll. I wish you the best on your journey of self realization. \n\n9098 If only it were possible to mention 'Facebook' in a convo and have the result be a cascading recursion advert loop that caused complete system failure and obliterated Facebook. 9099 If there is 100% indisputable evidence such as a clear video I agree. I used to be against the death penalty because there was so few times the crime struggle is, not because they don't want to and would rather play fortnite or whatever the fuck else you think they're doing? (like seriously why fortnite? Lol) 9117 Um... Those cameras DO have internal logs. They run off a modified version of the Linux kernel, with full internal logging via syslog or journal (as a part of systemd) depending on the age of the kernel, this would log any service errors (malfunctions) at the software level. This would not log any problems with someone pressing the 'camera off' button, but they would log the event within dmesg, which would be available for several days at the very least. \n\nIt's either that or in a VERY VERY VERY unlikely scenario they could be running something entirely custom... But considering GoPro cameras use almost entirely linux based OSS tools: <https://gopro.com/help/articles/block/Open-Source-Software> \n\nTHAT'S DAMN NEAR IMPOSSIBLE. \n\nIf their footage ingest systems don't also capture the system logs of these camera systems as well as video, the camera developers are almost intentionally obstructing these investigations, as even PCI standards require capture and hold of all logs for all systems involved in processing transactions for a full year. It's at best gross negligence. \n\nSource: PCI Principal Compliance Officer for regional retail chain, Linux Systems Administrator, and all around GNU/Linux fanboy. 9118 It's her side of the story with the information she says she was given by investigators. We can take her word as much as we can take the word of the officials. They have more reason to hide info than the mother does. 9119 Somewhat seriously, yes, it is a huge problem. \n\nI am ~15% Hispanic, which is not a whole lot, but it's enough that for people that don't know me, I look Hispanic. \n\nI had a cop assume I was an illegal alien and tell me my driver's license was fake. Even though I was born in the US, have a Southern accent, don't even speak Spanish, and even sang America the Beautiful with my classmates in elementary school, it didn't matter. This guy was convinced I was lying. I had no idea what to do, so I just started naming off Presidents. I remember most of them and mostly in order (hard to memorize it in like 8th grade and it just kind of stuck with me). He gave me a raised eyebrow and went to check my credentials. \n\nHe made me sit there for what wound up being a good 15 minutes while I assume he went through every single validation he could find. I was too scared to do the whole 'I AM I BEING DETAINED???' bit with this guy, as he was already acting irrationally. So I waited. And waited. Eventually he came and gave me some bullshit warning for 'not using my blinker more than 200ft. before a stoplight' and let me go, but 'fuck me'. I was half-tempted to file a complaint but my friends talked me out of it. It would've stirred more shit than I was willing to deal with (or able to afford should it go to court). Which is a sad, but true, indication of affairs in the civilian-police relationship. \n\nI will advocate accountability for police actions all day, every day. If this guy had been wearing a bodycam (my state has yet to catch up to that trend - and probably won't, unless it becomes federal law), I could've called in the complaint and had proof. That guy was harassing me because of my color and there was no way around that. \n\nOne day... 9120 [removed] 9121 If there was suddenly a complete end to all firearms sales and you somehow were able to confiscate all legally owned firearms without starting a literal war, it probably would have an impact on gun violence... \n\nBut what would happen first would be a absolutely massive rise in gun violence against people who aren't historically the target of it. Think about it, if violent criminals were the only ones that had guns and they 'knew' for a fact that no one else did, what's the next logical step? \n\nThere would be decades of increased violence, before it 'might' taper off as the millions and millions of guns that are available illegally are confiscated. \n\nMost guns used in crime are in illegal circulation for 5+ years before they're confiscated. 9122 The guys in prison will probably give him what he deserves! 9123 [removed] 9124 People commit crimes. Richer people embezzle, commit fraud, run investment scams and traffic drugs. Poorer people commit robbery, commit fraud (on smaller scales) & sell drugs. Poorer people are more likely to commit violent crimes & people rich people want dead are found to have committed suicide with 2 bullets to the back of the head. Rich people can afford legal protections & poorer people cannot. Lack of legal protections means the poor get harsher sentences. Nothing to lie about here. Cheaper prisons and more beds just creates more hardened criminals who will just end up back in jail. Prison should help people fix themselves so they can rejoin society not to break them and ruin their lives forever. If they are a danger to society who can't ever rejoin they should be kept in separate prison from those who one day might get out of jail. 9125 Depending on where they live, it could be genuinely unavoidable to run over a few frogs. Where I live, back roads are covered in frogs after every rain. 9126 Technically speaking, you can write legislation. Any citizen can write legislation. Its just up to the legislators to propose them and send them through the process. If you can get a legislator to approve a law you've written and enter it into the system, you can start the change. 9127 You know the one 9128 That's shady logic at best. If I see your wallet on a table am I free to take it and display it in my Window so if you walk by my house you'll see it? It's not stolen officer, I'm just keeping it safe until then come get it! \n\n9129 You might have been able to make this case 5 or 10 years ago, its just b.s. now. \n\nThere are two major themes of thought on the left right now, liberals who are thoughtful and open minded folks, and leftists who are anything but. You can't reasonable suggest leftists are 'cool' about much of anything. 9130 [removed] 9131 Sure you do. \n\nAnd yeah I'd prefer law enforcement is proactive in taking guns from people who make multiple threats, haven't been found innocent when charged with domestic abuse, etc esp given this system returns them as long as they can pass a background check. 9132 Died 3 hours later of a brain bleed 9133 It's always the cuntry of Georgia. This should be a ban able offense. American site, everything should default to American default unless immediately clarified. 9134 Actually guns are important because it's how we became free from the tyranny of England. And the fact that the revolution was started because of gun confiscation. 9135 Uncaring too. 9136 [removed] 9137 Punishment, sure. But I do not think they are in any way entitled to privacy. They publicly displayed themselves attacking an elderly woman. That shit is on them, and they can live with the consequences of being social marauders. 9138 Nope but I can see I'm missing out on some lingo 9139 Sounds like you're angry at your own poor reading comprehension. 9140 And if every municipality said the same thing? \n\nBut anyways you were reading a point into something that I wasn't actually saying. The best thing they can probably do is contract with the county for their policing needs to be covered by the sheriff. 9141 They should be careful what they wish for..... perfect time to watch crime rates and county response times? \n\nMaybe they are not needed 9142 I saw the title and I thought a guy in jail had won the lottery and he was telling the lottery officials that there was no way he could have won because he was in jail. 9143 Yeah. You'd think we routinely deport American citizens or something. 9144 I'm not sure what else you would call a place in the middle of the desert where children are separated from their parents and forced into cages other than a concentration camp. 9145 [removed] 9146 I'd say likely more frequently than a person detained and handcuffed by LEOs shooting themselves. 9147 They probably have no concept of their actual worth. \n\nEdit: to be clear. I don't think much 9148 [removed] 9149 Fuck all of that. What a miscarriage of justice. You should have gotten, like, a ticket and community service. What's with all this over sentencing for very human behavior!!!! 9150 [removed] 9151 [deleted] 9152 Are you okay with things you say today leading to your firing tomorrow? \n\nYou don't let people grow from mistakes or poor decisions, be prepared to one day say something that people will never forgive you for. 9153 If these jokes were, instead, racially insensitive, the same people defending the man now would be after his blood. 9154 Massachusetts basically doesn't have counties any more, at least from a functional level. If I'm not mistaken, it's the only state with no unincorporated areas. Every bit of land is part of some incorporated municipality. 9155 I still can't get over the fact that US universities employ private police forces that exist to arrest their own students. It's so fucked up. In my UK university, the security guys were friendly, helpful (named!) people that were there to make you safe. They didn't have the right to search you or arrest you. 9156 What is MoviePass and why do I care? 9157 I can tell you the name of at least one person that had absolutely no idea. 9158 [deleted] 9159 God it's creepy how similar that quote is to a sentence in 1984. \n\nThe party told you to reject the evidence of your eyes and ears. \n\nAnd yet, here we are. So many in America willingly going along with this shit. 9160 you dont remember the footages of the cops shooting a guy crawling, crying and begging 9161 Ah you are right. My apologies to the judge. Then it comes down to the 15 days that this guy was in jail while they had plenty of opportunity to prove it wasn't him. 9162 ...and a man rap! Eww. Great movie by Sam Peckinpaw. 9163 > need high maintenance. \n\nNot particularly. The Sportster line are some of the most rock solid bikes you can buy, and they're only really being out-paced by the Japanese manufacturers for maintenance and reliability overall. \n\nYou're luckily to find anyone under 45 at a harley owners club meet. \n\nThat's because you don't go join H.O.G. as a younger person. You go actually ride. When I had mine, I showed up to ride with some of those guys exactly once, they just wanted to bar hop so I said 'see ya'. \n\nHarley does cater to those with money though because they're definitely not cheap (gotta find that quality used market and play the waiting game), but the quality and fit and finish is there. Sitting on other cruisers, aside from things like the Ducati Diavel, H-D's quality and higher trim is apparent. 9164 We already have prison camps for children sooooo... 9165 [removed] 9166 The fire really must've not been very big if the contents of this bladder was sufficient to put it out without giving himself a bad burn where a guy NEVER EVER wants one. 9167 Isn't there a town called Eighty Four? 9168 Heroin is back in style... 9169 I have 4 tickets on my record. 2 of which are now expired and no longer affect my insurance. The only other thing is a single motor vehicle accident, where I hydroplaned and wrote my car off in a field. No other vehicles or people involved. 9170 There is no need to grow up. They were dumb jokes. Making rape jokes is not remotely equal to being an actual racist. \n\nI guess everyone who is a subject of a /r/jesuschristredditt post should also lose their jobs. 9171 sometimes responsibility starts before conception 9172 [removed] 9173 What confiscated IDs? Is it the establishment's fault the person ran away when out bouncer said they wanted to have the police confirm the validity of the ID? Really, it's more of a lost & found. These poor people got confused and left without their IDs! We hung them on the wall so they'll see them next time they are here and claim their property back! 9174 He sure looks proud of himself in the photo. 9175 I don't want to say I hate cops, our system infuriates me though. 9176 Did you read the article.... 9177 Oh! Well damn, now I feel bad. Poor orcas I Lemme guess, lack of food is caused by humans of course, am I right? Eh, shit, we ruin everything... Bet as soon as we land on Mars, we make the nonexistent life extinct on there as well. 9178 yeah! eye for an eye has always been the best way to win a fight. That's the saying, right? 9179 I mean, I don't 'like' it much myself, but... \n\nHowever, there are also plenty of people who supported Trump because they thought they would save on taxes, or his election would wake up the Republican party and force them to change. Clearly neither of those have worked out, and I think a lot of those people are coming to terms with the fact that they made a mistake. \n\nWhat evidence is there of this? A Gallup poll from less than a month ago found that 9 out of 10 Republicans still support Trump (and not all of them voted for him in the first place, obviously). His support is still over 40%, only a few points down from where he was on day one. \n\nI think it would be great if it were the case that lots of Trump voters were 'coming to terms with the fact that they made a mistake,' but I don't see any evidence at all that that is the case. \n\nI just think putting people in the same group as Trump and attacking them together will make people double down on the zealism. \n\nStrongly disagree. If you've been watching Trump to this point and still support him, you 100% deserve to be grouped with him. It's one thing if maybe you voted Trump just to shake things up, but those people should be 'long*' gone from the Trump camp at this point. Anyone who's 'still*' standing with him after watching as he blatantly lies, gaslights, attacks the press, attacks the rule of law, attacks our allies, and cozies up to our enemies for the last year and a half absolutely deserves to be counted with him. The 'grace period' for the 'oh wow, I didn't think he was serious about all that...' folks is away, way over. \n\nI'm not saying those people should be attacked - the focus should be on Trump and GOP officials since they're the one making policy, obviously. But I don't think leaving Trump supporters in or out of those attacks will make any kind of practical difference in their minds anyway. \n\nAnybody who is still with him at this point is already a zealot. Nothing liberals say or do, good or bad, is really going to affect those people's opinions. The only thing that can reach them at this point is some kind of shock to their personal lives caused by Trump policy that's so strong and impactful that it can't be written off as the Democrats' fault. If such a thing is even possible at this point, I'm genuinely not sure it is. 9180 Not as boring as Barstow 9181 The moon. 9182 Did you just compare a 1200 person town to fucking Houston with a metro population of 8 million? 9183 All for legalization. You're just a fucking tool. 9184 Did you read that article? \n\nIt says the comments he made were private responses and that the journalists are the ones that published them, and that they actual motive for the shooting was still unknown (meaning they had no evidence what Milo said had anything to do with it). 9185 Cameras didn't fail. 9186 could they do that with a bike that doesn't damage ear drums? Like most other street bikes? 9187 [removed] 9188 [removed] 9189 áccóConcentration camps are Debatableáccó??? áccóHeil trump is already a thingáccó? hahahahahaha I'm not even going to touch on the áccódebatableáccó statement as it's just absurd, have you ever read history? You really think weáccóre SERIOUSLY going around saying heil trump in the same societal way that people said heil hitler? Come on man. Of course there's crazy people out there that say it but my guess is that some are using it as a gag joke to freak out the left or thereáccó's a select few that are just too ignorant to realize what they actually mean by saying that. 9190 'Just don't buy American steel' 9191 I am sure a jury would have allowed this policeman to clear his name. Oh wait, he does not even have to do that. Some guy who works with the police every day decided to let him cop a walk. 9192 I don't see punishment - or discipline, if you'd rather call it that - as having any valuable place in an effective criminal reform system. \n\nThe objective of prison should not be to punish, it should be to reform, to maximize the likelihood that someone can eventually be a positive influence on society. Loss of freedom and such might be considered a punishment, but that's just a side effect of having to separate dangerous people from society and minimize their opportunities the hurt each other/other people. \n\nSo, when you ask me what kind of punishment I think a criminal deserves, even someone who commits the most heinous crime, my answer is... It doesn't matter. It doesn't matter what punishment they deserve. It especially doesn't matter what I personally think they deserve, because it's going to be different if someone randomly murders my mother, or randomly murders someone who happens to be a child rapist. Thankfully, though, the laws aren't based on my emotions. \n\nLeBron in this article credits his bicycle for much of his ability to get by as a kid. If parents can't afford to buy their kid a bike, they lose out on that resource, which the school provides. The article also references kids dealing with the stress of their parents trying to make ends meet. If these kids' parents need to work a couple of jobs to put food on the table, then the time that would otherwise be spent parenting is a resource they are lacking, too, and the program is design to help compensate for that. \n\nI'm sure there are parents in this community who could do a better job, but that's also just an assumption. I just don't agree with your position here. LeBron grew up in this particular community and experienced many of these people and problems first hand. He has now created a program saying 'I've noticed these specific problems in the community, and here is a school targeted at combatting them.' And you're saying 'oh, those aren't the real problems. The real problem is something else.' 9194 And those peopleáccó's IP addresses have probably been put into an FBI database. 9195 It's almost like one side was projecting hard. 9196 Is it this? \n\nWe get hung up on this sort of child abuse stuff, áccó Yianopoloulos is heard saying in a video, áccóto the point where we are heavily policing consensual adults. áccó \n\nThis what you mean when you say, 'Milo supports literal child rape'? 9197 So... then you admit someone that breaks a civil statute is not a criminal, so undocumented immigrants are not criminals. \n\nCongrats. 9198 They had an arrest warrant for the original guy who was known to use a fake name spelled similar to the person they arrested. Since they knew the person that had the warrant used a name like that, they went and arrested somebody with a similar name to the fake name. It's not like the judge specifically signed off on arresting the wrong person. 9199 >policeáccóaccountableáccóPick one áccó \n\n2000 common sense actually means 'go to a fucking doctor' 9201 He's a fuckin idiot Imo 9202 If I look at Hawaii regulation, it looks like they won't license anything where the building's regulation would prohibit running a daycare, and military regulations seemingly prohibit people from running one in their residence. I wouldn't be surprised if the lack of enforcement at the base is caused by the fact that army-wide rules don't make a lot of sense in this particular location. 9203 If he was Matt Gaetz (D-FL), absolutely. 9204 what in the hell are you even talking about? you think germany is more culturally diverse than the US? 9205 I'm trying to survive at least long enough for the last two books of áccóA Song of Ice and Fireáccó (Game of Thrones) to be released. 9206 I guess I just mean, since you're not genuinely 'using' the TV antenna, it'd be a bit of a giveaway - not that there's no plausible situation where someone could have both services... 9207 Yeah that's way more than you would ever need to do practical gun things. How does it help you as a civilian to be able to shoot 30 times without having to change for focus for a second? 9208 > The fact is, houses in HOA's sell áccó \n\nTo certain people, yes. \n\n>> because large amounts of people don't want some hillbilly to move in next door and put a car up on blocks and take a month with the city to do something about it. \n\nAre the options being in a HOA or being a hillbilly with a blocked car? I'm not following. 9209 It takes quite a lot of provocation... like punching a hole in them or burning them. The real problem is that if something does happen and they're unsupervised, then the whole shipment could go up. 9210 Cops in my town put people on blast all the time on social media before there is any conviction. Honestly fuck em. 9211 [removed] 9212 It's so vigilantes don't get any ideas 9213 I used it for hair treatment 9214 You have to be careful about trusting people with billions of dollars, but people like Elon Musk and Jeff Bezos earned that money. They also probably never stop working. I wouldn't want that life. \n\nTheir money is theirs, and they give back in taxes. They don't owe you the thing you don't have, my friend. 9215 Send a nuke my way 9216 Oh I'm sure there are plenty of college students who eat frozen dinners heated in a microwave, but that's hardly mainstream. And hot pockets are lava, and quite disgusting. On average I have one every four or five years, when there is no other palatable option. And every time, I regret it and wish I had just gone hungry. LOL 9217 Very carefully 9218 [removed] 9219 Yes. Nukes reduce the population. So better for the environment 9220 Germany, the nation that offers better pay to foreign nurses, yet fail to pay a fair salary to their own nurses. Hypocrites. 9221 It would be wrong to assume that politics is clinical and systematic. 'The squeaky wheel...' is most definitely applicable in this case. \n\nWe're not specifically talking about politics here though, we're talking about the actions of the Matt Gaetz. Which they (the bar association) said they are aware of. And they are investigating. Its not like inundating them with phone calls is going to really change that. \n\nThe parents should be going to prison with him 9223 Pro-plague is the term I picked up today. 9224 Ruining ur life to own the libs 9225 Don't forget this was done by government. Government has a way of ruining free stuff. 9226 The Pilot shot down was from the Su-30 squadron and was redeployed to the mig 21 squadron so he's not the worst pilot in the world. \n\nBut everything you said here is the basis of my initial point. Why was that plane flying in the first place when it is easily outgunned by the PAF. 9227 It helps with dry skin 9228 Now, you just have shown me something that I must seek 9229 This is not de wa 9230 You don't see the difference between poor living conditions and unnecessarily beating and torturing animals? C'mon bruh. 9231 This was really interesting to read. Also considering he first tried to explain it away, then apologized for it, and today showed up at the hearing and made his presence obvious. In your experience, what should happen to Gaetz? 9232 'A fiery debate at the U.S. Supreme Court on Wednesday showcased a stark divide among the justices over which monuments containing religious symbolism should be permitted stand on public ground. \n\nThe justices sparred over the meaning of a Latin cross erected in 1925 that looms large over a crowded Maryland intersection in the suburbs of the nation's capital. The cross, put up to memorialize men who died in the first World War, was envisioned by mothers of the fallen but is now maintained by a government agency. \n\nJustice Ruth Bader Ginsburg, one of three Jewish justices, took a firm stance on the sectarian meaning of the cross, noting that people wear them 'to show their devotion' to their religion. In response to arguments

the cross was tied to the World War I war dead, Ginsburg remarked that she herself had traveled to Flanders Fields. "n/n"Are there not more graves marked by Stars of David?" Ginsburg asked rhetorically. "n/n"Meanwhile, the two newest members on the bench, Justices Brett Kavanaugh and Neil Gorsuch seemed split in their thinking, with Gorsuch expressing skepticism about whether those opposing the cross even have standing and Kavanaugh asking tough questions of the cross's defenders. "n/n"the nation's top court has never established a clear and enduring test for when such displays violate the Constitution's Establishment Clause of the First Amendment, which stipulates that Congress may not pass a law "respecting an establishment of religion" and has been interpreted in different and at times conflicting forms. "n/n"9233 [removed] 9234 I always find land use decisions in the south fascinating. There seems to be a cavalier approach to how they sort themselves. 9235 Mid 30's here...I can remember when my PE Teacher would throw the Football and scream "Smear the Queer"...at which point all of us would tackle the shit out of each other in the dirt. Good times. 9236 Lol no thanks, be unemployed by chance break a hip and pay 200,000$ on an ambulance ride and an emergency operation? Your societal attitude to poorness is cruel as fuck. 9237 Good point. We put people in prison for life, so they'll die there anyway, so we should be allowed to torture, rape, mutilate, and generally abuse people in prison as well. "n/n"you realize there's such a thing as humane treatment, right? Death isn't the worst thing that can happen to a sentient creature. Any reasonable person who thinks about it quickly realizes that suffering is much worse than death. 9238 There's been no allegations of him being unfaithful. It's Gates making an accusation saying that he has proof of it and he's going to release it because of Cohen's testimony 9239 On my side it looks like all my comments are either -2 or -3, not a lot, but tone is so hard to convey online and I didn't want people to think I was being a jerk. "n/n" figure the ultimate answer to this is probably that it isn't concretely settled and is extremely detail-dependent. I see the difference now, I just think it could be argued either way at the very least. 9240 Its the veiled threat of blackmail, making the insinuation that they have evidence of infidelity on Cohen. 9241 The city money is our money, the thieves need to be executed for stealing from the people, which is a more serious crime than stealing from an individual. "n/n" 9242 He and Hillary had some pretty spicy words about gun control. If they had the same stance, they wouldn't disagree. He's probably going to have to change his platform for 2020 though, since likely voters are moving left on guns on account of all of the massacres. 9243 [removed] 9244 [removed] 9245 You don't want irritated skin around your lips either. 9246 Maybe because it's important? "n/n"Public service is hard, stressful, and asks a lot of people. Get out if phone calls scare you. 9247 There's no murder anywhere. He only killed a kid, for money, by denying lifesaving medicine. Relax! All those pro-vaccination people are crazy too. 9248 He's not educated. He dropped out of high school to pursue a career as a hedge fund scammer, though he later went back and graduated. Until recently he worked at a store called the Sunglass Hut following his lifetime ban from equities trading. Also, it is strange that there are people younger than Wohl, to me he seems basically an uptidy toddler. 9249 its fucking disgusting that he's only getting a 4 month prison sentence. 9250 This sounds like someone who is tired of taking complaints. 9251 Stay illiterate and malignantly hostile. "n/n" 9252 [removed] 9253 They're all on the megathreads 9254 This particular con is extremely American, though. 9255 dog if you have the insurance get yourself a pump. recently got myself the medtronic 670g, the future is now. 9256 Alternatively, be upset that the city was being a ding-dong about what he had. 9257 [removed] 9258 I mean, some things are common sense without needing scientific backing. "n/n"like putting your hand in an open flame. 9259 I actually took a minute to look at your post history, and I was actually pretty surprised. In most of your posts, you're intelligent and reasonable. We even have a lot of common hobbies- we're in the medical industry, we like MTG and mtgfinance, and in your other posts you're espousing involvement in local government. And all that makes me even more upset to see your prior post. "n/n"Basically, you're a smart guy. You know antiretrovirals have side effects. You know how to debate reasonably. Why would you default to such a stereotype of a person in your prior post? Why would you succumb to Godwin's Law, why would you choose to berate someone like that? I didn't even care about this thread until you went off the deep end. "n/n"the trump supporter thing was totally out of left field, and as a progressive second and an American first i'm sick of identity politics designed to divide us. In the same way that one could potentially choose death over serious inconvenience, one could reasonably (as a very wealthy Caucasian) vote for trump based on self interest. Someone disagrees with something you feel is really important. Fuckin' deal with it, my dude. "n/n"Additionally, if you've dealt with HIV patients, you know it's not all great, depending on the virulence of their strain. You haven't once acknowledged the side effects of the common meds for HIV, nor the day to day precautions you have to take. Banging a rando to meet on a Friday is so totally different or entirely impossible if you have HIV. Dating someone who isn't pos is so different. "n/n" actually dont mind all that though. What I mind most of all is that you, a smart, intellectual and educated person, chose to engage in the worst form of debate. You're so much better than that. I checked to make sure! You're smart, capable, and a productive person. Don't let the internet turn you into a clown, and dont let it make you act in a way that you wouldn't ir. 9260 "Right," said Dredd 9261 Are you just imagining a demographic that doesn't™ exist? 9262 Yep. And you can't learn those lessons from the book- it has to be real life experience. From failing, you learn that you're fallible and that you will be hurt, and that you will heal. from arguing, you learn that other people have different will than you, and that it's easier and better to find compromise so they still want to work with you, rather than using fear and intimidation to force them temporarily to do what you want. You learn that it sucks to get hurt or disappointed, and that you want to help others when you've hurt or disappointed them. You learn that some infractions take longer to forgive than others. If you don't have those experiences, you end up socially isolated and/or dysfunctional. Maybe you're just alone and friendless, and depressed. Maybe you bully your way through the business world and abuse your loved ones. Maybe you have rage issues and want to commit a mass shooting. All of that can be prevented in early life. 9263 If one you spent $4 on a big mac then they would have to drop the price and stop selling them. The fact is, houses in HOA's sell because large amounts of people don't want some hillbilly to move in next door and put a car up on blocks and take a month with the city to do something about it. 9264 [removed] 9265 why should it be that? 9266 Did you misunderstand what self care means? 9267 You really think most people commenting on Reddit are students or unemployed people that live with their parents? "n/n"Everyone has the internet now, not just kids and nerds. "n/n" 9268 https://www.splcenter.org/fighting-hate/intelligence-report/2008/fbi-reports-extremists-military/n/nhttps://www.pbs.org/wgbh/frontline/article/inside-a-neo-nazi-group-with-members-tied-to-the-u-s-military/n/n 9269 [removed] 9270 the parents should go to prison too. Also 4 months of prison is not nearly long enough. 9271 Georgia. the south. They're all about af but mah rights!! "n/n" So as long as the child gets care eventually, it's extremely unlikely that anyone will do anything. 9272 [removed] 9273 What an absolute degenerate POS 9274 Every call counts, just like every vote counts. They need to know how serious this is. You must not live in Florida, you don't know how this stuff gets swept under the rug all the time. "n/n" You are very stupid. Thank you for reading this. 9275 Everytime more news comes out of Tennessee it seems like it's like an underrated Florida 9276 And the almost unique advantage of being a financial bermuda triangle. 9277 We are Tantalus. Lightfoot is the fruit tree (honest to goodness, no pun intended here). Preckwinkle is the water. "n/n"Remind me: in four years, send u/Wazula42 a message asking what positive came from another cog being voted into the mayoral™ty office. 9278 >FTC obtains largest monetary settlement in a COPPA case "n/n"so this $$$ goes to the FTC? "n/n"shouldn't it go to the victims? 9279 There are differences though. First, Pope (the only known democrat he worked for) lost. Therefore, he didn't affect the result in the end (Thankfully). He did have a noticeable effect in Bladen County and this is probably how he got known and came to the attention of republicans (who are all his known associates from then on as far as I can tell) and the Red Dome group. "n/n"Second, it was his first known work for a campaign and therefore it is much less likely anyone knew what he was doing. And, since there is currently no known evidence that Pope's campaign knew he was doing illegal and fraudulent ballot tampering, this is significant because we DO have evidence that Mark Harris and at least some of his campaign DID know. And then lied about it. His own son basically called him out on his lies. "n/n"So, he worked for a democrat (knowingly or unknowingly), and then democrats didn't touch him after. Meanwhile republicans jumped on board knowingly and willfully. That makes a world of difference. 9280 Yeah but this isn't U. State Whatever, it's Berklee. This is exactly where I would expect this to happen. 9281 See something say something... the fascists was 9282 Yeah but he wouldn't™ buy it 9283 - This isn't true at all. You guys need to leave the Reddit echo chamber every once in a while. "n/n"he's talking about Reddit being anti-police. 9284 Use google. 9285 [removed] 9286 That smell-free kitty litter was going places 9287 I think there is something to be said about working your job normally and then having (lets just spitball here) 10,000 people come into your place of business at once. Not really saying that this is the case, but I wouldn't be surprised if they were getting a shit load of calls. 9288 Judge Dredd 9289 HOAs are designed to regulate people's lives where the law doesn't allow. It's an end run on people's rights, and by encumbering properties with these "agreements" it's an end run on consumer assent, too. For a lot of people, if they want to live in a decent area local to them, it means waiving significant rights in order to purchase a property. How American is that. Land of the free... 9290 A lawyer defending a shit bag said some shit bag shit? No way!!!! 9291 We don't know if he would rape someone in his own country, we do know he would rape a child in America, but you have more empathy for the mythical child in your imaginary rare than you do the kid who was actually raped. "n/n" You are defending a policy that caused a child to be raped 9292 [removed] 9293 Not only should he be charged with voluntary manslaughter but so should the mother. They should both rot in prison, as should anyone else peddling these bullshit herbs and oils as fucking medicine. 9294 And the parents aren't™ being charged. WTF indeed. This kid was failed by every adult around him. 9295 I think he just wanted the bad apples to be killed 9296 > The HOA responded it would not pursue the charge, due to there being no by-laws to support it. "n/n" Gotta love that part. I swear that half of the time HOA's just hope people won't challenge them on their bullshit. 9297 [removed] 9298 Too late. Pam Bondi is all the proof you need. 9299 All prosecutor's offices have to maintain this type of list because of [Brady v Maryland] (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Brady_disclosure). It's also known as the Brady List. It's kind of telling that Brady disclosures refer to any exculpatory evidence that prosecutors might want to suppress. Not only for the acceptance that prosecutors need rules to force them to respect the truth over "winning" but that the default understanding of exculpatory evidence is "these witness cops have a history of lying". Really inspires faith in the criminal justice system. 9300 Ozone dilutes through the water column very quickly. If they're loading up the water with 5x the concentration needed to kill this cyanobacteria, then that 300gm is effectively treating 1500gm. Of course, it's not mentioned what level the water is being loaded to. 9301 Ba dum tss 9302 I'd just take the stroke penalty. 9303 Marking his territory 9304 [removed] 9305 I think the political behaviour is more on the customer side, journalists just take advantage of demand 9306 [removed] 9307 Its a commodity 9308 > Fox News and Breitbart are "n/n" Thanks for putting words in my mouth, I didn't want to speak anyway. "n/n" And I never said they were either, but keep making assumptions about people. 9309 Sure works for all those pest control and call companies. "n/n" CALL NOW. AND WHEN YOU PAY US A 599$ installation fee, a 60$ monthly service fee, and a hidden 199.98$ cancellation fee alongside a 4 year minimum clause, you too, can have a FREE* book of Rich Dad Poor dad and the latest Amway Products shipped to you! "n/n" *Disclaimer: By hereby signing to Amway you agree to have Amway Officials track you down for the voluntary 10 years, showing up at predetermined events when you have kids, graduate from college, move 500 miles away, an amway family member, making sure you have the goodness of the Gospel of MLMs will call and update your information for our MLM representatives to visit you and consider you a full member of Amway. To get removed from the Amway mailing list, all you need to do is get a lawyer to send a cease and desist letter too.. Oh wait a moment, that's momism. 9310 Anti-breeders are the sorest losers in politics since Lee Harvey Oswald. "n/n" You lost. It's over. Go home. 9311 [removed] 9312 [deleted] 9313 Giuliani came out and said it fellu just google it. 9314 while in passenger seat as pregnant wife drives to hospital. 9315 The bad deeds of people don't nullify the good, or vice versa. We don't ignore Darwin because of how he felt about black people, or any number of Greek philosophers who happen to be pedrasters. 9316 Floridaman must be vacationing in Boston. 9317 I fly tomorrow actually. I'll do my best to not pee on other people. 9318 [removed] 9319 It's such a weird coincidence how so many TD posters just magically all show up at the same time on posts related to sexism, LGBT rights, immigration, etc on this sub. 9320 No, it just shows that you're a hypocrite since rap culture is anything but respectful towards women and it seems to be one of your biggest interests, yet you're™re virtue signaling on this thread about why this innocuous quote is sexist. 9321 Strawman. My point is that all this glorification of the past goes a long way to keeping us from growing into the future. People look backward because it's™re easier than looking forward. Museums and history books are where the past should reside. 9322 He learned by playing Worms 9323 In the US, sure, it's the same here in Europe. But there's a teeny tiny bit™ of a difference between corporate-owned media and the paranoid delusion of a cyberpunk world in which every event is the result of an obscure conspiracy. 9324 Lol wait, those are not made up fairy tale names? They're actual people (with in assuming unflattering nicknames given by the public)? 9325 Yeah. In this day and age. "n/n" Back in the day, drowning was a very common form of pest control. But that was done out of necessity 9326 Pretty much the pinnacle of being a 'good momort', is jumping over hoops and voluntarily strapping a rabid squirrel armed with a cheese [removed] 9373 As long as you can drink ~$1200 worth of booze in 8 hours itâ€™s a good deal 9374 [removed] 9375 Marathon & BP are 2 stations I will never go to. 9376 Weinstein, Polanski, Woody Allen, Donald Trump, Bill Clinton, Bill Cosby, Bill O'Reilly, Roy Moore all had a good time at the theater. 9377 I could have told you Australia was an oppressive police state 10 years ago when they wouldn't let me bring my delicious beef jerky into the country and customs threw it away. 9378 I do not see that 'pretty much yes' is an accurate statement at all. They are neither passing a law to establish a religion nor preventing the free exercise of religion. Anyway, the Bill of Rights is about the federal congress not the states. 9379 It's not going to argue your first point, it's a bit tin foil hat for my taste though. Your second however is sadly the sort of extreme cock and bull that's too common and undermines democratic and reasoned discussion globally. A second referendum would not out of hand devalue any future vote. Don't be absurd. The first was In or Out, a second should be, given we're leaving what should our relationship with the EU be. There's no consensus of what out should look like, this undermines our ability as a nation to negotiate any sort of deal. A second referendum could validate a mandate and provide both the UK and the EU with clarity and confidence for a successful separation. 9380 It being directly contrary to an amendment of the constitution makes it unconstitutional. 9381 It's political and it really is. A lot of problems stems from the economic and political sector. Chicago needs a better mayor for starts who wants to clean up the city and actually represent the citizens. 9382 Gotta keep that affordable labor! Who cares if your indigenous youth are dying in the streets? 9383 Not the strangest thing. But the strangest argument. A dude arguing that he can find more videos of dudes peeing on the street than someone else can find women is a pretty weird thing. 9384 As a House supervisor, I'd be wondering how to staff them during peak flu season in Arizona. Midwesterners bring all of their disease to Arizona, and hospitals are chronically full during the time these ladies are due. This would be my nightmare. 9385 Ambien walrus strikes again 9386 Hey! Our chief told us the gravity and almost don't parts, never thought about the bells. We just used lots of tarps 9387 She is incredibly lucky. Falling off a ship in the ocean and watching it disappear must be one of the most terrifying things ever. 9388 Because its awkward yelling across the house "honey did you order the sparkly purple dong yet? I wanna change colors" 9389 Let's say this was happening in America. What would people do? Shoot the police? They'd bring in the military. Would a citizen be able to stand up to the army with a shotgun or pistol? 9390 I swear people get more offended that anyone spoke up than the people who originally didn't like the quote in the first place. This applies to other situations like this as well. 9391 He wasn't hunting the mountain lion. 9392 I couldn't take it seriously either. 9393 Which is interesting. In Australia receiving any gift while in office is considered corruption. This then halts a lot of the shit we see in American politics. 9394 [removed] 9395 Church created a wildcat bank that failed and bankrupted a lot of original members. Joseph Smith fled Ohio to Canada to dodge federal charges. He came back to Ohio and immediately moved the church to Missouri. It's sort of what starts the â€œfleeing in persecutionâ€ narrative the church is so fond of. 9396 [removed] 9397 Oh yeah, don't worry I played Eve Online for 14 years, part of the low sec PvP war stuff is getting into the heads of other people, usually by posting some sick shit links in the local / public channel. 9398 [removed] 9399 Are you part of the clueless Trumpeters who don't even believe the shit pouring from HIS mouth when repeated in the horrible, unbelievable, American Fake News? You only believe what is said by the Zionist Australian owned NewsCorp / Fox News organization that says "...and even if he did collude, even if he did know about these meetings, even if he did instruct his son to arrange the meetings....so what, there's no collusion, I mean, it's not illegal...Russia is NOT our enemy, only an enemy of the Deep State and American news." 9400 You said several which is false. Nazi humor probably doesn't even account for 5% of the total number of jokes or funny moments in his videos, none of which advocate on behalf of nazis or anyone else. 'n-agrees with Nazi culture? WTF does his even mean? Is he a Nazi or isn't he? 9401 But addressing the rationality of it does result in an actually solved problem... where as ignoring it as we have for so long hasn't lead to any solutions. 9402 I don't. 'n/But we can go further. The cops could have let him go. Or one remain with the girl, or call in back up to help find the running boyfriend, or never initiated the stop at all without reasons to deal with it. Or the boyfriend's mother could have aborted. The cops have the power here, they had authority of someone in their custody whom they failed to protect. I'd argue the same with a parent abandoning their child which led to their death. 'n/But it seems like you fundamentally disagree about the power dynamics and legal responsibilities of this scenario. 9403 It's aired on ESPN 8, The Ocho 9404 They both have the facial features attributed to fetal alcohol syndrome. Wouldn't be surprised they had that in common 9405 [removed] 9406 [removed] 9407 Seeing these great busts at the points of entry, wouldn't it make sense to ensure that everyone who crosses the border goes through a point of entry? 9408 We had these guys leave their flyers in our town in NC a while back. You cannot make this shit up. 'n/Barker was portrayed in a somewhat different light in a series of articles published just a year earlier, where he was described by freelance journalist Matt Theyer, Reuters and the Albany Times Union as an FBI informant in a case against a man who wanted to build a mobile death ray. â€œBaker's connection to the mobile death ray case has so far gone unreported in other media reports on the fliers.'n/http://theraleighcommons.org/raleighpublicrecord/news/2016/07/20/to-katch-a-klansman-fbi-informant-behind-recent-klk-fliers-in-raleigh/ 9409 [removed] 9410 [removed] 9411 At first yes, but more and more it's looking like Brexit is not going to happen. 9412 You'll put a muscle stretching like that. 9413 He had it comin' 9414 Ahhhhhh...must've been one of those "magic" bullets they got Kennedy with 9415 new sports league? probably make a lot of money! 'n/&x200B; 9416 You were dumfounded because that's not what you said. I could be wrong, but I didn't see discussion of compensation. I saw discussion of union membership. That being the topic, yes they should be lumped together. 9417 People are stupid and don't like when you say you're sending thoughts and prayers. 9418 When two people stand next to each other do you confuse them for being two of the same person? There was a period at the end of that sentence, maybe read it next time 9419 > Travel ban! 'n/love how it's not a Muslim Ban anymore. What happened to make people so embarrassed of having publicly called for a ban on Muslims since 2015? 'n/Immm...I can't think of anything lol 9420 Thoughts and prayers and whatever 9421 Wasn't it a rifle that was found in the car? 9422 We don't believe that. 9423 So your moral code is its okay to kill babies? See how fucked up you are? 9424 [removed] 9425 Never? 'n/ moved away in 2007 and had some dealings with a handful of Police officers, mostly harassment for walking down the street in my own neighborhood, playing music out of my parents garage during the hours between school and sound violations at 7pm, and various school functions to impose and remind people of their authority. 'n/&x200B;'n/ never dealt with an overtly malicious police officer, but being asked if "I live in this neighborhood, boy?" (I'm Puerto Rican and white but look pretty brown in a white suburb for clarification) or asked for my green card by an officer of the law betrays an underlying problem of Police behaviour. 'n/The Police state enthusiast comments merely refers to the idea that the majority of Chesapeake Police believe they are fighting a war against crime from the surrounding cities like Norfolk or Virginia Beach, rather than trying to reduce harm to society from deviant behaviour (that's my full frilly academic thought for red state chesapeake). This is a direct result of the military presence, and the people who grow up in a promilitary culture like that of Chesapeake joining the police force. This is at least what I've put together from living there and combining it with things I have learned from my education. 'n/&x200B;'n/No matter how you slice this story, the CPD fucked up, and are trying to cover it up. The truth will set them free. Unfortunately the city and the CPD have decided that there is no way for them to be able to publicly prove they had no wrongdoing by ignoring any and all other cameras present at the scene, and withholding the conclusions internal investigation. Police Transparency is what we want. They are choosing deceit. It is not the first time and it sure as shit won't be the last. 'n/My parents live in there still and this was not on the news today. 9426 Well facetiousness, but there's no trope for /f9427 Unfortunately it seems a lot of people today believe free expression ends where their feelings begin. 'n/...n/ The disconnect between the contents of the manifesto and what people/media say is in the manifesto is glaring. The dude was clearly nuts and the manifesto was self-contradictory to say the least. 9428 I mean this is factoring in more than just possession. I'm sure a fair deal are for distribution. While I don't think selling weed to Jimmy down the street is a crime, selling harmful substances like heroin and meth is. I don't think the consumption of any product should be considered illegal as long as habit-forming substances are regulated. Like how you can only buy so much alcohol from a store without a permit in some states. Selling THAT alcohol is illegal unless you have a liquor license. That's how we should view controlled substances. 9429 I mean, this makes it sound like a war zone in a horror movie. 'n/ 9430 Middle-class white people terrorism is all the rage. 9431 These type of people tend to have lots of children unfortunately. 9432 It's not frequent, but when you deal with hundreds of criminals a day, it happens. 'n/ toured a few police jails, as part of my law school internship: every jail has a secondary search room which finds a weapons missed during the pat-down every day. 'n/One of the jails ordered a body scanner after an incident, and they have pictures of knives, guns, etc that were missed 9433 I don't know where you're getting that. 'n/He's being kept in custody pending a trial. He's not been convicted or sentenced. 9434 If it's an egg? Sure. The degree of violence is so minimal and his comments so shitty, it was justified 9435 You sound just as ignorant as the people who praise cops regardless of performance. For every Muh that blue line's there's a hundred 'n/ 9436 So many cops these days are rocking the Punisher sticker on their civilian cars, it really shows their true colors. Punisher may be a compelling comic book character, but it's a horrifying role model for an adult person in such a position of power. 9437 Your hyperbole is backfiring on you. Keep it up, you're just helping the other side. 9438 I don't read or watch Fox, but the comments on that article are pretty much what you'd expect of your typical Fox readers / viewers. 9439 Is this like how they say that girl tied herself up behind her back and hung herself over the balcony, naked??? 9440 I work for an independent tech support firm. We had a customer last week who wanted help recovering her AOL email password. Can confirm people still use it. 9441 Can we set up some sort of arena where the white supremacists and gangs can fight each other without affecting the public? 9442 War on drugs hard at work. 9443 So? If he had written "Don't forget to drink your ovals!" in his manifesto, would it mean I'm falling into his hands if I make myself a glass of ovaline right now? 9444 [removed] 9445 So your a shitty white apologist? No it wouldn't have been any tougher I clawed my way out of poverty I vastly improved myself and continue to do so. No black people living in the us have been slaves. Sure there are some few who remember the 60s and the way they were treated but that's far and few. 'n/But I digress. Because you obviously hate all white people because you were raised wrong. The point was to stop police brutality. Something ALL Americans could have been standing up for. Instead black lives matter made it about black people only. It's a universal issue stop segregating yourselves and work with your fellow Americans 9446 I mean it's possible to flip the gun around and pull the trigger with her thumb but the police say she "contorted" her body. 'n/Lol no. 9447 Sounds like you were having a psychotic episode. 9448 "...police say 'n/That's all I needed to hear. 9449 It's only heard that 100 times 9450 It says she contorted her body. Could mean she got her hands back around the front. 'n/Not hard if small and a little bit limber. Or she could have turned her hands around to the side bent her head down and fired. All of its possible and actually not hard if she was unattended. 'n/One would think if cops murdered her they'd have been smart to move her hands to the front, uncut her, etc. 9451 [removed] 9452 I get the uneasy feeling that that anyone didn't want her to speak. 9453 Aw son of a bitch! 9454 That doesn't make your statement any less pointless. What you gonna complain about next, the sky being blue? 'n/&x200B;'n/How the fuck does saying that to anyone help in any way? 9455 Kid assaults politician with an egg: hailed as hero 'n/Kid shares video online: arrested and denied bail 'n/Remember kids, all animals are equal, but some animals are more equal than others. 9456 Police chiefs are usually the one to push the cover story out lol 9457 [removed] 9458 For a smart guy he is a huge dumbass. 9459 [removed] 9460 Sounds like Jonah Baggins was doing his part to heal the Earth. Good whale! 9461 [Seems that the equivalent to assault within PRC law is an actual maximum sentence of 3 years unless serious injury is to result. Article 234 to be specific. [http://www.asianlii.org/cn/legis/cn/laws/cloproc361/1/9462 I didn't say it was my theory, but there's been a lot of crazy shit the cops in the US have gotten away with. You're taking this very personally. 9463 This is beyond science 9464 I don't know many people that know how to operate firearms well so if the safety was on they would not be able to shoot themselves. 9465 To be fair, he was acting on (obviously fabricated) information presented to him by Dr. Mueller of the FBI 9466 In Russia you recognise the cop as your highschool friend and after a few stern looks from him about how you shouldn't be doing what you're doing you both laugh it off and go for a drink and cheburuk. 9467 [removed] 9468 He put me on the effing roof! 9469 When did New Jersey need help? And I don't care what politicians do. I care what people do. With NC's last hurricane, I recall municipal utility workers from my hometown in Iowa and every surrounding town come down days before it even hit to help out recovery. No one told them to, no one paid them to, they just did. Why can't we have the same in return when we need extra help? 'n/And every milk of our nation is prone to disaster in some way or another. Every where. And ethanol is not expensive, it's the cheapest option from what I remember. And it's also not up to farmers on how it's sold? Farmers are getting paid for the corn to make it just like cows do for milk. Farmers and even townsfolk absolutely hate ethanol plants. They pollute the environment, they're loud, they're bright, they're complete eye-sores, and they take up valuable land. And so what, we deserve any say just because we live in a city? 9470 I don't disagree with that but you can't deny that the officers would have been there to prevent it if the boyfriend didn't run. 9471 Then you've been brainwashed. The shock is reality hitting you. 9472 Rules of Acquisition 194: "It's always good business to know about new customers before they walk in your door." 9473 >The New Zealand Police have stated that he was also making posts to incite violence as well as private chat messages to that same effect. 'n/Did they scrub those from the internet also? 9474 I imagine he can be tried for something like accessory to terrorism, since a major component of terrorism is fueling fear and hysteria by way of spectacle 9475 [removed] 9476 [removed] 9477 Destroyed him ðŸ©ðŸ© 9478 I never thought I'd see this heading 9479 [https://www.politico.com/story/2018/08/29/stephen-miller-immigration-policy-white-house-trump-799199] [https://www.politico.com/story/2018/08/29/stephen-miller-immigration-policy-white-house-trump-799199] 9480 These cops are lucky people don't go after them. If any of these injustices happen to my loved ones, I will ensure the cops die a horrible and painful death. Even if it meant throwing my life away. 9481 Maybe not all at once, but perhaps you're unaware of the existence of serial killers 9482 Umm...yea, that's not how that works. They need to go to jail. 9483 The kiwi with a gun was one of the 4 arrested, he's now charged with firearms charges. 'n/What has your media told you, he ran into town to help the police holding a gun, the police are looking forward a guy who thinks a gun, he was arrested and took away police from the actual shooting, he wasn't a hero he was a fucking idiot. 9484 Yo... be careful with this. 9485 Or: "He ran into my knife 10 times" 9486 [removed] 9487 The Mongols were kicked out after less than 100 years of rule. In the grand stream of events in China, those years mean little. Manchus ruled China in a fashion that's nearly identical to the previous Han ruled dynasties, with Han language and philosophies. Aside from the symbolic hairstyle and dress code, there was nothing Manchu about the Qing emperors. After the first several generations in China, hardly any of them knew their ancestral language. Today, Manchurian Chinese have almost entirely been assimilated into the mainstream Han culture. 'n/Also, Han is not a monolithic group. They are descended from a wide variety of peoples of different countries that have been inhabiting China south of The Great Wall and east of the Gobi desert and the Himalayas for thousands of years. They're a group because there's no way to find out who descended from whom. It's like that with any old country that has a mainstream monolithic identity. 9488 Yeah, agreed. The whole "we write the reports" mentality means they can easily claim they smelled something or saw something and generally get the benefit of the doubt. Much like the "reasonable belief" standard when it comes to use of force. It's very easy to bullshit. 9489 $100 no one is charged with anything...? 9490 Lol, you probably think you're arguing with me don't you? Silly americans and your barely being literate. 9491 If the US doesn't like Russia fucking with the GPS system, then maybe just offer GPS for all of Russia for a week. 9492 Anti-gay, anti-women equality, allow religion to influence public policy, mono-culturalism... These are all traits that the alt-right and radical Islam share in common. 9493 The New Zealand Police seem to think there's more to it than "oh, it's just a small town." The article specifically states they're not releasing all the details. 9494 How is that implausible in the slightest. 'n/ can very easily draw a straight line from my hand to your mouth in any almost any position. 9495 Probably shifted her arms under her legs 9496 They probably got a fh page. 9497 [removed] 9498 >has demanded an explanation from its eastern neighbor 'n/Your entire organisation is basically practicing for war against us playing the largest war games in decades right outside our borders, what did you expect? - Russian probably 9499 You can't mow down kill 50 people with a knife. 9500 Don't feel bad one bit honestly, poachers are disgusting, they just leave the whole body usually especially when it comes to rhinos and elephants. 9501 At the start of the headline, I was expecting controversy... But no. It's a dish so good, they're willing to fight for the first bite. Catering should not do their job this well, for public safety. 9502 The American left is usually pro-gun. Did you mean Democrats? 9503 Why would someone do that? What did 61 year old Bret do that would make someone attack him? 9504 > At least they aren't gun grabbers in the Midwest. 'n/They literally just put an attempt at more gun control bills into the Omnibus Budget Bill to force a vote, because it wouldn't make it that far on its own. 'n/https://www.house.leg.state.mn.us/session/day/SDView.aspx?StoryID=13878 9505 Plural 'yea' 9506 Rape, some murder cases, serial attempted murder, pedophilia, terrorism, a portion of kidnapping cases, and serial violence with little to no hope for reform. 9507 Except they usually check it against a list of registered voters 9508 He probably would still be driving without a licence 9509 It may be suspect research, but I fail to see what it has to do with being PC. 'n/Certain folks try to shoehorn their pet issue into unrelated topics. 9510 All those recent accidents they listed I am surprised they forgot to mention last year when a guy walked into the "burning man" & burned to death. 9511 Even if he was intersex, very little suggests he lived as anything other than a male. 9512 You're looking at this from a western standpoint. Our traditions might be weird to them. 'n/â€œYou dress them up and toss them deep in the ground?â€ 9513 I would rather someone shot and killed him, personally. 'n/Chances of him reforming, even with all the best resources, are extremely low given his lack of empathy and serial violence. People like that should just be executed. 9514 I mean a few cities near mine legalized permanent residents voting in local elections and the result is that almost none show up to the polls 9515 How the hell do you cover Lafayette and not cover von Steuben? 9516 The second part contradicts the first part. 9517 The funny thing is that he probably had Westminster tickets, but he can't go now! 9518 [removed] 9519 [removed] 9520 [removed] 9521 It may be suspect research, but I fail to see what it has to do with being PC. 'n/Certain folks try to shoehorn their pet issue into unrelated topics. 9522 It wasn't even a nice bikini, I was disappointed. 9523 Unfortunately I don't remember but I know it wasn't that one. We read this one for World Cultures class. 9524 An investor is a specific thing, a spouse helping you start your business and then stopping once you got off the ground is a different thing. Then on top of that to say that they deserve a piece that big when you're the one who brought it from a thousands to billions kind of business is pretty dumb. 9525 [removed] 9526 [removed] 9527 I will 9528 Rotational mass has less to do with braking and more to do with acceleration. 9529 Poacher: â€œYou can't defeat meâ€ 'n/Rhino: â€œI know, but they can't 9530 Oh, the same Bernie. That the DNC cheated in the last primaries? 9531 Finally, some bloody good news. 9532 *illegal, not undocumented. ILLEGAL. 9533 At their biggest, they made up a tiny corner of Reddit. AHS posts about them always got 10x more upvotes than the original post. 9534 Heaé™ll probably get criminal charges. He assaulted someone after all. 9535 That's a straight up lie. You have to be registered in advance, and the registration process confirms eligibility to vote (over 18, not a felon on parole, US citizen, etc). It would make no sense to check citizenship at the polls day of; the line would be enormous. 9536 Oh no...n/nThis is very sad/n/n^s 9537 Well this Tiel was from beginning to end ôY... 9538 Still at it, anything but an honest discussion. You just can't do it, you have no ability to be genuine,n/nIt is, you did. Go try and revise history with someone else that will that will fall for it and feel like they got things wrong. Not happening here.n/nWatching you struggle to try though is entertaining though so thank you :) 9539 Should I feel bad that the first thought that entered my mind after reading the title was "Nice"? 9540 It's the circle of life. 9541 I know I'd find these fucked up comments here. One human is more valuable than a hundred elephants. 9542 Stripped, scrambled and crepped 9543 When my dead what? 9544 He'll end up suing for being battered and settle out of court. It's just how this stupid shit works these days 9545 please post those videos,n/nthere is no such thing as fair left fascism, the economic policies as well as nationalism are defining features of fascism, you could argue that antifa are authoritarians, but they're not fascist,n/nantifa isn't an ideology, it's a rejection of fascism, you could theoretically be a conservative republican and still be antifa. n/nBen Shapiro is a fascist. 9546 Is that why the founders literally wrote an anti American and anti Israel manifesto which condemned Israel as an apartheid state and promoted BDS? You call that not being shot in the street too? Go read a fucking book and leave me alone. There is no teaching brainwashed idiots like you. 9547 Going all the way back, I think my first argument was that in this context, the 15-year-old was also clearly in the wrong for entrapping someone she already knew had a sexting addiction. The second argument was that he essentially committed a victimless crime in this context, as she was unharmed. Just call me an apologist because you don't want to think outside of the confines of the letter of the law and go away though, sheesh. 9548 [removed] 9549 If he had no money to support them, why did he make a family? 9550 You do realize what he said is bullshit, right? That's to get registered to vote on the day of/n/nThey still check the validity of your registration. There's multiple reasons that registration may not be valid: already registered, on parole restricted from voting, not a US citizen, etc./n/nFurther more, you do realize that people with green cards have driver's licenses, right? They're permanent residents, but not US citizens. If all you needed to vote was a driver's license, then foreigners can already vote in Minnesota. 9551 Shut up bitch 9552 [removed] 9553 Even if that's what I'd been doing, which as I was quoting myself directly isn't the case, that's not what gaslighting is,n/n 9554 Man, I'm glad I hadn't been watching (haven for a number of years) or i would have had a panic attack.... remembering all that shit :(9555 This is an excellent write up for non-wrestling fans/n/nIt was watching when it happened. I thought it was part of the show for a second until it cut to black. 9556 Let me appeal to authority. 9557 [removed] 9558 >It's almost as if there are different classes for the same crimes! See first 2nd degree murder, manslaughter, etc/n/nWhich is why your attempt to conflate undocumented immigrants with trespassers is laughable. 9559 Not going to down vote.... but I just can't even laugh. Bret Hart is a childhood hero of mine. 9560 Poor person killed doing a shitty job they hate. Film at eleven. 9561 They keep track of who is a citizen and who isn't. You do realize that people with green cards can have licenses, right? By your fear-mongering, they're easily voting illegally in Minnesota. People with green cards who have lived in the US for 10 years have drivers licenses and are driving around, but they aren't voting. 9562 [removed] 9563 I was expecting it to be a Boeing aircraft but United 4390 is a Brazilian made Embraer EMB-145XR (twin-jet) (E45X). Glad everyone is safe! 9564 White nationalism at its core is about white supremacy. n/nBlack nationalism at its core is about not being shot in the street.n/nYou being unable to realize that yourself is weak. n/nRoleplayers these days, you all forget youre just pretending huh 9565 We'll all here looking for the pics 9566 Yes and some factions of white nationalists are more extreme than others so are we going to forgive them too? Your arguments are WEAK dude. 9567 The headline should say "tackled" instead of "punched." 9568 It's a pretty boring one too? 9569 Congratulations on completely missing the point./n/nDid you ever see the hunger games? The movie? Okay well if you did imagine that the one city where all the rich people lived said to all the other cities "Attention: it's now illegal to hunt local animals and to fish, oh and no farming either."n/nLike what the fuck? What other choice are you leaving them?/n/nThese arent some smug assholes who are rolling in and making tons of money, these are the locals that have NO. OTHER. OPTION. n/nThey already had virtually nothing, and then rich people who don't even live in the country made it harder./n/nBut omg not the rinos. Anything but the rinos 9570 At least something came out good from all that a message don't fuck with wild life kids. 9571 [removed] 9572 I can tell right now you have never been in a women's restroom or some a single stall combo men/women's bathroom. Because you'd see a trash receptacle for menstrual products./n/nIf you're a woman of menstruation age, please stop flushing solid sanitary items that don't dissolve down the toilet. Please put all that stuff in the little covered bin on the stall wall,n/nOh, and also - stop flushing wet wipes down the toilet. They also can't dissolve. https://www.theplumbingdir.com/use-disposable-wipes-but-dont-flush-them/ 9573 That's fair. I'm not saying that those actions are morally equivalent. I'm calling attention to the lines we draw in treating these situations differently, the dynamics at play. n/nUnderneath this whole discussion are assumptions about the value of life and moral responsibility, and different people on this thread are weighting those assumptions in very different ways. 9574 Iâ€™m not manufacturing anything. Iâ€™m just a spectator to this show. Hypocrites are still hypocrites though. I expect thugs to act like thugs and perves to act like perves. Iâ€™m the moralizers who are selective with their moralizing that Iâ€™m talking about. 9575 And because it's methodologically flawed. https://journals.plos.org/plosone/article/comment?id=10.1371%2Fannotation%2Fb53601d7-9b42-450a-b23c-39f4d889f6bd 9576 I believe they are the only California prison with a protective housing unit for the high profile inmates. RFKâ€™s assassin was there. Jaycee Dugardâ€™s abductor and rapist is there. The Dating Game Killer and the monster who killed all those farm workers are there too. 9577 Killing a mouse is not yet comparable to the man-made, complete and total annihilation of a species on this planet. 9578 [removed] 9579 [removed] 9580 Weird because they let the jews/whites/conservative folk join blm in my town- its almost as if some factions or groups are more extreme than others./n/nStop roleplaying 9581 I'm not so sure about that first point, and I'm also not so sure that second one holds much water either. 9582 https://www.sheldrickwildlifetrust.org/9583 But also somehow a satanist qualified for pope a few years back IIRC 9584 [removed] 9585 "A human skull and a pair of pants were recovered Thursday"/n/nBeing from england this made me chuckle quite a lot. 9586 His condition is described as satisfactory by medical staff. 9587 https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Security_theater 9588 Taking jobs doesn't lower the average wage of unskilled jobs except at very marginal levels. This is partially because they also tend to create jobs by making businesses more efficient and through consuming services and products. 9589 Eventually he will be shit and eat again. He chose, poorly. 9590 >i wonder what it's going to take for so many people to become cognizant of such blatant hypocrisy when the current amount of it is so appalling/n/nI didn't say it wasn't hypocritical. Of course it is. I eat meat, and while I would like to switch over to meat substitutes and non-meat options for protein, I'm still morally accountable for my actions. n/nBut at the exact same time, if, for example, a slaughterhouse worker got trampled to death by cattle trying to escape, deep down part of me on the inside is rooting for the cattle. Like there's a kind of pleasure there for me, out of sync with the moral value I place on human life, and definitely out of line with me eating meat. n/nIn the same way, I'm recognizing that my position on poaching is rife with hypocrisy. I'm just making a statement about how it all makes me feel. 9591 Wait wait wait....does this guy also have a problem with the free toilet paper and hand soap in school bathrooms? n/nI'm confused. Does he think a girl can hold in an unexpected period? Or maybe he doesn't think there's much blood, clots, and tissue that comes out during the day on a typical period./n/nCall me crazy, but I think every school bathroom should all have readily available free products that keep the whole genital area clean and comfortable from menstrual blood and residual urine and feces. 9592 Get some gloves and some steel wool, it usually works nicely. Just flush enough so no wool is left to rust at the bottom./n/nIf you have reddish stains, your tank bolts are rusting. Replace them with brass ones and no more rust. 9593 Ya BML the same people who embrace Louis Farrakhan and his black mafia who have called for the extermination of Jews. Really nice people....racism is racism is racism. Stop apologizing you pussy. 9594 I didnâ€™t say she would have complained. I said she would probably know that womenâ€™s bodies are treated differently than menâ€™s. She sounds lovely and I think youâ€™re doing her a disservice by notice considering there may be a problem 9595 Does anyone know where can I send some money to the elephant? 9596 Also: if we ACTUALLY cared about people leading lives that contribute to society, we'd be providing basic mental healthcare to give people better opportunities to do that. 9597 [removed] 9598 No more boner tea for you! 9599 [removed] 9600 You do get that she did apologize, a long time ago? This is not current events, this happened in 1984 and she's retracted it. It wasn't news until her opponent dug it up./n/She has already retracted it. This was retracted. I've stated this a few times before this post, so I'm not clear how to state it another way./n/She had dropped it. She had corrected it. n/But it was still present in articles and publications printed at the time./n/Frankly it's late and I'm bored, and have no particular interest in the matter beyond my stated interest in the mix of genetics and culture. n/Back in 1984 that recipe book was published and around that time she was listed as a minority./n/nThe intervening years, before this rage, she retracted it and apologized and distanced herself from it. n/You're asking her to apologize for something she already acknowledged was wrong and has corrected, that she is Cherokee. n/That's done. That's been settled for years now./n/She's talked about it. It was brought up in interviews, in statements, in press releases. She wrote about it before it was brought into the press as something she had done wrong and offered apologies for./n/So does she apologize for having Cherokee ancestry? She does that. And more than the average population they compared her results to. n/Being proud of your ancestry, no matter how thin it might be, is a common thing. She is claiming, now, in 2018, to have a Cherokee ancestor. And that's true. And she's proud of it. n/At that same distance in time, people like myself have ancestors in the Continental Army. They're proud of that./n/That's cool too. n/You can't claim to be a member of the tribe, which she did do and later apologized for. n/Just as it'd be stupid to say that I'm a member of the continental army. n/But now in 2018, she can claim to be a descendant, which she has done for years, just as I can recognize the various parts of my lineage and be proud of them./n/Unless you want her to apologize again, I don't see the point. She did when this first made the news, after already doing so when it and she wasn't newsworthy./n/This was in direct challenge to her having no direct ancestry. Which she clearly does. 9601 If it werenâ€™t part of why they committed the crime, why would it be emphasized in the title though? :) 9602 >And the best part is, it's FREE! n/n/n*With qualifying impossible to afford health insurance 9603 They don't want someone who had a single ancestor 10 generations ago who may have been native american or maybe yankee or something claim to be cherokee. 9604 I'm 25% Japanese. For me to claim Japanese heritage would be a farce and wrong. 9605 > Everybody is against slavery. n/nI can sincerely tell you this isn't true. Even in the most literal sense without going into the obvious use of prison labor as slavery, the exploitation of illegal immigrants for slave labor or the joys of wage slavery that are both prevalent in the country. We have literal slaves in this country, so SOMEONE is clearly not against the idea and plenty of racist asshats seem to think it should make a comeback too. 9606 Yeah, I read the article. Nothing there describes undermining of interests. It's just a long whine about DNA tests, and bitching about citizenship that warren never said anything about. 9607 >no, there are some challenges black people face that an asian never will/n/nWrong, and also racist./n/nWe're done here. 9608 We didn't give it very much thought honestly./n/nIt was still IV drug users and homosexuals mostly back then. I know the kids that were 5 years younger than me really got serious about it though (and rightly so). n/nI mean people talked about it, but really wasn't a big concern yet. My friends and I probably didn't get "concerned" about it until the early-mid 90s./n/n'd list the crack cocaine epidemic as more of a "big deal". n/nYou could swing a dead cat by the tail and not hit a crack dealer in my high school./n/nhttps://www.mypalmbeachpost.com/lifestyles/before-the-opioid-crisis-when-crack-coaine-ravaged-palm-beach-county/Tlnta9VN3V9DnQUjhkCFI/ 9609 Not a clue but it's going to be nice and cozy in a sweater. 9610 The real hero is in the comments! 9611 He does seem like a child, doesn't he? I bet he posts frequently at 4chan. 9612 Pointing out a commonly known fact is disrespectful? Must suck to be that thin-skinned. 9613 /r/farmverybadass 9614 How is there supposed to be free market competition if you can't compare prices? 9615 I've never seen the whole 'Never argue with an idiot. They will only bring you down to their level and beat you with experience.' come more true than this./n/She did all this work to try and prove him wrong, but now they just look like idiots. People's opinion of him barely changed but now she just looks so much worse./n/nIt's like a commoner challenging the king to a mud-wrestle. Now they're both covered in mud but it's so much worse for one than the other. 9616 Not until they raise it to bomb level will I care. We are at cyclone bomb now for weather so I guess the bug bomb will get here soon enough. 9617 That make Ungruk smart. 9618 >And apparently you donâ€™t understand the concept of an investment. Alimony isnâ€™t back pay./n/nOkay, so he invested in someone who he thought was going to cook and clean for him forever... 9619 Let's see Paul Allens business card. 9620 That's the best case scenario, she could also be 1/1024, which is .09%, which is <18%/n/nWhich is half as much as the average white person. Good try though. Lol 9621 Paul allen like the lollies? 9622 I didn't say anything about that long. Documentation was scarce until 100 years ago, especially in native tribes. 9623 And you're the prayers and condolences type, in other words a useless cunt. 9624 [removed] 9625 [removed] 9626 There's a new one every year which covers the worst strains. I believe this year it's 3 of the worst./n/nInterestingly, 180k people die every year from the flu. If you're healthy and can miss time from work, then by all means, skip it. 9627 Try to hang on, get people to film what they are seeing and create an aggregation site for people to post on. This is actually important for future efforts. No one can spin documented facts. 9628 [removed] 9629 [deleted] 9630 Let's see how creative they will be. 9631 [removed] 9632 No, but you are 1/16th of each of them, so nobody can say you are not. 9633 Huh, so this is the story the liberals are trotting out. Makes no sense why they would pick someone as white as her. 9634 I want to join your cult 9635 [removed] 9636 Hey, hey, hey. Lets not start talking about our heritage. 9637 Rich people will be able to afford it, so it's fine. 9638 If I say I'm independent, that means I'm unaffiliated. If I say I'm with the independent party, then the meaning changes. 9639 >compensates the spouse for the expected future earnings value of a parter they helped create and support./n/nIt compensates a spouse. What does it do for the payer, exactly? 9640 Would you mind clarifying? 9641 Shooting one primate after another while the rest of it's family screams in terror is about the most upright, decent thing a hunter can do, right? Worst part is, he's not alone. Lots of folks will back him up, say he's a real swell guy and they'd have done the same if given the chance. n/nI'm from a hunting family. We don't shoot momma's with babies, we don't shoot just to kill, and we don't brag. Hunting is serious business. 9642 >It wasn't her choice. n/n/nI all honesty, that's pretty hard to buy. n/nHow did they even get that idea if it wasn't from her? She doesn't look Native American at all. 9643 Yeah and here's what happens with insurance: in an emergency you may receive treatment in an ER that is not "in-network", or in an ER that is in-network but a doctor that is out of network is going to stop by to say hi./n/nYou would think, that's fine, my insurance covers that, they said they cover out of network costs in an emergency? n/nHell the bleep no. They literally lied./n/nThe ER (or some "physicians association" or something) is going to overcharge you (charge you massively, massively more than any possible guess at the costs including wages. We're talking $100 per minute of a physician assistant that gets paid maybe $100 per hour tops, and probably half that). n/nThen, insurance is going to say "we are only paying this much and no cent more" and you will get billed for the rest. 9644 Yes, just ignorant. Just wishful thinking. 9645 Except she's not lying. DNA is in fact reality. 9646 [deleted] 9647 There is a popular comic starring an Afro Mexican boy. I think there's a story where he goes to the segregation era US 9648 Your girl Hillary couldn't find Michigan or Wisconsin on a map 9649 To be fair, Solely academic achievement is a terrible way to pick a class. The amount of people qualified by academic achievement alone far outweighs the number of spots, so the non academic factors make a much larger difference. 9650 r/politics is nothing but confirmation bias porn for pseudo intellectual leftist extremists. There's a dozen posts ranging from overblown hysteria over a non issue to a complete fabrication to each post with a kernel of truth to it./n/nIt's an absolute shitshow and at this point I almost want to put on my tinfoil hat and say that it's literally run by right wingers pretending to be leftists to make them look as batshit insane as possible. 9651 I mean if trump wins that means that the representative portion of the country is made entirely of "lost causes" and thus our country would be truly fucked? Doomed to go down endless "lost cause" electorates because these people can't have their mind changed anymore?/n/nNevermind explaining it that far seems to ruin the rhetoric. My point is that it's truly offensive to hear you and others talk about so many fellow Americans as lost causes. 9652 A good look at reservation governments and reservation culture suggests you're naive or ignorant to reality. 9653 It's not a conspiracy, she's at least in her 70s... Plus they sometimes attack silently. 9654 > (but where Iâ€™m from, there arenâ€™t as many Nazi sympathisers in uniform)/n/nI'm guessing not America then. 9655 Chinese people are the most racist people I have ever met. 9656 It's the worst cheese, for one 9657 huh?/n/nNot everyone who attacks another demographic is doing it because they hate that demographic so it's not always a hate crime. Not all hate crimes get charged that way either. In this case the victim was allegedly chosen specifically due to being a Jew. 9658 /r/banpibulls/n/nThey kill more people than school shooters. 9659 [removed] 9660 [removed] 9661 Might be worth it, if it includes names, addresses, email, and political party. I can see some research groups paying for it./n/nI am surprised it's not on more forums or even 4chan. 9662 Watch the video and tell me how you understand his statement. Because I think it's very unlikely you don't understand what he is saying unless you are radical left leaning. He never promised his $1m. 9663 https://twitter.com/bennyjohnson/status/1051894939133636609?s=21 9664 An excellent question! Elevators have direction to maximize that mount of passenger throughput. They collect people going up as they go up, and collect people going down as they go down. The other reason they have a direction is to guarantee every passenger will get off eventually. n/nIf the elevator only serves one person ever, it doesn't need a direction. Yes, Paul had a private elevator. It was for security reasons. The goal was that his private elevator would come and get him as he got close to the elevator bank, and then go to wherever he wanted. No direction needed. 9665 If the 1st part is incorrect why would she even share that information if it's irrelevant?/n/n 9666 Why doesn't it?/n/nSay her great great grandmother was native. She had a kid. That kid probably looked pretty native. They got married and had kids. People knew them as "the native family" because one of the parents looked native. Their kids, who came from the native family, are seen as being at least part native by the community. They may even look a bit native still. One of these kids is her grandmother. Known for being a bit native. Now she has a kid and Warren's dad wants to marry her but his family have heard she's a bit native - they don't care how much they just don't want their son to marry her./n/nThis sounds pretty possible to me, and it's what the DNA analysis has indicated is quite likely. 9667 But hey, I know the name of presidential candidate Warren now, so the whole theater is working. 9668 She's running for office right now--she's using this as an ad./n/n 9669 Buy..... Our..... Drugs. Sideeffectsmyincludearmsfallingoffteethgoingtooffinealitytoreadsmlpringatgeneralizingofineasandyourelegallyunabletosueifyoubuyourproductseeyouinhellsucker. 9670 It's almost like they're getting mad that everybody ended up getting a little piece in them... 9671 [removed] 9672 [removed] 9673 [removed] 9674 So because I don't have a strong connection to my Scottish culture or wasn't raised with all of those traditions I can no longer claim my Scottish Heritage?/n/nHow many generations do you have to be separated from an ancestor for them to no longer be a part of you or your family? n/nI completely understand the reasoning for having high standards as far as who can be considered a part of a tribe it seems completely justified, but I should should someone that finds out that they have Native heritage being given a chance to reclaim some of it by learning the culture and traditions of a part them they just found out about?/n/nI don't wanting to see anyone gain some kind of benefit, which Warren hasn't, but I don't want to see her or others shamed for telling family stories. I don't want people denied access to their newly discovered heritage./n/n9675 [removed] 9676 I know. I was not comparing the physical similarities among indigenous groups, I was just saying that they're native Americans given that they were juxtaposed to Cherokee and other north native Americans. I know that they look nothing alike, I've had Peruvian, Ecuadorian and Mexican friends and they looked nothing alike in general features. 9677 Good thing I don't read articles and only comment based on headlines 9678 The article mentions there's benefit to being vaccinated in case the receiver doesn't already have one of the 9 strains it vaccinates against. 9679 El Morn. 9680 [removed] 9681 A terrible tragedy has occurred, a child has died, yet most comments are cynical attempts to mock or push agendas. I don't give a shit if you're a Vaxx or Anti-Vaxx, you're evil in my book. 9682 Still. She is in politics. And if you are claiming that stuff publicly you should be expected to be called out for it. /n/nAnd she got it. /n/nShe should take the loss and go away. Democrats should find a moderate candidate and not this woman. Just look at her twitter right now. Democrats are not going to get a win if they put a Democrat Donald into elections. 9683 That's true. I guess "modern medicine" sucks until we're immortal. 9684 Hey there, I wanted to let you know that my dad was diagnosed with it when he was 21. For the last ten years he battled soft tissue sarcoma. Sadly, we lost him two years ago. He was 75. I miss him, but he lived a long time with Hodgkins in remission. The tech wasn't as good in the 60s either. Have faith and fuck cancer. 9685 Most excellent reference! 9686 > From what I've heard, they listed her as such without her knowledge or consent./n/nHow would they even have such information? 9687 It's an emerging field that has the potential to change every aspect of our life. Right now it might be a confusing field full of novelty applications that don't even work half the time, but AI is steadily becoming the most important field in computer science in terms of its potential impact./n/nAI right now is like all of computer science in the 1940's. People didn't see a real need for computer other than computing tables of numbers. It was something the military used to compute artillery tables and astronomers used to compute the path of a comet. I mean, the president of IBM once thought there might be a market for 5 computers in the entire world. But that's not because the uses for computers weren't there, but because computers were so unwieldy, huge and expensive and the programming techniques to actually make it do anything weren't there yet./n/nGive it time. 9688 I love that all the lies have been revealed since he's been in there and he's living in his own fifth floor, in an embassy. /n/nI used to think he was kind of a hero but he absolutely dug his own grave and can lay there. Unless he gets arrested, which would obviously be ideal. 9689 [removed] 9690 [removed] 9691 [removed] 9692 I bet you wouldn't remember it much more clearly if you'd already known the suspect beforehand though. You don't need to be remembered by everyone that saw the show for something like this to ruin your life; if basically everyone you know finds out about it that would probably be quite sufficient. It doesn't really matter whether Joe Blow 100+ miles away doesn't remember your face because you're not likely to ever meet them anyway. 9693 Fun fact most of us are related to native Americans due to intermarriage. 9694 [removed] 9695 Why does the women pay the man then if she's making more money? Equal rights you know. 9696 For the record, I am definitely not a fan of the Proud Boys. I think they're a little cult-ish, and them being involved in this whole thing still gives me the impression that they're a bunch of angry thugs. But I came across this and figured it was an interesting follow-up to an article shared here when the incident happened. It turns out that as usual, antifa is not a group of "peaceful protesters" but is instead another group of angry thugs. 9697 I'm almost certain he knew but kept it private within his circle. Normal people like us can just die and won't cause too many issues after. Someone like Paul McCartney and money can cause a big wave of panic so I'm sure he tried to keep things as normal as possible. With his resources I'm sure he knew and used his time to get everything lined up so he can leave peacefully. /n/n9698 [deleted] 9699 But antifa started it https://gfyecat.com/PessimistRepentantCleanerwasseinProof9700 I think what the above commenter is reacting to is more of an abstract idea. You're describing a scenario where you are threatened and provoked by a particular person (invader, assailant, agent of an opposing power), and must kill to survive. /n/nThat comment is expressing that war is needlessly perpetuated when the powers that be wrongly convince us that we as individuals are existentially threatened so long as another group exists. Those groups suddenly have reason to believe they are existentially threatened, and group A sees that their suspicion is confirmed. Meaning that peace will never be possible unless we have a dynamic understanding of ourselves as adversaries and foreign entities. But the point is that the perpetuation is too easy and too profitable for a few. It's as easy to perpetuate as saying "there is an enemy." /n/n9701 [deleted] 9702 [removed] 9703 Yeah, I'm sure those 7 kids will agree. Good sacrifice. 9704 You really are just entirely clueless. 9705 So imagine you have a crack addiction. It hurts the people around you, it bankrupts you, it causes you to do immoral things, and you've been doing it for 17 years with no end in sight. Now someone comes up to you and says hey, you should stop smoking crack, there's better ways to spend your time and money and your behavior is very destructive. Would your reaction be getting treatment, distancing yourself from the conditions that lead to your addiction and beginning the path to recovery? Or would you say I'm not purposefully trying to hurt myself or others, this is just what happens when you smoke crack, it's best if we just ignore this and I'll just smoke crack until the day I die? 9706 He has 7 kids and was from Utah. He's definitely Mormon. I'll bet that entire $500k his wife doesn't work. 9707 If they refuse to go, or say, jump out of a moving vehicle after agreeing to go and disappear for a couple days, what are you supposed to do? In my case it was a sibling and because of a report of her running into concerning traffic she was finally considered a threat to herself and others. Once we located her the cops came and took her to the hospital, but they wouldn't have done that without the previously mentioned report./n/nFor years my parents tried everything they could to get her to see a doctor. None of it worked and most of the attempts were awful, traumatic experiences for everyone involved. /n/nAnd she's not a psychopath. She's also never been violent. I can't imagine being a parent of/in a family with someone who is a violent psychopath. /n/nThis situation is really sad. 9708 Not just "in battle" but while on active duty. 9709 Yes it is imperialistic to stay in that country for decades, long after it was confirmed that he wasn't in the country. 9710 Stories like this, where a blacks are perpetrating crimes against whites, are ignored by the mainstream media and any racial motivations for the crimes are either downplayed or completely denied. This is why Trump supporters don't trust the mainstream media; they believe it's biased against whites. If a group of white kids ran thru a black neighborhood jumping on cars, assaulting and robbing innocent people at a block party---every black person with a twitter account would be saying "see, this is what we deal with everyday" and the entire mainstream media would be covering the story. This kind of race based media bias made room for men like Trump to come in and tell disaffected conservatives all the lies they wanted to hear. /n/nEdit: To further prove my point, posts like this are usually removed by the mods or the thread is locked. /n/n9711 Yes.... yes it does. 9712 [removed] 9713 [removed] 9714 And yet thousands of people insist you can breathe underwater, and try to prove it using their own kids. 9715 [removed] 9716 Depending on what state you're in (assuming you're in the US), the order will be served on the stalker, and merely sending another letter can constitute a violation of the order. (Source: ask a lawyer). So it's not completely hopeless, and she doesn't have to wait for him to escalate. Hope all turns out well. 9717 Old news, February of 2017 old, just FYI. 9718 [removed] 9719 For Ogden Utah, $123k was the proposed 2017 salary. I'm sure it passed and is about 2-3% higher this year. 9720 Disclaimer: I work in the MIC, with an educational background in IR studies and once I finish my graduate studies within the next 5 years (hopefully) I plan on doing something State Department oriented or a think tank, or continue working for the MIC. /n/nBut for my IR experts who aren't puppets of the New World Order and the Military Industrial Complex, there is still a strong belief that what we initially went in Afghanistan for on a long term scale (short term being the finding and capture or killing of UBL, and to get rid of the Taliban which formed this de facto and in many ways, de jure government that was brutal in its control of the majority of Afghanistan in the late 90s all the way to 2001). The long term being a sovereign state (which had the monopoly on the legitimate use of violence that cant be challenged by the Taliban and Al-Qaeda) that is stable and friendly to Western countries when it came to its philosophy in how it saw the west (not as heretical and evil presence that needs to be destroyed at all costs but as allies). /n/nThe successful creation and ability to maintain a stable government in a powder keg region is better for everyone involved. Those living in Afghanistan who shouldn't have to worry about car bombings in its capital city perpetrated by extremist insurgent groups who do not want a stable government because a stable government would be antithetical to their objective. Extremist groups in the region thrive off of instability because if a young man in the region is able to make a decent living and is protected by his government and feels that he may actually have the ability to help influence how his country is run, he is less likely to be radicalised. /n/nSo 17-18 years later, that goal to many is still attainable and should still be fought for. Because either we continue to invest in this country or we pull out and we go back to the late 90s where extremist groups retake the region/nation and achieve its goals of semi-legitimacy via horrific and inhumane practices that oppress women, that uses punitive mass violence to attain power, that targets innocent population centres and regions that murder women, children, and good people. /n/nSo basically in short, we are still in Afghanistan because in a big way the experts still believe slowly but surely we can turn Afghanistan into a stable country (that may not be as democratic or liberal as we would like it to be as quickly as we would like) that eventually can see the west as not an enemy but something that eventually should be striven towards over generations. 9721 I honestly cannot tell if this is sarcasm or not 9722 So imperialistic to attack the country that protected the terrorists who killed thousands of your citizens. 9723 It's significantly more expensive than the class of ship it's replacing. Inflation adjusted, the Nimitz class cost over $9 billion each. This ship is not a good deal. 9724 [removed] 9725 Wonderful news for the planet. This will be a real resource in two years when the price gets to under $5 per pound. Hopefully within the next twenty years we'll see lab-grown beef and pork in stores too. 9726 Woah. That's creepy. 9727 That's not it I think, Trump still had to win the primaries and there were several other candidates they couldn't nominate. 9728 I agree. That's why I specified the "YOU" in my previous post. I was telling him his logic was stupid. 9729 [removed] 9730 I guess it isn't necessarily that simple. A: she would have to press charges and testify. Not every butt slap is unwanted, so the video only proves that her butt was touched, not that it was assault. Plus, even if she were to press charges, his punishment would likely have just been a slap on the wrist... At the end of the day it is the cops job to determine what happened, and the judge and DA to decide what to do. And the cops did determine what happened... Was it negligent of them to not do more? Yes. Grossly negligent? Probably not. 9731 Not really offended just kinda perplexed why this simple thing is being blown way out of proportion 9732 [removed] 9733 I understand what you mean. But I would say Purdue started the crisis, but increased supply and lower prices accelerated it. 9734 Okay let me give you an idea of what this area is like. I know about 15 people people through a prior job who have family in that area. It just turns into a game of telephone. Most of the people in this area don't move too far from where they were born. /n/nAlso Lake Halle is not a big city it's pretty small, even Eau Claire isn't that big really. I'm willing to bet his own family called the cops on him. 9735 Implying people haven't been saying this since the very beginning. Are you not old enough to remember anti war movements during the build up to Afghanistan/Iraq? Fear isn't a valid excuse for nearly two decades of imperialism. You dont get to kill millions of people who didn't deserve it then just go backwards, hindsight is 20/20 right guys?? 9736 > How would you methodically test future stuff? Use humans? Don't use anything? Then dont advance medicine?> n> n>- Extent that to other things like food. Do you eat meat? At what extent is it okay to kill a animal? For survival? Factory farms? How do we feed billions of people effectively without the blunder to ordinary people in cost./n/nWhile we're asking hard questions, the philosopher in me wants to ask you. At what point is it ethically wrong to feed and support so many people? 9737 Real question: do people here think reforming is possible for someone like this? /n/nTo me I think prison sentences should be based on reformability and a basis of punishment. /n/nWhat's everyone's ideas on this? 9738 This is actually most of the "voter fraud" out there. It's not actual voter fraud, it just seems like it because the people died before the election, but their vote still counts. 9739 [removed] 9740 Yeah you can make guns illegal all you want the fact is there still going to be around here. There is no removing all guns from America. 9741 > Third, we want to be able to mount and cover with hardware CIA operations in Xinjiang province, China's westernmost section, these would be operations aimed at using the some 20 million Uighurs in that province to destabilize the government in Beijing should we suddenly find ourselves at war with that country./n/nNow I know why the Uighurs are being systematically taken and their culture eradicated. Thanks America. 9742 So we should continue OUR military dictatorship of the area to protect Afgans from their own military dictatorship? Setting aside that 2 wrongs don't make a right, the right to self determination, and the sheer hypocrisy of it all, that view also just reeks of racist paternalism. Especially when you realize that the real reason we ever went there was to krep Bush's friends (and his own interests) in the oil industry happy. 9743 The last 15+ years of US involvement in Afghanistan has been focused on creating stability and self sufficiency. Even if some parts of that mission have failed, there is still potential for anyone involved to make a positive impact. 9744 And when someone accused of sexual assault isn't charged, many people assume the accuser is lying. /n/nProsecutors not only enable future violence when they fail to pursue credible allegations, they discourage the public from reporting sexual assault. 9745 Why. The Fuck. Are. We. Still. There. Time to walk away from that hellhole. 9746 Oh, it is very confusing when you have your own definition of non-violent. 9747 Well, there's been over 25 major fossil discoveries of new dinosaur species in Argentina, you couldn't call them all the same name obviously.. 9748 I see people driving while looking straight at their phones every day. I've got friends and coworkers who do it and won't take no for an answer, and get angry and defensive when anyone tells them to look at the damn road. People driving in two lanes, swerving on and off the shoulder, casually scraping other cars. It's not as big a deal here in the city itself since our road system requires a genius to figure out where the fuck you're going, but everywhere outside is a nightmare

Ah the Almond Joy v. Mounds question- 9783 [removed] 9784 >The casualties, guide Walker Daughtery, 26, and client Edwin Roberts, 59, and the other guide, Michael Bryant, told police they suspected the shooters were undocumented immigrants they had seen on the ranch earlier in their trip. \n\npeople make a mistake based upon limited knowledge, this isn't news 9785 [deleted] 9786 Newly appointed general of US and NATO operations, Austin Scott Miller, admitted that the US cannot win militarily in Afghanistan. He said that only a political strategy can reach to peace. \n\nhttps://www.zerohedge.com/news/2018-11-03/us-cannot-win-militarily-afghanistan-says-top-commander-shocking-interview 9787 Protect ourselves from shit we start. 9788 It will in some areas. In the state I live, middle class families must earn at least 20k to be considered middle class\n\nEDIT: There are colleges where you are paying under 5k a semester. Why can 500k not put those kids through college? 9789 Torrid observation. 9790 Weâ€™re talking about the middle east you dingus. Try to stay on topic. Im pointing out that its ridiculous to imply Afghanistan volunteered to build US bases on its borders with Pakistan and Iran.\n\nI don't mention the US doesn't have to directly invade a country in order to strong arm them into accepting military bases. Supporting coups, imposing sanctions, etc. 9791 Uhhhh do you know how much it costs to raise a kid? 500K isnâ€™t much with 7 kids. In 2017 the US department of agriculture did a study and determined the average cost to raise a child from birth to 17 years old is $233,610source\n\nEDIT: from the picture I saw on the article the kids look 12 and below. One looks like she isnâ€™t even a year and two look 2-3 so estimating the ages to be 1, 2, 3, 9, 10, 12, and 13 we can estimate the remaining cost of raising those children to be $961,923.70 9792 Hello Utah, Iâ€™m d(e)ad. 9793 Yeahhh. Such ubnbs. I'm going to say trying to muscle China in their own back yard will be one of America's greatest and perhaps last mistakes. 9794 Donâ€™t forget Newt Gingrich because it was his obstructionist policies in the 1990s that inspired people like Mitch McConnell to break bipartisan lines to turn Congress into a power struggle. 9795 It's not especially profitable. It's just a fantastic way to make public money private. 9796 I mean, the Taliban was supporting al Qaeda, which killed thousands of Americans, so they're not totally wrong... 9797 The continued existence of humans proves that vaccinations work. 9798 They were already offered asylum in several other countries. But they haven't left yet because they want to go to the UK. 9799 What? Again?? 9800 Ok. We will see. Iâ€™m in Mass. a heavily D state with national-leading vaccination rates. \n\nIâ€™ll continue to send my thoughts to folks who are being swept up in what has largely been a politicized response to a public health issue (deadly pandemic). 9801 I know someone who got a loan from the PPP program. He got the loan based on the amount of employees he had in 2018, which was about 15. When he got the loan he only had one employee. He's using the money to keep his businesses afloat in South America. I told him he was crazy for borrowing that money and it's just a matter of time. Another guy I know told me that he got unemployment for a company that he never worked for. I told him the same thing. 9802 Your question has already been answered, and you're not important enough for me to care to repeat it. 9803 Look at my post. They already showed up and downvoted it. Racist garbage. 9804 I am going to open an automotive repairs shop and fix people's cars for free. Donations strongly recommended. 9805 Separation of church and state, unless thereâ€™s money involved apparently. \n\nIâ€™d tell you this, it would be easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than a rich person to experience heaven.â€ 9806 [removed] 9807 [removed] 9808 Apparently they're still at it in South America. They claim that the toxic solution is their "Sacrament".\n\nhttps://www.genesis2chile.cl/ 9809 Organized religion also known for corruption. 9810 god works in mysterious ways ... especially against delusional people supporting ~such predators~ priests/pastors/etc... 9811 They couldnâ€™t know how old he was or that the gun was fake. All they knew is guy with gun and knife, he aimed the gun at police, got shot, didnâ€™t drop the knife when told to, got shot again.\n\nThere are enough cases of unjustified shootings, this is just a case of, most likely, a mentally ill teen that sadly didnâ€™t get the help he needed. 9812 its called getting old man. 9813 >Just because someone has not set up their business in the best way does not mean they donâ€™t deserve the same help as everyone else.\n\nThey could get help, just not as much to keep them alive since they werenâ€™t properly reporting everything. \n\nI find it not hard to sympathize for people who are supposed to be going to CPAs for help or knowingly playing the game. Iâ€™m unfortunate, but not properly registering for an LLC is the fault of the business owner. Not receiving sufficient aid is the side effect of that mistake. 9814 ...nooooo... the lease was honored, so that means that. 9815 Because n95 masks are more effective. There is a HUGE distance between more effective and basically nothing. Everything Iâ€™ve read says cloth masks work but n95s are more effective. 9816 > whatever the hell it is they give them \n\nI'll call [gonadotropin-releasing hormone (GnRH)] agonists[https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Puberty_blocker], it is well-established to be safe, and has been used for decades. Ignorance is evil, combat it by educating yourself.\n\nI'm not a matter of pushing for them to change their identities, it just makes sense to let them choose for themselves, especially when the matter has already been decided for years at that point (again, identity is established no later than age four). \n\nI think that's incredibly closed-minded of you. Nothing will ever change your mind, really? No amount of evidence or proof to the contrary could convince you that, maybe, just maybe, you might be wrong? What a horrible attitude, being so counter-factual. This is how we end up QAnon believers and Anti-Vaxxers. People who are so set in their ways that they refuse to budge no matter what. Not only is your stance illogical when you refuse to accept new information, but it's immoral as well. You should feel bad about yourself. 9817 ~Bbb~ but it is Gods will 9818 Nobody is saying to wear a fucking mask when you arenâ€™t in a crowd of thousands or even 100s. Just wise up people. 9819 You're being dense. Everybody knows Amazon employs shady loophole tactics to minimize on their taxes. It's practically their entire business model, aside from stealing IP from small businesses and overworking their employees. 9820 nice! don't they steal enough from the faithful? and now are stealing from the government to buy cars. 9821 [removed] 9822 Good for them, but they're only middle of the pack overall despite being one of the most hostile to business opening in 2020 9823 No need to guess. RTFA: "Despite Desautelâ€™s success, there are no comparable provisions in the US constitution that could apply to Indigenous peoples in Canada who pursue fishing or hunting rights south of the border." 9824 They didnâ€™t have employees. They had volunteers and a couple family members that were paid. Weâ€™re talking mega churches here my dude, so just assume Iâ€™m the most evil of all outcomes. Also, they held illegal services while also taking government money to close. 9825 A pastor being a dishonest, immoral dickhead? How unexpected... 9826 No, you will get charged. You cannot punch someone and knock them out because they coughed on you. 9827 Not true. There were and are unused funds. 9828 Iâ€™ve been waiting for a story like this. My best friends scummy husband did the same thing with his UPS business in Raleigh. She just went along with it bc of course now she is in a half a million dollar home. I guess they are both scummy now. Iâ€™ve debated calling this fraud in... they have four small children. Hoping communcance and Karma do their jobs without me interfering. I wonder how this guy was found. Someone told on him? Story doesnâ€™t dictate that morsl.\n\nEDIT: she told me they applied for the loan and received 160k and that they kept 90k to put down on a massive home. 9829 I sort by New to avoid this. I am not the only one. 9830 Oh my God, please tell me there is someone to donate. Nobody should have to live like that! 9831 Frenchmen Street > than Bourbon Street 9832 [removed] 9833 people who defrauded the PPP loans should have their business seized and shares given to the employees 9834 Hope that guy got a dishonorable discharge for racially motivated attack on a civilian, I'm betting not though. 9835 A punch is a justifiable response to a slap. The law would never say otherwise. 9836 For anyone curious. \n\nI just recent news, Pete Dicketts keeps shooting down any votes on weed legalization, with the statement that weed "is killing our kids." \n\nAnd then turned around about making Nebraska a gun haven.\n\nYou really cannot make sense of the guys thought process. 9837 Yes, pretending the vast majority of front line jobs are not underpaid is quiet the sophisticated way of presenting an argument. "Lo!" 9838 They also don't pay property tax I believe, right? 9839 [removed] 9840 If you read the article the bulk of the funds were from PPP loans to his car dealership. 9841 Thank you for clarifying the history of Trumpâ€™s ill-guided suggested prophylactic use with it. \n\nI canâ€™t keep all his insanity straight. \n\nAnd yes, it does have effective medical uses in other contexts. 9842 Well, it IS the PAYCHECK protection program. 9843 The vast majority of perpetrators of Asian hate crime are Black men. So unlikely they support Trump, although possible. 9844 Not at all. I think it's a rub. 9845 Or sell loose cigarettes? 9846 I canâ€™t get over stores that have signs like â€œwe will not enforce mask mandates because we believe in your freedom to choose what you wear. America!â€ while also having a â€œno shirt, no shoes, no serviceâ€ sign. \n\nAre you against clothing mandates or for them? Pick a side. 9847 Immobilizing intentional spreaders is the best thing we can do, and they should be banned from flying for a period after the pandemic, for good measure. 9848 Yeah, that looks like such a reliable site. 9849 [removed] 9850 Thatâ€™s my point. All stories about hate crimes against Jews get downvoted so nobody sees them. 9851 [removed] 9852 Lol my point still stands and your comment just solidified my argument. I refuse to fall like both up and you. This cycle of blame has to stop. 9853 >Same story on better site \n\nI'm an Irish person I can honestly say that the first time anyone has said that about RTE lol 9854 Sure but no one except a few conspiracy theorists are debating if that happened or not. 9855 Thatâ€™s only like one weekend of profit for them. 9856 PepeHands ANYWAYS 9857 I worked the EIDL program remotely for about a year until just recently. The amount of fraud Iâ€™ve seen in both that program and the PPP is absolutely staggering and depressing. I wouldnâ€™t be surprised if 10-20% of all EIDLs are fraudulent (out of 3.7M apps). The number of people unafraid of committing felony wire fraud is WAY too high.\n\nY> 9858 His payroll at his dealership and his church were far less than the profit made on these vehicles whether they were purchased for resale at his dealership (highly improbable, he would just put those on a floorplan) or shipped them overseas which is wildly profitable. Iâ€™m just greed and greed is rampant in the car industry. 9859 What's really screwed up is that workers on the lowest rungs of the economic ladder have the least freedom to miss a shift for health reasons. You know, those maids cleaning hotel rooms, restaurant servers and cooks... all those people who touch your food and things when you can't see them. 9860 Iâ€™m probably get downvoted since the way the PPP bill is written is unpopular opinion but here it is - When originally written, PPP was intended to cover only payroll costs but the treasury and SBA added the concept of owners compensation replacement in April 2020. Since owners arenâ€™t on payroll if they are filed as sole proprietors or independent contractors, they are allowed to receive income if they filed a schedule C or 1040 on their tax return. When applying for PPP, the filer has the option of applying for payroll funds or for owners compensation. If filed for owners compensation funds, the owner can use the PPP money however they want without having to track expenditures and still apply for forgiveness. 9861 I disagree with that argument since the churches aren't evading taxes, they're just not taxed. 9862 Preacher, policeman, politician, thief, America has too many words for people who steal 9863 What a horrible thing to call someone. I can see why they would want to fight over such slander. 9864 The ankle bracelet is foreshadowing in this case. 9865 May â€œGOD DAM HELL TO HELL!â€ Yahhh I said it. May he burn in hell for stealing money. He doesnâ€™t even pay taxes because heâ€™s a stupid church. He doesnâ€™t pay money there either heâ€™s a thief a robber baron. Letâ€™s start taxing these a holes Who think they are gods gift to man. Relax Christian people I said God I did not say the name Jesus Christ because that is using the Lords name in vain. The Lords name is not God apparently if you know Jesus Christ is the name of God but saying God is not blasf for me. How do you even know what God Iâ€™m referring to. I might not be referring to Jesus Christ that could be referring to Gnash. So Gnash damn this guy! Anyone who says the nameâ€ Jesus Christâ€ heâ€™s using the Lords name in vain. â€œGodeâ€ could be referring to any number of deities out there so donâ€™t think yours is the only one. 9866 they better audit a lot of these mfers. demand repayment where justified. a lot a god 9867 Everyoneâ€™s free to decide. Iâ€™m free to criticize. Grow up and get over it. 9868 If I hit you and knock you out that is appropriate. If I continue hitting you after your knocked out, it isnâ€™t. \n\nI will if you are deliberately coughing on me that is provocation. You will get hit and I will not be charged. 9869 The fact that they could even receive PPP loans were bull shit 9870 he infected 22 the article on RTE claims 9871 He was actively trying to restrain her, so needed to be there. All I'm saying is, junk kick earns a fist or two in the face. If you've never been kicked in the balls before, trust me - you lose self restraint. 9872 ah, righteous man, that clearly explains why the title is completely misleading, you wear your pants on your head don't you?\n\nI'm sorry person reading this would immediately assume the loan was for the church. that's called misleading.\n\nI guess it makes sense that that reddit's main goal these days as well, quite the cult 9873 Another fucking religious fuckwit on the front page. 9874 That huge difference is only the difference between a psychopath and sociopath. 9875 Because the prosecution is ALSO incompetent 9876 [removed] 9877 Florida Man-sion at it again... 9878 [removed] 9879 Whatever is necessary to stop them breathing on you. 9880 Its because literally over 70% of the population of nebraska lives in Omaha 9881 >so they could get the big commissions\n\nI know your knowledge, round one we (the evil big banks that I work for) didnâ€™t get anything for PPP loans. \n\nOutside of ensuring businesses stayed open and those revenue generators werenâ€™t lost. \n\nUnless of course you have something that says otherwise? 9882 The world is slowly splitting into 2 spheres. China vs the West. Iâ€™m getting harder fo companies to do business in both. The western sphere is working hard to eliminate dependency on China by building factories in Taiwan, India, the US, while China is doing the same, by designing their own ICs, operating systems and protocols. Westerners donâ€™t use Chinese internet (we canâ€™t read Chinese.) while Chinese canâ€™t use the western internet(Iâ€™m blocked). 9883 Still less than half the numbers from the winter. Meanwhile Michigan has tons of restrictions and numbers are surging. 9884 Babies get elected by babies. 9885 It's not the gaping emptiness of your asshole that I'm enamored by. You'll get there... I think. 9886 YT celebrities are just weird to me. They seem to all have rabid fanbases. Like every single one of them does. But I have not heard of any of them. 9887 I work in accounting. A lot of business owners profited greatly. My company got 1 mil even though we weren't struggling and I guess my boss pocketed most of it. I definitely didn't see a dime. 9888 I am just commenting on this video. I have never seen the article you posted. 9889 Man, I am not going to try to divine the intentions, purposes, or competence of a small-time fraudster. If you forced me to guess, I imagine that he was sitting on the stuff until the effects of the catastrophe were not felt so much and no one was going to wonder where the hell all those basic necessity products appeared from when there had been such a shortage.\n\n> But that still doesn't deviate from the point that they had an entire warehouse full of emergency supplies from the exact natural disaster that you say wasn't enough.\n\nAnd what I am saying is that the fact that some dude stole 500k worth of aid doesn't mean that it was not needed or that the Trump administration didn't fail to hand out several "billions" that Congress already had allocated to help. 9890 If they have employees then it's the same rationale as any other business getting the loans.\n\nAnd it doesn't matter if they are tax exempt, these loans were funded with the money printer and not with taxes. 9891 Self awareness is not a common attribute among raging assholes. 9892 I'm confused about your stance, but I think I agree with your main points.\n\nI) government irresponsible with taxes\n\n2) churches and other institutions should pay taxes, even though 1)\n\nEarlier you were saying taxes are a waste and not used to benefit society, and I was confused. But then you said churches should be taxed, and I was less confused and more confused at the same time. Why would you care if they were taxed if taxes were pointless? I'm not disagreeing, just confused by your logic (but again I think I agree) 9893 Iâ€™m a french variant on a term for snake, given to the haudenosauce by the huron.\n\nI heard it from an indigenous prof of mine, and just googled to double check 9894 Exactly the thing 9895 Thank you .. even Germany is offering help, what a nice country Germany. 9896 I was replying to Sparky who made their statement an absolute. Look at those down votes; a bunch of fucking pansies around as well 9897 You think thatâ€™s bad check out the number of essential oils sold each year. And even after they have been proven to cause seizures people still buy them up because theyâ€™re â€œceasafar than Big Pharma!â€ 9898 Instead of spending money on the military or war effort,\n\nWhy don't we just publish articles from Florida and drop it off in the countries and areas of the Taliban so they realize how bad shit crazy people are leave America alone.\n\nThey'll read something like "man rapes alligator because he thought they were cousins." or "Man kills brother over a cheeseburger. Man mistakes wife for burglar and shoots her." \n\nThey'll be pretty scared. 9899 I guess anything is fair game to score political points. Just keep throwing random shit and something'll stick eventually. 9900 This is likely a fluke. The appraiser doesn't get anything out of it but a fat fee. Even a white person can get three different appraisals. 9901 No, that would take a long time. They meet in college. And weâ€™ve seen that already in Blackâ€™ish. The Prince episode I think. 9902 Houses near me are up over 100k in less than a year. Plus you have to go above asking too. Iâ€™m wild out here right now 9903 Why do you sound like a bot? It sounds like cult 45 is your entire world. How sad. Turn off fox/q.oan, come back to reality. 9904 You have to remember that there is likely going to be a good chunk of real estate opening up in the next few years, especially in certain countries and towns. \n\nI wonder if there will be any stigmaâ€™s attached to houses where someone died of COVID? 9905 Interesting. For those that do not know, after the housing bust in 2008 the federal government changed the appraisal rules so that the appraiser is randomly selected for the project. Days of using someone you knew are gone. In certain parts of the country homes are selling for 30-60k over asking price so perhaps a value change is reflective of this new market trend. 9906 This... People think you just walk in and say this house is worth $XXXk and Walking out. My primary residence went up about 30% in the last year according to comps, which is inflated for sure. 9907 [removed] 9908 I read a story last night that a guy and his entire family were killed after putting his family to bed at 11pm after an airstrike. But, cool, maybe they called in advance. Somehow I doubt he got the call or he wouldn't had put his family to sleep. 9909 It means that in the event of a low appraisal the buyer would have been required to pay cash to cover a part of or the entire deficiency meaning you wouldn't have had to accept below asking. 9910 Lets not pretend this shit isn't a problem dawg 9911 [removed] 9912 I'm still ahead of you. Stop making bullshit accusations. 9913 Oh that's just somebody throwing one of those pie tins in the air 9914 [deleted] 9915 [removed] 9916 No, really, howâ€™s it worked out for them? What is their quality of life compared to western Europe? 9917 Also having worked at a gas station you can't see shit. You don't have access to the cameras at the front usually and you can only physically see at most half the pumps. 9918 The Housing market has skyrocketed in the past year since the first two appraisals were done. She also â€œcastigatedâ€ the house for the third it sounds like. This particular neighborhood in Indianapolis has also been undergoing gentrification for a bit now. I acknowledge this has been a race issue forever, but there are other factors at play here that make sense. 9919 Got a large, out-of-focus monster roaming around. Scary stuff. 9920 Does it vary by state? 9921 she might have sold the house at a profit, but that also means she's probably buying another house in this same shit market. 9922 seek help bro 9923 If by staged you mean "removed signs that a black person lives here." Then you're correct! 9924 I haven't denied anything here. You're just absolutely clueless that you're a hypocrite accusing people of doing things you yourself are doing. Which ironically you're doing again as you're in denial of being a hypocrite. \n\nThis whole thing started when you accused someone of "not telling the whole story" while you yourself didn't tell the whole story either. That very fact should tell you you're not on the right side of who is in denial. 9925 >Like if I try to sell my house and I wear a blue shirt am I getting ripped off for 100k or what?\n\nI was responding to. \n\nSo yes, if I sell my cardboard box for 1 billion dollars then it was worth 1 billion dollars. 9926 Hey all you pro-pot republicans - this is what happens when you continue to vote for republicans. 9927 It's not illegal. Only those of us who need a mortgage are required to have homeowners' insurance since the lender is requiring coverage as a condition of them lending money, since it's their asset being risked with no insurance. \n\nIf you buy it cash you don't have to get insurance and it's up to you to determine your risk level comfort not having insurance. 9928 The majority are self service and the employees are not paid enough to risk getting assaulted by the customers. 9929 [removed] 9930 Millions of peaches, peaches for $7.99/month, top 1.7%! 9931 [removed] 9932 Round up a couple white kids and call them Hunter and Brayleeceagh. 9933 The appraiser didn't even come in my house when I sold it, nor did they talk to me at all. The mortgage company arranged it and they just found 3 other homes in the area for sale or sold recently with similar size, room count and amenities and appraised my house at the average of those. Could've painted that carpets red with cow blood and they wouldn't have known or cared. 9934 I sold homes for a couple years. The buyer stays the fuck home, I go a bring the appraiser a coffee and walk around with them for a bit. I might suggest comps that I used in the area if the aren't from around the area. 9935 > \n\nBut if her housing market is anything like my area (lockdown free state in the south attracting all the antimaskers,) it could be possible for the value to change that dramatically over 6 months to a year. \n\nHas your house doubled in value over the last 5 months? \n\nBecause that is the situation weâ€™re comparing against. 9936 Why are redditors so inept and stupid? Of course this would hit the front page without anyone reading the facts first. The first two appraisals were done pre pandemic, and the third was done this year. Home prices have gone insane since then. My home has gone up over $100k in value over the last year alone. \n\nReading comprehension before outrage, folks. 9937 > Tell me that isn't poetic. \n\nThat isn't poetic. \n\nAnd this was not a peaceful protest. 9938 [removed] 9939 No, they're not. But enjoy having Covid. Hope you don't die or have long-lasting complications, or give it to someone who does. Covid is way more dangerous than the vaccines. 9940 duuuude, where do you think they got the name 'gasoline' from? its volititily has always been its selling point. one alternate name was 'motor spirit'. Spirit comes from condensing alcohol or distilled liquids from the air, the same place spirits live. 9941 Poor Florida woman, she can barely keep up with Florida man. 9942 Iâ€™m calling fake news on this. Donâ€™t believe everything you read on the internet folks. 9943 Don't forget, 'America is not a racist country' 9944 I was thinking that but I thought it was 7 plus that, ah well guess I better read the one in the canteen in work tomorrow 9945 They should be, but it depends somewhat on how they're accredited. It might be different in the states, but here in Canada there are a couple different "designations", basically letters behind the name offered by different appraisal institutions. Some of the institutes are better than others. I know a few appraisers who've gone years doing shit work, fucking up people's lives, and their institute still designates them. \n\nThe good ones will do an independent investigation, and if they broke the standards of appraisals, like choosing unrepresentative comparables, revoke the designation. \n\nThey're also liable from a lawsuit perspective, but that would be someone suing for damages. 9946 America is a racist shit hole! 9947 [removed] 9948 [removed] 9949 Unless you live in Vancouver. Shit has been a rocket for 20 years. 9950 [removed] 9951 [removed] 9952 *Work From Home Boom 9953 Iâ€™m a mechanic, thereâ€™s a type that keeps them running. Usually older folk who have this idea that American cars are the best. They dump so much money into them to keep them going because they think itâ€™s more economical overtime but in reality theyâ€™d be better off scraping it. \n\nHonestly it depends. If someone took very good care of the car I canâ€™t see why it wouldnâ€™t still be a good vehicle after 11 years. Unfortunately that doesnâ€™t happen very often. 9954 This happened to me. I bought it 2016, and this year suddenly realized my 200k house was worth 400k. I thought maybe I'd look to upgrade before quickly realizing that every other house had gone up just as much so I couldn't actually afford anything better. 9955 I might take you up on that fâ€™m 9956 States with income tax vs states without income tax most likely. Like OP said, Texas has no income tax. They still need to raise funds like everyone else (as much as Texans would hate to admit it) so property taxes are often higher and probably more frequently revisited in those states. 9957 Yes Trump Voter you are very Trump Voter. 9958 As an appraiser myself I would LOVE to look over those reports. I've reviewed some absolute dog shit appraisals and I bet at least one of these is dogshit. 9959 This is so fucking disgusting and hurtful to see yet AGAIN. Same fucking thing happened in the Bay Area. \n\nAnd Kamala Harris says American isn't racist??? Fuck outta here. 9960 Well Iâ€™m not a realtor and Iâ€™ve never heard of that, so whatever it is, no. 9961 [removed] 9962 The different in housing price increase isn't enough to explain the jump in value she received. The pandemic has nothing to do with this. 9963 > This isnâ€™t the first time that the former chief minister, who was abruptly replaced by TS Rawat in March this year, has been ridiculed for his comments. He stunned people in 2019 when he claimed that the cow is the only animal that inhales and exhales oxygen. \n\nIâ€™m curious where heâ€™s getting these ideas from. 9964 One of my best friends had a similar problem I offered to use my white privilege to pretend to be her white wifeâ€™s husband because her wife had severe anxiety issues and couldnâ€™t do it on her own. She was grateful but so very pissed that she had to seriously consider the offer. She eventually got the problem sorted but kinda hate that I also seriously considered having to help her out that way. 9965 [removed] 9966 I've read today on a german site that it's almost 500%. They wrote that Germany is now the second biggest importer of lumber to the US. 9967 No, Federal Reserve devaluing our dollar. Why does this generation not understand that? 9968 My friends just bought a house up the street from me. The appraiser literally asked how much they need it appraised for and went $1000 over 9969 The only people that really benefit from this settlement is the family. Taxpayers are footing this bill and nothing will change. We need to reform our judicial system to hold these police accountable for their actions. Also, we need wayyy more training for police to be able to control situations and not always resort to lethal force. \n\nThis problem isn't going away with settlements, this is basically a bribe so that people won't be outraged and demand change. 9970 I'm not a homeowner but I'd imagine it's hard to find appraisers by race 9971 Suppose you could dredge up a few castles from that swamp? 9972 No argument there! 9973 You don't know that. \n\nEven the Japanese eventually surrendered. It's what you do. 9974 Damn you just gave me a good hang out idea lmao 9975 where are people getting this cash from? prices are crazy, I'm never gonna be able to afford a house 9976 Looking at his life history he had two major events before that that would do major damage to him combined together. He hives when he was a kid (they seemed to really mess him up) and then the destruction of his socialization when he skipped a grade. \n\nWith his extremely high intelligence, those events, and then the Harvard study I could see someone cracking if things aren't taken care of and he had an underlining issue. 9977 Are you avoiding the statement above and putting words in others' mouths? 9978 Going to watch this episode again now, thanks. 9979 I would be seriously conflicted if anyone I knew were involved in the insurrection. On the one hand I donâ€™t want to be an informer and on the other I genuinely think the insurrectionists deserve to be caught. I probably would at the end of the day but not without some internal conflict between those two principles. 9980 The 2008 crash was from shady loan practices which have been fixed. The problem we have now isn't the same. People are getting fixed rate loans that they can afford, it's just that demand in California far exceeds supply. \n\nThe only way this pops is if people can't afford their fixed rate loan payments. Which could happen if the job market tanks, or if all the people relocating from high pay areas like bay area to lower pay areas lose their remote job and take a big hit to income. I suspect that where I live (San Diego) might have a chance of the latter happening. I don't know how house prices have spiked to well over 1 million with the wages offered here, except for all the bay area immigrants coming with a ton of cash 9981 [removed] 9982 > Appraisers that tank deals find themselves mysteriously not getting business though. \n\nThat note when I got my house the bank appraisal came back weirdly at exactly the purchase price 9983 Also note this womanâ€™s a MAGA nutjob, so... 9984 Another race baiting article, she â€œforgotâ€ to mention to the first two appraisers that there was a third story to the house. That makes a huge difference in a appraisal, article also doesnâ€™t mention when the different appraisals took place. If was over the span of a year home values have increased by 30%. \n\nThereâ€™s definitely more to the story, donâ€™t fall for some race bait headline made to stir clicks and controversy. 9985 [removed] 9986 [removed] 9987 If they decided to play nicely. 9988 Lmao what the fuck? There's no way that should be allowed 9989 Is this rhetorical? 9990 Is there a way to watch it without HBO? 9991 No, the second appraisal was done in June and the third done in November. The price did not double in that time 9992 There's more to this story than we're being told. When a lender sells a mortgage to FHA or FNMA the appraisal is processed through a fully automated system that compares it to other properties in the area. If the appraisal doesn't make sense compared to other properties in the neighborhood then the automated system will fail the report and FNMA or FHA won't buy the mortgage from the lender. There is no incentive for the lender or appraiser to come in low. The lender is selling the mortgage to the government so they want to make the loan happen. The appraiser doesn't want to get in trouble with the lender, FNMA or FHA by having his appraisal fail because it could affect his future business. The only color lenders and appraisers care about is green. This story doesn't make sense. 9993 When I had my house appraised in 2016 in San Diego, the appraiser didnâ€™t come to the house. It was a VA loan too and they just based it â€œlikeâ€™ properties in the neighborhood. I know this because we almost didnâ€™t get the loan because the appraiser said the price was too high and the house wasnâ€™t that valuable, and we had to push back. He based his metrics on an apartment (we bought a townhouse), with no climate control (actually quite standard in SoCal, but ours had a central fan system), a 2 bed/1 bath (we had a whole floor master suite), and no parking (we had an assigned space outside and a space in a complex garage). They also didnâ€™t take into account the view and location, because we were facing the water about a mile back from the shore and could see the water but the â€œcompsâ€™ didnâ€™t have views and were in worse locations in our same zip code. The appraisal game is BS and I know they did this on purpose because my then-boyfriend and I were 22 and trying to buy a half million dollar house, but he was a military officer and I was making good money in the tech industry as a recent college grad with no debt and an 800 credit score. 9994 What the fuck are you talking about haha 9995 [removed] 9996 I thought by voting for Biden we wanted peace and unity? I did not see that in the message you just sent. Please take a look at yourself in the mirror and realize how terrible of a person you are, and try to be better to people next time. Iâ€™m so sorry you are in such a dark place. 9997 The MSM doesn't fabricate this stuff. People put it out there. If the MSM is suddenly covering a cracked out cop who forgot he was in the middle of a traffic stop it's not the MSM's fault it happened. \n\nNo one came up with a script for that girl to say "cash me outside." They're working more often than not with what they're given, and if it's not true you need to be just a bit more concerned where it came from, not who provides it. Whether it be Raytheon "looking out for their shareholders," or a random ass person just trying to stir up a little shit, or not. \n\nI'm not defending "news media" outlets, I'm just saying it typically starts somewhere else. They're just the messenger, and just trying to kill them? Well, you ought to know how that goes. It's just best to be avoided. Especially when these "middlemen" are purposefully designed as a buffer so you don't get to angry at the right or wrong people depending. 9998 Ten more Buyers: 'OMG DID SOMEONE SAY COBBLER!!!!?' 9999 If thatâ€™s the case then fuck this article then. Houses near me are up 100k from a year ago and going way over asking. \n\nItâ€™s not the case what is wrong with appraisers